FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will be the site of two satellite seminars on how prime-time television is conceptualized and created.

The satellite videoconferences, which will be held in 116 Breckinridge Hall, will include a live question-and-answer session. The programs, which are free and open to the public, will run from 7:30 until 9 p.m.

"Creating Prime-Time Newsmagazine: '60 Minutes'," will be broadcast on Tuesday, April 8. Featured will be "60 Minutes" executive producer Don Hewlitt, as well as several of the program's on-air personalities. They will discuss what makes the 30-year-old show so successful, from small-town hero stories to the famous "60 Minutes" investigations.

On Tuesday, April 15, "Cameras in the Courtroom," will focus on a panel of media and legal professionals. Topics to be covered include how a court case is transformed into television programming, the differences between observing a trial in the courtroom or on television and the legal and ethical issues raised by television's coverage of the judicial process.

The series is presented by the Museum of Television and Radio in cooperation with General Motors. Additional information is available from Thom Yancy, MSU assistant professor of radio-television, at 783-2602.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Ten students have been inducted into Pinnacle, a national honor society for non-traditional students, in ceremonies held recently at Morehead State University.

The new initiates are: Clyde G. Booker of Vanceburg; Dinah Faye Cantrell of Isonville; John Michael Curtiss of Ashland; Brenda Kay Damron of Morehead; Marvin Joseph Fortune of Hazard; Beverly S. McDavid of Grayson; Sandra Robinson of Morehead; Harry Lee Schaeffer of Ashland; Reva Slone of Martin, and Stephen Paul Whitaker of Somerset.

A chapter of Pinnacle, originally founded by Dr. Frank Julian at Murray State University, was established at MSU in 1991. The organization seeks to provide adult students, those 23-years or older and other non-traditional students, with the type of recognition which outstanding traditional students have always received, according to Jacquelyn H. Scott, coordinator of MSU's non-traditional and commuter students and chapter adviser.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Tickets for a cash drawing, one of several fund raising activities incorporated into Morehead State University's 1997 Spring Gala, are now available.

The gala, which benefits MSU's academic programs, will be held Saturday, April 26, and the theme is "An Affair To Remember." Those purchasing tickets for the cash drawing need not be present to win.

"Those who don't choose to attend the gala, however, will miss an extraordinary evening of entertainment and fun," said Bill Redwine, MSU director of Alumni Relations and Development who is coordinating the cash drawing.

The grand prize will be $5,000 and several $1,000 prizes also will be given away during the evening. Tickets may be purchased by a single individual or by groups.

Drawing tickets cost $50 each. They may be purchased through the MSU Alumni Association by calling (606) 783-2080 or toll-free (800) 783-2586 as well as from many faculty and staff members.

This year's gala will offer guests a chance to recall the past as the atmosphere will be keyed to the University's celebration of its 75th anniversary as a state institution of higher learning.

Guests this year will be treated to the premiere of "Through the Years," a musical revue taking the audience down memory lane from 1922 to present day. More music is in store for gala-goers as the scene shifts from Button Auditorium to the Adron Doran University Center where classical and jazz fusion sounds will emanate, while music from swing and big bands to rock and roll will alternate for guests' dancing pleasure.

In addition to the sounds, the evening includes memories of fashions and musical ensembles from the past to present as well as games from hula hoops to computer games.

Gala-goers may choose between two packages for the evening, both have a reservation deadline of April 11. The deluxe package which is $125 per person begins at 6 p.m. at Adron Doran University Center with a reception, followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m. Valet parking will be provided.

Those selecting the second level package at $50 per person will begin their evening at 7:30 p.m. in Button Drill Room for a social period with hors d'oeuvres.

At 8 p.m., the entertainment for all begins with the musical revue in Button Auditorium. Afterwards the party moves to ADUC for more music, dancing, games, fun and food.

Now in its fifth year, the spring gala has raised more than $125,000 to benefit the University's academic programs.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---You can access the Internet for research on thousands of topics, get up-to-the-minute news, go shopping and even apply for college.

Morehead State University has joined the small but rising number of schools who have put their admissions forms on-line.

"Electronic access is the future," said Dan Cornett, MSU's director of admissions. "Students need to have easy access. This saves everybody work, time and money."

Through the University's Website at "www.morehead-st.edu", students can apply for admission in minutes, as well as be added to the University's mailing list.

Not only does the on-line application benefit the student, but it is an asset to the University, according to Cornett. "People see that we are up-to-date, that we're on the cutting edge. It has a positive impact on our image," he said.

Once word gets out about the electronic form, Cornett believes that about 20 percent of MSU's admission applications will be submitted electronically in the next few years. There have been 350 people hit the University's web page since it went on-line last July and currently there has been approximately 20 students complete applications who were just surfing the Internet, he said.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---For prospective college students and their parents, Saturday, April 19, is a date to mark on the calendar. Morehead State University will host a "Preview Day" to assist high school students in making a smooth transition to college.

"On this special day, we are attempting to accommodate all students with opportunities that weren't previously available and to display some of our campus talent at the same time," said Sandy Barker, assistant director of admissions.

The campus visitors will start with registration, refreshments and an opportunity to view displays of University offerings, beginning at 9 a.m. in Button Auditorium. After being welcomed by MSU administrators, participants will then attend mini-classes that focus on typical courses of the college student.

Following the classes, participants will enjoy a lunch break. Mainstreet MSU, the University's food services, will be open to those who desire to purchase lunch on campus. Students also may visit the campus bookstore during this time.

In the afternoon, visitors will see various programs spotlighted and enjoy performances by MSU's varsity cheerleaders who, earlier this year, won their seventh consecutive national cheerleading title, as well as a vocal presentation by Glenda Woods of Grayson, a former Miss MSU.

Concluding the activities, will be tours of the campus.

Representatives from academic departments, as well as financial aid and business services, will be on hand to assist prospective students during the day.

Participants may register in advance by phone or at the door on that day. Registration and additional information on the Preview Day are available from MSU's Office of Admissions at 1-800-585-6781 or (606) 783-2000.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Advance registration for Morehead State University's two summer sessions and the fall 1997 semester will be conducted Monday through Thursday, April 14-17, on the main campus, at extended campus centers and other selected regional sites.

Current students and those planning to attend MSU this summer or fall may register during this period, according to Gene Ranvier, MSU registrar.

Course directories containing trial schedule forms are available from academic departments and the off-campus registration sites. The course schedule is also available on the University's web site through the registrar's office. MSU's home page address is www.morehead-st.edu.

On Monday, April 14, only graduate students, current seniors and juniors may register. On Tuesday through Thursday, April 15-17, the registration process will be open to all other students.

Main campus students advance register in their major department from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Students without a declared major will register in the Office of General Studies, 233 Allie Young Hall.

Advance registration at the Ashland Area, Big Sandy and Licking Valley extended campus centers as well as the Appalachian Graduate Consortium at Pikeville College will be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Registration for MSU classes at the Lees College Campus of Hazard Community College will be conducted from 10 to 6 p.m.

Off-campus students who have never enrolled at MSU before should contact their nearest regional registration site. New students planning to study on the main campus should initiate the admission process in 306 Howell-McDowell Administration Building if undergraduates or 701 Ginger Hall if graduate students.

MSU's Summer I is scheduled June 9- July 3. The second summer term runs from July 7 to Aug. 1. Fall classes begin Aug. 18.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead's Occupational and Academic Retreat (MOAR) program, hosted by Morehead State University, will participate in the federally funded Summer Food Service Program for Children. The program operates under guidelines similar to those of public school food service programs.

Taking part in this program enables the sponsors to hold down costs so that most families can afford to send their children to camp.

The program is available to the 30 MOAR participants selected by JTPA eligibility, school counselor recommendations, and interviews conducted by the MOAR program director. All children will be served the same meals at no separate charge regardless of race, color, national origin, age, sex, or disability and there is no discrimination in the food service.

The following scale is the current family-size and income criteria used in determining eligibility for children at camp sites:

Family Size	Income Eligibility Standards
1	14,319
2	19,166
3	24,013
4	28,860
5	33,707
6	38,554
7	43,401
8	48,248
For each additional family member add	4,847

Additional information on this program is available by calling Charlie Jones, MOAR Coordinator, at (606) 783-5183.

Individuals who believe they may have been discriminated against in the Summer Food Service Program may write to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, DC 20250.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---For more than a decade, John watched his father's health gradually deteriorate from a terminal illness. During that time, John, now in his twenties, often wished that his father would die so the suffering would end for both of them. When finally his father died, John emotions were mixed—sadness, relief and guilt among them.

Such reactions are common whenever someone experiences loss, according to Dr. Kenneth J. Doka, Lutheran minister and professor of gerontology at the College of New Rochelle. "Grief issues surrounding prolonged illness can be very complex," he said.

Dr. Doka will be a member of the panel for the fourth annual National Bereavement Teleconference which will be broadcast on the Morehead State University campus on Wednesday, April 16. The teleconference, entitled "Living with Grief: When Illness Is Prolonged", will be aired in the Waterfield Hall Conference Center, conference room 3, beginning at 1 p.m.

"Everyone has been touched by grief associated with prolonged illness," said Jack D. Gordon, president of the Hospice Foundation of America, the national sponsor of the teleconference. "We want to do what we can to assist individuals in mourning."

The program, which will include call-in segments, will focus on grief and bereavement issues associated with prolonged illness. Moderated by Cokie Roberts, ABC and NPR correspondent, the teleconference will feature Dr. Betty Davies, professor of nursing at the University of British Columbia; Dr. William Lamers, Jr., a founding father of the American Hospice Movement, Dr. Therese A. Rando, clinical psychologist and executive director of the Institute for the Study and Treatment of Loss, as well as Dr. Doka.

"There is a perception that grief after prolonged illness is easier to accept than other losses," said Dr. Doka. "Survivors are seen as having had ample opportunity to grieve the anticipated loss."

The Hospice Foundation of America was established to assist those who cope either personally or professionally with terminal illness and the process of death, grief and bereavement.

Funded in part by a grant from Project on Death in America, the teleconference is co-sponsored nationally by the Association for Death Education and Counseling, in cooperation with the American Medical Association. MSU sponsors include the Department of Sociology, Social Work and Criminology and the Office of Community Development and Continuing Education.

Because of limited seating, reservations are necessary. Additional information and reservations are available by calling (606) 783-2077.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University students will take the spotlight at the first Phi Kappa Phi Honors Program Showcase on Monday, April 14, on the campus.

Students, who also are members of the University's Honors Program, will recreate a portion of those presentations which have previously been given at various conferences, according to Dr. Mac Luckey, Honors Program director. "The Showcase will include a range of topics that run the gamut from Shakespeare to Chicken Little stories and points in between," he said.

The Showcase will get under way with registration at 4:30 p.m. in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center. Morehead State University President Ronald G. Eaglin and Carl Marty Henderson, Phi Kappa Phi president, will offer welcoming remarks at 5 p.m.

Presentations will begin at 5:15 p.m., with three presentations running concurrently in the Commonwealth Room, Eagle Meeting Room and Eagle Dining Room.

The student presenters and their presentations include:

"Shakespeare: To be or not to be Reinvented? A Brief Look at the Modernization of the Bard," by Katie Evans, Ashland sophomore; Gena Henry, Ezel sophomore, Elizabeth Kristy Noble, Jackson sophomore, and Michelle Rucker, Harrison, Ohio, junior. The presentation will compare and contrast the most recent available screenplays with the original texts.

"You Can be Too Thin: Deconstructing the Media Image of Beauty" by Becky Bainum, Wallingford sophomore; Farrah Fugett, Wheelersburg, Ohio, junior; Michelle Watkins, Jackson sophomore, and Mary Jo Netherton, MSU associate professor of French. The dangers of the "relentless pursuit of thinness" propagated by media stars and the appeal of the "waif look" and its appeal are explored.

"Degrees of Oppression: Finding the Thread of Feminism in Medieval Literature" by Stephen Whitaker, Somerset junior. Presenter will discuss three women from the Middle Ages who exhibited characteristics relevant to today's Women's Movement: Saint Monica, the mother of Saint Augustine; Alisoun, Chaucer's bawdy "Canterbury Tales" creation, and Margery Kemp, a devoutly spiritual thinker.

"Human Genome Research: On the Edge of Discovery or Disaster" by Danny Sharp, Morehead senior, Courtney Morgan, Hartford, Ohio, junior, and Dr. Dayna S. Brown, associate professor of HPER and coordinator of the Wellness Center.

"True Chicken Little Stories: Mass Hysteria Through the Ages" by Christina Beimesch, Burlington senior; Tonya Hatfield, Orange City, Iowa, senior; Brad Hughes, Tollesboro junior, and Laura Roberts, Mt. Sterling senior.

"Cultivating the Intellect in Honors 101" by Dawn Brown, Kewanee, Ill., freshman, and Lee Remington, Mt. Washington freshman. Strategies to enhance thinking in an Honors course will be discussed along with the progress made by two students.

"The Impact of the 'Pedestal' Position on the Feminist Movement" by Amy Forman, Morehead junior. History documents that men have overwhelmingly been placed in charge of making the rules of society; this presentation will explore the idea of the pedestal position that is prevalent in various cultures.

"Sex-Marked Language" by Geraldine Peters Carter, West Liberty graduate student; Paula Jackson, recent graduate from Morehead, and Dr. Terry L. Irons, assistant professor of English.

The Honors Program is an academically-enriched program that provides highly motivated students with small classes, direct and personal contact with faculty members and greater curriculum flexibility.

The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi recognizes and encourages superior scholarship in all academic disciplines. To celebrate its 100 birthday, the week of April 13-19 has been designated National Phi Kappa Phi Week.

The Showcase is free and open to the public. Additional information is available by calling the Honors Program at (606) 783-2809.

ASHLAND, Ky.---Continuing a commitment to provide quality educational opportunities to the people of Eastern Kentucky, Morehead State University will offer 16 distance learning courses in the Boyd County area for fall 1997.

"We are thrilled with the response to the distance education program," said Dr. Autumn Grubb, Office of Distance Education director. "We strive constantly to couple the latest technology with superior instruction in ways which enhance the learning process for the people of Appalachia."

During the fall semester, courses such as Discipline and Classroom Management, Intermediate Accounting, Managerial Communications, and Managing Information Technology will be offered. "The demand for course work via distance learning is steadily increasing, and we hope to continue to expand the variety of offerings available," Dr. Grubb said.

Current course work includes degree programs in nursing and business administration. All of the course work for nursing (RN-BSN Track) may be obtained via distance learning and the clinical portion of the curriculum can be completed at a health care facility in the student's area.

A student can obtain all of the courses for a graduate degree in business administration and many upper-level undergraduate business administration courses through distance learning. Also, many graduate-level education courses are available.

Dr. Grubb said that she is particularly excited about the education offerings because it gives MSU the opportunity to provide continued training to elementary and secondary school teachers.

Boyd County area residents may register for MSU courses at the Ashland Area Extended Campus Center, 1401 Winchester Avenue, during pre-registration April 14-17. Additional information about off-campus registration is available by calling (606) 327-1777 or 800-648-5370 or MSU's Office of Distance Learning at (606) 783-2082.

PIKEVILLE, Ky.---Continuing a commitment to provide quality educational opportunities to the people of Eastern Kentucky, Morehead State University will offer 11 distance learning courses in the Pike County area for fall 1997.

"We are thrilled with the response to the distance education program," said Dr. Autumn Grubb, Office of Distance Education director. "We strive constantly to couple the latest technology with superior instruction in ways which enhance the learning process for the people of Appalachia."

During the fall semester, courses such as Research Methods in Education and Employee Relations will be offered. "The demand for course work via distance learning is steadily increasing and we hope to continue to expand the variety of offerings available," Dr. Grubb said.

Current course work includes a degree program in business administration. A student can obtain all of the courses for a graduate degree in business administration and many upper-level undergraduate business administration courses through distance learning. Also, many graduate-level education courses are available.

Dr. Grubb said that she is particularly excited about the education offerings because it gives MSU the opportunity to provide continued training to elementary and secondary school teachers. Pike County residents may register for MSU courses during pre-registration April 14-17. Additional information about off-campus registration is available by calling (606) 432-9362 or MSU's Office of Distance Learning at (606) 783-2082.

The following courses will be offered during the fall 1997 semester at Pike County Central High School through MSU's distance learning program:

BELL TOWER DEDICATED

Among the activities held during Morehead State University's Founders Day observance was the dedication of the W. Paul and Lucille C. Little Bell Tower, a gift of Mrs. Little to honor her late husband and inspire generations of future students. During her dedicatory remarks Mrs. Little talked about the importance of the virtues of Love, Wisdom, Justice and Service which adorn the tower's four arches.

CONGRESSMAN LEWIS PLEDGES SUPPORT

U.S. Rep. Ron Lewis (R-Ky.) pledged his support to ensure that the children of tomorrow will have educational opportunities at Morehead State University's 1997 Founders Day Convocation and Awards Ceremony Friday, April 4. Lewis, who represents the 2nd district, is MSU's first alumnus to serve in Congress and is a native of Greenup County. With Founders Day, the University launched the celebration of its 75 anniversary as a state institution of higher education, an observance that will continue through Founders Day 1998 on April 3. The day's activities were designed to pay recognition to numerous people who have played key roles in MSU's history.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Anniversaries are for celebrating and reminiscing. That was exactly the order of the day Friday, April 4, at Morehead State University's Founders Day as many of those who have contributed to its history were honored and officials talked about the future.

With Founders Day, MSU begins a yearlong celebration marking the University's 75th anniversary as a state institution of higher education. The anniversary year theme is "Rich Heritage ... Bright Future."

At the Convocation and Awards Ceremony, U.S. Rep. Ron Lewis told his audience how good it was to be home and "see that after 75 years, the University was still providing the same close relationship between students and teachers that was evident when he was a student."

The congressman talked of his days on the campus and how he was sure his classmates did not think he would graduate. "But good things come to those who wait, and wait, and wait," he said. Lewis, MSU's first alumnus to serve in Congress, attended MSU in the late '60s and returned 12 years later to complete a master's degree.

Offering his advice for success, Lewis said that one should always be prepared: "Success doesn't just come, you have to work for it and to be prepared requires hard work and dedication."

He told the assembly that with education it would be possible to combat all those things that break down a country, such as diseases, drugs and crime. Praising the University for meeting the needs of Eastern Kentucky and mankind, he pledged his congressional support to making sure that tomorrow's children also will have educational opportunities.

Earlier in the program, Founders Day Awards for University Service were presented by MSU Regent John Rosenberg of Prestonsburg to Robert S. Bishop and posthumously to K. Martin Huffman.

Bishop, a nephew of Frank C. Button, the first president, has been a strong supporter of the institution over the years. He told the audience that while there were many who were more deserving of the award, there was probably no one more appreciative.

Huffman, who died in 1993, was director of Printing Service, but also gave unselfishly of his time and talent to enrich the lives of students as a teacher and fraternity adviser. Accepting Huffman's award were his wife, Madonna Huffman Weathers, his daughter, Sarah Huffman, and son, Guy M. Huffman.

At the luncheon that followed, 31 major givers--the MSU Fellows for 1997-- were recognized and key fund raising volunteers were honored by the MSU Foundation, Inc. Lexmark International Inc. was recognized as the Most Valuable Giver.

Accepting awards as Volunteer Fund Raisers of the Year were Dr. Jack Ellis of Morehead and William Earl Clay of Lexington and Morehead. The Outstanding Faculty/Staff Fund Raisers were Dr. Janet Kenney, Department of Communications chair, and Dr. Michael Carrell, dean of the College of Business.

Also announced was the establishment of the Ed and Ruth Boggs Shannon Endowment Fund set up by Mr. and Mrs. Edfred L. Shannon Jr. of Whittier, Calif. The fund will aid teacher education students during their student teaching semester. Mrs. Shannon earned her A.B. degree at MSU in 1945, while her husband is a 1943 graduate of the Breckinridge School.

In keeping with the heritage theme, MSU's newest landmark, the W. Paul and Lucille C. Little Bell Tower, was dedicated. The 40-foot bell tower and its electronic carillon was presented to MSU by Mrs. Little, Morehead native and Lexington philanthropist, to honor her late husband and to inspire generations of future students.

Closing the day's events was the Alumni Awards dinner at which time three new members were inducted into the Alumni Hall of Fame. Recognized for their accomplishments were: Dr. Adron Doran of Lexington, who served as MSU president from 1954 to 1977; U.S. Army Col. Mark W. Dille of Weisbaden, Germany, a military logistics expert serving as chief of staff, 3rd Corps Support Command, and Linda Steiner, television producer and former ABC vice president.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Looking for something different for your vacation this year? What about a place where you can sail, fish, play tennis, swim and golf while also exploring some educational experiences? How about a vacation college?

This summer Morehead State University offers friends and families all of the above and more with its Family University Nexus (FUN) Programs. MSU's first vacation college program is scheduled June 25-29 and will coincide with MSU's annual Appalachian Celebration. The second session will be held July 30-Aug. 3.

"We've developed a series of educational and recreational activities which were designed with families in mind," said Dr. Janice Daniel, MSU's FUN coordinator. "Supervised children's activities will be available for youngsters ages 6-11, while day care will be provided for toddlers from age two to five. Our FUN is going to be fun for everyone who attends," she said.

"As some of our activities have limited space, we are encouraging people to register as early as possible," Dr. Daniel said. For those registering by May 1, the minimum deposit will be $50, while those registering after that date the deposit fee is $60.

FUN activities will include tours of the area's covered bridges, a houseboat cruise, demonstrations of broom and basket making and informal workshops dealing with such topics as herbal folk medicine, preservation of family papers/photos, archeology and estate planning.

Appalachian myths, music and movies, computer art, birds of the Cave Run area and teaching methods for distance learning are some of the topics for one credit hour classes.

Continuing education classes will deal with the local flora and cooking for a healthy heart, plus "user-friendly" classes on computer basics, cruising the internet and using the world wide web for business and pleasure.

In addition to the varied recreational opportunities, clinics are planned in tennis and golf. Evening activities include traditional music, clogging, a Kentucky Family Folk Theatre performance, gospel fest and games.

FUN

The FUN costs vary ranging from $450 for a group of four to $295 for an individual for four nights. Additional fees will be charged for some classes. The full four-night package includes dorm suite, bed linens, two dinners and four continental breakfasts per person. Packages for less than four nights also are available. Area residents wishing to be a part of FUN as commuters will be charged $50, for one to four individuals.

Those interested in additional information or a brochure on FUN may call toll-free at (800)-585-6781. E-mail inquiries may be sent to j.daniel@morehead-st.edu and FUN can be accessed on MSU's web page at www.morehead-st.edu/projects/fun.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. John Michael Seelig, special assistant to the president and affirmative action officer at Morehead State University, has been selected as an American Council on Education (ACE) Fellow for 1997-98.

A professor of social work, Dr. Seelig is one of approximately 35 ACE Fellows selected through national competition by the organization which serves as an umbrella association for the nation's colleges and universities.

Established in 1965, the ACE Fellows Program is designed to strengthen leadership in higher education by identifying and preparing promising faculty and staff members for major administrative roles in higher education.

Dr. Seelig is the second MSU administrator in recent years to be selected for the ACE Fellows Program. Dr. Judy Rogers, associate vice president for academic affairs and dean of undergraduate programs, held this prestigious fellowship in 1995-96.

During the academic year, Dr. Seelig will be assigned to a college or university president as an administrative intern. His campus assignment is still to be determined, however, Dr. Seelig said he is looking at institutions in Alabama, Georgia and Ohio.

Coordinator of the Social Work Program from 1986-1994, Dr. Seelig coordinates the cooperative M.S.W. degree from the University of Kentucky at MSU's extended campus centers and is co-director of MSU's Training Resources Center.

A Fulbright Senior Scholar to Ethiopia in 1990, the following year he was invited by the Slovak Academy of Sciences to lecture at Bratislava and Prague in what was then Czechoslovakia.

An advocate of faculty governance, Dr. Seelig served several terms on MSU's Faculty Senate, chairing it during 1987-88, and helped organize the Staff Congress. Active in the AAUP, he served as president of the campus chapter in 1991-94 and vice president of the state AAUP in 1991-94. His work in support of the principles of academic freedom earned him the Paul Oberst Award in 1992.

MSU's 1992-93 Distinguished Faculty Service Award recipient, Dr. Seelig served as legal issues editor of the Journal of Independent Social Work in 1978-91 and is the author of numerous articles published in professional journals. He is a frequent presenter at international, national, and regional conferences not only dealing with social work, but also affirmative action and other legal issues of higher education.

Joining MSU's faculty in 1983, he earned the J.D. degree from Capital University and holds master's degrees in social work and public administration from Ohio State University.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Upward Bound program, hosted by Morehead State University, will participate in the federally funded Summer Food Service Program for Children. The program operates under guidelines similar to those of public school food service programs. Participating in the program enables sponsors to provide lower program costs.

The program is available to eligible Upward Bound students 18 years of age and younger. All children will be served the same meals at no separate charge regardless of race, color, national origin, age, sex, or disability and there is no discrimination in the food service.

The following scale is the current family-size and income criteria used in determining eligibility for children at camp sites:

Family Size	Income Eligibility Standards
1	14,319
2	19,166
3	24,013
4	28,860
5	33,707
6	38,554
7	43,401
8	48,248
For each additional family member add	4,847

Persons who believe they may have been discriminated against in the Summer Food Service Program may write the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, DC 20250.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---An anonymous donor has endowed a scholarship through the Morehead State University Foundation, Inc., in memory of an Air Force pilot from Haldeman.

The Major James Scott DeHart Memorial Endowment Fund was established to aid graduates of Rowan County High School who enroll full-time at MSU. Endowed at the $10,000 level, the fund will allow for an award of $500 annually or 75 percent of the earned interest, whichever is greater. When the annual interest earned reaches $1,000, two awards will be made in accordance with the donor's wishes.

"Major DeHart was an honor student in high school whose plans to major in civil engineering in college changed after he discovered a love for flying," said Bill Redwine, MSU director of Alumni Relations and Development. "In honoring him in this manner, the donor is encouraging other academically-talented students to pursue their dream of a university education. It is a fitting tribute to the major's memory," he added.

DeHart, who died in 1969 just short of his 37th birthday, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force in 1950. After various assignments, including electronics training, radar observer training, he was accepted into the pilot training program. When he completed his jet training at Webb Air Force Base in Texas, he was asked to stay on as an instructor and later became flight commander for one of the training squadrons.

Remaining in the USAF Training Command, he moved up through the ranks to captain and received frequent recognition for his flying proficiency and military bearing. At one time, he was checked out and proficient in three different aircraft.

While at Williams Air Force Base in Arizona, DeHart served on the Standard Evaluation Board which rated instructors and student pilots on their performance in the T-37 and T-38 jet trainers. When the T-37 was experiencing a rash of accidents in the spin mode, he was part of a team that tested the aircraft and developed safer spin procedures.

Assigned to the Tactical Air Command, he was the Outstanding Graduate in his training class and was transferred to the 48th Tactical Fighter Wing in England in 1964.

While serving as flight commander in the 48th TFW, he and his squad were deployed to Wheelus AFB, Libya, where he received the Airman's Well Done Award and USAF Commendation Medal for a successful "dead-stick" or flame-out landing. The citation noted that his "calm assessment of the situation and flawless execution of emergency procedures saved a valuable aircraft and prevented possible loss of lives." He was reassigned to the Standard Evaluation Board and promoted to major.

In fall 1966, DeHart was deployed to Vietnam with the 366th Tactical Fighter Wing at Tuy Hoa. During this combat tour of duty, he was awarded the Bronze Star and Air Medal.

Returning from Southeast Asia in 1967, he was assigned to the 58th Military Airlift Squadron, flying the C-141 cargo, multi-engine plane on missions all around the world, including Southeast Asia and Europe in support of U.S. military and NATO sanctioned missions.

The son of the late Oscar and Grace DeHart of Haldeman, DeHart is survived by his wife, Paula Hon DeHart of Canton, Ga.; a daughter, Patricia, and son, Michael. His brother Robert DeHart resides in Flemingsburg.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. James Klotter, co-author of the "A New History of Kentucky," will visit Morehead State University on Tuesday, April 22, to sign copies of his new book.

The book signing, which is free and open to the public, will begin at 3:15 p.m. in 214 Rader Hall, the conference room for the Caudill College of Humanities' dean's office. Refreshments will be served.

Earlier in the day, Dr. Klotter will make presentations to two History of Kentucky classes taught by Dr. Don Flatt, professor of history. At 11:30 a.m., the topic will be "William Goebel: The Assassination of a Governor," and at 2 p.m., he will discuss "Interesting 20th Century Kentucky Personalities." Both class presentations will be held in 111 Rader Hall.

An associate editor of "The Kentucky Encyclopedia," Dr. Klotter has published nearly a dozen books including "Kentucky: Decades of Discord, 1865-1900," "Kentucky: Portraits of Paradox, 1900-1950" and "Our Kentucky: A Study of the Bluegrass State." He also has written many articles including "Sex, Scandal, and Suffrage in the Gilded Age," "Little Shepherds, Little Colonels, and Little Kingdoms," "Two Centuries of the Lottery in Kentucky," "Hatfields and McCoys Revised," and "Slavery in Louisville." He has published more than 70 book reviews in more than 20 journals and newspapers.

The Kentucky native received his Ph.D. in history from the University of Kentucky. He is the state historian, the Executive Director of the Kentucky Historical Society and the president of the Kentucky Civil War Round Table.

Dr. Klotter's campus visit is sponsored by MSU's Department of Geography, Government and History and the MSU Foundation, Inc. Additional information is available by calling (606) 783-2655.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Morehead State University community will celebrate Black Awareness Week, April 21-27, with a variety of events including a march and several guest speakers.

Highlighting diversity on campus is the goal of the programming for the week, according to Tyanne Brooks, program director for the Black Student Coalition. "By understanding, we can come together and settle any misunderstandings and get along," Brooks said.

"To create a better understanding, it's important to reflect on where we started and remember what it was like," she said. "The activities will help us share the experiences, the struggles, and the trials and tribulations that helped us get where we are today. For example, there will be an actor portraying some of the most famous past African American leaders who played a significant role in our history," said Brooks, a sophomore accounting major and daughter of Vivian Brooks of Paris.

The schedule of events is being coordinated by the Black Student Coalition in association with the Student Government Association's Cultural Diversity Committee and the Office of Minority Student Affairs.

Kicking off the week-long celebration will be a "Unity March" on Monday, April 21. Participants will gather at Alumni Tower at 6 p.m. for the walk through the residence hall area and across campus before ending at the Baptist Student Union. A spaghetti dinner at the BSU will run from 7 to 9 p.m., concluding the day's activity. The dinner is free to all marchers. There is a $3 charge for anyone who wishes to participate in the meal only.

On Tuesday, April 22, Darryl Van Leer will make a return visit to the campus for his "From the Gallows to the Gavel" performance. The program will feature Van Leer as a different personality in each of the seven scenes. Included will be Frederick Douglass, Malcolm X, Thurgood Marshall and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Show time is 7 p.m. in the grill, Adron Doran University Center.

"The Challenge for African Americans to Create a Life of Wholeness and Give the Gift of Life" is the theme for the Wednesday session that runs from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. in ADUC. Gloria Pressley, minority community coordinator for the Kentucky Organ Donor Affiliates (KODA), will discuss the advantages of participating in the program.

Later that day, Dr. William Turner, president of Turner & Associates Consultants from Winston Salem, N.C., will be the speaker in a program that begins at 7 p.m. in the Commonwealth Room, ADUC. A columnist for the "Winston Salem Chronicle," Dr. Turner has authored four book-length manuscripts including "Blacks in Appalachia" and produced four documentary videos in association with Appalshop Films of Whitesburg.

Speaker Shashu Tucker, who specializes in relaxation therapy, will discuss "Whose Dream Is It Anyway?" on Thursday, April 24. Her talk begins at 4 p.m. in the Alumni Center.

Friday through Sunday, it's the Black Gospel Ensemble's Founders Day Weekend which will be held in Breckinridge Hall. Hundreds of students have been members of this group since its inception in 1968. MSU alumnus Fred Smith of Tulsa, Okla., will return to the campus to offer workshops and several University alumni are expected to participate in the annual celebration.

Additional information on the week's activities is available from Brooks at (606) 783-3074 or the Office of Minority Student Affairs at 783-2668.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Karen Hammons, assistant professor of education at Morehead State University, has been elected vice-chair of the Kentucky Early Childhood Advisory Council. She will serve in this position until July when she will be installed as chair of KECAC.

Hammons was appointed to a four-year term on the KECAC by former Gov. Brereton Jones. Her term will expire in 1999.

Created with the passage of the Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990, the Council serves in an advisory capacity for the chief state school officer on the implementation of early childhood education programs throughout Kentucky.

An MSU faculty member since 1972, Hammons was formerly director of the University's Child Development Lab. She has served as president of the Kentucky Association on Children Under Six and in the Kentucky Association of Early Childhood Development. She also holds membership in several honor societies.

Hammons received her bachelor's degree from the University of Kentucky and her master's degree from MSU.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Small Business Development Center has received approval from the Kentucky Real Estate Commission to award continuing education credit to participants in the Center's distance learning workshops. The approval makes this the first SBDC distance learning program in the state to receive such approval.

The KREC joins the Kentucky Board of Accountancy and the Kentucky Board of Auctioneers in awarding credits for SBDC business programs.

Dr. Michael R. Carrell, dean of MSU's College of Business, where the University's SBDC is housed, praised the efforts of Wilson Grier, center director. "It is because of Grier's guidance that we are leading in this area in Kentucky, as well as the nation," he said.

Grier has facilitated a number of courses by distance learning during the last year. He has been invited to make a presentation for the Association of Real Estate License Law Officials at its National Convention in Phoenix, Ariz., in June.

The Center, created to support development and growth of small business in the region, offers a wide variety of services to existing and newly-launched small businesses. SBDC training sessions, partially funded by the U.S. Small Business Administration, are available to all individuals.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---When the early slave ships came to America, they brought along the soulful rituals of another land, the woes and sorrows of the slaves and the European style of music. This combination led to the birth of the blues with Robert Johnson, the "king" of the Delta Blues, and Muddy Waters, the "hoochy choochy" man being among the pioneers.

Darryl Van Leer will bring these legendary figures to life when he appears at Morehead State University on Tuesday, April 22, in the grill, Adron Doran University Center. He will take the spotlight at 7 p.m. in a performance that is free and open to the public.

Van Leer's campus visit is part of Morehead State University's Black Awareness Week activities which run April 21-27 on the campus.

In his "From the Gallows to the Gavel" presentation, Van Leer will portray a number of historical figures besides the blues greats. He also will "become" Frederick Douglass, Malcolm X and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. along with Marcus Garvey, commander of the Universal African Legion. For each role, he will transform into period attire for a program that is both historical and educational.

Born in Madisonville, Van Leer earned a bachelor's degree in industrial technology at Western Kentucky University before entering the entertainment field. He began his television career by working regularly on Black Entertainment Network's Bobby Jones Gospel Show as a background vocalist, writer and staff photographer. Since then, he has appeared in national ads for General Motors and Service Merchandise, has performed in local stage productions, appeared in the motion picture "A League of Their Own" and has a role in HBO's feature presentation "The Second Civil War."

A stand-up comedian, he has appeared at The Comic Strip and Catch a Rising Star in New York and has performed at more than 150 colleges and universities.

Van Leer has received nominations for three national awards including best lecturer and best performing artist for the National Association for Campus Activities (NACA). He also has been nominated for the NAACP Image Award.

Additional information is available by calling MSU's Office of Minority Student Affairs at (606) 783-2668 or the Black Student Coalition at (606) 783-3074.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Music with a Parisian flavor will be the theme when Morehead State University's OperaWorks presents its spring production on Tuesday, April 29. The performance, which is free and open to the public, will begin at 8 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall.

Entitled "April in Paris," the production will feature excerpts from several operas written in or about Paris. The ensemble will perform some of the most musically and dramatically colorful selections from the Offenbach operas, "The Tales of Hoffman" "La Perichole" and "Orpheus in the Underworld," as well as the Paris scenes from Franz Lehar's operetta, "The Merry Widow." The show will conclude with a French can-can dance.

Among the highlights of the evening will be a performance by MSU assistant professors Roma Prindle, who is OperaWorks director, and Dr. Ricky Little, baritone, in a scene from "Orpheus." Also making a guest appearance will be Janean Freeman, WMKY assistant music director, in the Flower Duet from "Lakme," and student soloists will be Cathy Mullins, Pikeville senior, and Kellie Napier, Burlington junior.

Rondecca Kam, Hong Kong freshman, will appear as a strolling cafe violinist throughout the evening. Larry Keenan, professor of music, will provide keyboard accompaniment for all scenes.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Some Rowan County Senior High School students took a break from their familiar surroundings recently to visit Morehead State University and participate in a special project.

Nancy Lane's anatomy class was invited to assist with histoplasmosis research under the direction of Dr. Ted Pass II, professor of biology and Water Testing Lab director, and his assistant, Rita Wright. For the project, the students dissected mice, removed livers and spleens for plating to recover the fungus responsible for the disease.

The 19 students and their teacher worked in the microbiology lab in the new annex of MSU's Lappin Hall.

Cutlines:

- 1---MSU student Fran Bowen, left, Morehead senior nursing major, guided Marsha Alfrey and Angie Johnson through the process of dissection.
- 2---Deep in concentration, Morgan Clark observed the liver and spleen in the test tube.
- 3---RCSHS teacher Nancy Lane watched closely as Steve Fife and Brandon Hamm worked on their mouse.
- 4---Before the work began, Rita Wright, left, walked the high school students, Nikki Washington, Carrie Walker and Kristin Ferguson through the dissection procedure.
- 5---Dr. Ted Pass II explained the importance of accuracy to Morgan Clark.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Flute Choir will hold its first flute concert on Sunday, April 27.

The performance, which is free and open to the public, will begin at 3 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall of Baird Music Hall.

The choir, directed by Dr. Robert Pritchard, professor of music, uses a variety of flutes, ranging from the smallest to the largest: piccolo; E-flat flute; the familiar concert flute; the alto flute in G, and the bass flute, which is so long that the head joint has a U-shape curve to allow easier access by the player.

The concert will feature "Suite Picaresque" by David Uber and "Seven Southern Sketches" by Sonny Burnette, chair of the Department of Music at Georgetown College. Both works are previous winners of the James Madison University Composition Contest.

Also highlighting the evening will be a transcription of excerpts from Bach's "Sonata No. 2 in E-flat Major" by Dr. Pritchard. Area high school flutists have been invited to perform with the choir on "Londonderry Air" by Percy Grainger, transcribed by Robert Webb.

Additional information is available by calling Dr. Pritchard at (606) 783-2493.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Faculty members in Morehead State University's Department of Mathematical Sciences will host Math Awareness Week, April 21-25, to eliminate some of the myths of the mathematics field.

Many exciting activities are planned for the week, according to Dr. Dora Cardenas Ahmadi, assistant professor of mathematics and coordinator of the activities. "These events are designed to reach out to the community and inform all individuals, from kindergarten to adults, about mathematics," she said.

Math Awareness Week takes on special significance this year as it is part of the University's yearlong celebration of its 75th anniversary as a state institution of higher education.

Starting off the week will be a mini-fair on Monday, April 21. There will be a projects exhibition on the second floor of the Adron Doran University Center which will run through Friday.

During the day, there will be a Mathematics Problem Solving Competition from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Problems at three levels of difficulty will be available at the mini-fair, the library, and the department's office, 105 Lappin Hall. Solutions are due in 105 Lappin Hall, by 4:30 p.m. daily. The competition will be repeated daily through Friday.

Concluding Monday's activities will be the movie "Apollo." Show time is 6 p.m. in 241 Lappin Hall. Free popcorn will be available.

On Tuesday, April 22, visitors are invited to stop by the Mathematics Heritage Exhibit which features memorabilia for more than 75 years. The viewing period is 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in East Room B, ADUC. The exhibit also will be open on Wednesday.

To enjoy the less serious side of math, it's Fun with Mathematics and Computers from 5 to 7 p.m. in 213 Ginger Hall. Children, parents and school teachers are encouraged to attend. Refreshments will be provided.

math awareness

To complete the evening, it's off to the movies where "Donald in Mathmagic Land," a documentary entitled "There is Life After Math" and the movie "Not Knot" will be offered.

On Wednesday, April 23, it's a Math Carnival. There will be "fun" activities which include puzzles, games and problem solving competitions. Student will compete for prizes which will be awarded later in the week.

A guest speaker will visit the campus on Thursday, April 24, for a talk entitled "Real Estate in Hyperbolic Space: Investment Opportunities for the 90's." The lecture, which will be held in 419 Reed Hall from 3 to 4 p.m., will feature Dr. Colin Adams who will discuss life as Mel Slugbate, a real estate agent. The talk is suitable for the general public and door prizes will be given at the conclusion of the lecture.

A public reception in honor of Dr. Adams will be held in the Patti Bolin Room, Lloyd Cassity Building, immediately following his presentation.

Dr. Adams is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he received a B.S. degree in mathematics and University of Wisconsin-Madison where he earned an Ph.D. degree in mathematics. After finishing his doctorate in 1983, he joined the faculty at Williams College in Williamstown, Mass.

The programs are free and open to the public. Additional information is available from Dr. Ahmadi at (606) 783-2919.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Two Morehead State University students are gaining valuable work experience while helping other students do the same.

Amanda Simmons, a Shelbyville sophomore, and Michelle Watts, a Jackson sophomore, were selected as the new co-directors for MSU's Service Learning Project, part of the Council on Higher Education KEYS to KERA Service Learning Consortium.

"Among the goals of Service Learning are to provide information on the program, thereby allowing students to become familiar with the program and its role in the community," Watts said. "By being introduced to the program of learning, students will have the opportunity to be involved in a plethora of services, thus enhancing their academic journey at MSU," she said.

Through Service Learning, students work on projects in the community that fill a community need and enable the student to gain experience in their field of choice.

The project is for students in all areas of study, according to Simmons. "It is a great opportunity to learn more about one's chosen career," she said. "I hope that every student will be involved with service learning."

Simmons, a speech major and English minor, also is active in Baptist Student Union. Currently a coaching assistant for the speech team at Rowan County Senior High School, she plans to teach at the high school level and coach a speech team at a middle school.

An elementary education major, Watts also participates in the BSU. She is an aerobics instructor and serves as a resident adviser in Cartmell Hall.

MSU's Service Learning program, funded by a grant from the KEYS to KERA Consortium, is administered through the Academic Support Services Program.

Students interested in becoming participants in the Service Learning program are encouraged to contact one of the co-directors. They may be reached by calling (606) 783-2266 or visiting 325 Allie Young Hall, Tuesdays or Thursdays after 1:50 p.m.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Veterinary Technology Program's full accreditation status has been extended through Dec. 31, 1999.

Certification approval was granted by the Committee on Veterinary Technician Education and Activities (CVTEA) following a review of MSU's program. Notification came earlier this month from Dr. Donald G. Simmons, director of the Education and Research Division of the American Veterinary Medical Association.

"Accreditation is important to our program as it demonstrates that it meets or exceeds the high standards demanded by veterinarians practicing in the profession," said Dr. Scott Rundell, interim coordinator of MSU's program.

"A great deal of the credit for this accomplishment is due directly to the commitment to quality by our faculty, staff and students," he added.

MSU's associate degree vet tech program has maintained full accreditation since its inception in 1977. The program is administered through the Department of Agricultural Science in the College of Science and Technology.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. C. Brent Rogers, associate professor of agriculture at Morehead State University, has been appointed to the Soils Technical Workgroup for Standards and Policy Committee of the Kentucky Geographic Information Advisory Council (KYGLAC).

The Soils Technical Workgroup was established to examine current standards and policy concerning the digital soils data and make recommendations to the Standards and Policy Committee. The workgroup also defines issues concerning the soils layer of the basemap, pose possible scenarios to address those issues and offer a recommendation.

Members of the group are representatives of federal, state, regional and local levels of government including the U.S. Forest Service, Division of Conservation, Tennessee Valley Authority, Mammoth Cave National Park, and several universities.

An MSU faculty member since 1984, Dr. Rogers received his bachelor's and master's degrees in agriculture from Western Kentucky University and earned a Ph.D. in agronomy from the University of Arkansas. He is a member of the Weed Science Society of America and the Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels, as well as several academic honor societies.

The Russellville native has given several professional presentations on herbicides and their effects and has co-authored a number of publications.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Boyd County Middle School has been recognized as one of five Economics America Exemplary Schools statewide.

Application for the award was prepared by Becky Stacey, BCMS's economics education advocate, and Janet Ratliff, Morehead State University's Economics Education Programs director.

"The school won the award because of the efforts of numerous teachers, the administration, outside volunteers and, of course, the students," said Ratliff.

A contributing factor in BCMS winning the award was the implementation of a school-wide Magic Mall to benefit the Fantasia Foundation, a permanent source of funds for middle school students who need assistance with the costs of school activities.

"The program is a perfect example of curriculum aligned with specific content guidelines," Stacey said.

To provide funds for the Fantasia Foundation, students raised money through the operation of several Mall stores: the Christmas Ornament Shop, the Munchie Shop, the Learning Toy Shop, Photo and Tech-Card Shop and the Tag-It and Bones Shops. The program also sponsored the Parody Players, who presented an original production of "How Voyagers Saved Christmas" and Caring Castle, a canned food drive that yielded 2,185 cans of food for needy families in Boyd County.

Administered by a student board, the Foundation functions throughout the year. The program has provided realistic work experience for students, allowing them to prepare a mission statement, create a financial plan with a budget, a system of recordkeeping and purchase orders and a variety of writing suitable for math or language portfolios, Stacey added.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---An ABC Prime Time Special "I Am Your Child" will air on Monday, April 28, at 8 p.m. EST and focus on the healthy development of young children.

This program, which will feature music, comedy and documentaries on fetal development, brain development and the importance of community support for the family, will kickoff the Early Childhood Public Engagement Campaign for 1997 which is being spearheaded by the Families and Work Institute in cooperation with the Kentucky Association of Families and Consumer Sciences (KAFCS).

The campaign will focus on the importance of the first three years of a youngster's life and what families and communities can do to aid young children's healthy development and school readiness, according to Carolyn D. Taylor, associate professor of human sciences at Morehead State University who heads KAFCS Early Childhood Initiative Task Force.

"Our goal is to help and inform families, to build the capacity of the fields that serve young children and their families and to bring about change through public education and community activities," Taylor said.

During the special, a toll-free number will be given to order materials on the subject.

The care of young children also will be highlighted in other ways, Taylor noted. "Good Morning America" will feature segments on development and relationships between young children and their caregivers. "Newsweek" has released a special edition that includes a status report on young children and their families and practical tips for families to use.

Additional information is available from Taylor at (606) 783-2960 or by checking out the website: www.iamyourchild.org.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The 10th annual East Kentucky Leadership Conference will be held at Morehead State University on Friday and Saturday, April 25-26. The Morehead Rowan County Chamber of Commerce and MSU are co-hosting the two-day meeting at which issues and challenges facing Eastern Kentucky will be explored.

Special awards for leadership will be presented to three individuals and two organizations whose contributions have made a difference in the region. The presentations will be made at a dinner scheduled for 5:30 p.m. at the Carl Perkins Community Center that will also feature comments from Gov. Paul Patton and a keynote speech by noted Kentucky author Wendell Berry.

State Rep. Greg Stumbo will receive the Public Individual Award, while Dr. Mary Fox of Pikeville is the recipient of the Private Individual Award. Frontier Housing will receive the Organization Award for serving the human needs of the region and Tom Carew of Morehead will accept.

The Arts and Culture Award goes to banjo player Lee Sexton of Ulvah. The Kentucky Explorer magazine, which is published in Jackson, is the recipient of the Media Award. Editor Charles Hayes will accept the award.

The conference will officially open at noon on Friday with registration and discussion groups in Baird Music Hall, while the Appalachian Advisory Committee will hold its annual meeting beginning at 9:30 a.m. with a general session in Duncan Recital Hall, followed by individual committee meetings.

At 1 p.m. "early bird" discussion groups will be conducted on the following:

- Rock the Mountains: Youth Summit on East Kentucky Issues (repeated at 3 p.m.), led by Peter Hille, director of the Brushy Fork Institute, and Judy Duerson, Cumberland Valley ADD assistant director.
- Women in Leadership: A Celebration (repeated at 3 p.m.) led by Linda Gayheart, former Kentucky River ADD director and now consultant to the Appalachian Regional Commission.
- Appalachian Community Development, led by Ewell Balltrip, Kentucky Appalachian Commission executive director.
- Utilizing Coal Severance Tax Funds, led by Dr. Grady Stumbo, East Kentucky Leadership Foundation chair.

Also scheduled at 3 p.m. is a session on "A New Welfare Reform Law: Reform or Reaction," led by Richard Ward, an attorney with Wyatt, Tarrant and Combs.

Following the reception and dinner, WYMT-TV will film an on-site "Issues and Answers" program with the awards presentation ending the evening.

On Saturday, the conference returns to Baird Music Hall for registration at 8 a.m. and the general session at 9 a.m. Presiding will be George Fletcher, conference program chair, and Morehead Mayor Brad Collins, Rowan County Judge Executive Clyde Thomas and MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin will welcome participants.

Concurrent sessions will run from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. with conference-goers able to attend three sessions. Also scheduled during that three-hour period is an intensive session, Reforming Higher Education: Life Long Learning, which will be led by Hazard Community College President Ed Hughes.

Concurrent sessions topics and facilitators include:

- Putting Out the Welcome Mat for Tourists led by Tourism Secretary Ann Latta.
- Tying County Clean-up Funds to Economic Development led by Frank Salisbury, economic development specialist for American Electric Power in Prestonsburg.
- Building the Wood Industry While Protecting Our Forest led by Kevin Brown, wood specialist with the East Kentucky Corporation.
- Educating Our Special Needs Children led by Mike Mullins, Hindman Settlement School director.
- Riding the Crest of the Third Wave--The Information Age led by Hilda Legg, Center for Rural Economic Development director.
- Building Our Communities Through Civic Capacity led by Hille and Gayheart.
- Building a Winning Team: Public/Private Partnerships led by Terry Spears, assistant to the Pike County Judge Executive.
- Eastern Kentucky Entrepreneurial Institute: A Think Tank for Creative Businesses and Inventors led by Bill Weinberg, chair of the executive committee, Kentucky Appalachian Commission.
- The Church's Role in Welfare Reform led by Tony Turner, news director for WYMT.
- Creating Recreational Opportunities for Youth: An Alternative to Juvenile Delinquency led by Ron Dailey, publisher/editor of the Troublesome Creek Times.

Lunch will be at 12:30 p.m. on the lawn of the Laughlin Building. The closing session will be at 1:30 p.m. in Breckinridge Hall with Dr. Stumbo presiding.

Now in its 10th year, the conference is designed to bring the region's leadership together to discuss issues impacting Eastern Kentucky and develop common goals, according to Shirley Hamilton, MSU's director of community development and conference chair.

The $25 per person registration includes all programs and meals. Additional information on registration is available by calling Cindy Howard, Morehead/Rowan County Chamber of Commerce, at (606) 784-6221.

RESEARCHERS FROM ENGLAND VISIT EASTERN KENTUCKY SCHOOLS

As part of a comparative research project with Morehead State University, researchers from the University of Sunderland in England, visited Eastern Kentucky to survey students at 13 elementary schools. The study is the second of three where attitudes towards education are compared with students in England, Eastern Kentucky and Hertzen University in St. Petersburg that are involved in the research. Recently published, the initial study compared 14-year-olds in the three countries.

Shirley S. Blair, second from left, director of student teaching at MSU, arranged for the University of Sunderland visitors. They were, from left, Jerry Norton, Secondary Education chair; Dr. Joe Elliott, director of Research and Development; Linda Wilson, Primary Education chair, and Tony Hildreth, statistician.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A new radio program entitled "Focus on Writing" will air on WMKY, 90.3 FM, listener-supported radio from Morehead State University. Locally produced and hosted, the show will air at 6 p.m. on the last Saturday of each month, beginning April 26.

A part of the station's "Focus" series, "Focus on Writing" will include interviews and readings by guest writers, book reviews, features on the writing process and developing and teaching writing.

"The goal of the 'Focus' series is to keep listeners in touch with issues in the region," said Tom Lewis, WMKY's director of news programming. "The arts are important in this area but are often overlooked in news coverage. We hope this program will make listeners more aware of the writing talent in the area."

Hosts for the show, created by the Graduate Writers Association, will be MSU faculty members Dr. Lynne Taetzsch, assistant professor of English, and Carol Mauriello, instructor of English. John Allison, a lecturer in the Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy, will engineer the program.

For its premiere, "Focus on Writing" will feature Oklahoma poet Ann Weisman, known for performing her poetry instead of reading, and a review of Jamaica Kincaid's novel, "The Autobiography of My Mother" by Lynn Schaffer, lecturer in English.

Other writers featured throughout the series will include poet Bea Opengart of Cincinnati; Mary Taylor-Hall, author of "Come and Go, Molly Snow," George Eklund, MSU associate professor of English, and MSU graduate students in creative writing classes.

Questions and comments from listeners will be welcomed throughout the series. Additional information about "Focus on Writing" is available from Dr. Taetzsch at (606) 783-2136.

Additional information about WMKY's programming is available by calling (606) 783-2394 or 1-800-286-WMKY.

GOALS OF THE CONFERENCE

Leaders from all walks of life from Eastern Kentucky are invited to attend the Tenth Annual East Kentucky Leadership Conference. Any person or group that aspires to a leadership role in Eastern Kentucky should take this opportunity to meet with other leaders from the region.

This is not a conference for just a few speakers and listeners. The goal is to make everyone a speaker, listener, and most importantly, an effective leader.

The leadership of Eastern Kentucky must work together to solve the problems of this area. Through networking, discussion and the sharing of time, we can create a unified front to address the problems facing Eastern Kentucky. Come join us.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The accomplishments of a former Morehead State University first lady will be highlighted on the campus at "Mignon Doran Day" on Saturday, May 10.

Everyone is invited to participate in this special day which is part of the University's celebration of its 75th Anniversary as a state institution of higher learning. Tickets for the luncheon event are $15. All ticket orders must be received by Monday, May 5.

The activities are being coordinated by the Morehead State University in conjunction with the MSU Woman's Club and Morehead Woman's Club. The idea originated after the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs announced its "Celebrate Women: Past, Present and Future" theme this year. Mrs. Doran is a past state president of KFWC and contributed to the success of both local clubs.

Because of her many years of service to Morehead State and the community, these service clubs wanted to honor Mrs. Doran, according to Susette Redwine, who is MSU's coordinator for the celebration.

Mignon McClain Doran and her husband, Adron, were guiding forces in developing MSU from a single purpose college into a comprehensive regional university during their nearly 23 years at the helm. From her home in Lexington, she continues to serve the region as a resource person, lecturer and musician.

While on the MSU campus, Mrs. Doran was highly visible as an organist at home basketball games and horse shows. A residence hall complex was named in her honor by MSU's Board of Regents.

Mignon Doran Day
2-2-2-2-2

As the first lady, she entertained dignitaries and officials from across the U.S., including Lady Bird Johnson, several Miss America titlists and Sen. Ted Kennedy. Through the Personal Development Institute which she established, she was a daily source of wisdom and guidance.

Mrs. Doran was presented an honorary doctorate in humanities by MSU's Board of Regents and a Special Service Award from the Alumni Association. But her accolades came from outside the University community as well. She was named the Kentucky Young Democrats' "Outstanding Woman Kentuckian of the Year," received the Citation Award from the International Association of Personnel in Employment Services (IAPES) for prison inmate rehabilitation, and was Cardinal Key National Honor Sorority's Woman of the Year.

A woman of many accomplishments, Mrs. Doran was the first woman "behind bars" to make presentations of GED diplomas at the Kentucky Penitentiary at Eddyville. She founded the MSU Fine Arts Trio and hosted a "Tea Time at Home with Mignon" radio show for 10 years.

For those who cannot attend the celebration, donations may be made in her honor to the Adron and Mignon Doran Scholarship Fund through the MSU Foundation, Inc.

Additional information on the day is available from Phyllis Dutschke, Morehead Woman's Club president, at (606) 784-8453; Ruth Ann Harney Howard, MSU Woman's Club president, at 783-2060, or Redwine at 783-2071.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will recognize scholastic achievement by students, faculty and staff during its 13th annual Academic Awards Week, May 4-9.

Throughout the week, the colleges and various departments will recognize outstanding endeavors by their students. Launching the week will be the traditional Academic Awards Convocation where many of the University's academic departments will present awards for excellence to their outstanding graduate and undergraduate students.

In addition, students maintaining perfect grade point averages and graduating seniors in the Academic Honors Program will be recognized. The winner of the A. Frank Gallaher Memorial Music Performance Competition, Brian Eisert, Louisville junior, will perform, accompanied by Nathan Lavy, Sandusky, Ohio, senior.

In conjunction with MSU's yearlong celebration of its 75th anniversary as a state institution of higher learning, a work commissioned in honor of this milestone will be performed by the Faculty Brass Quintet. Composed by Dr. Joseph Klein from the University of North Texas, the piece is entitled "Three Studies in Change."

Recipients of the University's most prestigious faculty/staff honors--Distinguished Teacher, Distinguished Researcher and Distinguished Creative Productions awards--also will be honored.

Established by the Alumni Association, the Distinguished Teacher Award recognizes an educator whose contributions to the student educational experience are truly outstanding.

Created by MSU's Research and Creative Production Committee, the Distinguished Researcher and Distinguished Creative Productions awards are designed to recognize special achievements in research and creative productivity.

Dr. John C. Philley, executive vice president for Academic Affairs, will present these awards and Dr. Marc D. Glasser, dean of Graduate and Extended Campus programs, will recognize the outstanding graduate students. Dr. Judy Rogers, associate vice president for Academic Affairs, will present the outstanding undergraduate students awards. MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin will congratulate the honorees. Presiding at the convocation will be Dr. George M. Luckey Jr., Academic Honors Program director and professor of philosophy.

(MORE)

The convocation speaker will be Tonya L. Hatfield, Orange City, Iowa, senior, who will receive her B.B.A. degree in management with honors on May 17.

Active in the Academic Honors Program throughout her college career, Hatfield holds Presidential and Honors Program scholarships. She has made several presentations at state, regional and national honors conferences. She is the 1996-97 Department of Management and Marketing's Outstanding Undergraduate Student.

A member of MSU's Leadership Development Program, Hatfield has served as administrative vice president, vice president of member education and scholarship chairman of Gamma Phi Beta sorority. She is an MSU Student Alumni Ambassador and a member of Societas Pro Legibus pre-law society, Rho Lambda national honor fraternity, Gamma Beta Phi national honor organization and Gamma Sigma Alpha national honor fraternity.

Hatfield is a volunteer with a local Girl Scout troop and is active in the Baptist Student Union. She is the daughter of Quentin and Lynn Hatfield of Orange City. Her father was MSU's first student regent.

Other events are scheduled throughout the week in the Adron Doran University Center to honor outstanding achievement, including a luncheon on Monday, May 5, hosted by the Research and Creative Productions Committee to recognize faculty and staff research and creative production efforts.

Students in the Caudill College of Humanities will be honored at an 11:30 a.m. luncheon on Tuesday, May 6. The College of Education and Behavioral Sciences will recognize its students at a 7:30 a.m. breakfast on Wednesday, May 7, while students in the College of Science and Technology will be recognized at an 11:30 a.m. luncheon that same day. The College of Business has scheduled an honors/scholarship banquet for 6:30 p.m. on Friday, May 9.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will be the site of a National Certification Course for Water Fitness Instructors on Saturday, May 24.

The deadline to register is Friday, May 9. The course is open to anyone 16 years of age or older who have an interest in becoming a water fitness instructor as well as those currently teaching who do not have the required credentials.

An advanced class also will be given on the same day for individuals who either have a current National Water Fitness Instructor Certification and have taught more than two years and a minimum of one hundred hours, or have a minimum of three years experience teaching water exercise and at least 150 hours of actual experience teaching water exercise.

Water fitness is one of the fastest growing fitness programs in the country and because of its tremendous growth, instructors are hard to find, according to John R. Spannuth, president of the United States Water Fitness Association.

Additional information is available from Dr. Dayna Brown, MSU Wellness Center coordinator, at (606) 783-5282, or the United States Water Fitness Association National Headquarters at (561) 732-9908.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.----An educational partnership has been forged between Morehead State University's College of Business and the East Kentucky Power Cooperative in Winchester to bring an MBA degree program to that area.

"East Kentucky believes its role is not only to be the best energy supplier but also to enhance the quality of life for area residents and that's why we explored the possibility of such a program," said Wes Moody, manager of information technology process for the electric cooperative.

"We are really pleased to be able to offer the MBA program on-site for the cooperative," said Dr. Michael Carrell, dean of the College of Business. "We hope that this is just the beginning of many more such partnerships shared by the University with businesses and other private sector entities."

MSU's College of Business began teaching the first class in the two-year graduate program earlier this spring, but East Kentucky will still consider adding anyone interested in applying to the program, according to Dr. Rosemary Carlson, MSU professor of finance who is coordinating the East Kentucky Power Cooperative program.

The first class, taught by Dr. L.K. Williams, MSU professor of accounting, is being offered in a traditional classroom setting, two evenings each week for seven weeks, but other classes will be offered through the Internet, Dr. Carlson said.

"Throughout the program's duration, classes will be taught either traditionally or via Internet," Dr. Carlson added. Each class will run for seven weeks with a two week break before the next session.

Currently 14 people are enrolled in the program, but several additional slots are still available. The class includes East Kentucky employees or their family members and employees of the Cumberland Valley Rural Cooperative which serves as an electric distribution cooperative. "Now we're opening those last slots up to the general public," said Moody.

"MSU has been extremely innovative and enthusiastic about working through any roadblocks to this program," said Moody. "East Kentucky and the Winchester area will reap benefits from this MBA outreach program which will provide managers with increased business problem-solving skills."

Anyone interested in participating in the MBA program at East Kentucky Power Cooperative may obtain additional information from Moody or Ann Maggard, manager of EKPC's training, education and development process, at (606) 744-4812.

Additional information on similar cooperative opportunities with MSU is available from Dr. Carlson at (606) 783-2777 or Dr. Carrell at (606) 783-5158.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---In honor of its 75th anniversary as a state institution of higher education, Morehead State University has commissioned a special piece of music to recognize this milestone.

MSU's Faculty Brass Quintet will play this original work at the University's Academic Awards Convocation on Sunday, May 4, which begins at 2 p.m. in Button Auditorium.

The work, composed by Dr. Joseph Klein, professor of composition at the University of North Texas in Denton, is entitled "Three Studies in Change" and is a combination of three smaller movements: I. evolution, II. erosion, III. entropy.

Each of the movements is modeled after a different process associated with the natural world, according to Dr. Klein. "From a conceptual standpoint, the first movement is concerned with growth, the second with leveling, and the third with disintegration," he said.

Dr. Klein, who was the first visiting composer when MSU's Department of Music initiated its visiting composer series four years ago, will be in attendance at the convocation.

"He was familiar with our campus and has written a colorful piece," according to Dr. Andrew Glendening, assistant professor of trombone and a member of the brass quintet. "He understood its importance and was expeditious in giving us this work to be enjoyed during this yearlong celebration." The quintet plans to record the piece in the coming year.

Members of the quintet are: Dr. Jon Burgess, assistant professor of trumpet; L. Curtis Hammond, assistant professor of horn; Stacy Baker, assistant professor of tuba, and Deb Eastwood, resident trumpeter and a doctoral candidate at the University of Illinois, and Dr. Glendening.

Additional information on the performance is available from Dr. Glendening at (606) 783-2477.

GREEKS HONOR DR. FLATT

Dr. Don Flatt, professor of history at Morehead State University, recently was recognized by the University's greek councils, the Interfraternity Council (IFC), the Panhellenic Council (NPC) and the National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC). The councils presented him with their first Outstanding Teacher Award at the annual Greek Awards banquet. Dr. Flatt, who is completing his 35th year of teaching at MSU, is the author of "A Light To The Mountains: Morehead State University, 1887-1997," a history of the University which will be published later this year.

LEADERSHIP RECOGNIZED

Special awards for leadership were presented during the recent 10th annual East Kentucky Leadership Conference held at Morehead State University. The awards recognized three individuals and two organizations whose contributions have made a difference in the region. Recipients were, from left, Tom Carew of Morehead accepting for Frontier Housing; the Outstanding Organization Award; Charles Hayes of Jackson accepting for the Kentucky Explorer magazine, Media Award; Dr. Mary Fox of Pikeville, Private Individual Award; State Rep. Greg Stumbo of Prestonsburg, Public Individual Award, and musician Lee Sexton of Ulvah. The two-day meeting (April 25-26), hosted by MSU and the Morehead/Rowan County Chamber of Commerce, was designed to bring the region's leadership together to discuss issues impacting Eastern Kentucky and develop common goals.
