'ONE OF KENTUCKY'S GREATER WEEKLIES'

July 4th

Cracker Barrel Comments

(By Woody Hiltner)

My music education was sadly neglected. Yet I was practically raised on a French Harp. When I went away to school I decided to take piano lessons. First, because I liked the way the girl fixed her hair that played the piano in chapel. Somehow or other she was not the one that gave the lessons and my instructor was a very high tempered gentleman and after the fifth lesson he in no polite way informed me that I had better stick to my agriculture, or anything except music. Yet I have always liked a wide variety of any type of music. I would miss a chicken dinner to hear Casey Jones played by a good banjo picker. I love to hear the Opera of Hings and Gretel sung in Italian. I went to see and hear Dennis King in "The Vagabond King" four times. I stayed in Hamilton, Ohio, once for three days longer than I was scheduled because I found a restaurant that had a wonderful cookman that played the bagging and ahead on the radio I have to leave the room. And the wife and I almost parted. When I wanted to buy an old-time organ for the living room. By the way, Roscoe Hutchinson bought the old Citizens Bank building. Jack Cecil pulled out his purse and counted off several grand for the "Granny" white property category. He went from the Midland Trail Hotel. Dr. Ellington the tooth specialist is driving nails on the new Elington Arms building. Has never seen or heard of anything depressing people as this war. It seems to have taken a "pep" out of them. Mr. Marsh shaves in his underwear. U. S. Battleships are named after states. Cruisers after Cities, Destroyers after sea men, officers, Gunboats after Islands and Famous Battles, Hospital ships after synonyms for kindness. Mine sweepers after birds. I could never understand where they get the names for pull man cars. Such as ANGOLA, MISSISSIPPI, ANDERSON, NASHVILLE, and etta, cetera.

Building Boom Is Still Under Way; Plans Announced

Cecil Consumates Purchase Of Old Whit Property On Main Street

The building boom in Morehead has not yet reached its peak. With the announcement last week of Dr. A. F. Ellington's intention to erect a new combination office and apartment building on the main street property owned by Cecil, owner and manager of the local Midland Trail Hotel, it is probable that the building boom has begun construction of a new building there in the near future.

Meanwhile, Dr. Ellington states that plans are now being drawn for his building to be located at the corner of Main and Bridge Streets. Plans and specifications are being drawn by W. H. Rice, local engineer.

Jury Returns Verdict In Case Of Revenue Officers Murder

John And Bernard Hargis, George Wilson, Freed Of Murder Of Floyd Hyatt

Judge D. B. White is rapidly disposing of a mass of small cases as the first few days of the present session of Rowan's court conclude. The jury today considered the case of John Hargis, Bernard Hargis and George Wilson, all indicted jointly in connection with the murder of Floyd Hyatt, killed in the minor section of the county this past fall while Hyatt and other officers were allegedly searching for illicit liquor.

John Hargis, Bernard Hargis and George Wilson were acquitted Thursday on a charge of murdering Floyd Hyatt.

Hyatt was killed while he and other officers were allegedly searching for illicit liquor in the minor section of the county known as "Minor." The killing occurred last fall.

Judge White in his instruction to the jury on Monday declared that action must be taken on the operation of slot machines in this county deeming that "I will not tolerate them in this district."

"Rather than allow them to pay a fine—which is license—they must be abandoned," the judge said.

Members of the Grand Jury and cases disposed of so far follow:

GRAND JURY

Holtzclaw Points Out The Origin Of "Fifth Column"; Sets Out Its Dangers

(By Dr. Jas. B. Holtzclaw)

The origin of the term "Fifth Column" is somewhat obscure, but it probably was coined during the recent Spanish Civil War, when a spokesman for the Rebels declared that they had four columns of troops advancing against Madrid while a "fifth column" of sympathizers sought to weaken the city's defenses from within.

Looking ahead now to the gigantic task of rendering the defenses and unity of the Western Hemisphere adequate for any emergency, we are anxiously concerned with the problem of preventing any weakening of our defenses by such insidious fifth column activities on this side of the Atlantic.

Local NYA Busy On Sidewalk Projects

The local NYA are busy these days in Morehead. They are working on sidewalk in front of the public high school.

Paraphrase For A Successful Editorial Column.

WE HAVE just become aware of one of those coincidences which are all the more interesting because they are so unexpected.

A local editorial column is worth every inch of space it occupies and every minute of the time it takes to prepare one, believes O. E. Jones, editor of the Batesville (Ark.) Guard and Record, who can cite many examples.

Recently, WNU representative called on Mr. Jones in his sanctum at Batesville and discussed many phases of newspaper making...

Getting back to his coffee and having the water warm it up a bit Jones said, "Well, that settled that. I was on the right track it seems. Those men believe so."

On, yes, at times we do step on a few toes. We get the dander of some of them up but they can say that we are biased. We give both sides of the question and when somebody wants to answer we let them have the full run and say whatever they please.

WILD LIFE OF KENTUCKY by Roger Barbour MOREHEAD STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

WOODPECKERS

A great number of people in Eastern Kentucky look on all woodpeckers as "Sapsuckers," the birds in hollows to trees, and birds that should be shot on sight. There are at least seven distinct species of woodpeckers known to occur in Eastern Kentucky, and of those seven, only one, the yellow-bellied Sapsucker, causes any damage to trees by feeding on sap.

4 Downy Woodpecker. This is the smallest of the woodpeckers occurring in Eastern Kentucky. It has a black and white back and a white belly. The red on the head does not have it. It is one of the most beneficial woodpeckers, feeding primarily on injurious insects.

5 Hairy Woodpecker. This woodpecker is a larger edition of the Downy. It is very similar in all respects except size. The hairy woodpecker is about 9 and one-half inches in length, whereas the Downy is about seven inches. The large size of the bill of the Hairy woodpecker. It is about the same value as the Downy woodpecker and is very characteristic of the bird. One might imagine that such a woodpecker would cause a great deal of damage by digging such holes in trees, but since the birds dig such holes in order to get insects infesting the tree, the actual damage is slight.

6 Flicker. This is the most ground loving of our woodpeckers. It is characterized by its relatively large size, red crown, black crescentic patch on its lower cheek and yellow and black underlying coverts. It is a very beneficial woodpecker, feeding principally on injurious insects and should be protected.

7 Yellow-bellied Sapsucker. This woodpecker is best identified by the longitudinal white patch on the black wing. It is our only woodpecker with a red forehead some extent on injurious insects, but the harm it does is so overbalancing that the good done by the feeding on injurious insects. It should not be allowed to increase in numbers, but certainly a few do no great deal of damage, and should be allowed to live.

"COTTON" FIELDER FIRES BIG GUNS IN OPENING CAMPAIGN

Democratic Congressional Aspirate Hits At Administration Of Bates And Asks For Showdown On All Points

Made at Morehead, Kentucky, on Saturday, June 8, 1940.

"You remember that in April of this year, Mr. Bates brought to the Jefferson Day Dinner, Congressman Patton from Texas, who virtually made a Garner for President speech. That was before the primaries had definitely shown Roosevelt's popularity over all other candidates. When Joe saw that the Democrats of this State did not respond favorably to Patton's speech, he got up and praised the President. Many people thought that Patton's speech was intended to link Bates with Garner, but I do not think so. To me, it was a typical Joe Bates straddle, trying to get both factions just as he tried to get both Senatorial factions in 1938.

"Bates and I both have records. I expect to run upon mine and he may not like it, but I am going to make him run upon his. I have no intentions of letting him go back to Congress upon mine and upon anybody's record, except his own. My criticism is directed at his public record. I shall endeavor to keep this campaign on as high a plan as the occasion permits, but I shall not hesitate to present the true facts, for truth is what matters most here and when people are not permitted to know the truth, they are no longer free. The Europe of today is a tragic example of the truth of this statement.

"Mr. Bates, tiring of his educational work, was later elected Clerk of Greenup County and served in that office for sixteen years. In 1940, W. S. Wheatley, then County Judge of Greenup, came to the conclusion that an audit of the Clerk's office should be made. He procured an auditor who started to work. Before the audit had gone far enough to be of any value, one night public records belonging to the Clerk's office mysteriously disappeared. Several hundred dollars worth of those missing records was found in the Little Sandy River, tied up in coffee sacks. I do not want to even intimate, that the Clerk had anything to do with the disappearance of these records. I merely present the facts. He was the Clerk. He and his deputies held the keys. His records were about to be audited, and the fact that they disappeared and were later found in the river, made the newspaper headlines. These facts can be verified by any reputable citizen in Greenup County."

In criticizing Mr. Bates failure to protect the Greenup County Court Clerk's records from the 1937 flood, Mr. Fielder said:

"What happened to the Clerk's records? The murky waters of the mighty Ohio had taken its toll. The books and papers had floated from the shelves, some were mutilated—others destroyed. I was there right after the flood and saw the horrible condition those records were in. Deeds and mortgages representing titles to property and security into which many citizens of Greenup County had put their life savings, were deliberately and negligently left in the ravages of the flood waters. Marriage licenses were subjected to the same hazards, while Joe twirled his thumbs and sang, "Old Man Ribber, stay 'way from my door." There was no excuse for this, but Joe figured "one more baptizing won't hurt my records." He could have pur-

ed those records to the second story where the water did not reach. In Boyd County, the Clerk's office was on the first floor the same as in Greenup. The Clerk, Bill Fearner, removed his records to the second floor and faithfully guarded them until the water subsided. Not a single record was damaged. In Greenup, it cost the County hundreds of dollars to the remaining records. In this, Clerk Bates was derelict in his duty. This constitutes a part of Joe's record, and he must run upon it.

"Under the Constitution, no state officer can legally draw more than $3,000.00 per year salary. This didn't worry Clerk Bates. He just added another member of the family to the payroll. I read to you from the 1936 payroll:

Salary of Clerk, $5,000.00

In addition, there are Virginia Bates, Becky Bates and J. R. Bates. Sounds like the roll call at a Bates reunion.

"In 1936, out of over $10,581.00 taken in by the Clerk, only $45.91 was left for the County, after paying the expenses of the Clerk's office. In 1937, which was election year, he raised the salaries of his regular deputies from $780.00 a year. He raised Mr. Bates' salary from $600.00 in 1936 to $2,080.00 in 1937. In 1937, out of $12,000.33 received by the Clerk after paying expenses of administration, not one cent was left for the County. These figures were taken from an audit made by Nat B. Sewell and they are certified to by D. A. Logan, State Auditor. The 1937 report says "shown as submitted, but not approved" and so far as I know, this report has not yet been approved.

"I do not mean to say that Mr. Bates has technically violated the law, but I would like for him to explain to the voters why his regular deputies were paid only $780.00 in 1936, and were worth $1,040.00 the next year in 1936 and drew $2,080.00 in 1937. These deputies were evidently underpaid in 1936 or overpaid in 1937.

"Under the law, the County is the back tax collector for the County Board of Education and any money collected is due to be paid to the School Board not later than the 10th of each month. In the fall of '37, the voters retained Mr. Bates as Clerk. The Greenup County Board of Education had Earl W. Smith, a Certified Public Accountant, audit the Clerk's books for the years 1933-37. That audit revealed that Joe owed the Greenup County Board of Education over $4,000.00. On January 3, 1938, he paid $1,223.12 and admitted he owed that amount. On February 9th, 1938, he paid $2,858.81 under protest. Joe thought so, for he paid off according to that audit. Mr. Smith was in fact so good that Joe, a Democrat, sued Mr. Smith, a Republican, in Washington and employed him on the famous Milk investigation in the District of Columbia. You know I've been trying to figure out why Joe employed this particular accountant, a Republican. He must have concluded that any man who could sue over Joe's records which had been soaked once in the Little Sandy River and once in the Ohio and figure out a balance sheet of $4,000.00 due the school board by Bates, would be valuable in catching parties Joe referred to as "low down crooks."

in the Congressional Record of January 26, 1939. Joe either knew he owed the school board and failed to pay or was negligent in keeping his books. He is the kind of man you want to represent you in Congress where annually billions of dollars are being appropriated and spent.

The speaker directed criticism at the Clerk's records as kept by Mr. Bates and in the case of Bates, Ex. Court Case No. 12, Greenup County, 138 S. W. (2d) 463, decided by the Court of Appeals of Kentucky on March 12th, 1939. The speaker said:

"The Court held in that case that Joe had collected $1,401.00 more than he was entitled to and that he would have to pay it back. In the case of Rice v. Robertson, et al, 14 S. W. (2d) 384, decided by the Court of Appeals of Kentucky on February 22nd, 1939, the integrity of Joe's records as Clerk was again called into question and I challenge any man to read the Court's opinions in these two cases and retail any respect for the integrity of the records as kept by Bates.

MR. BATES GOES TO WASHINGTON. Over a period of years, Joe had built up a reputation which landed him on the Milk Committee to investigate the milk situation in the District of Columbia. They eventually had heard through thoroughly he had milked Greenup County for sixteen long years in the District of Columbia. There was talk of graft and bribery. Joe, as Chairman of the sub-committee, set a few dictaphones in various hotel rooms, caught a skunk, according to news quotations, resigned from the committee because of overwork, and wanted to give the District of Columbia back to Maryland and Virginia."

Referring to a newspaper quotation in which Mr. Bates is alleged to have said, "I'm from down in Kentucky and I don't give a damn; back in my country, we shoot first and talk afterwards," the speaker said:

"Let's check up on Joe's shooting. Back in the year, Joe hoisted up a good opportunity to do some shooting for Uncle Sam at $30.00 a month. Instead, he shot across a college campus, got a marriage license, and got married. He is now on a Veteran's Committee in Washington, and he is working over time to make up his weakness in his shooting record. I want you veterans to remember that since Joe did not fight with you in '17, he is not likely to fight very hard for you twenty-three years later. I am a veteran of the last war and I'm more proud of my Legion button today than ever before. I ask no man or woman to vote for me because I soldiered in the World War, because my patriotism was

HOW TO MAKE ICED COFFEE

FRESH HOT COFFEE is the first requisite for good iced coffee. To preserve coffee flavor, iced coffee should be served immediately after hot fresh coffee is poured over the ice.

not for sale then, and it is not for sale today.

"Again, I say that what this District needs most of all is better representation in Congress. Joe Bates has converted this Congressional District into one great big slot machine. Joe has had the political pump to dish out, on which United States Senators place a money value of $20,000.00. A man from any other State could put a quarter in the huge Eighth Congressional District slot machine. This machine is located in a building which is nearing completion on West Water street. The office of the Cooperative will be permanently located there.

Built at a cost of approximately $8500, it is the only office building in the state that is owned by a Co-operative and is said to be the second in the entire United States out of the five hundred projects.

RICHMOND—U. S. Senator, A. B. (Happy) Chandler re-filed today for Democratic nomination to the seat he holds by appointment. His first declaration did not set out that he was not a "dummy" candidate, as required by a law effective today.

GRAYSON—The P. R. Chard High School Alumni Association held their annual banquet at the Pritchard High School, Thursday evening, June 6th.

W. LIBERTY—Work on the West Liberty water works will be resumed on Monday, June 17, according to plans worked out by the town's engineer, H. de B. Forbes of Richmond, and the area office of the WPA at Paintsville on Wednesday of this week. The work has lain dormant since last fall. It is expected that work will be started with about twenty-five or thirty men, which number will be gradually increased to about 100 men.

The longest regular run of a Pullman car is between San Francisco and New Orleans, a distance of 2,492 miles.

"I am the candidate of the one-gallus man, and I am proud of it. My idea of a one-gallus man is one who has faith in one lone gallus, and in clean government; has faith in his fellowmen and in American Institutions as we know them, and who has faith in My Old Kentucky Home. He may be a farmer, doctor, or farmer or teacher, so long as he has the faith.

"Any time you see a man going down the street wearing two galluses, a belt, and is also holding up his breeches with both hands and doesn't trust anybody or anything, he's a two-gallus man and if you'll flip up his coat tail, you will find a Joe Bates sticker pasted right across his back."

Referring to Congressman, Mr. Bates, sending out pamphlets, the speaker said:

"Why, he is getting so scared now, he sent an old bachelor over in my County a pamphlet on How to Raise Children, and he is sending out to the voters free literature, free pamphlets, and perhaps some flower seeds, but I want you to remember that while you are getting these little items, he is getting the pot of gold, an appointment to West Point, to Mr. Talbot's son down in Bardstown."

KENTUCKY BRIEFS . . .

FRANKFORT—State Agriculture Commissioner, Will H. May expressed the fear that the curtailment of the war of tobacco exports "endangers" Kentucky's burley crop and "makes a greater need for observing production quotas than ever before. Old He said that the bright leaf produced in the Carolinas and Virginia, most of which has been exported in the past, will constitute a serious rival to burley in the home market because of the low bright leaf production costs.

LOUISVILLE—More than a 200 percent increase over the preceding week was noted in applications for enlistment in the United States Army at Louisville. Serg. Samuel H. Pittman reported. He expressed the belief that the increase was due to President Roosevelt's Congressional defense message.

FARMERS—E. L. Byon, cashier of Rains Bank, is president of the executive committee of the Six Group of the Kentucky Bankers Association in session at Mt. Vernon, Ky. The members of the committee were Henry M. Fotts of Carlisle and LeRoy Miles of Lexington.

ROYALTY—Roy Royalty, chairman of the Estill County Chapter of the American Red Cross reported Wednesday morning that the original quota of $400 had been over-subscribed and that the in-

905 Persons Are Receiving Benefits Of Old-Age Pay

Number Of Claims 20 Percent Ahead Of Expectations Says Chaney

Mr. James A. Chaney, manager of the Ashland, Ky., field office of the Social Security Board announced today that 905 persons in Kentucky are receiving monthly old-age and survivors insurance payments as of April 30. The monthly payments during April amounted to $114,722.

five years of age and from their wives past sixty-five and exceeding advance estimates by nearly 20 percent. Claims from widows, orphan children, and other dependents in the case of the death of the breadwinner are lagging behind estimates.

For the country as a whole, Mr. Chaney stated, 21,150 persons were added to the old-age and survivors insurance rolls in April. The total number of insured persons in the United States now bringing regular monthly benefits to $2,364. April awards added $377,516 to the level of monthly payments bringing the national figure to $1,173,933 a month.

Hunters' Attention Called To Change In Squirrel Season

August 15 Set Extending Through October 31 Inclusive

The hunter's attention is called to the change in the opening of the squirrel season this year, by Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

The squirrel season opens this year on August 15 and extends through October 31, both dates inclusive.

Last year the season opened on July 1, and closed October 1.

The change was brought about at the last session of the Kentucky Legislature.

Major Brown warned that any person caught hunting squirrels before August 15 would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, so to be on the safe side of the law, don't go into the woods looking for squirrels until the morning of August 15. The daily bag limit is six with a possession limit of 12 for two days of hunting. It is strictly against the law to sell squirrels and carries a penalty of either a fine or jail sentence.

Uncle Sam is mending his defense. Young men are needed for some of the newer arms and services. Local post offices and recruiting stations can supply necessary information.

Kentucky Fair Refreshingly New States Manager

1940 Exhibition To Equal Any Other State in Nation

Refreshingly new from top to bottom and with a new spirit of friendliness, the 1940 Kentucky State Fair will equal any State Fair in the Nation, Robert E. Jewell, General Manager, today said in outlining plans for the thirty-ninth renewal of Kentucky's outstanding educational and amusement extravaganza. The fair will be September 9th to 14th, with a preview set for Saturday, the 7th, and the advance showing Sunday, September 22nd.

State Brewers Must Violation Of Kentucky Liquor Laws Cited For Reason—Meredith

Kentucky brewers and beer distributors can refuse to supply beer to retail outlets that are violating Kentucky liquor laws in any other laws of the state. Attorney General Hubert Meredith held in an opinion handed Frank E. Dougherty, State Director of the Kentucky Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee.

Written by Assistant Attorney General Jesse K. Lewis, and approved by the Attorney General, the opinion was drawn in answer to Mr. Dougherty's question, "Is it legal, permissible, under the laws of Kentucky, for beer distributors to unite by agreement of understanding with each other to withhold the sale of beer from persons selling at retail who are violating the liquor laws of any other laws of the State?"

Assistant Attorney General Lewis held that "there is no restriction in either the Constitution or the Kentucky Statutes prohibiting the making of the kind of agreement referred to in the question."

Discussing the law on the question he pointed out that the only Kentucky law found in Section 198 of the Kentucky Constitution touching on this question holds that, "It shall be the duty of the General Assembly from time to time, as necessity may require, to enact such laws as may be necessary to prevent all trusts, combinations or other organizations, from combining to depreciate its real value any article, or to enhance the cost of any article above its real value."

He pointed out that pursuant to that Constitutional provision the Legislature enacted various Statutes relating to pools, trusts and conspiracies, but all these Statutes were expressly repealed by the Act of March 23, 1922.

Other acts, he said, had been passed relating to the pooling of produce raised by farmers, but these acts have been held unconstitutional. He cited three such cases as a basis for the statement.

Commenting upon the opinion, State Director Dougherty said, "We know, of course, that the vast majority of beer retailers are law-abiding citizens and we do not, therefore, expect to find it

THE BOY who HAS NO FUTURE

He is an American boy. There are some fifteen million lads just like him in America; just as young, just as eager, just as full of promise.

Yet there are people who feel sorry for these boys. They tell us American initiative is dying, American frontiers are gone. They say there is no opportunity and no future for youth in this country.

Do you believe such statements? We people of your electric company don't believe them, and we'll tell you why:

Fifty years ago the electric industry had barely begun its existence. The name is true of the automobile industry. It is even more true of the radio and aviation industries. Coming right up to date, here are a few of the things we didn't have as recently as 1930:

- Streamline trains. Transoceanic air service.
- New plastics and resins. Plywoods strong as steel.
- Fiber glass for insulation and textiles.
- Synthetic rubber. Synthetic hoists.
- Synthetic vitamins. Sulfanilamide and sulphyridine, drugs that revolutionized medicine.

There are always new frontiers and new futures in America. In good times and bad, Americans work to make the good things of life better and to make them available to more people at less cost. The employees of your electric company are typical: their efforts have helped make it possible for this company to give far better service than it could give twelve or fifteen years ago, and to charge about half what was charged then. The average customer can now use about twice as much electricity as he did then for no more money.

The men of your electric company and other electric companies were once American boys. They believed in their own futures and the future of their country. They proved themselves right by working to make the future better for themselves and their fellow citizens. They hope today's young Americans will not listen to defeatism and pessimism, because they know that everyone in America has a future if he sincerely believes he has.
