700 Removed From Rowan Voting Lists

The Rowan County Purgation Board has removed the names of over 700 from the voting list.

This is an all-time high purgation. Most of those removed have moved away or are deceased.

Heretofore, only token purgation has been practiced and many have been left on the list for years after death or migration from the county.

The more than 700 are being notified by mail at the address listed in the voter registration books. The names will also be published in the next issue of the Morehead News.

If an error is made, the disfranchised voter can appeal by mail or in person. Few, if any, appeals are expected.

The Purgation Board is composed of two democrats - John M. 'Pete' Jones, chairman and Willis Carter, Jr., and a republican, Elmer Kinder.

Bridge Closed After Accident; Two Injured

Two Rowan County young men were injured, and hospitalized, and a steel structure bridge put out of commission Saturday night when an automobile went out of control.

State Police said the car, a 1957 Oldsmobile, was driven by Howard Lee Hiltbrand, 21, RFD 2, who was home on a furlough from the armed forces. Hiltbrand was injured along with the lone passenger, Woody Estep, 17, also of RFD 2.

The accident happened at 10:15 p.m. about 10 miles northeast of Morehead on Ky. 799, known as the Big Perry Road.

The police report showed that the car was headed south toward Morehead and the driver lost control. The vehicle plowed into the Holy bridge.

Impact was so great that guard rails, and part of the foundation of the bridge were damaged. The bridge has been out all this week and this part of Ky. 799 closed to traffic.

The car was almost a total loss.

Delinquent? Morehead To Advertise Taxpayers List

If you haven't paid your City of Morehead taxes the tax bills will soon be advertised in The Morehead News and sold at the City Hall door.

Council issued an order this week that all delinquent tax bills be advertised for sale. Penalty and interest are added.

Members of Council also said that hereafter delinquent bills, such as street paving, will be advertised and proper legal steps taken.

Council acknowledged that some of these statutory requirements have not been met in recent years and the City has lost money.

Delinquent county and school tax bills will soon be advertised in the Morehead News. The advertising cost is added to the tax bill.

Children's Movie Proceeds Go To March Of Dimes

"Gentle Giant" starring Dennis Weaver and Vera Miles, will be shown this Saturday at University Cinema in Morehead with all proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

This is the animal story taken from the television series, "Gentle Ben." Doors will open at 9:30 a.m. with the show starting at 10 a.m.

Admission will be 35¢ for children, and $1 adults.

[Shortage of children's movies, and prices are mentioned in Letters to the Editor, elsewhere in this issue. This is a children's movie and prices are lowered.]

GREGORY BRUCE BOSTICK, 19, Columbus, O., a freshman, is the student leader at Morehead State University of a small minority group that has alleged the administration is depriving students of civil and human rights. A University spokesman said that Bostick has been connected with other movements, including participation in the march and lay-down demonstration at the Pentagon in Washington, D. C. in October, and at a more recent gathering at the University of Kentucky which the General Assembly started to condemn by resolution. The Morehead trouble started last week, apparently after a Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) unit was being established on the MSU campus. Two MSU teachers, Robert L. Arends and Kenneth Vance, are also involved. Feeling on the MSU campus and in Morehead, and area, was obviously bitter and high today. President Adron Doran appeared on television over the week. A high school official at the State Capitol said: "We are keeping in close touch with the Morehead University situation... as far as we can see two teachers and very few students are involved."

Rowan, and area, tobacco growers are being urged to attend the annual winter burley meeting tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 1:30 in the Rowan County Health Center, West Sun Street.

Area Extension Agent ARTHUR N. HAZOR said: "Every farmer should attend this meeting... it is one that growers should not miss."

Ire Massie, Extension Tobacco Specialist from the UK College of Agriculture, will discuss tobacco varieties and production practices.

RCHS Alumni Schedule Important Meeting Monday

Ronald J. Caudill, President of the Rowan County High School Alumni Association, is urging all MHS and RCHS graduates to attend a called meeting next Monday (Mar. 4) in the RCHS cafeteria at 7 o'clock.

The spring banquet will be planned at this gathering.

Morehead May Also Be Site Of Medical Clinic

The long predicted expansion of St. Claire Medical Center and a probable clinic of specialists, much like the Lexington Clinic, assumed a more solid status this morning.

The City of Morehead Board of Adjustment Zoning reported application from St. Claire Medical Center (Sisters of Notre Dame) and Dr. Warren H. Proudfoot for re-zoning about three acres at the rear of the hospital.

This is property purchased by Sisters of Notre Dame from Peaches and Jack Cecil about two years ago.

The application is "for granting a special exception or variance to permit the construction of a hospital addition and medical clinic in an R-1 district."

A hearing has been set at City Hall March 15 at 6 p.m. Ordinarily, requests such as this from hospitals or

Mrs. Gambill praised the work of the Jayettes in conducting Sunday's canvass despite bitter cold weather. She was also praise-worthy of Moreheadians "who contributed generously."

First In History... Tripletts At MSU

Morehead State University expects to have the first set of tripletts in its history on campus as students next fall. Dr. John R. Duncan, director of admissions, has announced the admissions of James, Jon and Joel Williams, 18-year-old triplet sons of Mrs. Martha Williams of Canal Winchester, Ohio. Another son, Jeffrey, currently is a sophomore at the University.

"We've seen many twins come and go in the 36 years I have been here," Registrar Linus Fair said, "but to my knowledge these boys will be the first set of tripletts we've ever had on campus."

James, Jon and Joel will be graduating this spring from the Bloom Carroll High School in Canal Winchester, where they have been unusually active in school affairs, each winning a Wagnon Scholarship to continue their education.

All three are members of the all-Ohio band, the country band, the concert marching and dance bands at their school, as well as the solo and ensemble choir.

More Tuberculin Test Scheduled

Thousands of school children throughout Kentucky have been rolling up their sleeves for tuberculin tests in the last few months. Many more will receive the tests in the months ahead.

The giant school testing program is part of a plan to vastly improve Kentucky's still gloomy TB "picture" through a child-centered approach to TB eradication. The aim is to raise a generation of children free of tuberculosis.

The tests are carried out by medical teams from health departments, the State TB Hospital Commission and local medical societies. The project also gets the assistance from the Kentucky TB and Respiratory Disease Association, the PTA and other groups.

Morehead Legion Team Joins Tri-State League

Corbie Ellington Post 126, American Legion, moved this week for a full spring and summer baseball program. The Morehead Post expedited the sport in this manner -

- Joined the Tri-State league which consists of such teams as Ashland, Huntington and South Shore.
- Decided to play a full Tri-State schedule, plus other games. [The complete schedule will be released later].
- Although some games away from home will be at night, all home games will be during the day as the Legion decided other park improvements should be made with existing and anticipated funds before lights are installed.
- Finalized that 16 players will be on the team.
- Don Hardin was named as Coach. Hardin is recognized as one of the most apt students of the games in Kentucky, and has gained recognition as an umpire.

Soybean Price Support Is $2.50

The 1968 soybean crop will be supported at a national average of $2.50 per bushel, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced, continuing support at the price set for the 1966 crop.

F.M. Hockensmith, chairman of the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, says growers may receive price support on 1968 crop soybeans through farm and warehouse storage loans and purchases. Approved cooperative marketing associations may obtain price support on behalf of their members. The support will be available through ASCS county offices.

Boone County Band To Represent Kentucky

The Boone County High School band of Florence has been selected to carry the Kentucky flag in the Mardi Gras parade at New Orleans.

The flag was sent to the Florence school by Governor Louis B. Nunn. School Principal C.K. Norman said the 85-member band was selected to represent Kentucky after making application through the Kentucky Optimist Clubs.

Boone Countians donated more than $5,000 to send the musicians on the four-day trip.

Insurance By Mail Contested

The State Insurance Department is waging a fight to halt sale of mail order insurance by out-of-state companies not licensed to do business in Kentucky.

Commissioner Robert D. Preston says a suit has been filed in Franklin Circuit Court to prohibit 14 unlicensed out-of-state companies from selling policies in Kentucky. The firms sell life insurance and health and accident policies.

Defendants in the suit are: National Liberty Life Insurance Co., Valley Forge, Pa.; World Mutual Health & Accident Insurance Company of Pennsylvania, King of Prussia, Pa.; National Health and Life Insurance Company of St. Louis, Mo.; National Central Life Insurance Company and Old American Insurance Company, both of Kansas City, Mo.; United National Life Insurance Company and Western Union Assurance Company, both of Phoenix, Ariz.; Crown Life Insurance Company, both of Houston, Tex.; and Time Life Insurance Company of San Antonio, Tex.

Preston added that insurance contracts written by these insurers are deemed to be valid under Kentucky law unless the insured decides to void the contract.

John H. West, 72, Is Victim Of Cancer

A malignancy proved fatal Thursday to John H. (Jack) West, who passed away at the Huntington, W. Va. Veterans Hospital. He was 72 years of age. One of Morehead's most widely known citizens, Mr. West incurred the malignancy about two years ago. He showed signs of recovery, but during Christmas holidays became seriously ill at Vero Beach, Fla., where he was vacationing with his wife.

Mr. West was brought to St. Claire Medical Center at Morehead, and later taken to the Veterans Hospital when his condition weakened. The story of how Mr. West, a native of England, migrated to Morehead, was in the early '30's, start of the depression. At the time he had business interests at Richmond, Ky., and was district representative of a Chicago based food company specializing in institutional sales such as hotels, hospitals and cafeterias.

His work brought him to the campus of Morehead State University. As a result of these Morehead contacts he came to Morehead in 1932 to enter into the restaurant business with Parnell Martindale.

Mr. West enjoyed financial success in the growing Morehead community, heading many business undertakings and enterprises.

Perhaps he is best known, and recognized, for the longest tenure on the Rowan County Selective Service Board. He was chairman of the Board before and during World War I, the Korean War and was chairman when he died. His service on the Board spanned 30 years.

He was also particularly active in American Legion work. He served as Commander of the Corbie Ellington Post at Morehead; was District Commander; held many state offices in the Legion; and prominently mentioned for State Commander, a position he did not seek.

He was an overseas veteran of World War I, having volunteered for military service.

Mr. West is also the pioneer in the industrial pallet business in Rowan County and this area of Kentucky. In the early '40's he purchased the Ray White Lumber Mill, later converting it into the processing of pallets for industry. West recognized that the pallets, made with low grade lumber and usually unskilled help, were adaptable to this forest products area and were in industrial demand. Illness forced him to discontinue active work in the pallet and lumber business.

His travels in connection with the pallet company, and other business enterprises, took him to most parts of the nation.

At the time of death he lived in the Mabry subdivision. Funeral services were conducted Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Sucky Funeral Home with burial in Brown cemetery. Before his death, and as the malignancy developed, he requested that the last rights be simple and that they be said by Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead State University.

Besides Dr. Doran as Minister he had chosen his own casket bearers. Immediate survivors are his wife, the former Shirley Wicker, two brothers - A.M. West, Washington, D.C., and Victor West, Chicago; and four sisters - Mrs. Raulin, Mrs. Esther Fox, Mrs. Anna Goldberg and Mrs. Gertrude West, all of Washington.

Mr. West was born at Leeds, England Sept. 24, 1895, daughter of the late Solomon and Rebecca West. He came to the United States as a child with his parents.

Arrangements were cared for by Sucky Funeral Home. The casket bearers - Victor White, Harold White, Eugene F. White, Austin Riddle, Don Carter and Jack Carter.

First Aid Will Be Homemakers Lesson

Rowan County Homemakers March Lesson is First Aid on March 6. What to do in case of a serious accident or emergency, how to do artificial respiration, how to stop bleeding are just a few of the things, Rowan County Homemakers will be studying during the month of March.

The leader training in First Aid will be conducted by Mr. Joe Mauk, U.S. Forestry Service on Wednesday, March 6, 1:30 p.m. at the Health Center. Mr. Mauk is well known for his ability in this field.

Lesson leaders should bring an old blanket or rug and slacks as they will have an opportunity to practice some of the techniques to be used in emergencies.

Standard Time May Be Adopted

Advocates of Kentucky remaining on slow time may win their cause in the Kentucky General Assembly. The House has already passed such a bill. It is now before the Senate. Both sides - slow and fast-time advocates - claim they have the Senate majority.

Louisville Senator Henry Beach, considered a fast-time advocate, changed his position Monday and permitted the time bill to come out of committee. Fast time is being fought by the Kentucky Theatres Association, and most farm groups. The House-approved bill was bottled up in the Senate committee by daylight saving-time advocates since mid-February, largely with the help of Beach, who has voted against sending the bill to the senate.

Beach's switch gave slow-time advocates the necessary five votes they need to get the bill out of the committee. Under federal law, Kentucky will go on daylight saving time from the last week in April until the last week in October unless the legislature votes to exempt the state from the law.

Sen. Carroll Hubbard, D-Mayfield, vice-chairman of the State Government Committee and a fast time advocate, said he was sorry to learn that Beach had changed his mind.

Sens. Palmer and Walter [Dee] Hu-dleston, D-Elizabethtown, indicated they were pleased with Beach's decision. B favor year-round slow time.

Huddleston, sponsor of another slow time bill, said he has the necessary 10 votes needed to keep the state on slow time.

JACKSON PURCHASE - The Jackson Purchase is a 8,500-square-mile area of Kentucky west of the Tennessee River. The region was purchased from the Chickasaw Indians in 1818 through negotiations by General Andrew Jackson and Governor Isaac Shelby.

Rowan Soil Conservation

By Don Nelson

By Charles Foster
Boy! Has it been cold in the Morehead area this month. Old man winter doesn't want to give up, but spring should be just around the corner. We hope!

This is the time of year we like to encourage landowners to think about planting trees. Do you have land which is lying idle or an old pasture field which is too steep to mow? Wouldn't it be beneficial to reforest this land and put it into production?

Rowan County has a number of wood-using industries, and their futures depend on the supply of wood from private lands and the national forest. If landowners will do their part of planning the 10,000 acres or more of idle land in the county suited for trees, and also improve the existing woodland, the future of the wood industry would be good.

Where can you get trees? Trees are available at $8.00 per thousand from the Kentucky Division of Forestry, and include white pine, shortleaf pine, Scotch pine, walnut, black locust, oak, ash, and yellow poplar. The trees are usually delivered in March and April by the forestry department. Where can you get technical and financial assistance? The Federal Government will cost-share for tree planting through the local ASC program and the landowner receives $9.00 per 1,000 for planting the trees. Also the Division of Forestry, Soil Conservation Service, and the Extension Service will gladly assist you, and get you started in the right direction. Let's sign up for those trees. Now!

COOK ELECTRIC

CLEAN AS A...

Pick almost any word that describes cleanliness and it explains a major advantage of an electric range.

When you cook with flameless electricity, there can be no fumes or smoke to dirty your home. That makes it extra safe, too.

But the real advantage of cooking electric is ease and speed. You select the "Just Right" temperature for every dish. That's why so many "old-fashioned" cooks prefer a modern electric range.

Horn Ensemble Are In Concert

The Morehead State University Horn Ensemble, under the direction of David Fishhouse, will present a concert of music written and transcribed for French horns this Sunday, March 3, at Baird Music Hall on the campus. The program will begin at 3 p.m.

Some of the unique works for groups of six or eight horns were written for the Los Angeles Horn Club, and exploit the variety of tonal colors that can be produced by the modern horn.

Also to be performed is music by some of the old masters, such as Bach, Palestrina, Di Lasso and Mendelssohn. These works have been transcribed for the modern horn ensemble.

Performing groups of horns will vary in size from two to ten. Students performing will be Kenneth Holbrook and Karen Reed, Raeland; Dawn Fraley, Rush, James Gallaher, Louisa; Fletcher Ralner, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Donald Nodgett, Bethel Park, Pa.; Carolyn Glass, Harriman, Tenn.; Charles Lee, Crown Point, Ind.; Henry Szidon, Monaca, Pa.; and Rhoda Rizer, Phyllis.

Mopping Up Easy - If

NEW YORK (UPI) - Does mop-up time get you down? It shouldn't if you realize there's a right way and wrong way to mop a floor.
Done improperly, mopping can be extremely tiring chore. To avoid backache and tired arms employ long, light, swinging strokes, watch the weight of the mop, not your arms applying the pressure to the floor, advise Army Corp. floor-care products manufacturer.
Give your mop an occasional "haircut" for mop strands shred with use. A mop with frayed strands unevenly leaves streaks on the floor and slows down the operation. Trim the strands periodically with a scissor, making them all equal in length.
Crust the mop nearly dry and don't soak dry. Since dirty water makes the job more difficult, change the water frequently.
To preserve the life of your mop, clean and rinse it thoroughly when the job is done.

Geese Police
One of the world's strangest police forces—a flock of geese—keeps sheep watch on Scotland's major export to the U.S.
These geese police, 80 geese-stopping guards led by a crusty gander called Mr. Ballantine, protect 30 million gallons of Scotland's very best Scotch whiskey—enough to float the largest ocean liner.
Valued at $950 million, the cache is one of the biggest in Scotland. It's stored in aging sheds of the Ballantine's Scotch distillery at Dumbarton, close by Loch Lomond whose fanned waters are used in its making. If strangers approach, the gander starts a rumpus, and immediately the web-footed ladies join in. The terrifying noise alerts security guards.
Historically, geese have served man heroically. The sacred geese of the Temple of Diana saved ancient Rome from invading Gauls in 390 B.C. In modern warfare, posted in front of the gates against night raids, they valiantly saved British troops fighting the Mau Mau in Africa.
"They keep prowlers out, trim the grass, lay eggs that we seek to raise money for charity—and never touch a drop," he explains with a canny smile. (NP Features)

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: Me and Timothy is convinced that the motor inspection vehicle law should be repealed. This thing is sort of like going to the doctor. He can always find something wrong. A motor in a car or truck isn't much different than a motor in a human being. It is always something that needs correcting on these cars that are not built too good anyhow. They are made to wear out so you have to buy another car or truck.
Mister Editor, we notes that Senator Kennedy was up among the welfare people and a-telling them they need more federal money and help.
Me and Timothy is sorry to inform you, Mister Editor, that after a person is on welfare or food stamps for two years they has forgot how to work. It is like that public. It so good that nobody can get them off.
And, Mister Editor, we have at least 50 walking examples of the fact these people won't work right here in our own little community.
The feller that runs the country store told the fellers Saturday night if they didn't get to be a little more optimistic about things in general he aimed to close down ever Saturday at noon. He said he was never ever Saturday night on the edge of a nervous breakdown on account of having to listen to the fellers moan and groan about the world going to the dogs.
Zeke Grubb was of the opinion it would be good for the storekeeper to let his feller Saturday breakdown, said any feller that could have a nervous breakdown and get the mess we live in out of his system would be better off.
Ed Doolittle denied the fellers was moaning and groaning, claimed they was just being a good sport. He said he had been there. For instance, he said he would start with the Star Spangled Banner and come on down to the President's budget. Ed said the Star Spangled Banner was wrote back when he had sailing ships and statesmen. In them days, said Ed, we lined up on one side and the bad ones on the other, but now we get lined up in the middle with everybody lined up again. Ed claimed the "red glare at twilight" he last glimpsing" was more apt to be people running through the streets setting fire to all the stores.
And the only thing we can note from "sea to shining sea" was higher taxes and more handouts.
Zeke Grubb was agreed with Ed that we need to bring the Star Spangled Banner up to date. But he was disagreed with Ed on the president's budget. Zeke said the new budget didn't call for 45,600 more people on the Government payroll and the President said we was cutting corners to where we was spending but $20 billion more than we was taking in. He was of the opinion this corner cutting might be the start of a trend and he was in favor of letting Ed rewrite the Star Spangled Banner and leave the President's budget alone.
An Ed told the storekeeper we was already in the press on this optimistic angle, reported he had saw where a Washington column writer named Russell Baker said the Government was operating the Office of Optimistic Propaganda, or OOP they was calling it. Ed said the job of OOP was to win the war with Vietnam in the press and keep it until we could win it on the battlefield. Ed reported this feller Russell claimed OOP had reported more Vietcong killed in this war since 1965 than they was in both Vietnam. This, claimed Ed, was the "new math" at its best.
Personal, Mister Editor, I was agin monkeying with the Star Spangled Banner and was in favor of still praying and hoping. Life may begin at 40 but room-and-gow sees in it 70 and sometimes 1 figure Ed was coming down with both.
Yours truly,
Clag Sprout

Convalescent Leave Travel Pay Approved
WASHINGTON (AP) - The U.S. Army has announced procedures for payment of the newly approved convalescent leave, travel and transportation allowances.
Under the Military Pay Act of 1967, which authorized the recent pay increases, certain authorized forces members are entitled to travel allowances for a round trip from a place of hospitalization in the United States to a selected place for convalescence.
The allowance is available to military personnel who have incurred injury or illness in the line of duty while receiving hostile fire pay and who were granted convalescent leave.
The serviceman is entitled to transportation in kind, reimbursement for travel, or a monetary allowance of five cents a mile. Per diem is not authorized.
Department of the Army Message 800096 explains that a service member evacuated to the United States is assigned when possible to the medical facility nearest his home.
If the patient selects a place other than his home for convalescence, he must justify his selection.

Gas Pack Helps Tea
TOKYO (UPI) - The Japanese have discovered a new method of packing green tea which keeps its flavor fresh for years. The tea is gas-packed.
The new method, developed by the Japanese Agriculture and Forestry Ministry, packs tea in a vacuum and seals it with aluminum. The ministry said the tea is becoming increasingly popular at home and is catching on abroad, particularly in Hawaii with residents of Japanese descent.

High Appetites
NEW YORK (UPI) - United Air Lines' inflight food bills for 1967 came to about $15 million, the airline reports. United served 15,131,156 inflight meals last year, averaging more than 52,000 meals per day.
Passengers drank 760,000 gallons of liquor, 158,000 gallons of soft drinks, 446,000 gallons of milk, and consumed 3,576,000 pounds of coffee.

YOUTH CORPS RECEIVES GRANT
The Kentucky Division of Forestry has received a $250,240 grant from the U.S. Department of Labor to continue a Neighborhood Youth Corps project.
Kentucky Natural Resources Commissioner J.O. Matlock says the NYO program provides work for 220 enrollees in 30 Kentucky counties.
The appropriation is the fifth awarded the forestry division since the program was originated by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. It will pay for a 24-week project that began Feb. 16 and will continue to Aug. 31.
The project provides forestry employment to Kentucky youths between the ages of 16 and 22 who have dropped out of school—or need financial help: its main purpose, said Matlock, is to provide employment training and to encourage the youths to return to school.
Matlock said the enrollees are used to build and maintain fire access roads, lookout towers and ranger stations and to help reduce fire hazards in general.
In the current project the youths will receive $1.40 per hour for their work, an increase from $1.25 per hour.
Matlock said the 220 enrollees include about 15 girls who act as secretaries to the eight-member NYC fire control and prevention teams.

Litterbug Curbs Aid Homeowner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Who gains when the neighborhood litterbugs are curbed?

Yes, the homeowner, according to the current issue of the Litter Letter of the National Council of State Garden Clubs.

Mrs. Mildred S. Parker, the Council's anti-litter chairman, writes that people "often think of cleanup campaigns as benefiting our communities, our states and our nation, and not in terms of making our personal lives more pleasant. Litter, and the ugliness it brings, isn't somebody else's problem—it's ours."

Mrs. Parker says that by curbing the local litterbug "you can move to a new neighborhood without leaving home."

Language Buff, 71, Returns to Class

—Edmond R. Gendler's interest in foreign languages has never waned, although he's 71. Gendler is back in school, "brushing up" on Spanish, this time.

"I found a wife through my knowledge of different languages," Gendler said, "and I want to keep my interest in languages."

Gendler, a native of Switzerland, remembers the day 22 years ago when he ran an advertisement in a newspaper offering language lessons in return for piano lessons.

"The woman who became my wife answered that ad," said Gendler.

"I sent him a little note stating that I wanted some help in French pronunciation," the former Geraldine Aiken recalled. "We began exchanging piano and French lessons."

The Gendlers have two sons, John, in the Navy stationed at Rota, Spain, and Paul, who's in Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where Gendler is a language student. Four years ago, Gendler went back to college for a refresher course in Russian.

Mrs. Gendler teaches in East St. Louis.

Gendler's last job (he retired in 1963) was with a utility company as a "credit representative." If bills weren't paid, it was Gendler's job to see that the lights were turned off.

"I did my job with a heart," Gendler said. "If someone gave me a true hard-luck story, I'd just report, 'no one at home.'"

The main reason Gendler is back in the classroom is so he can converse in the many languages he knows.

"There are foreign students at the University," Gendler said. "This is my only opportunity to use these languages. There's an international flavor on the campus, and I'm part of it."

Publisher's Pen...

Day-afternoon, and editorial offices, of the publisher of this newspaper.

You have been reading much, and will continue to read a great deal more about raising Kentucky's sales tax from three to five percent.

Opponents claim -
The tax falls on the poor, those least able to pay.

The tax is the highest sales tax in the United States. Pennsylvania has a six percent sales tax but food and medicine are exempt.

The five percent levy will ruin food merchants in cities on the Ohio River, i.e., Maysville and Cincinnati where prices will cross the river to buy their groceries and save five percent. (Ohio has a sales tax, but food is not included.)

Gov. Nunn is asking for more than he needs - the budget is too high, and the Department of Revenue has purposely underestimated tax receipts.

There are many other groans, such as from outspoken organized labor.

The big question is what steps opponents will take to try and block the increased sales tax?

Here is what will happen -

The democrats will try to gain all possible mileage out of the five percent tax. But, they realize much of the dissatisfaction will have evaporated by the next November election.

The democrats will come up with a bill giving every person a flat $8 rebate on their income.

In other words, if a family of four had little earning capacity, they would get a $32 rebate although paying no income tax. The thinking here is that the poor family will receive the $32 in lieu of the increased sales tax.

The kick-back would also be for the wage earner, and the person in the high tax bracket.

The cost - if Kentucky has three million people it would be $24 million a year.

Of course, tourists who spend money in Kentucky would get anything back. Think this is far fetched? Well, that's not so - countrified as - you - might think - Publisher says here in writing that cannot be erased is that the counter-attack to Gov. Nunn's proposed five percent sales tax.

Indiana, which has a two cents sales tax, has already reduced this rebate plan. And, politicians there found it most palatable.

What better campaign talk for a politician than: "John, they put a five percent sales tax on your food, clothing, medicine and coffin. I tried to stop them. When I couldn't stop them, I stood down at Frankfort and helped make them give you and your good wife Mary, and your family, back $32 of what is rightfully yours."

The same kind of political palaver will work on the wage earner who is visibly concerned and resentful of the income tax bite from his pay check. And, the big taxpayer is not prone to welcoming any tax credit.

We think that Gov. Nunn's tax proposal will be adopted in substantially the form as submitted. But, there'll be a lot of fire over it at the State Capitol. And, if the "rebate" plan as outlined above is not enacted, and we think it won't be, it will still make for a lot of political talk from now on.

The one thing the democrats will try to do is to pin the tax on Gov. Nunn, and keep the coals alive until the next gubernatorial race.

MORE GIRLS, WOMEN WORKING IN ROWAN

We were interested, but not surprised, at some recent figures from the Department of Labor. They show -

About 25.4 percent of the female population in Rowan County over the age of 14 are employed outside the home or seeking employment. This is an all-time high.

This has grown locally since 1960 when the percentage was 22.5.

About all the increase is attributed to married women, over 40, returning to the labor force. Now that their children are growing up they find that they are able to discharge their household duties and still have enough time for outside jobs, full time or part time.

However, not so many Rowan County women work [percentage-wise] as in the nation. Nationally, the percentage of women with jobs is 37.4.

The surveys show that age is no longer a barrier to employment for women. More than half of those between the ages of 45 and 54 are now in the labor force and, of those between 55 and 64, about two-thirds.

With about 35 percent of all wives edition which will give you dear readers the name of the "sure" winner. You can even risk the family jewels or put the wife in pawn.

FAVORED - The district basketball tournament is underway at Morehead, and University Breckinridge and South County are favored. Other favorites in this region are Russell, Olive Hill and Ashland. The regional is next week.

MONEY TALKS - The Kentucky Polled Hereford National Show was held at Maysville Saturday. The grand champion bull brought $1,275 at the sale which followed. The reserve champion bull was bid in for $1,925, or $650 more. Bet the judges faces turned red.

PAY UP OR ELSE - A spot perusal of city records reveal that some taxpayers, and others, have been getting by without forking over. This is also indicated in some street re-surfacing who property owners are getting by without paying. This is also levied enacted by ordinance. The best way to bring the evaders to task is publishing their names as delinquents in the newspaper. This penalty is possible legal action, including sale of the tax bills at City Hall. Council has acted wisely, although it may be difficult to collect some of those long past bills because they were not advertised in compliance with Kentucky Revised Statutes.

BATTING AVERAGE - One prediction made in this column is about to come to pass - the compulsory motor vehicle inspection law will be repealed or drastically changed. Another forecast may go down the drain. This column said that Kentucky would adopt fast time because of the federal (uniform) regulation. It would seem today that slow time advocates have the upper hand in the Legislature, although it may be close. There's also the chance of a veto by the Governor.

PROBABLE - We keep hearing reports that Morehead is getting a new, but big (chain) motel at the University. We have a fair idea that planning and negotiations are underway, but not started yet. Incidentally, I-64 from Morehead west will be open for traffic by this fall. Details are lacking on the Morehead four-lane connector.

CONFERENCE - A Morehead delegation headed by Mayor William H. Layne and policy makers at the University met with representatives of the Gateway Area Development Association and Governor Nunn yesterday. Discussion topic - the regional hospital proposed in Rowan County above Cave Run dam. This proposal is very much alive.

CONCLUDING - One of the best things you can do is forget the deep 7-7 of life and dwell on its enjoyability! . . . this is the same as one of our statements of ignoring the gruesome details and considering only the glittering generalities. . . . I friend says the only solace he gets out of this horrible weather is that the weather is also bad in Florida where many of his richer friends and doctors have charged more for their services than formerly, but they give fancier and more impressive names to our common ailments, enabling us to brag about what we too sick with . . . it is established that major complaints against a five percent sales tax come from people who pay little or no taxes. . . . We have a friend who is in love with a live-wire girl. Love is a complex electrical phenomenon. . . . a man has sworn off smoking on his 100th birthday. The anti-smoking people must be making some propaganda progress. . . . Kentucky democrats and republicans are in the same boat - both parties are in a tither following the announcement of Senator Thurston Morton that he would not seek re-election. . . . the one bright side from this Publisher's viewpoint on this hard winter is that it intensifies the pleasure we derive from looking forward to spring. . . . if you are from Morehead and in Murray today the red carpet might be rolled out because Morehead's 85-79 victory Monday over East Tennessee gave the Murray Thoroughbreds a certain tie for the

I noticed on my calendar that the week of March 1 has been designated as "Return the Borrowed Book Week". So let's all circle our calendars and please return any books you have had longer than two weeks.

Last Friday we attended a regional meeting in Flemingsburg. We saw a delightful film about the Bookmobile Service in some of the northeastern counties in Kentucky. While in Flemingsburg we toured the new Public Library, which is quite an asset to the community.

We received some new books this week. Among them are:

"Flowers For Your Church" by Adelaide Wilson - Here for the first time is guidance for those who arrange the flowers in modern as well as traditional church buildings, for committees decorating vestibules, meeting rooms, and tables for banquets, for those planning and maintaining a church garden.

"The Ray Harm Nature Sketchbook" by Ray Harm - In this book, Ray Harm virtually evokes the sights and sounds of the forest as he takes the reader into the fascinating woodland realm of birds and animals.

"Shady Grove" by Janice Holt Giles - The author, who knows Appalachia from the inside, shows it to us through this story of a people who don't like to walk proud but will always stand by their own Shady Grove. It is a novel that is in its way a social document, but one that makes us laugh at the same time touches the heart.

Let me mention again that we have three 16mm. film from the Canadian Travel Film Library. These are available to clubs and organizations.

Letters . . . to the editor

This newspaper welcomes letters, particularly on subjects of general local, or area, interest. Letters are required to condense. No letters will be printed without author's signature and address.

The Editor: Please find enclosed an article which applies to Morehead.

The item from the Louisville Courier-Journal states that parents and parents alone have killed the kiddie movies such as the five color cartoons at bargain prices.

I have lived all my life in Morehead and it is sad when our children do not have kiddie movies, just junk. And the prices are just as bad.

The kiddie movies were killed in two ways - television; and concerned parents of not many years ago got the idea that the movies being shown at Kiddie Mattines were insufficiently uplifting, decent, non-violent and educational. So, the theater lost money and quit Kiddie Mattines.

The Publisher of The Morehead News recently wrote about people who put stamps on letters either crooked or upside down. I would think that a romantic man such as the Publisher would have known that an upside down stamp means, "I love you."

Further on children - one of the things we should do for the children of this community is to build a much needed swimming pool. We talked about this years ago and nothing has been done.

Your page one headline about the sale tax being raised to five percent is not true. I trust that if the sales tax must be raised to pay for the deficiencies of former Governors, that our Gov. Nunn will see his way clear to exempt food and drugs like Chandler advocated in his race. However, I feel that raising the rate. However, I feel that raising the rate by cutting the parasites to a minimum. They have been living on taxpayers money and giving little in return.

Gay 90's Clothes Being Sought By The University

If you have any costumes in your attic left from the "Gay 90's" they may now be quite valuable, to the Morehead State University Theatre, that is. Marvin Phillips, theatre director, has made an appeal for the donation of any clothing which may now be stored in attics which could become useful costumes for his theatre group.

Costumes from the "Gay 90's" era are currently being sought for the upcoming production, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Ladies' dresses and men's suits of this period are needed to be used either as costumes themselves, or to serve as examples for the costuming department.

Phillips requests that anyone having such articles to donate or lend for the next production, to please call Morehead State University (784-4181) extension 324.

Phillips says members of the theatre group will pick them up and return them promptly after they are finished with using them.

Morehead Victory Lauded At Murray

"We would sure like to thank you all for what you did for us," said the voice on the phone calling from Murray Monday night. "You gave us another life in the conference."

Perhaps that fellow should have called Cookeville, Tenn., and thanked Tennessee Tech for knocking Morehead off here last Jan. 27 for the only home Ohio Valley Conference loss the Eagles suffered all season.

The difference that one game makes is all history now as the Eagles blazed down the homestretch of their schedule taking three games last week, including two in the OVC to raise their record to 8-5 in the loop.

The Eagles started eight days ago by blasting hapless Kentucky State here 109-71, then traveled to Cookeville to whip Tennessee Tech 72-42 and then Monday by answering Murray's prayers with an 85-79 win over East Tennessee. The loss left East Tennessee with four OVC losses like Murray.

But, first things first.

The Kentucky State game wasn't really a game as the Eagles ran up a 16-1 lead after the first six minutes and coasted home for their 10th win of the season.

Everybody got into the scoring act including Glenn Bradt and John Fugate who were cracking the scoring column for the first time this season.

In this one, the Eagles topped their fourth straight 50 percent-plus shooting night on the home court as they canned 44 of 80 shots for 55 percent while the Thoroughbreds were making a miserable 28.2 percent on 24 of 85.

Five Eagles hit double figures led by Larry Jordan and Danny Cornett with 18 points each. Reserve sophomore Don Byrnes was next with 14 followed by Willie Jackson with 13 and Jerry Conley with 10.

Senior Mike Tracy made his final home appearance a memorable one by hitting the 100th point with 2:43 to go in the game. Tracy is from Eminence, Ky.

At Tennessee Tech, the Eagles took the lead for good late in the first half and then slowly pulled away to the 11-point triumph.

The Eagles did it without their leading rebounder Lamar Green who didn't bother to suit up after fighting a losing battle with the flu. Also, Conley, the team's leading scorer, saw limited action due to the flu.

But Jackson took up slack for both players noching 30 points on 14 of 23 from the field and two of four from the foul line. Jordan and Ron Cathright added 15 points each while Cornett chipped in 12.

Good rebounding and good rebounding told the story of this game as Morehead hit 31 of 64 shots for 48.4 percent while Tech was hitting 29 of 68 for 42.7 percent. The Eagles outrebounded Tech 53-37 with Jackson getting 13 rebounds.

Tech, which had beaten Morehead twice earlier this season, was led by Kentuckian Frank Bartleson with 24 points.

The game Murray's gift from Rowan County in the form of a thriller that was tied seven times and had the lead change hands on 15 occasions.

Cathright came up with the key performance by notching his season high of 22 points on 11 of 16 field goals. The 6-3 Louisville sophomore also grabbed 10 rebounds as the Eagles outrebounded the Buc 45-38.

The Eagles put on another fine shooting show but the visitors did better. Morehead hit 36 of 73 shots for 49.3 percent while East Tennessee hit 32 of 64 for an even 50 percent.

The game was tied four times in the first half and the lead changed hands eight times before Morehead took the lead at 21-20 with 9:30 to go on a Jackson field goal.

The appearance of Green boosted the Eagles even more as the 6-7 junior added six points and lifted Morehead to a seven-point 45-38 halftime bulge.

East Tennessee slowly crept back and tied the game on a Lefroy Fisher lay-up at 58-58 with 12:37 to go in the contest.

The teams then traded the lead back-and-forth for the next seven minutes until Jackson put the Eagles ahead for good at 68-74 with 5:38 remaining.

East Tennessee never gave up as it trailed only 81-79 with Harley Swift on the foul line with eight seconds left to shoot the shot.

Since one point would do no good, Swift fired a line-drive off the front rim but Conley was there to grab the rebound.

Conley was fouled coming down the court, made both foul shots, and then hit a foul shot at the horn for good measure after an East Tennessee in-bounds play went haywire.

Dwaine Gathright, in double figures in Morehead's 12th win were Green and Conley with 13 each, Jackson with 12 and Jordan with 11.

Swift paced the Buccaneers with 24 points followed by Fisher with 18, Rich Arnold with 17 [including eight of 10 from the field] and Ernie Sims with 12.

The Eagles close out the 1967-68 season this Saturday at Richmond against the Eastern Kentucky Colonels. Morehead won the first meeting of the clubs this season here 89-80 by shooting 59 percent from the field.

Coach Sonny Allen's freshman basketball team closed its season with a 7-3 record by defeating Kentucky Christian College of Grayson, 122-89, Monday night.

Alan Harney from Bourbon County had his best night of the season to lead the Baby Eagles with 22 points. Four other freshmen made double figures including Jerry Huseman and Jimmy Day with 19 each, Gary Hall with 18 and Larry McKenzie with 14.

Day, from Ashland Fairview, wound up as the team's scoring leader averaging 17.9 a game. McKenzie, from Flat Gap, was next with a 16.4 mean, then Hall, from Betty Laine, 15.8; Huseman, from Dillsboro, Ind., at 12.2 and Dwight Mattison from Frankfort with an 11.8 average.

BURROUGHS GREEN, Englishman, took only two minutes to repair Mrs. Ames Mescham's electric cooker.

In fact, the man from the electricity board told her she could have done it herself.

Mrs. Mescham wishes she had because the villagers are hopping mad now.

Electric repairmen tried to drive across the picturesque village green to get to Mrs. Mescham's house. Their 15 hundred-weight van bogged down in the mud. A five-ton truck then was sent to haul the van out. It too, became stuck. Finally the electricity board sent a breakdown crew and twelve men to free the trapped vehicles. After four hours they completed the job... leaving the carefully tended green looking like a tank-treading ground.

135,000 Elect Vietnam Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) - More than 135,000 U.S. Army personnel have volunteered for duty in Vietnam during the past three and a half years.

From July 1, 1964 to Dec. 31, 1967, 11,506 officers and 123,532 enlisted men volunteered for Vietnam tours, for a total of 135,038.

Although volunteers for Vietnam duty are considered immediately available for reassignment, they must wait for an opening in their grade and specialty. As a result, only 114,778 of the volunteers had been assigned to Vietnam by the end of December 1967.

In addition, from November through December 1967 897 officers and 27,732 enlisted men volunteered to extend their tours in Vietnam for six months.

FORGIVE US our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. We are all familiar with this verse of scripture found in the Lord's Prayer, and because we know it so well, we often hurry past its meaning without giving it sufficient thought. Christ as well as many of the other wisest men who have lived, know the importance of forgiving and forgetting. Often we are so burdened down by past mistakes, grudges, hurt feelings, and poor decisions, that we can not enjoy the present or plan wisely for the future.

In considering our tendencies to remember our own past sins as well as those of others, it is exactly what I have seen hundreds of my patients doing in the past twenty-five years - watering with freshly flowing tears things of the past. Not the bitterest, but the most irrevocable of loved ones, which I could understand, but things done which should not have been done, and things left undone which should have been done.

Weekly Meditation

Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. We are all familiar with this verse of scripture found in the Lord's Prayer, and because we know it so well, we often hurry past its meaning without giving it sufficient thought. Christ as well as many of the other wisest men who have lived, know the importance of forgiving and forgetting. Often we are so burdened down by past mistakes, grudges, hurt feelings, and poor decisions, that we can not enjoy the present or plan wisely for the future.

In considering our tendencies to remember our own past sins as well as those of others, it is exactly what I have seen hundreds of my patients doing in the past twenty-five years - watering with freshly flowing tears things of the past. Not the bitterest, but the most irrevocable of loved ones, which I could understand, but things done which should not have been done, and things left undone which should have been done.

Every time we sincerely pray the Lord's Prayer, God grants us a fresh beginning, if we are willing to forgive those who wrong us and if we accept the forgiveness that God seeks to give to us. Unfortunately we like to cultivate our own sins of the past as well as dwell on others former mistakes. We are like children who, when they have misbehaved, to forgive and forget, and then press on to complete the necessary tasks before today. A bird can not fly if he is tied to a great weight; a man can not safely drive if he is weighed down by a great weight, a mirror. Likewise our spirits can not fly if tied to past problems, or we can not drive down life's highways if our attention is centered on the past.

God has given us each a purpose for living. God directs us to some worthy task each day. As we seek to make a better world with God's help, we will be successful. Not the worthwhile activities, that we wish St. Paul will say, "forgetting what is past, I will press on to the good of the high calling of Christ Jesus."

FAMILY LIFE WORKSHOP - Burt E. Coody, left, Edward Sowards, Painsville, Mrs. Mildred Wightman, Morehead, Mrs. Sylvia Corey, Lexington, and Mrs. Mary Browder, Lexington, all family life-youth specialists with the U.K. Cooperative Extension Service are shown here at the conclusion of a special youth family workshop at the University of Kentucky in Lexington.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Enact the Ten Commandments?

Not long ago, a western lawmaker proposed the enactment of the Ten Commandments as part of the state's criminal code. The proposal did not pass. But it did put into sharp focus the relationship between moral law and criminal law.

There are striking differences between the two systems of law. For one thing, moral law usually deals in generalities, criminal law in specifics. While the Sixth Commandment says generally that "Thou shalt not kill," the criminal law weighs the specific variations that may affect guilt in a particular case.

Thus, the criminal law recognizes that a person may indeed kill in the necessary defense of himself or his family. This is not a rejection of the Sixth Commandment. It is merely law on a different level.

Furthermore, moral law often sets standards that are too lofty, as a practical matter, to be enforced by criminal penalties. Imagine, for instance, the difficulties of enforcing the Tenth Commandment—"Thou shalt not covet"—by fines or jail sentences.

Yet, in a deeper sense, criminal law must at least be in harmony with moral law if it is to be acceptable to the community. It is to the moral law that mankind looks for its disciplines and its aspirations.

And if moral law has the disadvantage of being general, it has the advantage of being enduring. Poet James Russell Lowell put it this way: "In vain we call old notions fudge, And bend our conscience to our dealing."

The Ten Commandments will not judge. And stealing will continue stealing.

Also, because moral law speaks directly to the conscience, it may influence conduct in a way that no mere legislative enactment ever could.

In one case, a farmer posted a "NO TRESPASSING" sign in an effort to stop repeated thefts from his apple orchard. But apples continued to vanish. One day he noticed the sign to read "THOU SHALT NOT STEAL." The thefts stopped at once.

Realtor Sees Bright Future

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — A real estate executive here predicts a bright future for the industry in 1968.

William K. Nicol, president of the Montgomery Board of Realtors, said in a speech delivered at a meeting of the National Board in Dallas that demand for housing will be moderately strong.

He said this demand would be based on three things: people want better homes, are making more money, and are moving more.

Nicol estimated the number of houses and apartments in the nation would increase 14 million this year. This is slightly more than 1967 and considerably more than 1966.

He said only one-third of the homes sold each year are new.

London B. Johnson had his first teaching assignment at Welhausen Elementary School, Cotulla, Tex.
