The Fair Will Be Bigger, Greater!

Rowan County's Fair will be bigger and better than ever from all advance indications.

Notice received here by President Hinton indicate that there is a possibility of Miss Jean Thomas' appearing here to put on one of her famous pageants.

School and Fair officials are to be congratulated for their fine work there, far demonstrated in organization and planning of the Fair.

The Banks Are Ready!

Financing of the national program "can and should be carried on through the normal existing channels without the creation of new agencies, mechanism or devices."

"The banks of this country have the resources," the statement continued, "the trained personnel and the knowledge of their own communities, which equip them, along with the investment markets, to handle a very large part of the necessary financing."

"All banks should be actively and energetically soliciting every sound loan in their communities. Especially it is true that they should try in every possible way to make every loan that has anything to do with the defense program."

It would be a tragic mistake if the defense program was to be accompanied by a widespread extension of government bureaus and departments. Inevitably, the cost of the program would be unnecessarily increased.

Plans Are Laid In Robertson Co. For Celebration

In Commemoration Of 150th Anniversary Of Battle Of Blue Licks

Plans for a patriotic celebration, August 19, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Blue Licks--last military engagement of the Revolutionary War--are being completed at Blue Licks Battlefield in Robertson county.

A number of leading state figures will take part in the program which will include several brief speeches and music appropriate to an occasion during which the entire theme is to be devoted to a patriotic re-dedication to American principles and the American way of life.

It is expected that one of the largest assemblages in the history of the annual observance of the famous battle will spend the day at the beautiful state park and witness the commemorative ceremony. The date will serve as a reunion day for many families and picnic lunches will be numerous.

First School Week Breaks '39 Figure

The enrollment in the different schools is now being turned into the office. We are happy to report that the schools from which we have had a report have exceeded their last year's record for their first week of school.

Table listing school enrollment figures for various schools like Dry Creek, Gayhart, Bratton Branch, etc.

The following schools report the absence of the first week of school: School Teacher Ses Cox, Ira Skaggs, Perkins, Thelma Kinicki, Rock Fork, Doris Bates, Adams Davis, Virginia Dawson, Charity, Asa Crosswhite, Carey, May Louise, Little Perry, Opal Cassidy and Lydn Messer, Caudill.

There will be no Young Peoples' Meeting Sunday evening due to the Camp meeting. Sunday evening, June 4, the services for the Young People will be continued. Progressive Workers Have Picnic. The Progressive Workers' Class of the Methodist Church had their picnic at Joe's Place Thursday July 19th.

Damage Reported To Tobacco Crop; Remedy Is Offered

Farmers are reporting damage to tobacco by bud worms. The following remedy is offered for control. It should be used on every plant even though there is no indication of the insects presence on most of the plants.

Bud worms are doing extensive damage to tobacco and since the leaves the bud worms are eating now will develop shortly into the first trashes and ligules, it is highly important to control these insects. Perhaps the best method of controlling bud worms is to poison them with corn meal and arsenate of lead, using one ounce of arsenate of lead, to 3-1-2 pounds of corn meal.

Railroad men must have their time-pieces checked regularly against a chronometer, since railroad officials realize the frailty of human judgment. Slow-developing radio defects are even less apparent than minor faults in a watch.

Have You Ever Seen MAMMOTH CAVE?

Strange as it seems, quite a few Kentuckians have never seen Mammoth Cave Or the ancient Buried City at Wytheville, or the Old Kentucky Home at Paris, or Big Bone Lick in Boone County, where bones of mastodons were found! Have you seen these and the scores of other scenic and historic wonders of your native State? If not, plan to see more of Kentucky this summer, even if it means a trip from Louisville and the Brown. We'll see you, of course--but still we say--"See all of Kentucky!"

State Being Called To Supply Its Share
For Nat'l. Defense

Kentucky is being called upon to supply its share of manpower to prepare the United States for defense, according to Vero E.
Barnes, executive director of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Recruiting of labor for defense industries has been assigned to the State Employment Service section of the Commission under direction of W. H. Fraysure.

All of our local offices are registering experienced workers to fill immediate job openings," Mr.
Barnes said. Men with at least 4 years of practical experience in any one or more of the following trades are urged to register with the Employment Service at once:

Machinist, Shipper and Callen; Iron, Loftman; Shipwright; Tool-maker; Shipwright; Precision Lens, Prism and Test Plate Maker.

A million or more men will be employed in the armament and allied industries of the defense program, according to estimates received by the Commission from Washington, Barnes stated.

Unemployed Kentuckians who are competent help to take their place in the home field. Indications are that employment opportunities, particularly in the skilled grades, will increase as the program develops and that jobs in subsidiary industries, such as min-gardeners who have late cabbage growing should continue particularly alert, for the green worm, and the plantlice are potent factors in the late cabbage production.

Now and to return to the "last calls," gardeners should look to their budgets to see whether enough of the named vegetables are in the making, and if not, arrange for them, but without delay.

NOTE: This concludes the Wildlife series. Mr. Barbour will not be with us after this week.
He will work toward his PhD at the University for the next year.
This is the last article in the present series and is by far the hardest one to write. The writer wishes in some way to summarize the articles already written and present in a brief manner the principles on conservation that have been set forth.

Most all of the wild animals in Kentucky are definitely beneficial in a number of different ways.
They add greatly to the scenic beauty of the state. They put dollars in our pockets both from the sale of equipment to continue those classed as game, and also by virtue of the millions of harmful insects they devour yearly under

Among the County Agents . . .

Jefferson County 4-H'ers are for show and sale at the fall fat cattle show in Louisville.

Loss time, sometimes never wholly recovering from the check they have sustained. Besides, and this may be a clinching reason, a gainst hills and ridges, they take too much work to make.

The insects continue galore.
First, many parts of the state are relatively free of the Mexican bean beetle, but vigilance should be the rule; the situation may change overnight.

Those gardeners who have late cabbage growing should continue
particularly alert, for the green
worm, and the plantlice are potent factors in the late cabbage production.

Now and to return to the "last
calls," gardeners should look to proper protection and management, these animals could be increased to the point where our state would be one of the richest states from the point of wildlife assets. We possess an ideal terrain for a number of wildlife species.

However, we all know that the numbers of our native wild animals have been steadily depleted in the last several years. I do not know why, unless it is poor management and poor protection.

Union county homemakers are attempting to adhere to a canning budget sufficient for family needs.
In Wolfe county, eight hundred tons of superphosphate—an all-time high—is on order.
Kenton county farmers marketed 11,640 pounds of wool through the state cooperative associations.
