

Series Of Articles To Be Published On Child Training

Written By A Nationally Known Health Educator And Hygienic Adviser

Establishing health habits in early childhood is a task which presents perplexing problems to all mothers and his ever since the importance of hygienic first was recognized.

No phase of this training presents a greater challenge to a mother's tact, patience and understanding than the instruction of a child in proper bathroom habits.

Because one of the functions of this newspaper is to be of service to the mothers of today in this community, the editor has arranged to publish each week one of this series of eight articles on this most important phase of child training.

The articles will deal with the instruction of children in proper bathroom habits and have been prepared by Mrs. Beulah France, Registered Nurse, a graduate of one of New York City's largest hospitals, a nationally known health educator and hygienic adviser to the Scott Paper Company, Chester, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. France will discuss deliberately and authoritatively in this forthright series such questions as "The Importance of Early Training," "When Should Training Begin," "Importance of Immaculate Cleansing," "The Habit Of Thoroughly Drying," "First Steps to Self-Help," "Making Toilet Routine Easy," "How to Tear Off and Use Tissue" and "Use of Tissue Towels Helpful to Mother."

Avoid Middle-Age Spread; Weight At 25 Good For Life

The American woman of 1940 prefers a slim, lithe figure to the unattractive hour-glass mode of an earlier day. The home economics department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture makes the following suggestions for figure control:

The normal person should try to keep his weight at about the same that it was when he was twenty-five years old. Middle-age spread results from the addition of only a few pounds each year over a period of years.

Great gains of weight are to be avoided because they put undue strain upon the heart and other organs, almost doubling their work, and causing rapid losses of weight put a strain upon vital organs.

Normal weight is secured and maintained by moderate eating, wise selection of foods, and exercise. There should be a tri-part program, all of which is essential—no one technique is adequate without the other two. A normal person does not get fat nor stay fat provided he consistently watches all three points.

Avoid freak diets. See the family physician for a physical check-up before dieting, and ask him for a diet adequate in vitamins and minerals. Do not restrict in any diet too long.

At all times avoid rich pastries and between-meal eating. Concentrate on plenty of fresh vegetables, fruits, cereals, and only three moderate-sized meals a day. Occasionally the healthy person may go on a diet of milk and fruit juices (in plentiful quantities), raw carrots, lettuce, celery, and cabbage. This diet should be followed for a short time only. The person who has gained weight should avoid dieting at all, probably. He needs more of the energy-rich foods than someone working in a sedentary or lacking exercise.

Don't diet and then go on a "food spree."

MCKENZIE

Out of an enrollment of twenty-nine children the following have perfect attendance for the first month: Bonnie McKenzie, Ruth McKinnie, Dorothy Christy, Anni McKenzie, Dorthea Ramey, Lola Fay Croswhale, Naomi McKinzie, Betty Joe McKinzie, Avis McKenzie, Virginia Ellington, Louise McKenzie, Chester Christy, Mitchell McKenzie, Billy Evans, James McKenzie, Edison Lee McKinney, Ronald Lee Evans, Denny Christy, Johnny McKenzie, Haskel McKenzie, Henry Clay McKinzie.

Two of which we are especially proud are Ronald Lee Evans and Avis McKenzie of the fourth grade. They have never been absent one day since they entered four years ago. We hope they can keep this record until they are ready to leave this school.

We are very sorry to have Bill, Junior and Adron Armstrong out of school because of illness. They are improving now, and we are very eager to have them back in school.

Those who have visited our school are Croswhale, Ashland, Romana Stamer of Kenova, West Virginia, Hanson Carey, Margena Ellington, Generaldny McKinney, Garnet Burley of Ashland and Frank Johnson.

Mammoth Cave Is Getting Big Play

Kentucky's Greatest Natural Wonder Attracts Thousands Each Year

Mammoth Cave, Kentucky's greatest natural wonder, is getting a big play this summer from the major radio chains, and millions are hearing about the vast caverns known throughout the world as the most extensive and the most spectacularly beautiful anywhere.

The radiocasts, one from WLV, Cincinnati, July 7, and the other from WCKY, Covington, July 13 already have sent scores of visitors to the new National Park this summer who never saw its attractions, both above and below the ground, before, and arrangements now pending appear certain to give much additional impetus to tourist travel.

Mammoth Cave—ward of the vacation period in the history of the cave—about mid-October. Probably tops among attractions of its kind in the radio world, the Ripley's Believe-It-Not Show, featured for a half-hour broadcast from Mammoth Cave, September 13. This program would include a performance with fourteen members of Ripley's famous cast, local Mammoth Cave talent, music and a big name orchestra from New York. The broadcast will be made in the

Tennessee Valley Celebration Make Plans For Program

To Construct Amphitheatre That Will Accommodate 10,000 People

As the dates for the Tennessee Valley Celebration draw rapidly near the work of the numerous program committees is being speeded to furious activity. The construction of the 10,000 seat amphitheatre on the brink of Chickamauga lake is under way and the sound of the hammers and saws echo across the lake while the screech of a mighty crane swings the giant structural timbers into position.

The two of which we are especially proud are Ronald Lee Evans and Avis McKenzie of the fourth grade. They have never been absent one day since they entered four years ago. We hope they can keep this record until they are ready to leave this school.

W.P.A. Employees To Train For Defense Industries

Announcement Made By Geo. H. Goodman, Work Projects Administrator

Development of a training program for W.P.A. employees, with a view to fitting them for service in national defense industries, is taking form in Kentucky, George H. Goodman, Work Projects Administrator, announced Saturday. Workers are being assigned to the schools so they may do skilled work in private employment. The educational program has the cooperation of the vocational division of the Kentucky Educational Department.

A project has been opened at the Mayo State Vocational School at Paintsville, where ten machinists, six welders and sixteen carpenters are receiving instruction. At Lexington, two telegraph operators, three electricians, seven automotive mechanics, two electric welders and one automotive mechanic's helper are receiving training. At Athens Trade School, Louisville, ten woodworkers, ten machinists, seven sheet metal workers, eight automotive mechanics, ten electricians and four radio mechanics are enrolled.

W.P.A. workers assigned to these "resher courses" will be increased from time to time, Mr. Goodman said, adding that in all probability additional schools will be established in the work.

A county committee to plan for use of sub-areas in Garret county now is functioning effectively. Maps, charts and tables have been prepared giving areas, types of land, crops and other data of value in planning to use land efficiently.

State Factbook Is To Be Published By W.P.A. Writers

Book Will Contain A Detailed Historical Chronology

Plans for the publication of a State Factbook—an encyclopaedia of useful information about the State—was announced today by U. R. Bell, Supervisor of the WPA Writers Project.

A staff of eight persons already has been assigned to gather the basic materials needed. The book will contain a detailed historical chronology; submaries of the functions of State and Federal agencies operating within the state; lists of all incorporated communities, in condensed data, the geography, population, transportation facilities, industries and governmental organization of each; brief biographies of governors and other distinguished men and women; lists of museums, universities and other centers of cultural activity; together with an immense amount of other data for ready reference.

The Factbook will be produced in the same manner as other publications of the WPA Writers Project, with all labor in the preparation of the manuscript provided by workers from WPA rolls and with non-labor costs borne by local sponsoring bodies. Actual publication of the Factbook will be in the hands of the sponsors.

When Does A Phonograph Record Wear Out?

Unless a phonograph record becomes cracked, few people can detect its deterioration until it has become terribly bad. Decline in r.t. performance is equally hard to detect—and often can be stopped by a few minor adjustments of delicate parts. For consistently good record reception, your set should be checked by an expert every six months.

more of these relatives live in and maintain the home and that the child in question is living with them.

Concerning the amount of aid for the individual child, this matter is left to the State authorities to determine on the basis of need except for the following stipulation: "The federal government will not contribute to that part of individual monthly payments of which may exceed $18 for the first child in a family and $12 for each additional child in the same family." Otherwise the federal government will grant to states with approved plans, an amount equal to one-third of the total expenditure of the state and local administrative units both for assistance payments and for administration.

At the beginning of 1939 the averages in the States with approved plans ranged from $10.81 to $57.49 per family with a general average of $31.72 per family.

Few states set a logical maximum on the amount of aid, and variations from family to family in accordance with actual need are, of course, to be expected.

The following fixtures are considered in determining the extent of the need: The number of dependent children in the family, the family resources, and the funds available.

This plea for care of dependent children is unquestionably an improvement over previous plans. Yet further improvements are to be expected as experience shows their need. The Social Security Board for the past two years has advocated some changes which would serve to make the plan more effective. It has recommended for instance, that federal grants be made on a fifty-fifty matching basis rather than the present plan.

It has also advocated improved plans for securing better qualified personnel for administering the system.

Record Crowds Seek Licenses For Marriages

New York City police were called to handle crowds at marriage license bureaus last Saturday.

At the Brooklyn and Queens bureaus, records for issuance of licenses were broken. The bureau at St. George, Staten Island, found its business trebled.

The Brooklyn bureau announced it had issued 2,612 licenses from August 1 to Friday, compared with 1,179 during the first sixteen days of August, 1939.

Business of all bureaus has been far above average since first indications that a conscription bill would come before Congress.
