White Announces Candidacy For Board Member

Elsewhere in this issue of The Independent is contained the announcement of the candidacy of Roy White of Triplett for membership on the Rowan County Board of Education.

Mr. White in his announcement calls attention to the fact that he favors the record made by the present Board of Education and favors the continuance of the present administration.

White pledges an honest, impartial term "with the welfare of the school children and the county always uppermost in mind."

New Orientation Plan Is Adopted By Morehead S.T.C.

Fresh To Have Advisors For Full Year Says Vaughan

As an integral part of the opening of Morehead State Teachers College, September 21st, a new orientation plan for freshmen will be offered, according to an administration announcement.

Beginning September 22 with a Vesper Service on the Library terrace, the program will continue for a two day period and will include a variety of orientation, classification tests and advisory group meetings and several talks by various faculty members.

The new idea fostered this term will be the assignment of various faculty and staff members to particular groups of freshmen as "advisors." These freshmen will have an advisor to whom he may take any problem of any nature, during the entire year. One faculty member will probably be assigned to three or four students.

President W. H. Vaughan said, "Advance indications are that this particularly large freshmen will matriculate September 21st."

Fans Here Believe Eagles May Top Thundering Herd

Heavy Team Rounding Into Good Shape For Initial Fracas

Once accustomed to placing odds on the "other side" regardless of football fans are now taking no chances when Ellis Johnson's Morehead Eagles fly into action.

Winner of more than thirty games against five losses in the past four seasons, a team of those against sister college, Murray, the Eagles have the heaviest sked ever attempted by any Blue chances when Ellis Johnson's Morehead Eagles fly into action.

Sept. 21, against the powerful Thundering Herd of Marshall, they meet Murray at Ashland on Oct. 5 (night) at home, Peabody on Oct. 19, Eastern at Richmond Oct. 26, and then on the second, ninth and sixteenth of November play Concord, Western's Hilltoppers and Transy all at home.

But against such a schedule the Eagle ball letters have a collection of brown and experience never before seen here.

Twelve letters are on a squad of eleven. Three all-state performers, Adams at center, Co-captain Varney and Vanzellis in the backfield, give the eleven its potential strength.

Coaches Johnson and Miller are frankly optimistic and predict a successful season "if only injuries to our handpick ups as they did last year."

During the '39 campaign but few of the squad escaped injury of the kind or number.

So, dear reader, don't be too surprised if you pick up your September 22 newspaper and read news of Morehead victory. We won't be surprised at all.

Clyde Bruce Named City Clerk After Jennings Resigns

Clyde Bruce, Morehead, was named as City Clerk in a special meeting of the local City Council held last Thursday night. Chase Jennings, former clerk, resigned to accept a civil service position.

Everett Brown, 39, Dies Monday After Short Illness

Death Occurred In Lexington Hospital; Was Well-Known In Eastern Kentucky

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 for Everett Brown, 39, who died at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, Monday, September 9. Mr. Brown had been ill but a short time. His death was due to blood poisoning, according to Lexington physicians.

Mr. Brown is survived by his wife and daughter, Mrs. Robert Friley, two brothers, Claude and Millard, and a sister, Mrs. J. W. Lowe. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Brown, also survive.

Reverend Alonzo Wright and Reverend F. Lyons were in charge of the funeral services. Burial was in the Home Cemetery. Pallbearers were Lee Jacobs, Everett Amburgey, Clyde Chaudry, Carl Cassidy, Woody Hinton, Alvin Young, Taylor Young, Douglas Johnson, R. G. Mace, William McRayner, Lester Caldwell, Gordon Adkins, Dan Patzer, and George Turner.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of the Lane Funeral Home.

College Regents Meet Monday To Approve Faculty

The board of regents of Morehead State Teachers College is meeting here Monday, September 2, to approve President Vaughan's faculty recommendations and to complete the building of the power plant dam at an initial outlay of $120,000 and accepted the N.Y.A. project.

The project will employ approximately sixty persons during this coming year. One faculty member will probably be assigned to three or four students.

Host Of Friends Wish Them Well; Mattingly New Pastor

Reverend G. B. Trayner, pastor of the Methodist Church here in Morehead, Kentucky, has been called to Ravenna, Kentucky, to assume a pastorate there.

Reverend Mattingly, who will leave behind a host of friends and acquaintances who are wishing them well in their new work, has been called to Ravenna, Kentucky, to assume a pastorate there.

'Twin V's' Will Spark Eagle Offense During Coming Year

Henry Ford hit upon a great idea a few years ago when he brought out his "V-8" line of automobiles.

By the Morehead State Teachers College Eagles can go him one better. They have brought into being the "twin V's" in the persons of Bennie (Lithuanian) Vanzellis and Beverly "Just call me 'Jug'" Varney.

Powered by such a planning team the Eagles are planning to leave all opposition behind this season.

"Jug" is one of Ellis Johnson's proteges discovered at Williamson, West Virginia, when the old University of Kentucky star first started the coaching game after making University history with his prowess in track, basketball, football and baseball at the Lexington seat of learning.

Beverly has something more than speed. He has stamina and brains—necessary prerequisites for an A-1 performer. In 1932 he was named MVP on the map by turning in the second highest score of any player in the nation. Saved to

Dr. H. L. Nickell Moves Offices

Dr. H. L. Nickell is announcing the moving of his offices from his home on U. S. 44 to the corner next door to Howard Turner's Store in the residence formerly occupied by George Jameson.

Dr. Nickell will have maintained offices at his residence since his old office was destroyed in the fire that destroyed the Cliskey Garage and office over it, last July.

War Department Lists Aviation Opportunities

120 Pilots Monthly Needed From Fifth Corps Area

All-time Army recruiting records were shattered when 4,964 young men were enlisted during the month of August in the Fifth Corps Army Area, Colonel S. J. Talbot, Adjutant-General of this Corps Area, announced today.

This represents a total of 184 men accepted each working day during the month of August.

There are exceptional opportunities for young men between the ages of 17 and 21 who can meet the requirements to be appointed Flying Cadets in the Army. During the nine months special training, they will be paid $1 a month plus $1 per day ration allowance.

"Openings exist for young men between the ages of 18 and 35, interested in learning trades, in the various arms and services of the Army. Under the current Army expansion program, specialists and non-commissioned grades are better than ever before. Any one interested in enlisting in a branch of the Army should immediately contact the nearest Army Recruiting Station," Colonel Talbot said.

Rowan Co. Fair To Be Bigger, Better, Statemont

Oct. 4-5 Set As Dates For The Years Biggest Event

The Rowan County Fair opens on October 4th, and will last for two days. But the many persons interested in seeing the Fair a success have labored for weeks and months to perfect the many details necessary for the two days.

This year's Fair bids to be the finest and biggest in the history of the County, according to Woody Hinton, President.

Beginning at 10:00 a. m. Friday morning, October 4, with a parade in which fifty of different merchants will be displayed, a special contest, athletic events, an Amateur Hour, a "Soap Box" derby, a bicycle race, a Mule Race, a Milk Drinking Contest, a Livestock Show, a Merchant's Livestock Show—these are some of the outstanding highlights of the two day jubilee.

A catalogue and bulletin will soon be ready for distribution. In the Agricultural Department will be prizes for the best garden crops, the best field crops, the best orchard crops and the finest chickens. Other prizes will be awarded by an impartial group of judges for various other activities.

Superintendents of the different departments contained in the Fair are:

- Roy Cornette—School Department.
- Charles Goff—Agricultural Department.
- W. E. Bishop—Home Department.
- Roy E. Holbrook—Athletic Department.
- James G. Finance.

Other Means Must Be Found Is Belief

At the regular meeting of the City Council held Tuesday night the group repealed in its entirety the occupational tax levied at a recent meeting.

Petition Signed

A petition asking for the repeal of the taxes was signed by sixty citizens and presented to the Council. Mayor C. B. Daugherty said yesterday that "the tax must be raised some way." It was brought out by the Council in passing the occupational tax that the revenue was particularly needed to pay for future work and expense necessitated by the recent addition to the City. New street lights, paving, gas, and electric lines and new fire hose, will be necessary in the near future, it was explained.

New Tax Necessary

It is believed that probably a blanket raise on city property will be the last resort as a method of raising the needed revenue. Probably those citizens that most opposed the occupational tax may be the most affected by this method of taxing.

Hagan Resigns

H. C. Hagan, councilman, tendered his resignation by letter stating that he would be unable to attend some of the more important meetings to be held in the future. Hagan is a member of the Science Department at the College.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE NO. 1

Within less than a decade old age insurance has become one of the major issues before this country. During the latter part of the 1920's the need for more adequate provision for the needy aged was scarcely recognized except by labor and welfare organizations and by sociologists and social workers. Today, old-age security is a responsibility of society, is a function of government which we take for granted.

The trends which have led to our present program of old-age assistance are interesting because they are characteristic of the entire development of welfare legislation in the United States.

The "poor laws" brought to the colonies from seventeenth century England recognized the fundamental principle of governmental responsibility for the support of individuals unable to provide for their own maintenance. This principle is unchanged today. Aside from this, however, nothing remains for the old poor law system. The distinction of the welfare system began with the establishment of separate provisions for

LOYALTY COMES FIRST

Today the American people are in no mood to countenance the disloyalty of any kind—no matter where it may be. Loyalty must be unqualified from those in high places and in low. A short time ago one of the nation's leading newspapers investigated the business activities of a commercial agent of the German government in this country. This agent had rented a local home under an assumed name to negotiate deals of all kinds with some American business men. Great secrecy surrounded the transactions. Much of what actually occurrred is still shrouded in mystery, but enough has been disclosed to shock the country. A few business men apparently worked on the principle that nothing counted save profits. This is one on the par with labor leaders who would call a strike to further their own ends, regardless of its effect on our national defense program.

One of the business men involved has been discharged from his position by his company. It is time for both government and industry to work together to disclose any other machinations of this kind that may exist. The overwhelming majority of American business men are true patriots, but there are a few who are for sale—even as there are a small number of labor leaders and government officials who are for sale—even as there are a small number of labor leaders and government officials who are for sale—and the country must be rid of them.

For some years the government has pursued a policy of fighting business. It has attempted to destroy private power companies, which are most vital to defense, which have done much to serve the people, and which are doing the finest kind of a job in meeting the present emergency. Wouldn't it be wiser now for government to work with, not against industries of that kind—and, at the same time, help rid all industry of the Judases it contains? That is the only kind of policy that can secure total defense for America.

The defense program is beginning to move at last. Big airplane contracts have been placed, along with contracts for power, tanks and other necessities.

It takes time for American industry to change over to war production after decades in which our security was never threatened. But once it gets going, the expert's feel, the results will be astonishing. No other country in the world has anywhere near our industrial machine—and no other nation is so potentially powerful, once it shakes off its lethargy and gets down to the business of preparing against aggression in dead earnest.

Task Ahead ---

certain groups whose need for special protection was most obvious. Thus, the mentally ill were taken out of the almshouse and a special place provided for them; widows' pensions were provided for the family deprived of its breadwinners by death, and workmen's compensations systems men's compensations systems problems of the worker injured by industrial accident.

Yet, in spite of these advances, made during the latter half of the nineteenth century, no provision had yet been made against the hazards of unemployment, old age or illness. Relief at best was poorly administered. Responsibility for administration in most of the states rested with the local units of government. Local units were also generally charged with financing such relief. Local officials seemed to take more pride in keeping the level of assistance below the lowest wage level of the community, than in caring realistically for the needs of the recipients. Disfranchisement, pauper's oaths, and other stigmas were used to deter the needy from application for assistance. Such methods as these were hard upon the aged. It was the realization of the cruelty, inefficiency and inadequate of care provided in most county poor farms which eventually led to the newer type of relief provided in our present Social Security Law.

ADVANTAGES OF INDUSTRY
(Conceded moral to the story of "Idle George Jones" and "Industrious Charles Bullard.")

"With books or works, or healthful play,
Let your first years be passed,
That you may give every day,
Some good account at last."

McGuffey, "Fruitful and Fresh," "The Gospel of Labor was one of the chief propelling forces in the life of William Holmes McGuffey. To him there was no excellence without great labor." Born and reared in poverty he seemed to have realized early in life that labor was a "modus vivendi" (a method of living). At Miami University he was an indefatigable worker. He not only taught a full load as a professor, but he coached the students in oratory and public speaking. On Sunday one could find McGuffey in the pulpit expounding the tenets of the Presbyterian faith. He stated that he had preached over 3000 sermons in his life time. At the time that he was so busily engaged with his other duties he found time to compile his Readers, a work which is regarded as his greatest contribution to the American people. While at Ohio University at Athens, Ohio, he used to meet the faculty, during winter, every morning at 5 o'clock (Imagine a modern college faculty meeting at such an hour), reading a chapter in the Bible after which he was ready at six o'clock to meet his first class.

Even at the ripe age of seventy, while carrying a full load as professor at the University of Virginia, McGuffey wrote his four volumes on "Mental Philosophy." McGuffey used many characters in his studies and poems to instill into young people's minds the habit of industry, and its rewards. Among the most illustrious were: Hugh Idle who refused at first to learn in the school of Mr. Toll, but learned later that Mr. Toll had been a sympathetic companion and friend; Idle George Jones "without money and friends" and industrious Charles Bullard, "esteemed by all who knew him"; Lazy Ned, "who loved to coast on his fine new sled but could not bear to climb the hill."

"All his life he drenched still The silly bugbear of up hill And died a dunce at last."
Then there was "Idle Jane" like the "Ephimthean (slow-witted) grass-hopper, and "Stolidus Mary" likened to the "painful and ingenious ant." These and many other similar selections did incalculable good by showing the inevitable outcome for both the idle and industrious, always concluding with triumphant success for those who practiced industry.

COLLEGE COMMENTS

By Alton Payne

(Alton Payne, Director Public Relations)

Things are in good shape now at this institution, at least for the present. The addition of several new faculty members, the un-larging of the Department of Home Economics, the decision of the Board of Regents to complete the College dam project, the NYA residence project which will employ sixty men here, the fine prospects for another winning football team—all of these factors give evidence that a good year is in sight.

We are not particularly worried here of the conscription bill's affecting us too much. Of course some possible students have already entered the ranks of the army of their own violation. But should they enter college, the chances of their being required to leave for army duty are slight. We understand the purpose of the bill at all.

One thing that we think is very nice is the decision of the administration to forge the expense and glory of an inauguration. Rather homage will be paid to four members of the faculty that have been with us from the beginning of the institution. They are: H. C. Haggan, member of the Science Department, Miss Betty Robinson of the English Department, Professor C. O. Peratt of the History Department, and Miss Catherine Braun, Geography instructor. They will be entertained and feted at Homecoming Day. Many of our grads have signified that they will be here for that occasion.

District committees of beer distributors throughout Kentucky have now been organized to suggest the law-enforcement program of the Kentucky Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee.

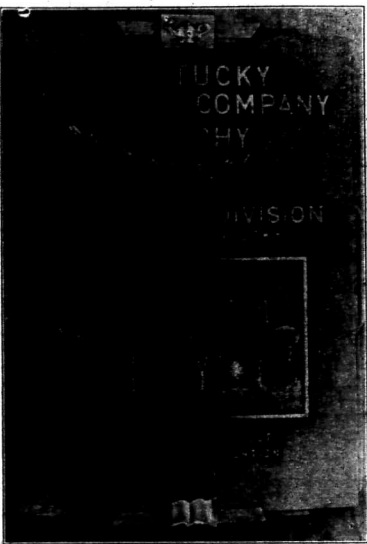

These committees are composed of responsible business men—good citizens of their communities—who realize that in supporting our "clean up or close up" campaign against law-breaking retail beer outlets, they are protecting their own interests.

Meanwhile, encouraged by public, press and official support, we are investigating the conduct of retail outlets and issuing warnings to the scattered few violators that neither the public nor Kentucky's $20,000,000 legalized beer industry will tolerate the continuance in business of those who do not respect the privileges of their license.

YOU can help preserve beer's social and economic benefits to Kentucky by patronizing only respectable, law-abiding establishments.

The handsome bronze plaque pictured above is being exhibited this week in the local store window of the Kentucky Power and Light Company. Morehead is in the Company's Northern Division, which among five divisions throughout the state, had the fewest number of accidents among employees in 1939 and was awarded the trophy.

With an average of 175 employees, the Northern Division had only twelve accidents, while the nearest competing division had twenty-three accidents. None of the dozen mishaps resulted fatally. Roman A. Brownski of Maysville is Northern Division safety director.

For a number of years Kentucky Utilities Company and its associate Kentucky Power and Light Company have vigorously carried on accident prevention work among employees, under the leadership of Harry Hutchines, safety director.

Last year these Kentucky companies, with but six lost-time accidents, had next to the fewest such mishaps among nineteen large utility companies in the Middle West, and received warm commendation from the Bureau of Safety.

Many Family Needs Furnished By Farm

A study of farms in Robertson county, made by the farm economics department of the Kentucky

Agricultural Experiment Station, shows that food and other family needs produced on the farms averaged in value $313 to $347 a year. Vegetables and other foods were worth $168 to $190 a year. More than half of the average family food supply was produced at home. Gardens averaged four-tenths of an acre in size. The families also used an average of 636 pounds of home produced pork, 47 chickens, 103 dozen eggs and 321 gallons of milk. The farms furnished an average of seven to ten cords of wood per farm. Had the farm homes been rented for cash, they would have cost $136 to $141 a year.

12 Scholarships For Agriculture Students

Sears Roebuck scholarships of $166.66 each have been awarded to twelve young men who will enter the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture in the fall for the 1940-41 school year. Selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and the need for some assistance in attending college, the men received the awards are: Eugene Barnett, Bogdad; Chas. Bennett, Bremen; Orvil Cockrel, Caneyville; Oscar Cull, Carrollton; Hugh Drury, Hardinsburg; Hugh Green, Kuttawa; Robert Hutton, Stamping Ground; Paul Johnson, Waynesburg; Robert Johnson, Rockfield; E. D'YA NOTICE HOW MUCH SOONER MA GETS HER WASH ON THE LINE LATELY?

YEA-EVER SINCE SHE GOT THAT NEW SPEED QUEEN

The "speed" in SPEED QUEEN really means something! It means that your washing will be out on the line quicker and cleaner than it can be done any other way!

Yes, this big, husky Speed Queen can bat out one batch of clothes after another — no matter how badly soiled. They'll be clean when they come out. No washer ever beat a Speed Queen at washing — and washing is what you buy a washer for.

So why pay more? Buy a Speed Queen and save money. Electric models are priced as low as $39.95 and gas engine models as low as $79.95.
