Rowan County Gets New W. P. A. Road Project

Highway Leading From Elliottsville To Carter Co. Line Completed

Last week the WPA road project leading from Elliottsville to the Carter County line was completed. The completion of this road gives the people of this section of the county a much needed year-round outlet. This project which was sponsored by the Kentucky Rural Highway Department, and the Rowan County Fiscal Court is one of the best grade roads in the county, being twenty-four feet wide and surfaced with eight inches of native gravel.

Upon completion of the Elliottsville road, the project was transferred to another project at Haldeman. This project is approved for a distance of two miles and will eventually connect with State Highway No. 32 on Christy Creek. There are now employed on this road seventy-five men, while the new highway is furnishing a power shovel, trucks, etc. It is expected that the work will be completed by bad weather which will put an end to the work of the county out of the mud.

College Retaining Wall Construction Progressing Well

W. P. A. Project Will Give Water To College And City Too

Work is well under way on the construction of a retaining wall at the College. Plans for the project were drawn up by James Lyons, Superintendent in charge of construction. The wall is being constructed by the W.P.A. It will take approximately six months to complete the project. A steam shovel will be moved in soon to do excavating. The project when completed, will supply adequate water for both the College and the City of Morehead.

Mrs. Lou Bradley Succumbs Tuesday

Was Life-Long Resident Of Rowan County

Mrs. Lou Bradley, 70, passed away at her home in Morehead, Ky., Tuesday morning, after an illness of near two years. Mrs. Bradley was a lifelong resident of this city and was well liked by a host of friends and acquaintances. Surviving are four children, Mrs. Ralph Carter of Olive Hill, Mrs. B. G. Click, Alex. Dr. and Everett Bradley of this city; one sister, Minnie Hurley of Olive Hill, and several grandchildren. Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the residence. Burial will be in the Bradley Cemetery at Clearfield. Reverend T. F. Lyons will be in charge of funeral services.

Lexington Bishop Will Preach Here Sunday Night

The Right Reverend H. P. Almon Abbott, D. D., Bishop of Lexington, will preach and administer the sacrament of Confirmation at St. Alban's mission, 163 Railroad Street, at 7:00 o'clock Sunday night, September 29th. All are cordially invited to attend.

Dr. Banks Will Substitute For Rev. Landolt

Dr. G. C. Banks, member of the College Department, of English, will conduct services at the local Christian Church Sunday morning in the absence of regular pastor, A. E. Landolt. Reverend Landolt is in Lexington hospital, but plans to be back Sunday, October 6, for regular services.

Assumes Democratic Campaign Duties

MRS. T. C. CARROLL

Long active in Womans' Club work, Mrs. T. C. Carroll of Shepherdsville has assumed charge as Woman Chairman for the State Democratic Campaign and opened offices in the Kentucky hotel at Louisville. In assuming her duties as woman's chairman, Mrs. Carroll made her initial entry into state politics. However, she accepted her new job with enthusiasm and immediately issued the following statement:

"I believe that a large majority of the women of Kentucky are so enthusiastically behind the local and foreign policies of President Roosevelt's administration, that in every county in the State they are going to have an active working organization. This year, it is not a question of politics but of voting for the best interest of our country. The Democratic party is the only answer."

Mrs. Carroll served as President of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs for two years, 1938-40, and is State Commander of the Field Army for the Society of the Good Will.

Special Train May Be Chartered Sat. Week For Game

Will Leave Here On Special Schedule For Racer-Eagle Tilt

A special train to take interested fans to the Morehead-Murray game Saturday, October 5, to be played at Ashland, may leave here. Tom Hodge, connected with the C. & O., said today.

Mr. Hodge set out that if a party of at least two hundred could be arranged, special rates would be given for the train. The matter will be taken up with Morehead College students at assembly exercises this morning. Local citizens interested should signify their interest by communicating with Mr. Hodge. Further details will be given in next week's issue of the Independent.

Death Claims Mrs. Hattie McBrayer

Had Been Rowan Resident For Past Thirty-One Years

Last rites will be held for Mrs. Hattie McBrayer, 71, who died Wednesday in a Lexington hospital.

Mrs. McBrayer was born and reared in Carter county, but had been a resident of Rowan County for the past thirty-one years. She will be buried Friday at the McBrayer cemetery near Hann, Rowan County.

Mrs. McBrayer is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Underwood and Mrs. Sarah Hill, both of Rowan County.

The Score Might Have Been Different

Well, the score was 13-6, but believe you us, it might have been different but for several little things. The general consensus of opinion was that Morehead needs to develop some sort of passing attack. But why speculate—the Eagles scared Marshall to death. Living up to all advance speculations Coach Ellis Johnson and Len Miller set Huntington and all of Kentucky racing. Duke Hingley, popular and sagacious sports writer and columnist for the Herald-Dispatch of Huntington devoted his entire column Monday to praise of the Eagles. We are printing it in its entirety:

"THE EAGLES' NEST" SHADES OF THE "Praying Colonels." They were a fair-to-middling football team, too. There was no joy today in Mudville, where mighty Casey struck out, but there's joy uning in the absence of regular pitcher, A. E. Landolt. Reverend Landolt is in Lexington hospital, but plans to be back Sunday, October 6, for regular services.

Saturday night's football party at Fairfield Stadium, which pulled the cork on the 1940, is one reason why the sun still shines bright down in the Blue Grass. The final figures, Jackie Hunt, 13; Morehead Eagles, 6, tells the story as true as Truth. Hunt was too hot to handle. Even though I am a Thundering Herd runner from way back yonder in the dim past of Frank (Red) Crist, Piddiefoot Lambert, Harry (C) Young and John Zentini and a lot of other guys who were wearing the Marshall

Rowan County's Attention Fastened On Fair Dates

Ardery Finds Lou'vie Wants FDR 'Buttons'

JUDGE W. B. ARDERY

Judge William B. Ardery entered into his duties at the Democratic state headquarters in the Kentucky hotel this week and found upon his arrival that the demand for Roosevelt buttons had been so great that it was necessary to telegraph the Democratic headquarters in New York for a supply of 300,000. The first supply of 25,000 buttons went in less than a week. One department of the headquarters on opening fifty letters asking for buttons.

Reports come to the headquarters over the State are now wearing Roosevelt buttons, from 1932 and 1936. Chandler buttons, Roosevelt and Garner buttons, "Straight Ticket" buttons showing the names of the candidates.

Ellis Johnson's men are smarting with those memories and will be out for revenge.

Murray always produces a fast charging, powerful team. The Morehead-Murray tilt may be one of the season's most interesting.

Eagle Mentors Turn Attention Toward Murray Racers

Next Game October 5 At Ashland With Powerful Murray Breeds

Their first game with Marshall over the Morehead Eagles are turning their attention and energies to thoughts of October 5 when they are scheduled to tangle with sister Murray at Ashland.

The game will be played at night under the lights of Arno Field. Proceeds will go toward helping the unfortunate children of Boyd county. The game is being sponsored by the Ashland Kiwanis Club. Advance indications there point toward a crowd of at least 7000.

Approximately 7000 were in attendance at the Marshall lifter last Saturday when Coaches Ellis Johnson and Len Miller's men set Huntington agog. Many Marshall fans reluctantly admitted that the Eagles completely outclassed their men even though the score was 13-6.

Most fans agreed that Morehead relied too much, perhaps, on "power" plays and were weak in the pass department. Marshall made no gain against the Eagles' forward line.

Little has been heard, as yet, from the camp of the Murray racers. A price of an American flag will be held for a hard game. It has been Murray fans who clipped the Eagles' tail feathers. The past four seasons Ellis Johnson's men are smarting with those memories and will be out for revenge.

Eagles' Star End Leaves For Army

The effects of conscription crept into the camp of the Eagles this week and took Astor Collins, 20 pound end. Collins left for Ft. Thomas to complete a flying course. He will probably be mentioned there, according to available information.

Collins was a regular end last season and was counted on for much service this year.

Normal Enrollment At College

Over five hundred students matriculated at Morehead State Fair in the past two days. The days of registration, authorities said today at the close of the second day's enrollment.

More students registered yesterday than at a corresponding time last year, President W. H. Vaughan said.

"This is a normal enrollment and represents no decline nor any great increase from previous enrollments," Mary Page Milton, College Registrar, said.

Last year's first semester enrollment was 593. Late entrance and prizes given to students may bring enrollment for this term to near 600, authorities predicted today.

Special classification tests for an unusually large freshman group were held Tuesday. Freshman orientation will continue thru this week.

"Double" Fair Will Seek To Abolish Flood Memories

Morehead will have two of the "biggest" days that it has ever known on October 4-5, Fair Festival and Hinton's Fair.

The Fair is scheduled to start Friday morning, October 4th, at ten o'clock with a parade led by the Morehead State Teachers College band. The parade will be made up, Hinton stated, of all types of floats. The floats have been constructed by local merchants and by various schools in the county.

Morehead's business section will resemble a miniature Mardi Gras with banners, flags and other decorations to be put up by citizens. "We are going to have a double Fair this year. Last season we were forced to give up the idea because of the flood," Hinton promised.

Various contests will be held and prizes will be awarded in agricultural, poultry, cattle, orchard, field crops and other competitive divisions. A complete list of the contests is described in another section of the Independent.

Catalogues describing the Fair and invitations to residents of adjacent counties to attend the festivities of the two-day period have already been issued, Hinton said.

At the conclusion of the opening parade a school singing contest will be held. Each school will sing one verse of "America, The Beautiful." A prize of an American flag will be given for the school adjudged the best.

Two-mile sprints and relay races will occur during the time from 12 in the afternoon until seven-thirty.

At nine the next morning, a "Spoon Box" Derby will be held on College Boulevard. Entries will be limited to boys or girls between the ages of ten and fifteen years.

At ten bicycle races will be held with several prizes of from $100 down to fifty cents to be awarded. A "Mule Race" will be held at 10:30, a "Milk Drinking Contest" at 11:00 and a livestock dog show at 2:00 p. m.

The day will be climaxed with the Merchants Drawing at three.

(By Carl Wade) The Morehead Future Farmers Chapter is making preparations for the School and Agricultural Teachers' Contest to be held the first two days of October, and we want to remind you at this time to begin in time to get your entry in the fair and have it in the form that you want it to be in during the fair.

The Future Farmers are particularly interested in the livestock show which is to be held during the fair. We really want a big show in the livestock division. Several dollars have been set aside for the premiums in the livestock rings and we want the farmers of the county to show the association that they are interested in the livestock and that they want to put on a show every year. A "Mule Race" will be provided on the grounds for the animals to be tied under and for the people to see the animals in the show and where they will be comfortable.

During the fair the Future Farmers are holding or sponsoring a Livestock Contest for the purpose of improving the livestock in the county. Our county is suited to raising in practically every second and in many cases farmers are now losing a good opportunity for a yearly income in this county by not trying a little more with their livestock.

The officers of the FFA Club are going to be in Paintsville on Saturday the 28th to attend a county-wide training school for officers for the Eastern Kentucky District. A number of the Judging Teams from the so-called OLD-AGE ASSISTANCE NO. 2. In preceding articles we have discussed the evolution of our old-age assistance plans based on federal-state cooperation. We have seen that such a system of aid has become an integral part of our ever-expanding functions of government. Yet, much remains to be accomplished before our system of old-age care will be called worthy of the wholesome philosophy which fostered it.

There are two outstanding adverse criticisms of the old-age assistance program as it has operated to date. Each of these is valid and critical. They are: (1) In many states assistance grants are conditioned on state plans that would insure, after federal contributions were made, a minimum

Provisions of Special Papers Explained Here

The necessity for Morehead employers to apply for special certificates from the Department of Industrial Relations if they wish to employ inexperienced workers as "learners" under the provisions of the Minimum Wage Law was cited by William C. Burrow, Commissioner of the Department, today. At present, there are two learner certificates in force in Morehead. A "learner" is defined in the Minimum Wage Law as an employee, whom the Commissioner permits, through the issuance of a certificate...

Grading Wheat Carries Penalties If It Is Violated

October 21-26 Period To Be Donated To State

Buyers of wheat in Kentucky are violating the law in the use of illegal measures for the purpose of grading wheat according to a survey just completed by Mr. Ivan Jett, Director of Markets of the Kentucky Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Jett stated that during a careful state-wide check it was discovered that many of the grain grading devices now in use were antiquated, gaged, bent, improperly repaired, and generally unfit for an accurate determination of the grade of wheat being purchased. In addition most buyers use pint, quart, or one-half gallon measures for grading purposes. Mr. Jett said, "while Section 56, 4819-1 of the Kentucky Statutes specifies that it shall be a violation of the law to use any measure other than the standard one-half bushel measure furnished the State for the purpose of grading wheat."

Under legislation enacted by the 1940 session of the Kentucky General Assembly, the Division of Markets of the Kentucky Department of Agriculture at Frankfort is authorized to make rules and regulations for the grading of the Kentucky farm products and to enforce such rules and regulations. Mr. Jett said that the farmers have undoubtedly lost many hundreds of thousands of dollars by the use of illegal grading equipment and every effort will be made, under existing legislation, to guarantee such farmers that only the standard half-bushel measure will be used in grading wheat in the future.

The attention of the Division of Markets of the Department of Agriculture was called to the use of illegal measures by a group of interested farmers in the State and any violations of this law should in the future be reported to the office of the Director of Markets, Department of Agriculture, Frankfort.

Mr. Jett stated that while little could be done to assist the farmers with the grading of this year's crop, a program of complete cooperation between the farmers of the state and his division would assure the correct grading of the 1940 crop.

Kentuckians May Take Up Aviation

Two Years Of College Required, Statement

Kentuckians, who have been enlisting in the regular army at a higher rate than in most other states, now are offered an opportunity by the War Department to take training as army aviation pilots.

As an indication of how much it is to earn the army has fixed a quota of 120 pilots a month from the Fifth Corps Area states—Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia—and named a civilian committee. "I believe there are hundreds of viable young Kentuckians had rather be fliers and who can meet the qualifications, which include two years of college work."

The men will be paid while in training and the army requirements are that applicants must be American citizens, unmarried, of sound health and excellent character.

Famous Artist of "Our Democracy" Cartoons

Hubert J. Mathieu, who draws the "Our Democracy" cartoon series, has been nationally known for years as an illustrator of stories and serials in such magazines as the Saturday Evening Post, Colliers, Ladies Home Journal, McCall's, Cosmopolitan.

Mr. Mathieu's first paid job was as a farm hand, and he owns and lives on a farm today. Born in Brookings, S. D., the son of the late Hubert B. Mathieu, dean of South Dakota State College at Brookings, the artist worked as a boy on nearby farms. He graduated from South Dakota State College in 1913. In his years of success he has gone back to the land. He owns and lives on 380 acres in Bucks County, Pa. The farm which, twenty to twenty-seven years old, inclusive, and must have birth certificates.

Lieutenant Hamilton has been sent to the army recruiting station in Louisville to aid in the recruiting, but applicants may apply at the nearest recruiting station: Bowling Green, Cincinnati, Jackson, Lexington, Louisville, Midtleshoro, Owensboro, Paduch, Paintsville, Somerset or Portsmouth, Ohio.

"Those who have not completed two years in college," he added, "may be allowed to take a written examination in subjects covered by that work."

The same civilian committee which McClain heads in Kentucky has been requested to aid in obtaining applicants for naval training.

Qualifications for naval training are similar to those aviation, except that applicants from 19 to 28, inclusive, will be accepted, provided those under age get parental consent.

"They regulations require that those who take the naval training," McClain said, "will be given a 30-day cruise, leaving New York on September 30 or October 28, and will be taught the fundamentals of seamanship, including gunnery and navigation. If they merit it they will then be given ninety days training as midshipman with pay and upon graduation will be commissioned as ensigns in the naval reserve. All they have to do is to apply to one of the navy recruiting stations at Ashland, Bowling Green, Lexington, Louisville, Midtleshoro, Owensboro or Paduch."

Rowan Farmers Urged To Sow Clover By August

Rowan County farmers are being urged to sow cover crops on their clean cultivated land from which they are now harvesting crops, County Agent, Charles L. Goff and the committees of the Rowan County Agricultural Conservation Association are especially active in this work at present.

Local seed stores have stocked seed rye, rye grass, barley, vetch and crimson clover for the convenience of farmers.

Local farmers have been doing a good job in soil building by using large amounts of lime and phosphate during the past few years. But many of them have neglected to protect these gains by leaving their land bare and therefore open to erosion and leaching of plant food. Most of the county's better farmers are getting their cultivated land sown to a cover crop this fall.

Surplus Supplies May Serve For Defense Purposes

Making use of surplus supplies produced on the farms is important for national health defense, Mills Perkins, Director of Marketing in the United States Department of Agriculture, emphasized in a recent address.

"If we want to know just how important this is," Perkins continued. "We can ask our local recruiting officers about the thousands of boys from relief and low-income families who are unable to qualify for military service because of health reasons. They've been living on an average of a nickel a meal at retail prices of a dime. In contrast, the army has a food allowance of fifteen cents a meal a persons at wholesale prices."

In the United States, there are 420,118 miles of railway track, enough to make 133 parallel tracks connecting New York and San Francisco.

BOOK REVIEWS

 Morehead State Teachers College
Books On School and College Days
 This is the first of a series of articles on books and other reading material that the author will discuss weekly in our newspaper. We will discuss some good books on School and College Days, because this is the first week of the new scholastic year for our College. They are as follows:

 1. Charters, J. B. (The College Student Thinking It Through). Abingdon Press. $1.50.
 Practical suggestions on how to make personal adjustments to the problems of religion and how to develop a real philosophy of life are the main things emphasized in this good book.
 2. Cochran, C. M. (Planning for College). Stokes Publishing Co. $2.00.
 This book contains pertinent advice about choosing a college, estimating expenses, preparation and requirements, living conditions, and how to get the most out of college.
 3. Noll, T. O. (Youth's Work In the New World). Association Printers. $1.75.
 Leaders of various professions inform young people about the problems to be met, the skills to be acquired, the qualities of character needed, and the satisfactions to be expected from their chosen fields of work.
 4. Profane, Dom., pseud. (College Men). Kennedy Publishing Co. $3.00.
 College Men contains sound advice on personal problems, relationships with fellow students and professors, and on planning one's life, given by college deans through interviews with students.

 5. Vachell, H. A. (The Hill). Dodd, Mead Publishing Co. $2.50.
 This is the story of a school bully. The thrilling match with Elton, and the call to service for the First World War furnish but a few of the exciting times in John Verney's school days at Harrow.
 The author would appreciate any comment the readers of these articles might have to make. Just address all communications to Box 308, State Teachers College, Morehead, Kentucky.
DRY CREEK
 The Dry Creek P-T.A. met Friday evening at the school house. Mr. Cornette, the Superintendent was with us and made an excellent talk to the parents who were there. We are looking forward to a very successful year. We wish to express our thanks to Superintendent Cornette for the repair work which is being done on the school building. It is making it look much better.
 The school is making progress on the exhibits for the fair. Folks are getting on their toes in our district for the biggest Fair of all times.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

EAGLES NEST - - -
Morehead.

The Messrs. Varnellis and Lastic went places and did things. And in front of this pair, the sharp-clawed Eagles trotted out a forward and that nearly stole the show from all the brilliant backfield ball-trotters.

But after all the plinkin precincts have been heard from and the final votes have been tabulated, Jackie Hunt, the former Huntington Fory Express schoolboy, was the bright shining star of the inaugural skirmish on the local greenward.

Fort Knox Gold
Without "Jumping Jack" the Thundering Herd might have been buried as deep as all that gold at Fort Knox, Ky. But Marshall had Hunt and Jackie was the difference between victory and defeat of the match with Morehead State Teachers College.

We met up with Coach Ellis Johnson, the Head Man of the high-flying Eagles, an hour or two after Saturday night's melee. It developed that Mr. E. Johnson wasn't so glad wasn't so mad over the outcome of the contest.

The old Ashland Tomcat idol, who enjoys popularity, plus, carried himself very modestly when we started quizzing him about the high spot of the struggle. It pleased us to announce that Mr. Johnson is still wearing the same size hat, and isn't in the habit of talking out of turn. He said, viz: (a) "My boys were a little excited and jittery at the start of the game. But the line-coached by Len Miller, turned in a superb performance."

(b) "I have never seen better tackling than that displayed by the Thundering Herd."
(c) "Marshall was much the best during the first half, while Morehead was much the best during the second half. Jackie Hunt can make anybody's football team."

(d) "The Eagles can tackle better than they showed Saturday night. That was the ONLY thing that disappointed me."
(e) "We were not quite as ready for Marshall as we were for the Cincinnati Bearcats the year we licked them in the opening game."

The Eagles from Old Kentucky were no soft touch for the well-drilled Thundering Herd, who must have felt a trifle ashamed of themselves, the way the non-residents from the hills of Rowan county shoved them around, especially during the second half of the combat.

V. F. L. "Gobblers" Are Next
It was really a football game, that one. Marshall won, but only after the Eagles had ripped a few yards of perfectly good hide off the Thundering Herd. It certainly was no cakewalk for the young men who wear the Green and White. Morehead boys found themselves in the second half of this roaring battle and were bouncing the home boys around quite lively during the last thirty minutes of play. Eden Hunt held no terrors for them.

But the season is still young yet. You can look for the Thundering Herd to pull some new tricks out of their fall fodoras before they square off for the vital test this week end against the VPI Gobblers from Blacksburg, Va.

We have no idea of what Coach Johnson told his Eagles between halves. But one thing is sure, to wit: all wasn't a Sunday school lesson. You could tell that by the way Varnellis and Lastic were swinging in backstep down the 10-yard chalk marks.

There was no handshaking or back-slapping among the rival players. They were playing for keeps. You didn't have to SEE tackles—you could HEAR them. At times you couldn't tell whether the boys were running for touchdowns or for a re-entraining office of the Devil Dog Martini.

Morehead fans and Huntington fans, too, for that matter, are referring to the game as a moral victory for the Eagles. Well, all right—L-t-t. But they don't pay off on moral victories.

They Took "Happy" Chandler Back
When someone on the Morehead bench yelled, "Hold that line," those seven Eagles in the front line trenches—Sagady, Zachern, Norris, Adams, Hochstetler, Marshall, Collins, Mussen and Reid, snarled back on their heels like a dentist yanking a molar tooth.

The Eagles only weakness was their over-head game, or rather the lack of one. If Coach Johnson had someone in the backfield who could really rife, that old cowhide, it would be just too bad. Just too bad.
Still I doubt if Mr. Johnson will spend many sleepless nights from now on, not with Varnellis and Lastic and "Jug" Varney hanging around. Like a hungry man with a fat ham and a loaf of bread on either shoulder, what has Ellis got to worry about?
I believe that the Old Sailor who conducts this department predicted on the eve of the contest that Jumping Jackie Hunt would pick up more yardage than the entire Morehead backfield. Maybe Hunt did and maybe he didn't. I'm not sure about it. Anyway, the Kentucky fans may forgive and forget. They let A. B. (Happy) Chandler back, why not Ridgley?

THE TASK AHEAD - - -

considerably above that which has been accorded in most states. But this condition disappeared in the process of the enactment of the law. Consequently, there has been a wide variance in the average monthly allowances in different states, with the general average much lower than was ever anticipated. In many cases the programs now operating in the States provide such meager assistance that many of the most deserving of old-age assistance refuse to apply for such aid because of the stigma of pauperism permeating the program.

On the other hand, two or three states, for political reasons, have attempted to provide old-age assistance far beyond the extent contemplated in the federal act, not only in the amount of aid to the recipient, but also in the number of old people receiving aid. For instance, Colorado in 1936 undertook to grant every person sixty or over an amount sufficient to bring his total income to $45.00 per month. For lack of funds, this scheme was given up after a few months, although Colorado still provides "approximately $25.00 per recipient."

While the rates of recipients to the total number of persons sixty-five years and over is 21.8 for the United States as a whole, Colorado ranks second highest of the states, giving assistance to 46 out of every 100 people over sixty-five years of age. Oklahoma ranks first, providing aid for fifty-four out of every one hundred. It is unfortunate that these extremes have allowed to creep into our system of social security.

Obviously, the most critical weakness of the old-age assistance program is its abuse. If partisan politics, the Social Security Board has endeavored from the state to place the program on a purely non-political plane, but unfortunately to great an opportunity for manipulation by state politicians was allowed. Politically-minded administrators were often appointed in the states, who, in turn, appointed local politicians and party precinct workers to carry on the field work.

It is quite encouraging to note, however, that under the Hatch Act a new era seems to be approaching. Politicians may soon find that there is no place for them in the social security system. The requirements in the Social Security Board for personnel to administer the relief to the aged are likewise being placed on a higher plane so that those who have served purely on a political basis may soon find that they cannot make the grade. The outlook seems definitely hopeful.

Federal Institution Near Ashland Formally Opened

Construction At Cost Of Million One-Half Dollars

Opening of the new Federal Correctional Institution at Ashland, Kentucky, was announced today by the Department of Justice. Constructed at a cost of $1,450,000 from funds allocated to the Department of Justice by the Public Works Administration, this institution will form another link in the Federal correctional system which consists of thirty-two institutions of various types. It will be used for the confinement of approximately six hundred short-term male offenders against Federal statutes residing chiefly in Eastern Kentucky, West Virginia, the Western District of Virginia, and Eastern Tennessee.

The establishment of this institution is in line with the recommendations of a Congressional Committee which investigated the Federal penal system some years ago and suggested the establishment of a group of regional correctional institutions to serve areas where Federal prisoners could not be properly handled in local institutions. Selection of the site at Ashland, Kentucky, was based on the fact that out of two hundred, five county jails in the area to be served by this institution, only twelve are at present considered sufficiently safe, sanitary, and properly operated to house Federal prisoners.

The institution, constructed in accordance with modern penal standards. It was designed by Jesse M. Shelton of Robert and Company, Atlanta, Georgia, under the supervision of the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department, and was constructed by the Great Lakes Construction Company of Chicago, Illinois, Algonquin Blair, Montgomery, Ala., and E. H. Morhefer, Jr., Company, Chicago, Ill. It consists of a group of buildings branching off of a central corridor and a separate unit consisting of four dormitories or barracks. The main group of buildings will house the administrative offices, the reception and administration quarters, a close custody call building, and a central dining room, auditorium, and kitchen. Capacity of the housing units is distributed as follows:

Open dormitory ... 300 inmates

Each prisoner upon admission to the institution will be given a thorough social, mental and physical examination, classified according to his general needs, and assigned to work and quarters in accordance with the findings of the classification committee. Those prisoners who do not fit into the training program will be transferred to some other Federal institution. During the first year the inmates will be employed completing the grading of the institution, painting certain buildings, and doing farm work. The ultimate employment program of the inmates will be determined at a later date.

The staff of the institution will be selected from eligible lists provided by the Civil Service Commission and by transfer of trained employees from various other Federal correctional institutions. Preferences will be given in the selection of personnel to residents of Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, and the territory the institution is to serve. The staff will consist of a Warden, an Associate Warden, Chief Medical Officer, Psychiatrist, Farm Manager, Chief Clerk, Chief Engineer, about fifty trained custodial officers, and a number of clerical and administrative employees. The medical and hospital personnel will be furnished by the United States Public Health Service.

Robert H. Armstrong, of Keyser, West Virginia, Supervisor of the Federal Prison Camp System, has been appointed Acting Warden.

Trapping Laws Severe In Many Cases Hunters

No Steel Allowed In Catching Water Animals

The trapping regulations for 1940 under the new Anti-Steel-Trap law, are hereby released for publication by the Division of Game and Fish.

For the water animals, such as the Muskrat and the Mink, the Bridled Rubber-jawed trap, size #4 shall be used along the shores of stream as deep, so that the animal will be quickly drowned. No trap shall be set without a drowning device. These prevent not only trap-theiving, by wring-offs and injuries to fur.

For the land animal—the new chain-loop leghold which take without injury shall be used. For the larger animals, such as fox, wildcat and raccoon, the improved Verbal Chain-loop is to be used, and for smaller shock-legged animals, such as skunk, weasel and opossum, the Epp Chain-loop trap is to be used.

All furbearers may also be taken in home-made box or cage traps, or with the old-fashioned deadfall, or with instant-killers set far back in holes or burrows.

Every trap set shall be visited every twenty-four hours after setting, and any animal found therein killed instantly, or liberated unharmed.

The regulations also state that no person shall set any trap on the land of another without written permission from the owner of the land. And also that a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars is the penalty for any violation of this trapping law.

There is no open season for beaver and otter in Kentucky. As the raccoon is almost extinct in this state, trappers are requested, for the own future good, not to take raccoons, but to let them live and multiply.

The trapping season for 1940 begins on December 22nd, and closes January 25th, 1941, except for the

Rio-Tan Cafe Owner Deprived Of His Beer Licenses

State Brewers Enforcing "Clean Up Or Get Out" Dictum

The third action by the Kentucky Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee in Jefferson County within the past three weeks resulted in the revocation of the retail beer license of Marshall Stalker, proprietor of the Rio-Tan Cafe, Louisville. Frank E. Daugherty, Committee Director, announced today.

Louisville Alcoholic Beverage Administrator Virgil P. Lynch, ordered the revocation last week when Stalker appeared before him and said he wanted to surrender his license. Louisville police officers, at the request of the Committee, made an investigation of reported illegal activities at the Cafe and raided it on August 22nd, after a plainclothes man had purchased a highball in the Cafe, which was only licensed for the sale of beer.

The other Jefferson County cases brought suspensions of ten and thirty days to retail beer licenses.

State Wildlife Week Is Set By Executive Group

The Executive Committee of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen recently set aside October 21-28 as State Wildlife Week and will again sponsor a state-wide conservation educational program and story contest in the schools of the Commonwealth.

In this wildlife educational program, the Division of Game and Fish, through its officials and its Conservation officers will assist the sportsmen's organizations in the distribution of charts of wild animals native to Kentucky and of the Fishes that are native to this state to the schools. In addition to this phase of the program, the personnel of the Division will work with the League of Kentucky Sportsmen and with all other conservation-minded persons in the state to bring before every school girl and boy the reasons for conserving our natural resources and how to conserve them to the best advantage.

The subject of the story contest will be titled: "The Value of the Conservation Of Our Forest, Fields and Streams."

In the Intermediate Grades (4th, 5th and 6th) the story is not to exceed 250 words. In the Junior High (7th and 8th) the story is not to exceed three hundred words. And in the Senior High (1, 2, 3, and 4) the story is not to exceed 500 words.

Prizes will be awarded in the sum of $90.00 in cash for the nine best stories. Three prizes will be awarded in each classification. The first prize in each of the three groups will be $15; 2nd prize $10, and 3rd prize $5. In addition to the above prizes offered by the League of Kentucky Sportsmen, other prizes will be awarded by the local game and fish clubs to the winners of the county contests.

SCHOOL NEWS

The attendance officer has visited every school in the county this year and has found conditions as a whole very good. Superintendent Corlette has visited approximately one-third of the schools and will make an effort to visit all of them during the year. The Fair catalogues have been distributed to the schools and it is hoped that every patron interested in exhibiting will have an opportunity to look through one of these catalogues.

School officials hope that as many schools as possible will have a float in the parade at the Fair. The parade is the most colorful part of the Fair and the floats help to make it colorful, interesting and complete. All schools are expected to have a banner. Many improvements are being made on the rural school buildings such as covering buildings, cleaning wells, painting roofs, putting in window glass, furnishing stoves, painting inside of the school rooms, etc. Every effort is being made by the Superintendent and Board to make the children and teachers as comfortable as possible.

The principals of the four consolidated schools report that the bus schedule is being worked out satisfactory and that the children who ride the buses are well pleased with the transportation facilities furnished by the Rowan County Board of Education.
