Play-By-Play Description To Be Given In College Gymnasium

Because of the inclement weather which will prohibit many followers of the Morehead College Eagle from going to Richmond Thursday evening for the Morehead Centre game in the K. I. A. C. tournament, arrangements have been made to give a graphic play-by-play description from the gymnasium at Eastern of the game.

The broadcast will give in the gymnasium of the Morehead State-Teachers College and will start promptly at 8:15 p. m. The Morehead Centre game will start 15 minutes later.

A wire has been leased for the broadcast and a nominal charge of 15 cents will be charged each person in order to defray expense.

Every effort will be made to give Morehead fans each play of the game exactly as it happens.

Coach Edie Johnson in his address announced that he would start James Ishmael and Jack Kirk at forwards; John Wiggers at center; William Grant and Edie Johnson at guards against the Colonels.

Frenchburg Has One Of Best Records In Ky.

A story appearing in last week's News inadvertently stated that Frenchburg High school had won a lot of games but did not rate as a top-notch club.

This is in error, as the record of the Menifee County club, definitely establishes them as one of the outstanding high school clubs in the state. Frenchburg is being placed in many quarters as the winner of their district tournament but must, however, lose in the 15th Regional. Inez beat Frenchburg 25-14 in a recent meeting.

Under Coach Rowland, Frenchburg has won 62 of 66 games in two years and is undefeated in 30 games at home.

Frenchburg was a semi-finalist in Wells, a forward, and lost, through graduation, five of its first seven players.

Frenchburg was held without a goal in its first district game, but started for Inez. The game ended Inez's season with 31 wins and 4 defeats.

Frenchburg has a record that is better than that of the opponents of Frenchburg have collected.

Farmers Receive Superphosphate Thru A. C. Assistance

Expect To Use 15 Carloads In County This Year, Says Agent

Rowan County farmers are again receiving 47 per cent Superphosphate through the Rowan County Agriculture Conservation Association.

Three carloads have been received and three more have been ordered. Orders for the seventh carload are being placed and this load will be ordered and shipped at once.

Farmers purchased three carloads of this material in 1937. Seven carloads were bought in 1938 and at least 15 carloads are expected to be used by local farmers this year. This material can be used only on hay and pasture crops. Farmers are prohibited from using it for any soil depleting crop.

The commercial fertilizer can be bought and applied to soil depleting crops as has been the practice for years.

Dixie Grill Bought By West Virginia Man

Frank Young of Omar, W. Va., yesterday purchased the Dixie Grill on the corner of Main Street and Second Street. Jack Wiggins has taken a long lease on the building.

Mr. Young has had many years of experience in the restaurant business. He will better make his home in Morehead and personally manage the business.

Morehead Students Make Good Showing On Honor Roll

Of the five highest grades made for the first semester at the Morehead State Teachers College, three were compiled by students from here, while Rowan Counties captured 13 places of the 70 on the honor roll released last week by Mary Page Milson, Registrar.

Other students from this county who are on the Morehead College honor roll, with the standing each achieved, are: Frank W. Miller 28; Chester W. Anderson, 27; Clifton Goshart 24; Donald Thornton 22; Catherine Waldman 21; David L. Thompson 21; Pauline Rowland 2; Samuel Lee Sharpe, 2; Margaret R. Gentry 2; Chester T. Kelley (Haldeman) 2.

Drive For Cancer Funds Launched By Local Committee

Mrs. J. C. Black To Head Campaign In Rowan County

A drive to raise funds to send to China for refugees in the war there was launched in Morehead this week. Mrs. J. C. Black, president of the committee and will be assisted by W. H. Vaughan and Clarence Nickel.

James M. Speers, treasurer of the local committee for China Relief, says:

"The tragic news of a few hundred thousand in the Ohio valley, gripped the heart of China and inspired us to our help. We cried, they heard."

"Now, China calls to the Christian World for aid. More than thirty millions of Chinese people are almost submerged in a sea of slaughter and starvation. More than a million babies are facing death from exposure and famine. Thousands of men, women and children, are without medical or surgical aid."

"A little will do so much. Three dollars will care for a day's need. One dollar will provide food for one month; twelve dollars gives food and shelter for a year. We must help. What has been done, but touches the fringe of China's need."

Federal Car Wrecked By Rum Violators

Negroes, Crash Into Federal Agents Car At Roubidun Bridge Today

Thodore Gray of Winchester and Lane Jackson, Mt. Sterling, both colored, are in jail here today charged with possession and transporting rum paid whiskey.

They were arrested at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Roubidun bridge by Federal agents D. R. Keeton and E. M. Staton and deputies Lay Stewart and John Adams.

Learning that the negroes were carrying a load of whiskey out of Chertley Creek the Federal agents blocked the road by parking their car on the Roubidun bridge. Seeing they were blocked, they drove the car, drove his car driving into that of the Federal agents and Riley crashed into the car, damaging both automobiles. Keeton said this morning that the government car was beyond repair. Fifty gallons of molasses was confiscated.

Arranged before Commissioner J. W. Riley, bonds were set in the amount of $1,000 for Gray and $250 for Jackson. They failed to execute bonds and Riley said this afternoon that they would be taken to the Lexington jail to await the action of Federal court there.

Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Flood Improved From Crash Injuries

Both Believed To Be Out Of Danger; Mrs. Flood In Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Flood, who were both injured in a wreck two weeks ago, when their car and a coal truck collided, are still confined to their beds. Mrs. Flood in the Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington and Mr. Flood at his home in Morehead. Reports from Lexington indicate that Mrs. Flood now has a better than equal chance of recovery. She has shown marked improvement in strength and is expected to continue to do so.

Mr. Flood whose injuries were not so serious, is convalescing at his home, although it will still be several weeks before he is able to be up and about. His leg, which was most seriously injured is in a cast which will wear for several weeks, according to his physician.

Tobacco Agerage Here To Be Assigned Soon

The County Committee of the Rowan County Agriculture Conservation Association has been notified to assign tobacco acreage to very few farms where averages were not allotted in 1938. The acreage available for this type of farm is very limited for the Hurley Tobacco Section as a whole. Also the County Committee's action in this matter is limited by the following five conditions set up by the Washington ACP office.

1. The applicant shall have had two years or more of previous experience in growing tobacco during the past five years.

2. The applicant shall be living on the farm and shall be the owner thereof or if he is not the owner shall be leasing the farm from the farm from the owner for cash and supplying the machinery, workstock, and finances for the operation of the farm.

3. There shall be available space on the farm for the curing to tobacco.

4. A particular farm shall be the chief source of income upon which the applicant depends for his livelihood and the only farm owned or operated by him.

Final Plans Made For Celebration

The Corbie Ellington Post of the American Legion at its meeting Friday evening laid preliminary plans for the organization of a Boy Scout organization in Morehead.

March P. T. A. Meet Postponed Until April

Due to the district and Regional tournaments the regular March meeting of the Morehead Parent-Teachers Association has been postponed until April. Miss Leola Caudill's class will have charge of the program at that time.

Three Murder Cases To Be Tried In Court

All Have Been Bound Over To Grand Jury; Docket Heavy For Term

Rowan County Circuit Court will have its heaviest docket in several years at the March term with three murder cases leading a long list of cases scheduled.

The three murder cases, all of which occurred since the October term are: City Patrolman H. L. Roberts, charged with the murder of Eddie Harding; John Pfurner charged with the slaying of Eddie Haldridge; Sherman Mackay charged with shooting his wife to death.

All three cases are scheduled for grand jury action in the second week of the term. Many civil cases also appear on the docket, headed by the suit of Mr. and Mrs. John Fouch, against Mrs. W. Greathouse et al of Lexington. The suit, about approximately $25,000 damages, is the outgrowth of an automobile accident.

Haldeman P. T. A. To Present Play On March 14

"Aunt Susie Shoots The Works" Is Title Of Production At School

The Haldeman P. T. A. has announced that on March 14, they will present Fred Calloway's latest and funniest farce, a play entitled "Aunt Susie Shoots The Works" at the Haldeman school gymnasium. This play is being given by special arrangement with Samuel French, the largest play publishers in the world. During a recent interview with Mr. J. Ewing Esford, who is sole distributor in this county, but the forthcoming production of this popular play, the director told some thing of the difficulty usually encountered in casting a play. "The so-called parts are easy to cast, as a general rule," he stated. "Acting is a woman's job and most girls like to appear on the stage in their own right. Entertainment. But when it comes to assembling the males, for a play, well, that is another story. Most men are usually scared to death of their work or with their own part. Many of them are too shy to appear in public. This has not been true in this case, however. Everyone in the community is taking a keen interest in the production, and has responded enthusiastically when asked to take a part."

Thieves Enter Consolidated Hardware Company Monday

Loot Is Small But Officers Fear Additional Robberies In City

Officers here fear that another orgy of petty thievery is about to break out following the robbery of the Consolidated Hardware Company Monday night.

The thieves, who entered by breaking out the back door, took only a pocketknife, a flashlight and a pinch-bar. A keyhole saw, which had been taken from its owner by the thief, Bob Young, manager of the store, said that he believed the place was entered by the thieves in order that they might use tools for future burglaries.

A door, separating the Consolidated Hardware Company and the C. E. Bishop Drug Company was damaged as the thieves went into Bishop's. The loss there was also small.

Entering a back window of Myrie's ice room last week thieves took approximately fifty dollars in money.

Although it has been kept comparatively quiet it is known that the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company has been suffering some heavy losses when box cars were entered. Railway detectives believe that they have cleared up most of these and it is expected that they may be preferred against several persons for these robberies by the grand jury which sits next Monday.

Tuesday Last Day To Pay For New Tags

Interest-Penalty Starts On Taxes March 1st

Interest and penalty will go on all taxes not paid by Wednesday, March 1st. Sheriff Ben McElvay says that the state will begin to collect the interest and penalty on all taxes not paid by Wednesday, March 1st.

McElvay urges all persons who have not paid their taxes to do so as soon as possible. He says that the state will begin to collect the interest and penalty on all taxes not paid by Wednesday, March 1st.

R. M. Mid Magby To Be Drafted For Lieutenant Governor

Over two hundred Carter County "Bagby Boosters" met Wednesday afternoon at the Court House in Grayson and voted unanimously to draft R. M. "Mid" Bagby to make the race for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor and Senator H. Watt Hillman and Bert Kiser presided over the enthusiastic crowd.

Senator Hillman in opening the meeting stated, "I want the people of Kentucky to know that we in Carter County are one hundred per cent behind Mid Bagby for Lieutenant Governor. We must organize to push his campaign to every part of the State."

Archie Fields, Grayson, Attorney and brother of ex-Gov. W. J. Fields said, "If the people of Kentucky know the intelligent business man, the Christian gentleman, and the fair minded citizen that Mid Bagby is, they will be as enthusiastic supporters of him as we are," he said. "Mid Bagby will make a better candidate because he has no political ambitions. And all factions will want the strongest man they can get in the second place on the ticket. If they know Mid Bagby they will want him, because of the strength he will have and because of his ability. I propose Mid Bagby as a candidate with a reputation splendid enough to reach from Mills Point to the Big Sandy and from the Ohio River to the State of Tennessee."

Judge J. T. Giles commented upon the race by saying, "Mr. Bagby's character will draw the admiration of every citizen of Kentucky."

Dr. Lyons of Olive Hill related that the people of Lawrence County are proud to have Mid Bagby. "If we show Mr. Bagby that we want him, he will take off his coat and fight."

Mr. George Clark of Soldiersburg said, "We will put Mr. Bagby over."

Upon the motion of Harry Savage, Bert Kiser was named presiding officer of the meeting. Mr. Fields and Senator Hillman, vice-presidents, Hubert Chaffin, Treasurer, and Roland Armstrong, Secretary, of the "Bagby Boosters" organization of Carter County. Chairman Kiser in his address to the gathering stated, "We are ever ready for that man who will have such a splendid man as R. M. Bagby. We admire him for his achievements in the business world. We praise him for the untiring efforts he has made in the battles for the Democratic party. We appreciate him for the splendid work he has done in the community and the county and we love him for his friendly disposition, a friend to all."

"In a recent meeting and today, President of this organization to initiate the fight for his candidacy for Lieutenant Governor and I accept it with the greatest degree of pride and determination to see that we put him over. We need such men as Mid Bagby at Frankfort."

"The suggestion of Mr. Kiser the 'Boosters' named a committee of J. T. Giles, Senator Hillman, Freeman S. Webb, Tom Powell, and Austin Field, to meet Mr. Bagby on his return Monday from Florida to present the petition containing the names of twenty thousand Disparate drafting, thank for Lieutenant Governor."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN

RETAIL BUSINESS

Retail merchants handling general merchandise in rural areas during January achieved a sales volume which the Department of Commerce said was the highest ever recorded for that month. Doubtless the increase from December in cash income of farmers was a contributing factor, as was the fact that merchants had a stronger influence on rural retail business. Looking ahead, observers of the economic scene foresee a slight decline in prices and other factors produced a year from now. Having voted last fall for removal of compulsory crop restrictions, planters already are preparing more wheat for this year.

Washington—For each man, woman and child in America, there are 14 heads of live-stock and 32 chickens. Altogether, the live-stock population, excluding swine, adds up to 187,726,000 heads and is worth $1,650,875,000, an sum equivalent to about one-eighth of the national debt. The 66,827,000 heads of cattle and calves number horses and colts six to one, while the latter out-number mules and made up to be in two to one. Sheep and lambs total 32,762,000, 10 to 30, 61,000,000. Mules, on the other hand, are worth $18 a head. Sheep and lambs total $57.5 a head, are the least expensive. Chickens are worth about 20 cents each. In reporting its annual inventory of farm animals, the Department of Agriculture noted the prediction that domestic demand for farm products next year would improve.

Retail News—Many persons make a living in retailing that in any other business, and when a court decision on a retail question comes along, it causes a great deal of talk and speculation on the part of both shopkeepers and their customers. Such a wave of conversation is now sweeping the East following the decision of the Supreme Court by the U. S. Supreme Court recognizing the right of customers in legislation which affects the market basket and tends to increase the cost of living. The court ruled that illegal taxes imposed on self-service markets by seven N. J. municipalities, Newark and Jersey City, was a decision as probably setting a precedent upon which courts in other states will act in settling similar cases, and in cases involving discriminatory taxes on chain stores.

On the other hand, consumers—and especially the women—are being hit by the fact that their tax money were ruled out by the court, the brunt of a wide-spread public campaign against them was carried on by embittered housewives who, to oppose them, banded together to form Emergency Consumer Tax Councils in 326 communities. Their war cry that taxes on retail stores impose an unbearable burden on purchasers, was substantiated in the court's opinion which said that "nonusers of the merchandise acquire its residents to force upon it economic they can wisely excuse. A municipality cannot confiscate the property of one merchant because he offers his merchandise for sale in one manner rather than another," adding that freedom of enterprise produces consumers' and low price merchants, increasing sales, thus aiding production and employment.

Things to Watch For—Office of the National Bureau of Standards feel perfectly free to put his feet up—A new heating unit that will be a combination fireplace, stove and air conditioner and will burn wood, oil, coal or gas—a new refrigerator that is hermetically sealed and impervious to air, gas and fluids—A new plastic made of zein, a corn-wax which up to now has been used as a cattle feed, which will be used by corn product refiners company for laboratory and aircraft accessories, and a coating for paper—A shoe polish that when applied automatically gives a shine, requiring no "elbow grease."

He stopped in London at the Hotel Cecil. Glancing over the menu one morning at breakfast, he said to the waiter:

"That is a whiting."

"A whiting, sir," said the waiter, "is a fish, sir."

"I know that," said Davis, "but what kind of a fish? How does it taste?"

The waiter finished the matter for a moment.

"I know it," said Davis, "A whiting is like a 'addock, sir—only more so." (American News Service, Inc.)

Pay or Play—Labor news, characterized of late by spirited objections of workers to obtain jobs from employers, took on a bright aspect last week as one major industry sprang a pleasant surprise on its workers. Aluminum Company of America announced a new, "streamlined" vacation plan for its 18,000 hourly employees which permit any worker with two years' service and at least 1,200 hours in the preceding 52 weeks to take a week's vacation with pay—or take a week's extra pay, if he had rather have the money. Ten-year employees get two weeks. Vacation pay is based on the average week's pay over the past year. Employees are required to take time off because of sickness or enforced idleness are given their vacations at once, automatically. Vacation periods are arranged between employer and employee.

Men With Wings At Cozy

Paranormal, after exhaustive research, went to enormous labor and considerable expense and spent much time on the production of the screen version of the novel "Men With Wings," a romantic history of aviation and the personal story of two men and a woman.

As it sometimes the case when story purveys a dual theme, the story against a single but advancing historical background, the screen version is episodic. When the concept of the air from the "Men With Wings" traces the story alert but epochal hop of the Wright brothers in 1903, interludes briefly in calendar mode the trail blazing feats of famous flyers and flyers, the mechanical treatment is both spectacular and picturesque.

There is considerable exciting material in the story, but its exploitation value in these phases.

The fictional counterpart of the actual content is a love story. It is the story, on one side, of a love that was won, appreciated yet deserted, and tragically when the love of a greater adventure could not be denied. On the other hand, it is a story of a love that always was.

From the time that "Men with Wings" was first considered as a picture, Paramount hesitated itself with avoiding itself of any exploitation attention on the undertaking as it means are being made up as to how best to sell it in definite territories, there are many things to be considered. There have been other aviation pictures, generally commercial success. Then there is the matter of names. "Men with Wings" offers Fred MacMur-ray, Ray Milland and Gail Patrick as its leading personalities. The supporting cast includes Walter Abel, Kitty Kelly, Virginia Weidler. The picture will be shown Tuesday and Monday at the Cozy Theatre.

Bagby's Campaign Gains More Headway

The campaign of Mid Bagby's friends in Carter County and in Eastern Kentucky in an effort to draft him as a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, has gained so much headway in the last few weeks that the entire state is setting up and taking notice.

Unquestionably leading State politicians have already been putting out feelers as to Bagby's strength and how much he can deliver for the "stated ticket" he might run on. Those feelers have elicited the information that Bagby is held in high regard by both administration and Anti-administration leaders in Eastern Kentucky.

It seems to be a foregone conclusion that Bagby will be a candidate. Our position as regards him remains unchanged regardless of what state or any that he might run the people of Rowan County and of Eastern Kentucky will do well to place their stencil after the stamp of Mid Bagby.

Justice Will Still Triumph

"Truth, crushed to earth, shall rise again. The eternal years of God are hers. But Error, wounded, writhes in pain. And dies among her worshippers."

Truth, and Justice, suffered a severe jolt last Tuesday, when the Board of Regents of the Morehead State Teachers College met in executive session, and four Kentucky gentlemen presumably representing the citizens of Kentucky, disregarded the charges made against H. A. Babbs, disregarded the recent attacks on the home and on the person of the editor of the Rowan County News, disregarded the wishes of the Governor of Kentucky and of the citizens of the state, and applied to the white wash coach, but literally dumped sweet pills of white wash over Babbs, in a futile attempt to make him into a pleasant saint. They succeeded only in part of their effort, for white wash or not, the citizenry of this entire section is up in arms over the action of the Board.

The pious attempt of the four Kentucky gentlemen to white wash Babbs, to give him a clean slate, to endorse his regime, can only react and reflect on them.

Laying aside, for the moment, all the charges that have been preferred against Babbs, and considering only the recent attempt at intimidation on the person and home of the editor of the News, these four men have said in effect that they refuse to give him a four years' contract, the president of the Morehead State Teachers College.

They have put a premium on Thurgery. They have said in effect that the James in Kentucky are no longer sacred, but are subject to all the things that go with no recourse and without investigation. Sooner than that, they have put their stamp of approval on a regime that they should have been the first to condemn. If there is any reason for the maintenance of schools and colleges, that reason is the health of up of character. Yet these Kentucky gentlemen, meet in executive session and without asking for or permitting any investigation of any sort, they calmly award the man who is under question, an additional eight months contract.

The question is, Why? Why did the Board of Regents meet last Tuesday, and without a sign of an investigation give him an additional year's contract? Why did they refuse to give him a three years' contract? Why did they refuse to give him a two years' contract? And then, after refusing all these other proposals, why did they give him an additional eight months? If Babbs' work and record is satisfactory and merits an additional year, it should be sufficiently satisfactory to merit a four year contract. If his record does not merit a four year contract, it certainly does not merit an eight month or an eight day contract. Yet the four Kentucky gentlemen say in effect that his work is not such that they feel justified in extending his contract four years, or three, or two, but that they believe he may last for nine or eight additional months. Why?

By their action they apparently said that Babbs was over three-fourths wrong and less than one-fourth right.

Resolutions Adopted A Farce.

And then these four Kentucky gentlemen adopted a set of resolutions, reportedly drawn up by Babbs, that, in addition to giving him full authority to "clean house" with the faculty, leaves it entirely up to him to decide who, what, and why, and where the tax may fall. Speaking of Hitler and Mussolini, and they are weaklings before Babbs.

And just what do those resolutions mean. Every employee of the college has a contract and the law provides that no contract may be broken except for cause. Charges must be preferred and an investigation held. Recent events have demonstrated forcibly that it is difficult, not to say impossible to obtain a fair and impartial investigation, so employees of the college may feel reasonably safe. So far as next year's contracts are concerned, Babbs has always had authority to recommend.

There is Always a Reason

For every cause there is an effect; for every act, there is a reason, however lame that reason may be.

The press has freely stated that Babbs was being put under political pressure, that he had been forced by political pressure to employ members of the faculty who were displeasing to him and who refused to cooperate with him. That, in our opinion, is purely and simply a smoke screen, thrown up to disguise the real reason for the action of the Board.

The rumor is rife around Morehead that Babbs was given an extension of his contract for a political reason. Rumor states that there is a possibility of a certain member of the Board himself being a candidate for the position now poorly occupied by Babbs, and that, for that reason the extension was given.

Whether this rumor is true or not, the Board of Regents will have a difficult time proving that it is without foundation.

The News Is Just Beginning To Fight

The News, believe it or not, has no political axe to grind. We are not, strange as it may seem, seeking business from the college. We are seeking and shall continue to seek, an equal opportunity for the students of this Morehead State Teachers College, with those of other colleges of the state. We shall continue to seek to take this college out of politics, and place it on the plane where it belongs, a servant of the people of Eastern Kentucky, instead of a football to be kicked about at the pleasure of any self-seeking president, member of the Board of Regents or what not.

The charges we have made stand. There are hundreds of others brought to light. For that reason our challenge thus far has gone unanswered. For that reason a deep and dismal silence has been the only answer we have received. But silence or not, white wash or not, we intend to continue this fight to clean up the situation and clean out Babbs, until the situation is adjusted, and Babbs is gone.

One Member Stood Up

It would not be fair to Mrs. Allie W. Young, did we omit her part in the Board meeting. One woman among four stalwart upstanding men, Mrs. Young fought to the bitter last against odds that eventually overwhelmed her. She voted to the last against any extension of Babbs' contract, being the only vote registered against the eight months extension. She stood on an investigation but none was held. She voted her sentiments throughout the meeting, and when it was over was able to look Morehead in the face and say that she had voted as she believed, to the last. What an example to the men on the Board.

For ourselves, for the people of Eastern Kentucky, we say that Babbs' extension of contract is a ringing challenge to the citizens of this section. It is not a challenge to the Rowan County News which started to fight and has carried on, almost unassisted. It is not an answer to the charges we have made. It is not a vindication for Babbs and his administration. It is a challenge to Truth and Justice to rise up from the earth where they have been ruthlessly thrust. It is a challenge to the noble men and women of this section of Kentucky to protect their rights and the rights of their children. Will they accept the challenge.

Morehead College Boasts Of Best Season

The Morehead College Eagles have the best record on a won and lost basis, of any local basketball team with 12 victories and 8 defeats. Morehead High School, which has been almost rapidly snubbed by local bookies' coaching, has the second best thing while Brook is the only team to have lower than a .500 record.

THE JOB INSTEAD OF CRUMBS. For those who are "expert" comes forth with the details of how some particular person has been hamboozled into buying the wrong kind of life insurance, or spending for a contract in the expectation of getting something he didn't receive.

Scattered abuses of life insurance undoubtedly be found. The one we've seen the real point—life insurance has given the average policyholder (unvarnished) a fair deal. It's made it possible for him to adequately provide for his old age and protection of his dependents at a low monthly or annual cost. It isn't perfect—even as human beings aren't perfect—but, by and large, it's an institution in which every American can take pride. It stands as the loaf of bread for the average man, instead of the crumb.

ARE YOUR CHILDREN SAFE? School authorities too often feel that because they're never "handed" by a fire, they're never going to have one writes T. Alfred Fleming of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, in the Kiwanis Magazine.

This cruel fallacy is a menace to the lives of American school children for actually there are five school fires a day in this country. We cannot, unfortunately, eliminate all of them. But we can, by efficient fire drills, get the children out of burning buildings safely. Most fire drills, Mr. Fleming observes, "are wretchedly inadequate some actually dangerous." He describes one school in which, when the fire bell rang, gowastars pupils rushed upstairs to get their hats and coats from the cloakroom. A principal once proudly showed him his fire drill escape in his modern school. The chute had locked doors at the bottom—and when the janitor was found after a 20 minute search, he admitted that he had not the keys a year before. In another school, children had to stand on a windowsill and swing out three feet

 Peter was the natural leader of the Apostles, but it was not he who preached first in Samaria. Jesus had preached there, and Philip was the first of the disciples to preach to them. At the coming down of Peter and John, who followed Philip in Samaria, they found that the Holy Ghost had not come upon these Gentiles. Then they laid their hands upon the disciples which Philip had called and they were filled with the Holy Ghost. This great power produced such effects in the lives upon whom He came, that it drew attention of those who saw, and they marveled.

In the midst of the on-lookers was a man named Simon, who had been in the business of practicing sorcery, or magic, such as we might think of as "hypnotism," or something similar—more especially, perhaps, witchcraft, or working spells upon human beings through the power of demons. He made a bid at once for this secret. He offered them money, saying, "Give me this power also, that on whomsoever I lay hands, he may receive the Holy Ghost."

Now, Simon was a believer and had been baptised. But he was a believer only in that sense of historical faith. He saw that Philip preached the true Gospel, and, intellectually, gave assent to that truth. Like many unsaved people, he agreed that the Gospel was true, and was willing to follow its moral precepts. But nothing had happened in his heart to give him spiritual understanding. So, he thought it would be nothing out of the way to go on practicing his sorcery and would like to have this added power. In fact, he was willing to pay whatever was right for the power. Like many in our churches and among those who claim to believe in the Gospel, Philip wanted to use the church and religion for his personal gain. The proper use of the power of the Holy Spirit was not in his mind. He wanted to have the power of the church with which to forward his personal business.

Of course the best people in the world belong to the churches. But there are, sad to say, those who will enter the church merely for the purpose of forwarding their own ends. Many a man has joined the church and taken a prominent part, simply to get the backing of the more reputable people, and to cash in on the reputation of the religious people. These people have no understanding of what the church is for, or what religion is for.

The power of the Holy Spirit is not given just to make men feel good. It is given that we might, with that power, bless those who need us everywhere. To think of purchasing a place in this select group of God, to whom He gives beautifully all they need, is to insult the Holy Ghost, and brand one's self as never having been born again.

Instead of buying God's power with money, we should recognize that because we belong to God (if we really do) our money and possessions and all we have are His. To him we should gladly yield these things as a token of our love.

If you placed millions of dollars worth of advertising each year

You would follow the same principles that the major companies in the United States pursue—you would place it in the hands of reliable advertising agencies—experts who can guarantee that you will receive the most for your advertising dollar.

By what basis does a national advertising agency determine the advertising value of publications?

Possessing an accurate knowledge of how to get the best results from each dollar expended, an advertising expert considers these four cardinal points in rating a newspaper or any other advertising medium—

- 1—Paid-up Circulation.
- 2—How well it covers its territory.
- 3—Price of advertising per column inch or agate line, and
- 4—The buying power of the people it serves and its connection with the product being advertised.

You—Mr. Merchant Can Very Wisely Adopt the same Advertising Principles

Make a close investigation of the circulation of a newspaper before spending your advertising dollar—ascertain the number of families that newspaper reaches—Families that are prospective customers—determine the price per column inch you will pay—Find out the actual standing of that newspaper with your clientele. Spend your advertising money wisely so that you will receive value for every dollar you spend.

The Rowan County News, Established 43 Years Ago, Invites Your Close Inspection and Comparison

This newspaper asks that you carefully check its circulation—its standing in the community—the territory it serves and how its advertising columns can serve you—then make a comparison—

OVER 3,300 SUBSCRIBERS — ALMOST 3 TIMES THE CIRCULATION REACHED BY ANY OTHER PUBLICATION IN ROWAN COUNTY

The high esteem with which the columns of this newspaper are held by the people of this section of Kentucky is forcibly and undeniably explained with the matter of fact record that the Rowan County News has over 3,300 subscribers, almost three times as much circulation as any other publication in Rowan County. Yet the advertising rates have not been raised for local merchants—in other words an advertisement placed in this newspaper is worth almost three times as much as that placed in any other publication in this county.

The Rowan County News reaches eighty-five percent of the homes of this county and also has a large circulation in Elliott, Morgan, Fleming, Bath, Menifee and Carter Counties—all of which is in a shopping radius of Morehead. Ninety percent of the 3,300 subscribers on the Rowan County News's lists are in a territory within 25 miles of Morehead.

There must be a reason why the people prefer the Rowan County News. For 43 years it has been their newspaper and each year that has passed has seen the circulation lists increase.

WE INVITE YOU, MR. MERCHANT, TO CAREFULLY INVESTIGATE AND THEN MAKE A COMPARISON.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a museum in Paris or somewhere where there is a lot of skeletons of animals. A Frenchman was showing some Americans friends through this here museum, and he was trying to impress the visitors with Napoleon. Every once in a while he would claim that something he was showing them was connected with Napoleon. So he comes to a horse's skeleton, and he says, "Now, that there is the skeleton of the horse Napoleon rode in all his great victories. The horse's name was Pat. I believe, and he was almost as brave as his rider."

So the Americans didn't pay much attention, but one of them said, "Say, what about the skeleton over there of a little animal? Right there, beside Pat. Looks like a cat or a dog or something."

"Ah, that, too my friends, is connected with the history of the glorious Napoleon! That is, in fact, the skeleton of Pat when he was a colt, brave and true!"

Forest Service Has New Radio

Kentucky's Unemployment Compensation Commission has been administering its affairs at an annual cost approximately $110,000 less than granted it by the Social Security Board at Washington, an examination of the administration costs of the commission reveals.

During two years of the Commission's operation beginning January 1, 1937, and ending December 31, 1938, the Social Security Board approved and granted to the Kentucky Commission a total of $710,198.90, for administration expenses. During this two year period the commission expended but $488,561.37 for all purposes, or $221,637.53 less than the amount which had been approved for its use by the Social Security Board.

This saving made by the Commission however does not accrue for further use by the commission. All money received by the Commission from the Social Security Board which remains unexpended at the close of each year is returned to the federal treasury.

The record made by the commission in keeping its administration costs at such a low figure is one of the best made by any unemployment compensation agency in the states or territories.

the Forest Service Radio Laboratory at Portland, Oregon, reports that Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This standby unit has been developed for the new Type T ultra-high frequency radio set, which is a semi-portable outfit operating on 30,000 to 40,000 kilocycles. Any forest service ultra-high frequency radio set, however, even the lightest $418 portable, can call a lookout or other station equipped with this bell-ringing device. . . Extensive field tests over a period of six months indicate that it is exceedingly simple and fool-proof. A. G. Simpson, Forest Service Radio Engineer, prophesies that the new device soon will have practical use in many of the National Forests.

Planned primarily for use at fire lookout towers, ranger and dis-er stations, this device will eliminate the constant noise from loudspeakers when operators are "stand-by" — a noise especially annoying during telephone conversations.

Lookouts and other forest officers will no longer need to stay close to their radio sets waiting for calls, as the device may be adjusted to ring the bell if a night-look for fires in their territory is required. A series of code-rings are possible when several stations are included in any one Forest Service network. . . Less expenditure is involved in this bell-ringing system than in the usual loudspeaker development according to the Forest Service. . . The battery consumption is so low that 24-hour operation can be afforded. It is believed that this is the first time that bell-ringing has been incorporated in light portable, dry-battery operated, radio equipment.

Goodness thinks no ill where no series of code-rings are possible

The FEUD at SINGLE SHOT

By Luke Short

When they were clear of the canyon again, they headed south for Soledad. Neither of them talked. They picked up the trail that led past the D Bar T and Laredo led his bay mare the pace.

Chuck's voice yanked him out of his thoughts. "Listen! Weren't those shots?"

"Shots? I never heard them. Where from?"

"To the south and a little west." That would be the turnpike place. Laredo spurred his horse into a long lope.

"We'll take a paaser, Chuck. Cmon," he called.

When they approached the D Bar T, the place was dark. Laredo reined up by the Corral.

"Let's look around." They dismounted and approached the house. The house loomed blankly, silently, before them.

Laredo cut up to the back door and listened. Nothing. He walked off to the side and listened again.

A soft groan came from the front of the house. Laredo drew a man and warily walked around to the corner of the house and stopped.

Again the groan. "And you never saw 'em? Never saw their horses?"

blood, face" down. He turned him over.

"Rourke," he said quietly. "One of them nestlers?"

Laredo turned the man over. "He's done for," he told Chuck, but the nester moved a little.

"Who is it?" the nester asked in a weak, feeble whisper.

"Laredo Jackson. What happened, Rourke?"

"They tried to fire—come—two of 'em—I—come—Turns—about like Dark. Saw—both scatter—coil oil—leaves. They cut down—me. Took my gun."

"Which way did they ride?" Laredo asked him.

"I couldn't tell," Rourke whispered.

"Hurt bad?" Laredo asked gently.

"Bad as hell," Rourke whispered.

Nothing. He walked off to the side and listened again.

"And you never saw 'em? Never saw their horses?"

"I thought it was Turner, I spoke right out, and they both opened up me. Don't remember much. One of 'em kicked me in face, and laughed, and took my gun."

"Didn't he say nothing?"

"Something about wonderin' if he'd take it—out a favo table—instead of money."

"What did he call the nany he spoke to?"

There was no answer. Laredo poured more water down Rourke's open mouth. The man did not move.

"He's dead!" he said quietly.

Laredo went back to Chuck. "I'm going with you, wherever that is," Chuck told him.

"It's Single Shot. That's the only place there's fero tables close."

Martin Quinn stood among the swirling puffs of tobacco smoke. His face was still, impassive. It was a big night for the Free Throw and the saloon was noisy with the crowd.

He felt a hand on his sleeve and looked up to see one of the house-men beside him holding out a folded slip of paper. Unfolding it with one hand, he read:

"Come to hotel room at once."Who gave it to you?" he asked as the houseman turned away.

"Dunno. Somebody left it with Mike at the bar."

"Get Rover," Quinn said quietly

Rover was the owner of the Free Throw. The man melted through the crowd.

Presently a bald heavy man past middle age with a big diamond on the checked tie that he wore with an even gaudier suit, made his way to Quinn's side.

"Want me?" he asked. "What's the matter? Trouble?"

Quinn did not look up from the box. "No trouble."

"I'm quittin', Rover," Quinn continued. "Check me out."

Rover stared at him. "What's the matter? Ain't I treatin' you right?"

"So kick at it," Quinn said easily. "Better get a houseman. I want to talk to you."

The owner shouted for a man and he and Quinn sought a quiet corner.

"Now what's this all about?" Rover asked.

Quinn pulled out his billfold, took out a card and silently handed it to Rover. The great bushy eyebrows of the owner raised as he read it.

He saw Quinn a searching look. "What is it, trouble?"

"I think so," Quinn answered quietly.

The saloon owner cursed, not without a grim smile however.

Quinn sauntered through the crowd into the dance-hall, skirted the floor and stemmed out the side entrance. He took the note and read it again.

"The writing was not the same as that on the two notes Rover had seen him."

He walked slowly over to the hotel, a serowl wrinkling his forehead. The clerk greeted him and reached for his key.

"Seventeen, isn't it, Mr. Quinn?"

"It's sixteen," Quinn accepted, accepting the key.

The clerk looked at him puzzled, then looked at the register. "No it's empty."

"I want it," Quinn said. The clerk was about to speak, but a look at Quinn stopped him.

"I want the key to the door that connects seventeen and sixteen, too," the gambler said.

The clerk shook his head. "I'm afraid it's lost, Mr. Quinn."

Quinn looked on the key to sixteen; and headed for the stairs. Quinn paused and removed his shoes. Then he continued down the hall.

Room seventeen, his own room was on the back corner around a small L in the hall. He tipped down the fire exit and he himself noiselessly into room sixteen, which was next to his own.

Then he set about working. He put on his shoes, because the carpet made his movements noiseless. Then, working in the dark, he got a towel and soaked it in the pitcher of water.

He put on his shoes, because the carpet made his movements noiseless. Then, working in the dark, he got a towel and soaked it in the pitcher of water.

He quickly took the ten steps in the corridor to room seventeen inserted the key softly, unlocked the door, swung it open and stepped in side.

The room was dark except for the kerosene flame burning brightly against the connecting door. A tall rawboned man in range clothes with nearly white hair was kneeling before the flames trying to slip them out with his bare hands.

Behind him stood Winters, holding out a wet towel.

"Good evening, gentlemen," Quinn drawled.

"The hell," he whirled instantly.

"You sent for me, I believe?"

It took a half second for the two men to realize the situation. Winters, with a start, hurried the towel at Quinn's head. But the gambler had anticipated that. His gun exploded at Winters.

When the wet towel struck Quinn in the face and wrapped around his head, he plucked at it frantically, waiting for the shots from Winters' companion, but they did not come.

When he wrenched the towel off the room was in darkness. He waited a tense second, then struck a match. By it, he saw that Winters had fallen against the door, slid down it and extinguished the flames.

"Get the second man was gone. The window was open, and from a badly embedded hook in the window frame, a rope trailed out the open window. He saw the rope move and ran to the window. He heard a body drop, then the sound of running feet.

Quinn swung out the window and disappeared down the rope.

In town, Laredo paused just long enough to tell Chuck: "You stay out the way, I'm handlin' the shooter from tonight."

They swung into the crowded hitchrack in front of the Mile High.

Laredo stared at the corner and worked up, examining every saddle horse at the rack. Far down the line, he came to a blue horse and he stopped. The horse was breathing hard. It was wet with sweat.

He struck a match, knelt down and began to examine the ground under the horse. Some shiny object caught his eye and he picked it up. It was an empty .38 caliber shell.

He stalked up, in front of the saloon doors at the hitchrack a team and buckboard stood. Laredo swung up over the endgate and faced the saloon.

Above the swinging doors the lights stretched out in a diminishing row of three.

Chuck on the sidewalk saw Laredo draw a gun, then the little foreman lifted his hat.

"Yee-oo-eee!" His blood-curdling cry split the night air and he pronounced it with three swift shots through the door of the Mile High that winked out their lights, leaving pandemonium inside.

come to an abrupt stop before the blue. "Get offa that horse. That blue is mine!"

Laredo hesitated. "Why so it is, he said mildly.

He swung off slowly, then pivoted around to ram a gun barrel in the belly of the man.

Laredo ordered softly.

On the sidewalk, in the dim street light.

Laredo looked the man over, then reached out and pulled a gun from where it was wedged in the man's belt. It was a Smith and Wesson .28 with a chip off its plated butt.

The men who had swarmed out of the saloon stopped now and formed a loose circle about the two men.

"I won that in a poker game," the man blustered.

Laredo backed away from his slowly, his gun steady and ominous.

"Now tell 'em you lie," Laredo drawled thickly. "Before I cut you off pocket-high, tell 'em you got the gun from Rourke, a man you killed and then kicked in the face."

The Safety Sensation of 1939!

THE NEW Firestone CHAMPION

The Only Tire Made with the NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY and NEW GEAR-GRIP TREAD.

NEVER before in our experience has a tire met with such instant and unanimous approval as the new Firestone Champion Tire. It's the Safety Sensation of 1939! Our customers have started a word-of-mouth campaign that is making this the biggest selling tire we've ever had. Already we are reordering to meet the demand.

The marvelous gripping power of this amazing new tire, so dramatically demonstrated in actual use has swept it to amazing heights of popularity. Motor car manufacturers have been so impressed by its superior performance that they have adopted it for their 1939 models.

Why? Because the Firestone Champion Tire is an entirely new achievement in safety engineering.

Stronger Cord Body. This is accomplished first, by the use of a completely new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to assure cord running and provide greater strength. Then, the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves, are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping which provides amazingly greater strength. And greater strength means greater safety.

More Non-Skid Mileage. The new Safety-Lock cord construction provides the extra strength needed for the use of the new, thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip tread which delivers remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design — it has more than 3,000 sharp-edged angles which grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and assure a safe stop.

You need this extra non-skid safety and blowout protection and you need it NOW! Drive in today and equip your car with a new set of Firestone Champion Tires—the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

Listen to the Voice of Firestone with Richard Crooks, Listen to the Firestone Voice of the Form—Everett Harwood Sports and Alfred Wallenda, Havelly Mitchell Interview a Champion Farmer each week evenings over Nettlesville N. ## Two Games Remain On Local Card of Morehead are expected to be present for that match inasmuch as the game stacks up as a natural. Morehead High is favored over Breck although the Eagles have, in the past, been a good tournament team. It is doubtful if Buddy Judd, Breck forward, who was injured in the Olive Hill game will be able to play.

Morehead lost a game to Louisa during the week while Breck dropped a decision to Inez and were "noosed out" at Pikeville.

The Morehead state Teachers College with a complete revamped lineup looked good in conquering Holbrook here Monday 51-27. The Morehead varsity and freshmen also scored over Wednesday.

James Ishmael, John Wiggins and Ed Kiser, all of whom played not being started this year, paved the attack against Holbrook.
