FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Some individuals may claim one of two tax credits for higher education when filing 1999 federal tax returns. These credits, Hope and Lifetime Learning, are based on qualified tuition and related expenses paid by a student, spouse or a dependent claimed on the 1999 tax return.

To assist eligible individuals, Morehead State University has mailed a substitute Form 1098-T, Tuition Payments Statement, which provides information necessary to apply for credit on one's federal income tax return.

The University suggests that individuals who file their own tax return should obtain a copy of various Internal Revenue Service publications: 508, Educational Expenditures; 970, Tax Benefits for Higher Education; 4, Student's Guide to Federal Income Tax, and Form 8863, Education Credits (Hope and Lifetime Learning Credits). These publications and forms are available without charge by calling 1-800-829-3676 or from the IRS web site at http://www.irs.gov/forms\_pubs/.

If you were an MSU student at any time during the 1999 calendar year, you may be eligible for the credits. Any student with a valid PIN number, may view/print from their personal account at <http://www.moreheadstate.edu> by selecting "campus users" then "students." An individual's financial account may provide the details for filing for this deduction.

If you have questions about the Tuition Payments Statement, contact MSU's Office of Accounting and Budgetary Control, at (606) 783-2019.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University faculty members and students presented research results at the 85th annual meeting of the Kentucky Academy of Science held recently in Richmond.

Dr. Darrin DeMoss, assistant professor of biology, presented a poster in the physiology and biochemistry section of the conference where Dr. Carol Wymer, also an assistant professor of biology, was a poster presenter in the cellular and molecular biology section.

Dr. Joe E. Winstead, chair of the Department of Biological and Environmental Sciences, Dr. Allen Risk, associate professor of biology, and Dr. Wymer co-authored a paper presentation in the botany and microbiology section. Kim Feeman, a Campton graduate student, co-authored a paper with Dr. Risk in that same section.

In addition, Brian Gross, a Morehead senior biology major, presented a paper he co-authored with Dr. Risk that was a part of the botany and microbiology session. Gross was chosen as a third place winner in the undergraduate paper presentation competition.

Mike Garrett, a Morehead graduate student, was a presenter in the zoology and entomology section at the annual meeting.

Dr. Winstead was one of 60 presidents of national biological societies to be sponsored by the Packard Foundation at the 1999 American Institute of Biological Societies Presidential Summit that was held in November in Fairfax, Va. He represented the Southern Appalachian Botanical Society as president-elect at this gathering, which involved the development of 11 agenda items deemed to be important areas of focus for the beginning of the next century.

This was the 50th annual meeting of the institute, which serves as an umbrella organization of 65 biological societies with a collective membership of 150,000 members. Included in the agenda items was undergraduate curriculum, biodiversity programs, university outreach programs for secondary and elementary schools and new research program development.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Learning to create your own body products is the focus of a class that will be offered by Morehead State University's Office of Continuing Education this semester.

The basics of aromatherapy class will run Feb. 8 through April 18 on Tuesdays from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. in Waterfield Hall's conference room 3. The instructor, Kim Rice, who owns Little Horse Spirit Works in Morehead, will introduce participants to the history and modern science behind aromatherapy, in addition to its practical benefits.

Class members will learn how to create creams, shampoos, soaps and body oils in their own home while using natural and healthy ingredients. Each session of the 10-week class is geared to a particular theme. For example, session five deals with eyes, lips, teeth and nails, while the seventh and eighth sessions cover bath time.

There is a fee of $50 to participate. Additional information and registration are available by calling (606) 783-2875.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University theatre students will present Frank McGuinness' adaptation of Sophocles' "Electra," Tuesday through Sunday, Feb. 22-27, in Kibbey Theatre on the campus.

Showtime is 8 p.m. nightly, except for Sunday, which is 2 p.m.

The play will be directed by Dr. Travis Lockhart, MSU director of theater, who describes this production as a classic Greek drama of murder and revenge that mirrors the tragic events of today's headlines. "Orestes and his sister Electra seek to avenge the murder of their father, Agemnon, at the hands of their mother, Clytemnestra and her lover, Aegisthus. A family is torn apart and the assassins also are victims in a brutal world where vengeance has replaced justice," he said.

Dale Marie Prenatt, a Buffalo Creek, W.Va., sophomore, is the production stage manager; Elizabeth Payne, South Point, Ohio, senior, is the set designer; Gina Hays, McKee senior, is the properties designer. Kristopher Castle, a Lowmansville junior, is the costume designer and Phillip Ponder, a Crittenden senior, is the sound designer.

Dr. Mark E. Mallett, MSU assistant technical director, and Chris Kennedy, Newark, Ohio, junior, co-designed the lights.

Tickets for the play are $6 for adults, $2 for senior citizens and children and free to MSU students with a valid I.D. card. Reservations are necessary because of limited seating.

Additional information is available by calling MSU's Theatre Box Office at (606) 783-2170.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will join in the observance of Eating Disorders Awareness Week (EDAW), Feb. 10-18, in a number of activities sponsored by the Epsilon Theta Chapter of Chi Omega fraternity.

The 1990 documentary, "A Season in Hell," made by film maker Walter Brock of Louisville, will be shown Thursday, Feb. 10, at 7 p.m. in East Room A of the Adron Doran University Center. It tells the story of Regina Hatfield, a 1994 graduate of MSU, who was engaged in an overwhelming battle with the eating disorder bulimia nervosa. The 57-minute film follows the dramatic and relentless course of Hatfield's illness from its onset during her freshman year of high school through her college years.

Dr. Hatfield, now a dentist and an assistant professor of prosthodontics at the University of Kentucky College of Dentistry, will share her experiences on Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 7 p.m. in the Crager Room, ADUC. In her presentation, entitled "Escape from Hell: Reclaiming My Life," she will speak about her recovery from bulimia nervosa after a nine-year struggle with the eating disorder that resulted in three hospitalizations and brought her near death.

A native of Raceland, she received a Bachelor of Science degree from MSU, a D.M.D. degree with specialty training in prosthodontics from the University of Louisville School of Dentistry, and further sub-specialty training in maxillofacial prosthodontics at Columbia University and the Bronx Veterans Affairs Medical Center. Dr. Hatfield taught at Columbia University School of Dental and Oral Surgery for two years and at Case Western Reserve University for one year immediately following her training.

"Regina has been able to overcome her eating disorder with the help of her friends, a support group called Helping Ourselves with Problem Eating, her family and the skills she learned during her periods of hospitalization and treatment for Bulimia Nervosa," said Mary Jo Netherton, associate professor of French and chapter adviser to Chi Omega.

(MORE)

In other activities, Judy Krug, student wellness coordinator, will conduct an eating disorders screening on Wednesday, Feb. 16. The activity will run from 4 to 6 p.m. in East Rooms A and B, ADUC.

The members of Chi Omega will present "Walking Shadows II" Thursday, Feb. 17, at 7 p.m. in the boardroom of the Rowan County Board of Education building, located at 121 East Second Street in Morehead. The effects of eating disorders on the lives of nine different individuals will be portrayed in this production. A reception, featuring healthy foods, will follow.

The organization's members will collect used jeans for the Great Jeans Giveaway Friday, Feb. 18, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., on the second floor of the ADUC. The motto for the day will be "Don't fight your genes, just change your jeans!"

Everyone is encouraged to bring jeans that don't fit to the booth outside the cafeteria in ADUC, Netherton said. The jeans collected will be donated to the Rowan County Senior High School Youth Service Center: Project Breakthrough.

The activities for EDAW are free and open to the public. Additional information is available from Netherton at (606) 783-2779.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---To celebrate February as Black History Month, Morehead State University's Minority Student Services has organized several activities.

"To me Black History Month is every day," said Peggy Overly, Minority Student Services coordinator who arranged the activities. "It is important for people to recognize those who have made contributions to the world."

To kick off the celebration, Tyree Gaines, an MSU alumnus from Covington, will be the featured speaker on Sunday, Feb. 6, at 3 p.m. in East Room B in the Adron Doran University Center (ADUC).

Movie night has been designated for Tuesday, Feb. 8, in the Commonwealth Room, ADUC. The film "Down in the Delta" will begin at 8 p.m.

A talent show, that will feature a variety of presentations including poetry readings and duets, is slated for Wednesday, Feb. 9. The activities begin at 7 p.m., also in the Commonwealth Room.

A viewing of the History Channel's movie "Save Our History: The Underground Railroad," will highlight the events for Monday, Feb. 15. The documentary, which begins at 7 p.m. in the Commonwealth Room, includes appearances by Dr. Stuart Sprague, an MSU retired professor of history, Jerry Gore, executive director of the National Underground Railroad Museum in Maysville and former director of minority student affairs at MSU, and Overly.

Competition will be the order of the evening at the Black History Quiz Bowl. The contest, which will offer an opportunity to brush up on past events and people, is set for Tuesday, Feb. 16, at 7 p.m. in the Eagle Dining Room, ADUC.

Ken Alexander, an MSU alumnus who works in international marketing, will present "Show Me the Money: A Blueprint for Financial Success" on Thursday, Feb. 17. The Tucson, Ariz., resident, will begin his talk at 7 p.m. in the Commonwealth Room.

The African-African American Professional Coalition, a campus organization for faculty and staff members, will sponsor a "Salute to African American History" on Sunday, Feb. 20, at 5 p.m. in the Crager Room, ADUC. The evening's entertainment will be provided by a jazz trio and a quartet.

A movie and discussion are slated for Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 7 p.m. in the Commonwealth Room. Participants will view the short film "Psychological Residuals of Slavery" which will serve as the center of the dialogue.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Three Morehead State University faculty members have been awarded a grant that will allow students to participate in a statewide technology conference.

Seven students who are majoring in education will attend the Kentucky Teaching and Learning Conference, formerly known as the Kentucky Education Technology Conference, March 3-4. During the conference, the students will present technology projects they have developed and have used or plan to use in a classroom setting.

"This year, the focus is more on the classroom teacher and how technology can assist students in being more successful," said Dr. Phyllis Oakes, professor of education. She and Dr. Cathy Barlow, interim dean of the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences, and Dr. Lesia Lennex, assistant professor of education, are the grant recipients.

While attending the conference, the students will have the opportunity to attend the sessions and visit the exhibitor hall to learn the latest in technology-infused products for teachers, according to Dr. Oakes. "They may test equipment and talk with vendors about their contracts with the state," she said.

The $4,480 grant, funded by the Commercial Bank Foundation, will provide assistance to pre-service teachers to meet the New Teacher Standard IX, which demonstrates how teachers use technology in the classroom, Dr. Barlow said. The Commercial Bank Foundation's primary goal is to provide scholarships for graduates from East and West Carter County high schools.

"We train the teachers that go to East Carter and West Carter and the elementary and middle schools in between," Dr. Barlow added.

In addition to providing funding for the students' conference registration fees, the grant also will cover transportation, housing and meals.

The MSU students will present their projects in a five-computer classroom at the conference. After the sessions, participants will have the opportunity to interact with the students and view their projects.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---It will be a race to the finish for Morehead State University's library staff with the CheckOut Challenge that is now under way.

Approximately 30 staff members in the Camden-Carroll Library are participating in a contest which allowed each of them to choose 10 books, videos, compact discs or a combination thereof, that they predict will have a high circulation rate, said Elsie Pritchard, assistant director for technical services and automation. Participants' picks are displayed on special shelves on the library's second floor.

Last semester, library staff members who were interested in the Challenge, the idea of Larry Besant, director of libraries, went to Joseph-Beth Booksellers in Lexington for an early morning tour, said Pritchard, who is coordinating the Challenge. The bookstore employees shared some of their picks and offered suggestions for displays.

Library participants could choose selections they wanted for the Challenge. Many got ideas during their visit to the bookstore. Titles were chosen from the library's collection including some new acquisitions.

The Challenge will end in December. Each time a library patron checks out a title from the CheckOut Challenge shelves, the staff member who chose the item gets credit.

"The purpose is to create a little bit of excitement about the library," Pritchard said. It also helps the library staff learn what titles patrons are likely to check out.

In December, the staff member with the highest number of checkouts on his or her picks will win $500.

Library patrons will have a chance to win prizes as well. All of the CheckOut Challenge items have yellow forms for patrons to complete and return. These forms will be used for prize drawings.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. Roma Prindle, Morehead State University associate professor of music, will present a faculty recital in voice on Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 8 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall on the campus.

Dr. Prindle will be joined in concert by MSU faculty members Robert Pritchard, associate professor, flutist; Adam Crane, visiting assistant professor, violinist; and Michael Acord, assistant professor, clarinetist. Assisting on the piano will be Mary Ellen McNeill, staff accompanist.

The program will include Henry Rowley Bishop's "Lo, here the gentle lark;" an aria from Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's opera "Il Re Pastore" for voice, violin and piano; Franz Schubert's "The Shepherd on the Rock" work for voice, clarinet and piano; Claude Debussy's "Chansons de Bilitis" and "Six Elizabethan Songs;" and a cycle by Dominick Argento, an American composer-in-residence at the University of Minnesota.

A native of Eastern Kentucky and a soprano, Dr. Prindle is a graduate of Transylvania University and holds both a Master of Music degree and Doctor of Musical Arts degree in vocal performance from Hartt School of Music in Hartford, Conn. She has been a faculty member in MSU's Department of Music since 1993.

Her concert and recital experience includes solo performances in 30 states and in Europe. She has performed with several American opera companies, including the Connecticut Opera, Opera Roanoke, Connecticut Concert Opera and Connecticut Opera Express. She was a regional finalist in the 1982 Metropolitan Opera National Auditions and in 1986 created the title role in Victoria Fullam's new opera "Mermaid" with the University of Minnesota Opera. She was a member of Goodspeed Opera's 1991 revival of "The Most Happy Fella" with Metropolitan Opera bass-baritone Spiro Malas.

The concert is free and open to the public. Additional information is available from Dr. Prindle at (606) 783-2481.

ADAPTATION OF GREEK PLAY WILL BE PERFORMED AT MSU

Frank McGuinness' adaptation of Sophocles' "Electra" will be the next production by Morehead State University theater students. The play is a classic Greek drama that includes murder and revenge, common in today's headlines. Rehearsing are Brooke Reed (kneeling), a Louisville junior, who plays Electra; LaDawna McIntyre, a Raceland sophomore, who plays Chrysothemis, and Tres Dean, a Tutor Key graduate student, who plays Orestes. Performances will be Tuesday through Saturday, Feb. 22-26, at 8 p.m. and Sunday, Feb. 27, at 2 p.m. in Kibbey Theatre on the campus. Tickets are $6 for adults, $2 for senior citizens and children and free to MSU students with a valid I.D. card. Reservations are necessary because of limited seating. Additional information is available by calling MSU's Theatre Box Office at (606) 783-2170.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Nominations are now being accepted for two awards to be given by Morehead State University to recognize both a faculty and staff member for outstanding service.

MSU's Service Committee is soliciting nominations for recipients of these awards not only from the University's faculty and staff, students and alumni, but also from the general public.

The deadline is 4 p.m. Monday, March 6, for submission of nominations for the Distinguished Faculty and Distinguished Staff Service awards, according to Joe Planck, committee chair.

To be eligible for the awards, the faculty or staff member must exemplify the highest ideals of citizenship and services. Information sheets with specific criteria may be obtained from Planck. He may be reached at (606) 783-2066.

Nominations should include name, address and telephone number(s) of nominee, along with a one-page letter detailing how the nominee meets the criteria. "All nominations will remain anonymous," Planck said.

All materials should be submitted to Chairperson, Service Committee, Morehead State University, UPO 831, Morehead, KY 40351-1689.

Presentation of the awards will be made during the University's Honors Convocation.

COMPARING NOTES

Eliminating binge drinking on the college campus is the thrust of a $249,000 grant awarded to Morehead State University by the U.S. Department of Education. Seven other schools in the state also will share the money that will be used to develop programs on each of the campuses. Gathering at Morehead State to discuss ways to combat the issue were Michalle Rice, left, from Eastern Kentucky University in Richmond, and program evaluator Betty Straub from East Carolina University. The grant, awarded through the Kentucky Network of Colleges and Universities, is committed to the elimination of drug and alcohol abuse.

CAMPUS LEADERS JOIN EFFORTS

The fight to reduce high-risk drinking among students has been identified as a goal of the leaders from eight colleges/universities. Through special programs funded by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education, these institutions will develop plans to assess the campus/community environment and develop and/or expand their campus coalition. To share resources and begin the process, representatives from each school gathered on the Morehead State University campus. Those attending the meeting were, from left, Dr. Ronald Eaglin, president of MSU; Laurie Todd, St. Catharine College; Stefan Turner, Kentucky State University; Bridget Wells, University of Kentucky; Michalle Rice, Eastern Kentucky University; Teresa Edmundson, Western Kentucky University; Josh Anderson, Campbellsville College; Judy Lyle, Murray State University; and Judy Krug, MSU. Dr. Eaglin is the project director of the $249,000 grant that is funding the Kentucky network.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Office of Continuing Education has announced a variety of classes that will begin in the coming weeks.

Amanda Caudill will teach beginning sign language on Monday evenings from Feb. 14 to May 1. The cost is $45 to attend the class that will meet from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Waterfield Hall conference center.

Starlet Roberts, MSU technology training coordinator, will instruct two computer classes to aid those who want to brush up on their software knowledge. On Monday evenings from March 20 to April 10, she will teach an introduction to Word 97, with an introduction to Excel 97 to be offered from April 17 to May 8.

The fee for each computer course is $45. The class will meet from 6 to 8 p.m. in 110 Ginger Hall.

For those interested in underwater adventures, the NAUI open-water scuba class to be taught by Herbert Booth, a NAUI scuba educator, should fit the bill.

The NAUI training will be divided into two segments with the first part slated for pool and classroom work. The dates are March 20 and 27, April 10, 17 and 24 and May 1. The fee is $170.

Those completing the first portion will be required to make five open water-training dives to receive a C card certification. The dives, which cost an additional $150, will take two days to complete and may be made in Cave Run Lake or Eagle Lake.

The fees include the use of tanks, BCDs, regulators and a weight belt. Participants must provide a mask, fins, snorkel, wetsuit boots and towels. New Horizons Dive Center on Regency Road in Lexington is offering a 10 percent discount to Booth's students.

Many professionals are called upon to speak publicly from time to time and Octavia Fleck wants to help hone those skills. A public speaking class will meet March 28-May 2 on Tuesdays from 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the Adron Doran University Center. The cost is $45.

Additional information and registration for the classes is available by calling Stephanie Evans in the Office of Continuing Education at (606) 783-2875.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Students at Morehead State University will participate in the Great Jeans Giveaway on Friday, Feb. 18, to help put a stop to eating disorders.

Eating Disorders Awareness and Prevention, Inc., one of the nation's largest non-profit organization devoted to the awareness and prevention of eating disorders, and the MSU chapter of Chi Omega joined together to influence the public to think twice about the fit vs. fashion dilemma, and the pressures of our 'thin is in' culture's unattainable standards of beauty," said Mary Jo Netherton, state EDAP coordinator and an associate professor of French at MSU.

The jeans project is being held in conjunction with National Eating Disorders Awareness Week, Feb 12-19, which was established in 1987 by EDAP to help create a world where a person's value is not weighed in pounds on a scale—a world where self-esteem is rooted in character and accomplishments rather than the size of one's jeans."

The Great Jeans Giveaway slogan reminds people, "Don't fight your genes, just change your jeans." Chi Omega members will collect "jeans that are in good condition but don't fit anymore," Netherton said.

Jean collection will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the second floor of the Adron Doran University Center. Name brand jeans will be sold to consignment stores to raise money for EDAP and other jeans will be given to the Rowan County Senior High School Youth Services Center/Project Breakthrough.

Additional information on the Great Jeans Giveaway is available from Netherton at (606) 783-2779.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---It did not take long for Gregg Thomas to get hooked on his hobby. In fact, it has become his profession.

Thomas, a Morehead State University junior from Frenchburg, is an advertising/public relations major who spends all of his time fishing when he's away from school. He fishes for fun, for work and for big prizes.

Fishing plays a big part in his life. Thomas works as a guide at Cave Run Lake in Rowan County, writes articles for fishing magazines and conducts seminars on muskie fishing throughout the Midwest for the different chapters of Muskie, Inc.

"I found out there was no money in guiding and (writing and conducting seminars) are a good marketing tool, a way to get my name out there," Thomas said.

Recently, he and his fishing partner of four years, Dave Grochowski, won the Professional Musky Tournament Trail's season-ending tournament invitational on Lake Kincaid in Illinois' Shawnee National Forest for which they receive a prize of $12,000.

In addition, they received the PMTT Top Gun award, which paid them $2,550.

To win the tournament, they caught two fish, one that was 37 and one half inches and the other 37 inches. They received the Top Gun award for having the most number of points compiled throughout the tournament year.

Teams receive 30 points for a 34-inch fish, one point for every quarter inch after that and 10 points for properly releasing the fish.

Thomas began fishing when he was 12-years-old. This, however, was his first year to compete in a for-money tournament.

The fun and excitement of fishing has kept him interested for all these years and continues to do so, he noted. After graduation, "I want to do something in the fishing business, something related," he said.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Department of Music and its faculty have been recognized for their achievements and this quality transfers to their students.

"I just won the Intercollegiate Composers Competition," said Barry Milner, a Cynthiana senior. The son of Roy and Donna Milner, he is a music theory and composition major.

Fellow student Scott Corbin, a Morehead senior, commissioned Milner to compose a piece for a recital. Corbin, a music major, performed "Nocturne" last year.

After the recital, and with the encouragement of professors, Milner entered his composition in the Intercollegiate Composers Competition, which is sponsored by the Kentucky Music Educators Association. About a month after he sent in his application, score and a recording of Corbin's recital, he received a letter informing him that he was the winner.

"I about lost it when I found out that I won," he said. His award-winning composition will be performed at the annual KMEA convention in February. The work also was performed at the Kentucky Center for the Arts earlier this month.

Milner describes his work as dark in nature. "In the end," he said, "it has an outcome that is not bleak, but triumphant." It calls for an oboe, clarinet, two violins, a cello, a piano and a solo euphonium. Corbin plays euphonium.

Milner has entered other competitions for the exposure. "Why not get your name out there, go for it?"

"It can be nerve racking sometimes, but I think it can be exciting," Milner said.

In the fall, he plans to pursue a master's degree the North Carolina School for the Arts. After earning a master's degree, Milner wants to enter a doctoral program to become a professor of music. He also is interested in writing film scores.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ASHLAND, Ky.---Morehead State University's Ashland Small Business Development Center and the Ashland Alliance will present a customer service workshop on Wednesday, Feb. 16.

The session, "A Game Plan For Quality Customer Service," will run from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at MSU's Ashland Area Extended Campus Center, at 1401 Winchester Ave. in Ashland.

Because of limited seating, pre-registration is necessary. There is a $50 fee for the workshop which includes breakfast and lunch.

Conducting the session will be Dennis J. Illien, senior vice president of marketing and sales at Community Trust Bank.

Topics to be covered include: basic customer service, customer relation skills and techniques, how to listen and ask questions, handling objections and dealing with complaints.

All training programs, sponsored or co-sponsored by SBDC, are available to all individuals without regard to race, color, sex, creed or national origin. Special arrangements for the disabled will be made if requested in advance.

Additional information and registration are available by calling (606) 329-8011.

PREPARING FOR THE TELEVISION APPEARANCE

Morehead State University's bowling team was among 16 teams invited to participate in The Nashville Network's Rockin' Bowl which was taped at the All-American Sports Park in Las Vegas. The show will air on Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 8 p.m. on TNN. Before heading off to the competition, a two-person crew, cameraman Kort Waddell and sound person David Stewart, visited the MSU campus for informal shots of the bowlers. Selecting a hat at the University Bookstore was Jessica DeCrescente, a Mechanicville, N.Y., sophomore, who received encouragement from Larry Wilson, the team's coach.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Bowling may be fun and competitive, but challenging is the only way to describe bowling from a recliner. Just ask the bowling team at Morehead State University.

They also know about bowling in the dark with "glowing" pins, speed and relay bowling, bowling backwards and answering questions about the sport.

MSU's team was among 16 teams invited to Las Vegas to compete in The Nashville Network's "Rockin' Bowl." The first round of the competition, which also includes regular bowling, will air on Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 8 p.m. on TNN. It will be repeated on Friday, Feb. 18, beginning at 11 p.m.

To prepare for the broadcast, a camera crew visited the MSU campus in November and taped each of the bowlers in informal settings, in class and while interacting with teammates. These features will be interspersed throughout the telecast.

Participating in the competition were Stacey Bokina, Peconic, N.Y., senior; Robin Crawford, Hendersonville, Tenn., junior; Jessica DeCrescente, Mechanicville, N.Y., sophomore; James Hilligas Jr., Madison, N.J., junior; Charles Isaacs, Springfield, Ohio, senior; and Jake Robbins, Greenbank, N.J., freshman. The team's coach is Larry Wilson; Bobby Brown is the assistant coach.

Rockin' Bowl, which will continue through May 2, is a weekly bowling series featuring some of the nation's top collegiate bowlers. Teams compete for bragging rights and nearly $50,000 in scholarship money for their school's bowling clubs.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Ten Morehead State University students will participate in the 2000 conference of the national associations of African American, Hispanic and Latino, Native American and Asian studies in Houston, Texas, Feb. 21-26.

According to Dr. Lemuel Berry Jr., dean of MSU's Caudill College of Humanities and executive director and founder of the organizations, "The conference is the only one of its nature in the United States which brings professionals together to present papers, seminars and workshops related to people of the four largest minority groups."

Congressman John Conyers of Michigan and Daphne Kwok, national executive director of the Organization of Chinese Americas, will be among the featured speakers. Special activities range from an international book fair sponsored by Barnes & Noble to a Native American drum and dance ensemble, a mariachi band and a jazz performance.

The students will work at the registration desk and book fair and act as moderators at the sessions. "They will be able to interact with students from other universities and meet scholars who represent colleges and universities from across the United States and 30 foreign countries," Dr. Berry noted.

The MSU students participating in this year's conference are: Thudchapong Abhigantaphand, Bangkok, Thailand, graduate student; Allison Forman, Morehead junior; Dongmei Liu, Beijing, China, sophomore; Fang Liu, Beijing, China, graduate student; Muhammed Shedie, Bahamas sophomore; Yolanda Stone, Louisville junior; Sandra Tinajero, Quito, Ecuador, senior; Sun Weihong, Huaiyin, China, graduate student; Alexa Woell, Mulheim, Germany, senior; and Xi Yunwu, Beijing, China, graduate student.

Additional information on the conference is available from the Caudill College of Humanities at (606) 783-2650.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Prevent Child Abuse America has recognized a Morehead State University professor for his dedication to the prevention of child abuse.

In one of his first jobs after college, Ted Marshall, a professor of social work, was employed in a maximum-security juvenile delinquent institution. "These were great teenagers, but they had so many problems," he said.

Ever since then, he has been working in prevention to help children. For that work, Prevent Child Abuse America awarded him the Donna J. Stone Award. The award was named for Stone who founded the organization in 1972 and worked with it until her death in 1985.

"Receiving the award is very humbling," Marshall said. "It's an extreme honor."

Prevention is the solution to child abuse, according to Marshall. The key is to educate people early in life—"do things for parents and children before they leave the hospital (after a child's birth)."

Marshall speaks and conducts workshops nationwide and leads a support group for women who were sexually abused as children. He has developed a program to help inmate fathers become better parents before they are released.

"If we can prevent children from going through the pain and suffering, it's worth it. That motivates me and I see good results," he said.

With more than 27 years in the profession, Marshall credits his work outside the classroom, in prisons, with state agencies and other groups, with making him a better teacher. "It keeps me fresh. It's my responsibility (as a professor) to do that," he said.

An MSU faculty member since 1977, Marshall is heavily involved in community and statewide human service organizations. He was a co-author of a federal grant that contributed more than $50,000 to the MSU Training Resource Center that provides continuing education to child welfare workers and foster families in the region.

An Ohio native, he earned his bachelor's degree in social work and political science from Eastern Kentucky University and his master's degree in social work and human services from the University of Kentucky.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---To be more accessible to students, the graduate office at Morehead State University will extend its hours beginning March 1.

The Office of Graduate Programs, located in 701 Ginger Hall, will be open Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. On Fridays, the office will maintain an 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. schedule.

"We realize that a lot of our graduate students have jobs and other responsibilities that make it a hardship to call or stop by our office during our regular hours," said Susan Maxey, coordinator of graduate programs. "We are hopeful that the extended hours will alleviate some of the stress from their lives."

Additional information on MSU's 16 degree programs and 18 certification programs for graduate students is available from Maxey by calling (606) 783-2039.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Developing good eating habits may not be easy, but Morehead State University dietetic students want to help.

Under the direction of Dr. Brenda Malinauskas, assistant professor of nutrition/human sciences, junior- and senior-level dietetic students will provide nutrition counseling for weight loss, weight gain, and establishing healthy eating habits at MSU's Wellness Center Monday, Feb. 21-Friday, April 7.

The students enrolled in a diet therapy class have been doing nutrition assessments in class. They also have taken classes to prepare them to be nutrition counselors. "They've gotten the background in three other classes with me," Dr. Malinauskas said.

Interested parties may complete an assessment sheet and make an appointment at the Wellness Center. The initial assessment will take 45 minutes to one hour and follow-up appointments will be approximately 25 minutes each.

"The students as counselors will determine if they need to do a follow up or not," Dr. Malinauskas said. The follow up may be an in-person appointment but also may be completed by e-mail or a telephone call.

Although there is no charge for this service, contributions ($5 recommended) will be accepted to benefit the Broken Wing Foundation for Tony Baker. Donations may be given to any nutrition counselor.

Additional information is available from Kim Rase, a student nutrition counselor, by e-mail at krrase01@morehead-st.edu.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Office of Retention wants to ensure that minority students have the GUSTO it takes to make the transition to university life.

The GUSTO (Guiding Undergraduate Students Toward Opportunities) program pairs freshmen with faculty or staff mentors. "Mentors get to relax with students and share a part of their personal life, which is unusual," said William Salazar, minority retention specialist.

Having a mentor gives students an unbiased opinion when faced with a decision, said Nic Wilson, a Somerset sophomore and GUSTO participant. "It's also a friendly face to see."

As a freshman, Wilson did not know many people on campus. "It was nice to walk around and see a professor that you know outside the classroom."

His relationship with his mentor, Dr. Ric Caric, associate professor of government, is different than a regular professor-student connection, said Wilson. "It's more like he's a friend of the family; he's helped me make it through some tough times."

The GUSTO program accepts up to 50 incoming freshmen each school year, Salazar said. Minority students who have a high school grade point average of 2.0 or higher are eligible to participate in the program.

"Mentoring students is a modest business in most cases because students are defining themselves and don't want a lot of input from people like myself who are 25 years older," Dr. Caric said. "Nic is a smart, ambitious guy. I provide some information to him concerning various outlets for his ambitions."

Wilson said he would like to be a part of several organizations on campus. "I just can't find time for everything." He is executive vice president of the Student Government Association, sergeant-at-arms of the Black Student Coalition and a member of the Societas Pro Legibus pre-law society.

Additional information on the GUSTO program is available from Salazar at (606) 783-5195.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Motorists on the Morehead State University campus will soon experience a change in the driving pattern when traveling in the area of the Mignon Complex.

Signs will be posted indicating the new traffic flow, according to Gary Lanham, interim director of public safety. "The main thing is for people to pay attention to the signage," he said.

Traffic will be reversed through the Mignon Complex residence hall area beginning Monday, Feb. 21. A right turn is now possible when leaving Ward Oates Drive which will be entirely a one-way street.

Large vehicles, entering on Earle Clements Lane to the residence hall area, will now exit on Vaughan Drive to return to University Boulevard.

A change in the traffic is necessary to accommodate the renovation of Breckinridge Hall.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ASHLAND, Ky.---Morehead State University's Ashland Small Business Development Center and the Ashland Alliance will present a workplace safety and health workshop on Wednesday, Feb 23.

The session will run from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at MSU's Ashland Area Extended Campus Center, at 1401 Winchester Ave. in Ashland.

Because of limited seating, pre-registration is necessary. There is a $20 fee for attendance.

Conducting the session will be Mark Vockery from Eastham & Associates in Greenup. Among the topics to be covered are: safety, health and well being of employees, types of safety programs and how to implement them, non-mandatory safety standards, and employee involvement.

All training programs, sponsored or co-sponsored by SBDC, are available to all individuals without regard to race, color, sex, creed or national origin. Special arrangement for the disabled will be made if requested in advance.

Additional information and registration are available by calling (606) 329-8011.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The deadline for submissions for the inaugural Judy Rogers Women's Studies Essay Contest is approaching.

The Morehead State University Interdisciplinary Women's Studies Program Advisory Council has invited students to submit essays for the contest by the March 1 deadline. The competition is open to any student who has taken or is currently enrolled in a women's studies course or in a course cross-listed with a women's studies course at the University.

Essays may be in any discipline but must address women's issues and may not exceed 10 pages in length. The contest winner will present the winning paper at the Ninth Wilma E. Grote Symposium for the Advancement of Women, which will be held March 26-27. The winner will be presented a $100 award during the symposium luncheon on March 27.

The award is named for a former associate vice president for academic affairs and dean of undergraduate programs at MSU. Dr. Rogers, who was instrumental in establishing the Women's Studies Program, left the University in 1996 to assume an administrative position at Georgetown College.

Interested parties should submit one copy of the essay with a cover sheet containing the author's name, the women's studies class the author was or is enrolled in, the semester of that class and the professor's name. The author's name should appear only on the cover sheet.

Submissions, postmarked by March 1, may be sent to Dr. Susan Eacker, coordinator of the Women's Studies Program, 336 Rader Hall, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351.

Additional information is available from Dr. Eacker at (606) 783-2459, or by e-mail to s.eacker@morehead-st.edu.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Brandon Wayne Fraley, a member of the Kentucky Zeta Chapter of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity at Morehead State University, was awarded the J. Edward Zollinger Outstanding Senior Award at the Carlson Leadership Academy in Lexington on Feb. 19.

The fraternity's district governor selected the outstanding senior from each of the 24 districts. Fraley was selected from District 13 which is comprised of Kentucky and Tennessee. The award is based on outstanding scholastic achievement, fraternity and campus leadership, and community involvement.

Fraley, the son of Carl Wayne and Susan Fraley of Grayson, is president of the Student Government Association and the Interfraternity Council. He also serves as the student member of the University's Board of Regents.

Following Fraley's award, MSU's Kentucky Zeta Chapter will select a sophomore who possesses a potential for a future leadership role in the chapter and on campus. The member will receive a $500 scholarship for both his junior and senior years from the Sigma Phi Epsilon Educational Foundation.

This is the third consecutive year that a senior from Morehead State's SigEp chapter has been selected for this honor.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity was established in 1901 in Richmond, Va.; MSU's chapter was chartered April 25, 1970. The fraternity's mission is "building balanced leaders for America's communities."

Additional information on the award is available by calling Gary W. Adkins at (606) 784-1086.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Eastern Kentucky Health Science Information Network has moved from an office in Morehead State University's Camden-Carroll Library to the St. Claire Medical Center.

St. Claire has been a member of EKHSIN, which provides professional library and information services for health care providers in rural eastern Kentucky, since its inception, according to Dr. Greg Bausch, SCMC executive director for education and research. As the hospital already served as the host site for a similar service, the move "seemed to be a very natural fit.

"We believe that by bringing EKHSIN internally, it could compliment the mission we already had." The hospital operates the Northeast Kentucky Area Health Education Center, which provides library services to students and their community-based faculty in 17 counties.

William DeBord, the EKHSIN librarian since 1991, will continue in that position and serve as the medical librarian at SCMC.

MSU's library will remain a member of EKHSIN and DeBord will continue to work with the library staff with regards to "certain databases and other information that are part of the core of what EKHSIN manages," Dr. Bausch said.

Additional information on the network is available from DeBord at (606) 783-6860.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Budding collegiate entrepreneurs now have a resource to help them navigate through the jungle of private business to success.

The Kentucky Science and Technology Corporation, in cooperation with the Kentucky Department of Education, has launched www.gorillagroup.com, a Web site for student entrepreneurs. "We are excited about the opportunities for more Kentucky college and university students to get involved in entrepreneurial pursuits," said Joanne Lang, vice president of the non-profit group.

"It's a jungle out there...are you ready to take the leap?" greets visitors to the site, which provides the tools necessary for students to begin a new company or create a new product. Students who enter "Gorilla Beat" may e-mail questions to a team of advisors or they can share experiences with fellow entrepreneurs in "Safari Stories."

In "Start-Up Battles" students may participate in a monthly business plan contest that nets the winner $1,000 in seed money. Next month, the site will add a project and job posting service, "The Jungle," for students to advertise their skills and for innovative companies to list opportunities, according to Lang.

In addition, entrepreneurs may sign up for full or half-day regional or on-campus Gorilla Group workshops, or "Jungle Camps," to polish skills and learn business techniques.

Additional information on the Web site is available from the Kentucky Science and Technology Corporation at (606) 233-3502.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Upward Bound program has begun its search for summer faculty.

"We are looking for creative, energetic and enthusiastic instructors interested in teaching during the program's summer component, June 12-July 20," said Shellie Hallock, Upward Bound associate director. Instructors are needed in mathematics, English, sciences, career planning, foreign languages, art, writing, music, drama, dance, physical education, piano and other areas of interest to teenagers.

In addition to teaching approximately four hours per day, Monday through Friday, instructors are required to participate in two evening and/or weekend activities per week. Applicants must have a bachelor's degree and teaching experience and/or prior experience working with teenagers is preferred.

Applications, which must be completed by Tuesday, March 7, may be obtained from the Upward Bound office, 205 Allie Young Hall, on the campus. Additional information is available from Hallock at (606) 783-2611.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Kentucky Folk Art Center has received a $10,000 grant from the Honorable Order of the Kentucky Colonels.

This organization has long been a supporter of center, according to Garry Barker, KFAC director. The grant was used toward the purchase of a Space Saver shelving system

"It effectively gives us twice as much space," Barker said. The system was installed in a climate-controlled room where it will be used for the museum's permanent collection.

The acid-free unit has wire racks for hanging pictures and shelves for other objects. "It's the very latest system," Barker said.

MSU STUDENTS GAIN REAL WORLD EXPERIENCE

Morehead State University students majoring in computer information systems must complete a capstone course during their senior year that requires them to put in to practice time and project management skills. Students have worked on database management, networking and Web site projects at area businesses and at St. Claire Medical Center. John Hoskins of Morehead, a December graduate who now works for MSU's Office of Information Technology, and Joe Schmitt, seated, a Paintsville senior, teamed up to create a Web site for the Morehead-Rowan County Chamber of Commerce.

Feb. 23, 2000

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Through cooperation with area businesses, some Morehead State University students were given the opportunity to apply skills before graduation.

When the Morehead-Rowan County Chamber of Commerce was ready to update its Web site, several established, professional Web development companies were considered, according to Rodney Hitch, the Chamber's executive director. Beth Patrick, MSU assistant vice president for information technology, suggested that Hitch give MSU students the opportunity to redesign the site.

Hitch contacted Dr. Grover S. Kearns, MSU assistant professor of computer information systems (CIS), who assigned the task to two students. Joe Schmitt, a Paintsville senior, and John Hoskins of Morehead, a December graduate who now works for MSU's Office of Information Technology, were enrolled in a required capstone course for CIS majors, Dr. Kearns said.

In the CIS course, students are responsible for completing a project while incorporating good development and management techniques. "We like for it to be a real world experience," Dr. Kearns said. "We like working with the community. One of our objectives is to foster a relationship with the community and to help where we can."

In addition to Web site projects, computer information systems students have worked on database and networking projects at area businesses and St. Claire Medical Center. Normally, they work in pairs but three students may be assigned to complete a large assignment, Dr. Kearns said.

Throughout their project, Schmitt and Hoskins gave class presentations complete with project descriptions and charts to show their progress. "The main things both of us probably learned were time management skills and project management," Hoskins said.

Those skills are important, according to Schmitt, because "you don't want to overstate what you're going to do in a time frame."

Chamber web
2-2-2-2

Currently, Schmitt, who is the recipient of this year's outstanding CIS major award, is providing assistance to keep the Chamber's site updated until Dr. Kearns assigns two new students to the task.

"We had two excellent students who are still checking with us and making suggestions," Hitch said. "We're looking forward to adding on to our site."

For additional information or to request technical assistance from students, contact Dr. Kearns at (606) 783-2745 or Dr. Elizabeth Regan, chair of MSU's Department of Information Systems, at (606) 783-2730.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Wilma E. Grote Symposium for the Advancement of Women will take stock of women's issues and advancements in a two-day conference on the Morehead State University campus.

"The keynote speaker, Dr. Mary Frances Berry, has worked to advance both civil rights and education," said Dr. Susan A. Eacker, the symposium coordinator.

Dr. Berry is one of 75 women included in "I Dream A World: Portraits of Black Women Who Changed America." President Jimmy Carter appointed her commissioner of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights in 1980; during President Ronald Reagan's term, she was fired for criticizing his civil rights policies. She sued and won reinstatement in federal district court.

In 1993, President Bill Clinton named Dr. Berry chair for the Civil Rights Commission. Also during the Carter administration, she served as assistant secretary for education in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Dr. Berry was one of the founders of the Free South Africa Movement, which protested at the South African Embassy. She has made guest appearances on a number of television shows including "Nightline," "Face the Nation" and "The Today Show."

Currently, Dr. Berry is the Geraldine R. Segal Professor of American Social Thought at the University of Pennsylvania where she teaches history and law. A Nashville, Tenn., native, she earned both her bachelor's and master's degrees at Howard University, a doctorate in history from the University of Michigan and a juris doctorate from the University of Michigan Law School.

The symposium, following the theme "Coming of Age: Women in the New Millennium," will be held March 26-28, at MSU. The University received a $2,500 grant from the Kentucky Humanities Council to defray expenses for Dr. Berry's campus visit.

Symposium participants will present papers and discuss issues related to gender equality, women, health and aging, the future of feminism, and economic and social empowerment in eastern Kentucky. Additional information and registration are available from Dr. Eacker at (606) 783-2015 or visit the symposium's website at www.morehead-st.edu/womensymposium/.

MORHEAD, Ky.---The third annual Steve Hamilton Charity Golf Tournament is slated for Saturday and Sunday, April 29 and 30, at SunnyBrook, Morehead State University's public golf course.

Proceeds from the tournament will benefit the American Cancer Society in honor of Hamilton, a former professional basketball and baseball player, who served as director of athletics at MSU for 11 years prior to his death in 1997.

The cost is $120 for a four-person team. A complimentary dinner for all participants will be held at 6 p.m. on Friday, April 28, at Sheltowee Country Club.

The charity tournament is sponsored by MSU's Sports Administration Program, coordinated by Dr. Reginald F. Overton. Registration is available online at <http://people.morehead-st.edu/fs/r.overton/>, or by calling Shirley Hamilton at (606) 783-2355; Chris Berry at (606) 783-5133, or Dr. Overton at (606) 783-2176.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Whether you're looking for self-improvement, to learn a new skill or increase credit hours, Morehead State University may have a class that suits your needs. A variety of subjects are included in the 50 courses that will be offered during the University's second nine weeks of the spring semester.

Classes in communications, physical education and economics are only a sampling of those to be offered beginning March 6 and continuing through May 9. Among the courses available are:

- Cameras Over Scenic Kentucky—basic photography for beginners. Some fees for supplies and field trips will be necessary; owning a camera is not a requirement;
- Landscaping—learn the basic principles of horticultural practices;
- Human Anatomy—a study of functional human anatomy;
- Personal Development—building visual poise and self-esteem and mastering of social graces;
- The World of Work—assistance in locating job opportunities and personalizing a job campaign;
- Computers for Learning—proficiency in desktop publishing, spreadsheets, basic telecommunications and presentation skills;
- Use of Libraries—using information resources including online catalogs, CD-ROMS, external electronic databases and Internet;
- For Non-Profit Agencies in Need of Public Relations—basic course for public relations-seekers who work with non-profit groups. Writing PR pieces, targeting audiences and producing a successful publication will be featured; students will prepare an actual campaign and explore having the publication printed.
- Sailing—to learn the techniques for handling an intermediate-sized sailboat on calm waters.

Second nine weeks
2-2-2-2

The offerings also include Web design/desktop publishing, principles of accounting, finance and economics.

Anyone interested in taking a class at MSU may view the entire listing of “second-half semester classes” at www.morehead-st.edu/units/registrar/classes.htm.

To add a class, current students may contact their adviser for details. Questions should be directed to the Office of the Registrar at (606) 783-2008.

For those individuals who do not wish to enroll in a specific program but want to take a class for personal enrichment, MSU offers a “Special Student Status.” Information is available from MSU’s Office of Admissions at (606) 783-2000 or (800) 585-6781.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Great Wall and Tiananmen Square are among the sites that Morehead State University students will see when the Symphony Band and Percussion Ensemble visit China.

"The groups will perform at least five times while on tour including concerts at prestigious concert halls, universities and schools," said Dr. Richard Miles, director of bands. During the March 9-18 trip, students will visit some of the oldest sites in the world including the Ming Tombs, the burial place for the Ming dynasty, and the Forbidden City, the home to past Chinese emperors.

The tour will center primarily in Beijing, the capitol, which is home to more than 12 million and covers 6,488 square miles.

University donors helped make the learning experience possible. "More than 1,800 contributors have provided sponsorship for our students," Dr. Miles said.

Among the 77 students who will make the trip is Julia Graepel of Shepherdsville, a senior music education major. The daughter of Helmut and Ursula Graepel of Germany, she is a member of the Symphony Band.

Additional information is available from Dr. Miles at (606) 783-2485.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Great Wall and Tiananmen Square are among the sites that Morehead State University students will see when the Symphony Band and Percussion Ensemble visit China.

"The groups will perform at least five times while on tour including concerts at prestigious concert halls, universities and schools," said Dr. Richard Miles, director of bands. During the March 9-18 trip, students will visit some of the oldest sites in the world including the Ming Tombs, the burial place for the Ming dynasty, and the Forbidden City, the home to past Chinese emperors.

The tour will center primarily in Beijing, the capitol, which is home to more than 12 million and covers 6,488 square miles.

University donors helped make the learning experience possible. "More than 1,800 contributors have provided sponsorship for our students," Dr. Miles said.

Among the 77 students who will make the trip is Jeff Meador of Guston, a senior music performance major. The son of Mike and Betty Meador, he is a member of the Symphony Band.

Additional information is available from Dr. Miles at (606) 783-2485.

"The groups will perform at least five times while on tour including concerts at prestigious concert halls, universities and schools," said Dr. Richard Miles, director of bands. During the March 9-18 trip, students also will visit some of the oldest sites in the world including the Ming Tombs, the burial place for the Ming dynasty, and the Forbidden City, the home to past Chinese emperors.

The tour will center primarily in Beijing, the capitol, which is home to more than 12 million and covers 6,488 square miles.

University donors helped make the learning experience possible. "More than 1,800 contributors have provided sponsorship for our students," Dr. Miles said.

Among the 77 students who will make the trip are Joseph Banks, Jr. and Nickolaus Diedrichsen, both of Stratford, Conn., and members of the Percussion Ensemble.

Banks, a junior real estate major, is the son of Maude and Joseph Banks. Diedrichsen, a junior music major, is the son of Richard and Julie Diedrichsen.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Time is running out to nominate Morehead State University faculty or staff members for outstanding service, according to Joe Planck, chair of MSU's Service Committee.

Nominations for the Distinguished Faculty and Distinguished Staff Service awards will be accepted until 4 p.m. Monday, March 6, Planck said.

To be eligible for the awards, the faculty or staff member must exemplify the highest ideals of citizenship and services. Nominations should include name, address and telephone number(s) of nominee, along with a one-page letter detailing how the nominee meets the criteria. "Members of the community are invited to nominate an individual in either of these categories and all nominations will remain anonymous," Planck said.

Information sheets with specific criteria may be obtained from Planck by calling (606) 783-2066. All materials should be submitted to Chairperson, Service Committee, Morehead State University, UPO 831, Morehead, KY 40351-1689.

The awards will be presented during the University's Honors Convocation on Sunday, April 16.
