FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---For Morehead State University alumni and friends there will be "no place like Homecoming" when the University hosts its annual gathering Oct. 20-22 on the campus.

Arrangements are being finalized for the traditional homecoming events as well as reunions and special anniversaries, according to Tami Jones, director of alumni relations. "We are certain that there will be something for everyone in the plans," she said.

The weekend will mark the unveiling of a new Eagle print by MSU alumnus John Ward of Mt. Sterling. A special ceremony will be held during the Athletic Hall of Fame banquet on Friday, Oct. 20.

Also during the evening, six members will be inducted into the Athletic Hall of Fame. To be honored will be John High (1972 graduate) of Jackson, football; Chester Greene, (1954 graduate) of Georgetown, Ohio, track and cross country; Danny Gooch (1983 graduate) of Utica, football; Rex Chaney (1957 graduate) of Morehead, faculty member and golf coach; Robin Harmon-Newsome of Lovely, women's basketball; and Dr. Mohammed Sabie of Morehead, faculty member and former soccer coach.

Special recognition will be given to Myron Doan (1971 graduate), of Morehead, dean of students and coach of the national champion cheerleading squad that earned its 11th title this year, and Larry Wilson (1965 graduate) of Morehead, who coached the bowling team to international competitions and the women's team to a second national win this year.

Activities will get underway on Friday, Oct. 20, with a welcome reception at Morehead's Ramada Inn, beginning at 5 p.m., followed by the Athletic Hall of Fame Banquet in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center.

On the agenda for Saturday, Oct. 21, is the Homecoming Brunch from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. in the Crager Room. The traditional football game will pit the Eagles against Bowie (Md.) State at 1:30 p.m., and the crowning of the Homecoming Queen will take place in halftime ceremonies at the game. The Homecoming Fish Fry, scheduled for post-game, offers food and fellowship in an informal setting.

During the weekend, reunions will be held for the class of 1950, class of 1975 and Delta Tau Delta fraternity's 30th anniversary.

Additional information on the Homecoming weekend is available by calling the Alumni Center at (606) 783-2080 or (800) 783-ALUM.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---With the start of the fall school term just around the corner, many Morehead State University students are already shopping for textbooks.

While online-only booksellers are targeting the campus with promotions and advertising, many MSU students are discovering that the best deal in textbooks – whether online or on the way to class—is at the University Bookstore, according to Bill Redwine, director of auxiliary services.

“Online textbook shopping can be very convenient, but it’s important for students to buy their books from someone who knows their school and their professors,” said Jackie Griffey, general manager of the University Bookstore. “We work closely with the faculty to ensure we have the right books on hand. Students can shop at our traditional store or order their books online at our Web site, <http://bookstore.morehead-st.edu> and pick up their order at our store,” she added.

Students should consider many factors to determine their best textbook value, Griffey noted. “Our store and our Web site offer students economical used books and customized course materials specified by their professors. Plus, we make it easy for students to return books if they change classes,” she said.

The University Bookstore is the only resource MSU students need for textbooks, supplies, computer products, apparel and much more, Griffey added. “We’re in business to serve the Morehead State community. Profits from our store and our Web site stay on campus, providing vital support for University programs. We offer students the best overall value.”

The Morehead State University Bookstore, located on the first floor of the Adron Doran University Center, is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Students can shop 24 hours a day, 7 days a week online at <http://bookstore.morehead-st.edu>.

The University Bookstore is a member of the National Association of College Stores. Additional information is available from Redwine at (606) 783-2081.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Kentucky Center for Traditional Music at Morehead State University has been incorporated with MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin as board chair.

Morehead Mayor Bradley Collins will serve as vice chair of the non-profit organization's Board of Directors and Georgia Grigsby, director of MSU's Appalachian Celebration, will be the secretary-treasurer.

Sandy Knipp, a retired public school educator and a songwriter, teacher and performer of traditional music for more than 30 years, is serving as executive director. He also hosts "Bluegrass Diversion" on WMKY, MSU's public radio station.

Ray Ross, assistant professor of music at MSU, is the education coordinator and Jami Hornbuckle, MSU's institutional marketing director, is the group's marketing coordinator.

Details of a KCTM outreach program to the public schools will be announced later this summer.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Dr. Christopher Hensley, director of Morehead State University's Institute for Correctional Research and Training, has signed a contract with Lynne Rienner to publish a book.

Dr. Hensley will serve as both editor and contributing writer for the book titled "Prison Sex: Perspectives on Practice and Policy," that is scheduled to be completed in September 2001.

The introduction and conclusion will be written by Dr. Hensley as well as five chapters, which deal with a variety of issues common to those incarcerated.

While working on his new book, Dr. Hensley also will be guest editing the December 2000 issue of "The Prison Journal," which will focus on sex in prisons.

An MSU faculty member since July 1999, Dr. Hensley received a bachelor's degree in criminal justice/criminology and psychology from East Tennessee State University in 1993. He earned a master's degree from Mississippi State University in Starkville in 1995 where he completed the Ph.D. degree in sociology with a specialization in criminology in 1997. Before coming to MSU, he taught at Northeastern State University.

Additional information is available from Dr. Hensley by calling (606) 783-2254 or by e-mail to ch.hensley@morehead-st.edu.

2000 APPALACHIAN TREASURE AWARD RECIPIENT

A highlight of Morehead State University's Appalachian Celebration was the presentation of the Appalachian Treasure Award to Tom T. Hall, seated, by MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin. Each year, a handmade rocker, the tangible symbol of the award, is given to recognize dedication in promoting and preserving the cultural heritage of Appalachia. As this year's recipient, Hall was given two chairs, one for rocking and one for picking. An Olive Hill native, Hall is a singer/songwriter known for telling stories of everyday life.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---For Bill Riley of Calvert City, attending Kentucky Boys State meant accomplishing a goal. The 17-year-old came to the Morehead State University campus for the weeklong program with a plan to go for the top office.

Riley, the son of Tommy and Mary Jo Riley, went home as the 2000 Boys State governor.

A senior at Marshall County High School, Riley had experience in working with groups. After all, he had served as president and secretary of his local FFA chapter and was involved in the regional chapter and attended the state convention. He was a member of the Peer Intervention Tech Students Association, Students Against Destructive Decisions, Boy Scouts, and the Student Council.

The week allowed him to learn about government and how it works, Riley noted. While visiting with others from across the state, he gained first hand knowledge about campaigning and all that goes into the process.

“My opinion was mine (before becoming governor),” he said, “now that I am representing the group, I want to hear what they think and work with others.” He was pleased that the Boys State delegates chose to explore some of the issues teens are faced with today, such as abortion, tobacco, religion in schools and school violence.

After high school, Riley hopes to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Another 17-year-old, Justin O’Malley of Frankfort, was elected to the office of lieutenant governor. He believes preparation for the post came from a college class he took at Northwestern University in Evansville, Ind.

“The class was difficult and challenging,” he said. “But it allowed me to assess my weaknesses.”

Active in a number of programs at Frankfort High School, O’Malley was a member of the National Honor Society and Beta Club. The son of Willie and Gale Stivers, he was a participant on the Academic Team since fifth grade and in band through his middle and high school years.

“Everyone has talents,” he said. “Common people can and do change society.”

Based on his performance when the Boys State officers’ visited Frankfort late in the week, O’Malley received a commendation from the House of Representatives.

After graduation, O’Malley would like to go to law school and become an attorney. His immediate plans include attending Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. and majoring in political science or maybe stay closer to home and attend Centre College.

Also elected as officers were:

Jared Cutright of Lexington, secretary of state. The son of Randall and Sherry Cutright, he is a senior at Scott County High School.

Ryan Baltzley of Louisville, auditor. The son of Rod Baltzley and Jo Lynn Baltzley, he is a senior at Eastern High School.

Mike Sipple of Latonia, commissioner of agriculture. The son of Mike and Susan Sipple, he is a senior at Covington Holmes High School.

Kyle Gott of Bowling Green, attorney general. The son of Jimmy and Doris Gott, he is a senior at Warren East High School.

Lawrence Peaches of Frankfort, treasurer. The son of Tyrie Buchanan, he is a senior at Frankfort High School.

Appointed to the office of adjutant general was Seth Harbin of Winchester. The son of Dr. Stacy and Kaye Harbin, he is a senior at George Rogers Clark High School.

The Kentucky Boys State program, which offers a practical learning experience in state and local government, is sponsored by the American Legion. The 2001 session will be held June 6-15 on the MSU campus.

The student speaker at Morehead State University's Spring Commencement, Brandon Michael Stumbo of McDowell urged his fellow classmates to make a difference: "The ultimate fate of our society lies in the contributions we are willing to make. Improve the lives of those around us as we enter the business, education and government settings of tomorrow. Make sacrifices of high profile; join civic groups, feed those in poverty and protect the environment." Stumbo, the son of Ivan and Wanda Stumbo, is a graduate of South Floyd High School. An accounting major with a minor in information systems, he was a candidate for the Bachelor of Business Administration degree.

PASSING THE MACE

The practice of carrying a mace in academic processions dates to medieval times in England. The practice began with a person bearing a mace walking in front of the highest-ranking official as they entered and departed ceremonial occasions for protection from personal injury. At Morehead State University, the joint office of faculty grand marshal and mace bearer is held by the current recipient of the Distinguished Teacher Award. Earlier this year during the University's academic awards convocation, Dr. L. K. Williams, left, professor of accounting and the 1999 recipient, offered congratulations after passing the mace to Dr. Ted Pass II, professor of microbiology and the 2000 recipient.
