Coaches Optimistic

guard can be found in Bill Shaw, who worked out at center in spring practice, ticks only speed and may come through to make the variety next fall.

The backfield will hold three regulars from last year, Workman, Howerton and Salvato. Much of the passing and kicking will be loaded on Workman who developed last last fall, and he may become recognized as one of the outstanding backs in the KMAC. With a little more weight, Salvato may become one of the best fullbacks in the conference. Howerton is recognized now at a good pass receiver. Wheeler will probably account for the blocking back as he is one of the hardest workers on the squad and will match action in variety ball even as a freshman last season.

Nick Zaworski will see a lot of service as a punter and he is becoming a better ball carrier. Jimmy Griffin and Wayne Gibson, the reserves are developing fast in spite of their disadvantage of weight.

FACTS ABOUT NAVY V-1 at MORHEAD

The Navy's V-1 Plan under which Freshmen and Sophomores from 17 through 19 years of age can continue their courses and prepare to become officers in the Naval Reserve have been accepted by our school. Hundreds of colleges and universities are backing the Navy's V-1 program, and thousands of students in other schools have already enlisted under this plan.

Only 80,000 men will be accepted annually for this training, but the Navy wants those men to be fully acquainted with all V-1 details before enlisting. Many questions have been asked. In this column we will answer those most frequently asked and in addition carry informative articles covering all phases of V-1 activities. Some questions asked are:

1. I am a sophomore and will be 20 years and next month. Can I enlist in V-1?
2. Yes. If you have not yet reached 20 and you are otherwise qualified, you're eligible.
3. When the war ends, do I stay in the Service?
4. Under V-1, you enlist in the Naval Reserve. As an enlisted man you act as an officer, you may be released from active duty as soon as possible after the war is over.
5. Will the Navy pay my tuition and other expenses? I am still in college under the V-1 plan.
6. No. Navy pay does not start until you are assigned to active duty.
7. What is the official requirement for acceptance for V-1?
8. Applicants for V-1 must have been citizens for at least 10 years before the date of application.

EAGLE BROODINGS

By DAN PALMER

This is the last of the Eagle Broodings for some time, maybe even for good. (The sports editor is considering throwing the cut at the top away). This hasn't been a good year for the big blue but it hasn't been the worst. We remember:

Our first look at the Eagles as they trotted out on the field to meet a heavier but not game Western team—how it all hopes for a victorious season skyrocketed when the Blue and Gold tide rolled over Davis 25-kins 26 to 6—how Tony Salvato and Henry Hetman turned the Rio Grande game into a track meet and how happy we were to find our name in all the big time papers—the Murray game (red water dished into our faces)—Howerton scoring in the last two minutes to beat Concord—the Marshall game (two cold for football and the field was full of mousetraps)—the pen rally before the East-ern game—the tears shed after words as the Maroons carried away the Hawgrille—Then there was basketball with more we should forget—Always remember Cooper's handling. Duncan's uncanny plays, shots, the closing minutes of Western game. Morehead's greatest victory of the year. Fred Moore of the freshman team and some of the freshman games we should forget—Alonso digman's veranda, no green assist on the column—Anabelle! Sorry, we are using Frank Ineson's typewriter and his pen out of court—Anabelle and Kay Hopson with the big M's one—Fred Bayer's bow tie—beating Marshall in an over-time period—KMAC tournament big crowd, bigger disappointment—

Despite everything above mentioned—the war, the draft, the navy, we are looking forward to a splendid season next year, with the Big Blue rolling victoriously onward and more game—the tears shed after words as the Maroons carried
