Winter potato planting time extends from June 15 to August 1, depending on the variety. The dry weather may have made some gardeners wish they had begun preparing soil weeks ago.

The problem is one of making full use of soil moisture reserves, the soil-keeping moisture. To this end, gardeners will continue to disc and drag their broken ground...

Poem Dedicated To Bro. Lyons Written By Ival Williams

Former Morehead Man Pays Tribute To Deceased Pastor

The following poem, dedicated to the memory of Reverend T. F. Lyons, recently deceased pastor of the Morehead Church of God, was contributed by Ival Williams, of 412 Adams Street, Gary, Indiana. Williams is a former Morehead resident, member of the local Church of God, and leader of Young People's work in the Church. He is employed, at present, in the Gary Mills of the United States Steel Corporation.

BROTHER LYONS IS GONE
Brother Lyons is gone, away forever.
But we'll meet again, to part no never.
On the streets of Gary together we'll be,
Where there is no more pain nor agony.

We'll lift our voices together in praise of Him,
Who has led all the way and never knew sin.
We'll clasp glad hands, inside the peery gales,
Where Brother in peace, with happy millions, awaits.

He has gone on before,
But just a little while to wait,
'Till we'll join him there, inside the peery gates.
'Till is well over there, no trouble or pain.
We'll sing praises to God, when we meet again.

There's no sickness over there,
No burdens to bear,
But all is well in our home beyond the blue sky.
All heart aches are past,
All sorrow is gone,
We'll rejoice over there,
Around God's white throne.

May God keep us and guide us
In the straight narrow way,
As Brother Lyons walked
While on earth he stayed.
He's gone on before,
We'll see him no more,
Till we meet him up there
On the golden shore.

His life here was righteous,
His deeds were as gold,
Our Saviour just called him
To his mansions untold.

He is content over there,
His afflictions are past,
If we're faithful as he was
We'll meet him at last.

We miss him very much
At the church on the hill,
His place in our hearts
No other can fill.
Our God in His glory
And welcoming smile,
He never came late,
He was always on time.

His good work here is finished,
His life here is done,
Nor the solemn words of the chaplain
Just called him up home.
Let's be faithful as he was
As I've said before,
And we'll meet Brother Lyons
To part never more.

To me he was a father,
Kind to all we know,
His help never failed us
When to him we would go
His faith was unwavering,
His judgment the best,
God give us more men like him
Who will stand the test.

HIS LAST BATTLE

(By Pvt. Earnie E. Wallace, Fort Knox, Kentucky)

"Mother, my regiment is leaving
The bugler has sounded the call
And I have received orders from headquarters,
Which tell me this is all."

Then he raised up on his pillow
And with eyes looking straight ahead,
Made a last gallant salute to the colors
Before joining the ranks of the dead.

And so in this way he told us
Before the shadows of death could fall
That he was going to join his comrades
Who had likewise heard the call.

The family stood at attention and offered up a prayer,
That when he marched into heaven
The Master would commission him there.

We carried him on to Arlington
And laid him there to rest;
For we knew full military honors
Would have been his last request.

The guard laid him on a caisson
By seven black horses drawn
For it was the kind of a funeral
To which a soldier is born.

The squad fired three volleys over him
And we raised the flag from his body
While they slowly lowered his body
Into a moss-covered national bed.

This time we heard not the bugler
Playing that day as was done,
Nor the solemn words of the chaplain
Who told of the glory he won.

Now that he is in a new regiment,
We who are left behind,
Wonder if he is still fighting
On another battle line.

For we know if there are enlistments
And they call for volunteers,
He will offer up his services,
As he did in his mortal years.

And so I say, rest on, dear father,
For you have left a son
Who shall dedicate his full life
To the work you have begun.

And even if there are no medals
To be worn across his chest,
Shall help fight mankind's battles
While you remain at rest.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

ONE MAN'S ARGUMENT

Heard a man this week make the following argument for America's entrance into the war as an ally of Britain.

The United States, in upholding the Monroe Doctrine, is pledged to go to the aid of any country in the Western Hemisphere, as obligated to the protection even of the southern tip of South America, which is 1,200 miles farther from the United States than is England.

South America abounds with dictatorships, the very type of government to which we are opposed. The people there do not even speak our language, a large percentage of them have no sympathy with this country, want little to do with the United States, look upon Uncle Sam as Uncle Shylock, an enemy instead of a friend.

Yet, the moment Germany attacks any of these countries, our army and navy go "all out" for them—whether they like us or no, whether their ideology is foreign and inimical to ours or not.

On the other hand, England, our last friend in the world, nearer to us than southern South America, is attacked in Britain, beleaguered, stands at the last bulwark between us and the most dangerous and powerful enemy on earth. There, in the mother country, are the only people on earth who speak our own language, who are actively battling for their own lives and the lives of all democracies.

Now, if we are honor bound to protect South America, with conditions as described, why should the United States delay further in going to the rescue of a true ally nearer its shores and near to all the ties of common interests?

That, in effect, was the man's argument. What do you think of it?

Annual Junior Week Of 4-H Clubs At UK Attracts 111 Counties

Members of 4-H clubs from 111 counties attended the twenty-first annual Junior Week at the University of Kentucky. They attended classes in agriculture and home economics and took part in contests featuring improved farm and home practices as taught in club work.

In the home demonstration contest, Warren County was first, with blue ribbons going to teams from Todd, Pike, Breathitt, Ohio, Fulton and Shelby counties.

Demonstrating farm practices, the team from Madison County placed at the top. McCracken, Caldwell, Warren, Jackson and Pike Counties furnished blue ribbon teams.

Teams from Todd and Campbell Counties tied for first place in demonstrating the construction of terraces. Graves, McLean, Grayson, Fulton, McCracken and Barren Counties won blue ribbons.

Warren County furnished the champion team in demonstrating dairy production, and Todd County the best team in demonstrating the use of dairy products.

Seventy-seven girls entered costumes of their own make in the style show. Iris Shannon of Oldham County took highest honors and will represent Kentucky in a national style revue.

Forty-seven girls judged clothing, with Lucy May Griggs of Madison County the winner. In the judging of foods, Evelyn Frank of Boone County stood at the top, and Frances Wilhoite of Oldham County was best at judging room furnishings.

THE GARDEN

(By JOHN S. GARDNER)

Certainly a gratifying sign of interest on the part of Kentucky's home gardeners is the weight of mail that comes, inquiring about blight, and what to do about it. However, not all "blight" is blight, but some is the aftermath of insect injury.

Many potatoes, for example, have turned a "ripe" color. That is, the vines have changed to yellow and then to brown, which should be a sign that the potatoes are ready to dig. Close examination, however, discloses that the leaves are fairly riddled with many minute holes, about which the leaf tissue has been killed. This is the injury of the black fleabeetle, and the control is spraying with Bordeaux mixture.

Several instances are on record of potato plantings last year sprayed with Bordeaux four times, that remained green and healthy the summer through, yielding a crop well in excess of three hundred bushels per acre. Some patches this year sprayed systematically with Bordeaux will doubtless show the same, despite that this has been not altogether ideal "potato weather." Killed potato tops cannot recover, no matter how favorable a turn the later season may take, but sprayed plantings can keep going on to satisfactory fruition.

With recognizing how important the home potato patches and the commercial ones are, will not more Kentuckians couple purchase of a sprayer (with brass tanks) and undertake regular sprayings of potatoes, tomatoes, eggplants and even beans—for many failures are due to early attack by fleabeetles and later by the disease blight. Kentucky Extension Circular 343, obtainable of the County Agent, gives full directions for making and using Bordeaux mixture.

The lake trout is the largest of all the trout.

More than three thousand tons of agricultural limestone were trucked into Jackson County in May.

New officers of the Kentucky Association of 4-H Clubs are Wayne Stewart, Rockcastle County, president; Harry Gatton, Jr., Muhlenberg County, vice president; and Lucy May Griggs, Madison County, secretary.

Errol Flynn Is Starred in Show At Mills Sunday

Errol Flynn is back to bring more thrills and adventure to movie fans, but this time he swaps his bow and arrow for top hat and tails. He is starred in the role of a writer of mystery stories and amateur sleuth combined in the Warner Brothers comedy-mystery film, "Footsteps in the Dark," which opens Sunday at the Mills Theatre.

Co-starred with Flynn is lovely Brenda Marshall, whose performance in "The Sea Hawk" brought raves from critics and public alike. Flynn, who attempts to lead a double life because he wants to keep his mystery writing exploits a secret, gets himself into a fine mess with the police accusing him of murder on one hand and his wife, Brenda's role, accusing him of being unfaithful on the other. Errol finally straightens things out but only after a series of borrowing and laugh provoking experiences that makes one of the cinema season's best entertainments.

The supporting cast includes such Hollywood luminaries as Ralph Bellamy, Lee Patrick, Alan Hale, Allen Jenkins, Grant Mitchell and Roscoe Karns. Lloyd Bacon directed the film.

"Footsteps in the Dark" was written for the screen by Lester Cole and John Wexley from a play by Lazlo Fodor. Bernard Mervale and Jeffrey Dell.

Political Announcements

I hereby make formal announcement of my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the office of Representative from the Eleventh District, covered by Rowan and Bath Counties, subject to the will of the voters at the primary election to be held Saturday, August 2, 1941.

I was born and reared in Rowan County, Kentucky, receiving my education in the Rowan County Public Schools and Morehead State Teachers College. I have been a lifelong Democrat and have given my full support to the party and to the furtherance of its interests.

I am, at present, president of the Young Democratic Club of Rowan County, and have been active in political circles for the past ten years, although I have never asked the public for any political office prior to this time.

As a former student of Morehead College, as a letter-man on both the varsity football and basketball squads, I have a natural interest in the welfare of that institution. I intend to work and vote for a sufficient appropriation for the maintenance, provision and its adequate needs, in order to keep it one of the best institutions of its kind in the country.

As a native of Rowan County, and as a neighbor interested in the welfare of our adjoining county in this district, it is my sincere desire to do everything in my power to further the cause of any movement for the benefit of Rowan and Bath Counties.

If I should be honored by the voters of the Ninety-first District by nomination and election, I pledge myself to render a fair, moral, and unselfish service as a member of the Lower House and I promise that I will not vote for any measure that will have a tendency to increase the burden upon the people of our State, other than that which is absolutely necessary for the support and operation of our Government.

I am also interested in the welfare and the maintenance of our penal and charitable institutions, and to continue the program as provided by the Federal Government and our State, in the building and construction of all highways in our State, especially the segmental concrete and steel defense highways throughout Kentucky.

As a candidate for public office for the first time in my entire life, I respectfully ask that you consider my record as a clean, moral citizen and as a loyal member of the Democratic Party.

I feel that most of you know me personally, but it is my intention to meet and talk with each of you during the remaining few weeks prior to the primary election.

If I should fail to see you personally, I shall remain at your service and your vote and influence for which I shall be humbly grateful.

Respectfully Submitted,
CLAUDE CLAYTON

wards will be realized from next year's activities. It is hoped that the Association will attract attention of a sufficient number of farmers so that it will induce more of Rowan County's farmers to join the Association, to produce a volume of quality products and to cooperatively market their crops.

The local Smith-Hughes agriculture teacher is cooperating closely with the County Agent, trying to induce farmers to raise more crops for CASH. Rowan County has too little to sell in order to maintain a satisfactory living, providing education for the children and to improve the soil.

A number of farmers are raising sorghum on a large scale—offering it for sale through the sorghum co-ops of adjoining counties. Farmers who have planted sorghum and intend to sell, should contact the county agent or the county agriculture teacher.

Other State parks are planning to send persons in costume representing the respective parks, adding an air of pageantry to the celebration.

Frank Stone and Howard Kessler, charged with murder; trial set for Monday.

Ed Hinton, charged with murder; trial set for Wednesday.
The Grand Jury filed its report with Circuit Judge Bridges White on Wednesday. It made a number of recommendations and commendations. The report follows in its entirety.

Hon. W. B. White,
Circuit Judge 21st Jud. Dist. Morehead, Kentucky.

We have been in session eight days and have returned in open Court seventy-eight indictments.

In keeping with your instructions on the first day of Court, we have been to the best of our ability to investigate all places of amusements and places selling beer and intoxicating whiskey within the County. We have found that a number of places outside the City Limits have constituted what the neighbors have called "a common nuisance" and we have against these places returned indictments where justified, and one of the main complaints before us has been the lack of minors and girls of tender age being permitted to drink and congregate in places of this kind.

In investigating these records in the County Clerk's office, we have found that only a limited number of places had secured permits to operate road houses as required by law. We have returned indictments against those people who do not have permits and we have been told by the County Attorney and County Judge that they do not intend to approve permits for any more road houses in Rowan County. With their refusing to approve permits for the operation of road houses, we believe we are in the best of circumstances to have the law enforced and homicides in Rowan County will be greatly reduced. We have investigated the license beverage dealers within the County and find that they are attempting to keep at least within the spirit of the law.

We have also investigated the City government and find that the City Council has done a nice piece of work in ridding the City of sanitary sewers which were permitted to flow into storm sewers. We, however, were not able to investigate the financing of the City because of the financial statement for the calendar year of 1940 had not been published as required by law. There has been a number of complaints on the laxity of the Police Judge enforcing the laws within the City and we have taken to the tightening of the judicial power of the police judge that it will result in a great benefit to the City.

We have investigated in detail the financial affairs of the County and the actions of the County Judge, County Attorney and Fiscal Court and find that they have run the County in a very economical and satisfactory way considering the federal injunction and the Sheriff's office for their full cooperation during our session.

Respectfully Submitted,
N. L. WELLS, Foreman

Culbertson-Jayne
Miss Elizabeth Culbertson, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Wolfe Culbertson and the late Mr. Benjamin T. Danganan became the bride of Mr. Luther Jayne, son of Mrs. W. L. Jayne and the late Mr. W. L. Jayne, of Morehead, Kentucky, in a beautiful ceremony at four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, the eighteenth of June at the home of the bride's mother.

The ceremony, deeply impressive in its dignity and simplicity was solemnized by the Reverend A. B. Wiest of the Elk Garden Methodist Church, Elk Garden, Va., in the presence of an intimate circle of friends and relatives. The home was decorated with flowers of the season and the altar arranged before the fireplace in the living room was pretty with ferns and baskets of Daisies and Queen Ann's Lace.

The bride who was given in marriage by her older brother, Cline Culbertson of Pennington Gap, Virginia, was beautiful in her wedding gown of white lace and marquisette. The lace bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves, the skirt of marquisette swept in full folds to the floor. Her floor length veil of illusion fell softly about her shoulders, and was held at the top by a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was Joanna Hill Roses and Lilies-of-the-Valley.

Miss Ruth Roberts of Kingsport, Tennessee, was the only attendant of the bride, with Mr. Walter Calvert, of Morehead, Kentucky, as best man. Miss Robert's gown was of yellow marquisette, most becoming to her brunette type of beauty, and her bouquet was of Palsman roses and delphinium.

Mrs. John S. Wampler, cousin of the bride, of Bristol, Virginia, sang "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning," accompanied by Mrs. A. B. Wing, of Elk Garden, Virginia. Mrs. Wing also played the wedding procession by Wagner from his opera "Sobriergin" and "To A Wild Rose," during the ceremony.

After the ring service, the bridal party and wedding guests were entertained by Mrs. Culbertson's delightful reception in the dining room. Yellow and white were the colors used in the refreshments. A serene wedding cake, with miniature bride and groom on top, was cut and served to the guests.

We have had before us the president and other officials of the Morehead State Teachers College and find that this great institution is being run in a manner which beyond a doubt deserves the highest approval of this Grand Jury; it is not only being run in a frugal and economic way on an appropriation entirely inadequate, but has shown by its last enrollment of fifty per cent increase over the corresponding period last year; and beyond doubt deserves the full cooperation and support of this committee.

In investigating the County property on the Courthouse grounds, we find that the Courthouse is in a deplorable condition and in a serious need of repair and the County Judge tells us that the only reason that this was not remedied was the lack of funds and we recommend that the budget for the coming year include at least a small amount for the necessary repairs for the Courthouse. In inspecting the jail house we find that there is inadequate amount of bedding and that the bedding that is now in the jail is infested with parasites and we recommend that the County purchase additional bedding for the prisoners.

It has come to our attention that there is a bridge that has been washed from its foundation on North Fork and now laying on the creek bed and we recommend that the proper steps be taken from said creek and put to some useful use in this place in the County. If this is not done we recommend indictments be made against responsible parties at the next session of the grand jury.

It has also come to the attention of this grand jury that the assessment of the County has been done in a routine manner from old assessment books. We earnestly recommend that the County Assessor inquire diligently into the assessment of each person to determine his proper assessment and thereby preventing an unjust burden on property owners who have been properly assessed.

Culbertson was attired in a rose sheer crepe gown.

Mrs. Jayne is a graduate of Berea College, Berea, Kentucky, and for the past two years has been Home Economics teacher in the high school at Blountville, Tennessee. Mr. Jayne received his education at Morehead State Teachers College, Morehead, Kentucky, where he is now engaged in business.

When the couple left for their wedding trip, Mrs. Jayne was wearing a smart blue linen suit with white accessories. After a two-weeks trip through eastern Canada, including a cruise around the Thousand Islands on the St. Lawrence River, the couple will establish their home at Morehead, Kentucky.

Mr. Crutcher emphasized the fact that all residences and places of business MUST have numerals, readily seen from the street, in order to get delivery of mail. Each residence and business house was visited personally by the Postmaster, and were informed of the revision of house numbers. Therefore, there can be no excuse, he said, for failure to comply with this regulation.

the department of entomology says that grasshoppers, content to feed and remain in the meadows and along the road sides as long as the grass remains green, are now leaving the tough, dry grass in many parts of the state and moving into fields of corn, tobacco and vegetables where the plants are green and succulent. The migration is comparatively slow. The insects usually start feeding on the edge of the planting and gradually move deeper into the field, consuming the plants as they go.

If often happens that there is a fence-row between the field left and the one invaded. In this instance, the grasshoppers, after feeding during the day, return to the fence-row to pass the night. Advantage of this knowledge is taken in applying control measures. Poisoned bait made by mixing, while dry, one hundred pounds of wheat bran and five pounds of Paris green or white arsenate and then adding and mixing well two gallons of ordinary lubricating oil, is broadcast at the rate of ten to twelve pounds to the acre. Apply the bait to that part of the field where the grasshoppers are feeding and to the space between their bed and breakfast—or between the fence-row where they spend the night and the plants upon which they feed. Do not look for results until about three days after applying the bait. Dead grasshoppers will then be found under trash and litter—few of them die in the open spaces.

Auto Production A Vital Factor In Defense, Is Belief

Pontiac Sales Chief Cites Instances Where Cars Are Necessary

Localized data on the importance of the automobile in carrying out the national defense program is produced by D. U. Bathrick, general salesmanager of Pontiac Motor Division, just returned from a national sales tour.

Two factors have contributed to the prime necessity for cars in defense areas, Bathrick points out. These are:

1. Most new defense plants are located outside city limits and beyond the reach of mass transportation facilities to avoid concentrations which might make easy bomb targets. Thus the workers must travel by auto to get to their jobs.

2. Plants situated in areas previously without industrial production must draw their workers from great distances because of the absence of skilled workers in the neighborhood. Again—the auto is the only transportation

At a smokeless gunpowder plant now being established in Charlestown, Indiana, Bathrick reports, workers must travel thirty-five miles to their jobs. At a West Coast plane plant 8,000 workers arrive daily in 3,000 autos—many come as far as forty miles away.

Boston, Bathrick says, is providing many workers who commute daily to the navy bases at Kittery, Massachusetts, fifty-seven miles away. These and many other instances of the part automobiles are playing in the defense effort are indicative that a automobile production must be continued during the present emergency, the Pontiac sales chief believes.

It was not until the Discovery of North America that the world fur trade got into its stride.

189,136 Farmers In Kentucky Sign AAA Farm Plans For '41

Ninety-Two Percent Of Eligible Farms Are Participating

Cooperating in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration programs of the United States Department of Agriculture, 189,136 Kentucky farmers have signed farm plans for 1941. It is announced from the State AAA office at Lexington. This increase is more than 10,000 over the number of farmers in the 1940 programs. The 189,136 Kentucky farmers in the 1941 programs are ninety-two percent of the number eligible to participate. Cooperating farms make up about ninety-five percent of Kentucky's cropland. Virtually all farms growing wheat, corn, tobacco cotton and commercial vegetables are in the programs this year.

Leading all counties in the percentage of eligible farmers participating in the programs in Robertson, where 503 of 504 eligible farmers signed up. Other counties with more than ninety-five percent of their farmers in the 1941 programs are Morgan, Anderson, Shelby and Woodford. There are seventy-eight of the one hundred-twenty counties in the State with ninety percent or more of their farms operated in the programs this year.

All soil-building practices in the 1941 agricultural conservation program are to be completed by June 30. More than 165,000 of the Kentucky farmers in the 1940 AAA programs filed applications showing soil-conserving and soil-building practices carried out during the year.

Besides retirement of a percentage of cropland from soil-depleting crops, soil-conserving and soil-building practices carried out by Kentucky farmers in 1940 included seeding of 2,126,723 acres of legumes and grasses, turning under 151,920 acres of green manure crops, planting 1,557 acres of forest trees, improving stands on 11,287 acres of farm woodland, spreading 1,193,212 tons of agricultural limestone, applying phosphates equivalent to 168,718 tons of phosphate fertilizer to pastures, meadows and new seedings of legumes and grasses, spreading fifty tons of potash and building 628,200 feet of terraces.

Anderson said the building would be erected on the University campus at a cost of approximately $50,000 and that equipment was expected to cost $15,000. "We shall have the benefit of the University library and shall use student aid as much as possible," he added.

THE STRAIGHT GATE

Enter ye in at the straight gate. Matt. 7:13.

Some men in every age have sought to attain a high standard of moral rectitude and right-living; they have striven to secure themselves in a position which would please their favorite deity. In this lesson taught by Jesus we find how individuals can attain a position in life that will not only be pleasing to God but by their lives show forth works of righteousness for the betterment of humanity.

In the verse preceding this text Jesus tells what the straight gate is: "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even to them; for this is the law of prophets." In this act is the archstone that spans the entrance to the Kingdom of Heaven which Jesus founded in the earth. On this archstone is engraved the one word that is universally understood more than any other—and that word is "Love." It is this subtle influence working in the lives of men and women in the obscure as well as in the exalted positions in life that makes the Kingdom of Heaven lieh in the flesh. This influence moves on for the salvation of men and women and the glory of God in the earth. Men who live the pure and simple lives motivated by love are the cornerstones of civilization. They are the instruments in the hand of God for the promotion of his

KNOW YOUR MONEY

And Avoid Loss Due to Counterfeits

TO THE AMERICAN PUBLIC:

The United States Secret Service and your police wish you to KNOW YOUR MONEY, and through this nation-wide educational program aim to suppress the moral crime of counterfeiting.

Observance of these few simple rules will safeguard the pocketbooks of the Nation. Therefore, I urge every person to carefully study the rules and to follow them.

The United States Secret Service is grateful for the whole-hearted cooperation which it has always enjoyed from your police officers, and we now solicit the assistance of every American citizen in this effort to prevent crime through this modern method of education, instead of the age-old method of prosecutions and imprisonment.

CHIEF WILSON

Chief, U. S. Secret Service.

HOW TO DETECT COUNTERFEIT BILLS

1. KNOW YOUR MONEY!
2. COMPARE the suspected bill with a genuine of the same type and denomination. Observe carefully the following features:

(a) PORTRAIT: Genuine is lifelike; stands out from oval background which is a soft screen of regular lines; counterfeits are usually dull, smudgy, or abnormally white; scribbled background is dark with irregular and broken lines.

(b) SEAL: On genuine, seal points around rim are identical and sharp. On counterfeit, seal points are usually different in color; broken lines.

(c) SERIAL NUMBERS: Genuine have distinctive style; firmly and evenly printed; some color as seal. Counterfeits, style different; poorly printed; badly exposed unless in appearance.

(d) PAPER: Genuine bills are printed on distinctive paper containing very small red and blue fibers.

3. RUBBING a bill will NOT prove whether it is genuine or counterfeit; ink will rub off of either.

4. REMEMBER—NOT ALL STRANGERS ARE COUNTERFEITERS, BUT ALL COUNTERFEITERS ARE LIKELY TO BE STRANGERS.

TYPES OF CURRENCY

The only three types of currency printed by the United States Government for circulation are:

1. FEDERAL RESERVE NOTES, which bear GREEN serial numbers and seal.
2. UNITED STATES NOTES, which bear RED numbers and seal.
3. SILVER CERTIFICATES, which bear BLUE numbers and seal.

PORTRAITS

Denominations of bills may be identified by portraits, as follows:

|------------|-----------------------|
| WASHINGTON | on all $1.00 bills |
| JEFFERSON | on all $2.00 bills |
| LINCOLN | on all $5.00 bills |
| HAMILTON | on all $10.00 bills |
| JACKSON | on all $20.00 bills |
| GRANT | on all $50.00 bills |
| FRANKLIN | on all $100.00 bills |

HOW TO DETECT COUNTERFEIT COINS

1. KNOW YOUR MONEY!
2. RING all coins on a hard surface. Genuine coins sound clear and bell-like. Counterfeits sound dull.
3. FEEL all coins. Most counterfeit coins feel greasy.
4. COMPARE the reading (the corrugated outer edge) of a suspected coin with one known to be genuine. The ridges on genuine coins are distinct and evenly spaced. On counterfeit coins they are poorly spaced and irregular.

HOW TO CASH GOVERNMENT CHECKS

1. KNOW YOUR ENDORSEMENT!
2. DEMAND definite identification of the payee.
3. COMPARE endorsement on check with signature on identification.
4. WPA workers carry cards with identification number, signature and physical description. If you cash WPA checks, compare these three things and make sure the description fits that of the person presenting the check.
5. BE CAUTIOUS about cashing a check on which the payee's address is far removed from your place of business.
6. REMEMBER—You may lose the amount of any Government check which has not been endorsed by the rightful payee.
7. MAKE A CHECK BEFORE YOU TAKE A CHECK!!

The above notices, and the one printed below, are part of the national educational campaign of the United States Secret Service.

SPECIMEN WARNING NOTICE

Send postcard to Secret Service asking to be placed on mailing list.

VERY DANGEROUS $10 COUNTERFEIT

WHEN YOU RECEIVE A GREEN SEAL BILL WITH THIS OR OTHER COUNTERFEIT SEALS, CHECK LETTERS AND NUMBERS, COMPARE IT WITH A GENUINE BILL! THE COUNTERFEIT PORTAL WILL BE EITHER TOO DARK OR TOO LIGHT, AND WILL LACK THE DELICATE DETAIL OF THE GENUINE.

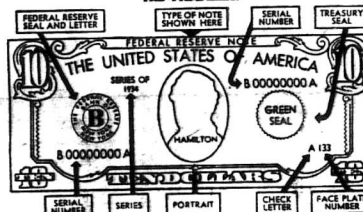

PLACE THIS NOTICE ON OR NEAR YOUR CASH REGISTER

WHEN A STRANGER GIVES YOU A COUNTERFEIT BILL

1. DO NOT RETURN IT!
2. TELEPHONE POLICE AT ONCE!
3. DELAY THE PASSES UNDER A PARTY!
4. AVOID ARGUMENT, IF NECESSARY, TELL THEM THE POLICE WILL HANDLE THE MATTER.
5. WRITE DOWN A DESCRIPTION IF THE PASSES LEAVES.
6. TAKE THE TAG NUMBERS OF ANY CASH INVOLVED.

Laundry Board To Be Organized To Investigate Wages

Price Control In Consumer's Hands, Says Economist

Public Hearing To Be Held At Some Later Date

Commissioner of Industrial Relations W. C. Burrow announced this week that he had called into session the Kentucky Minimum Wage Board for laundries, dry cleaners and dress. The Board first to be appointed for a specific industry, is to meet in its initial session at the Industrial Relations Department on the morning of June 30. Operating under the Kentucky Minimum Wage Law, the Board will hold a public hearing, seek information regarding the cost of living and wages now paid to laundry workers, and then recommend to Commissioner Burrow a minimum wage which will apply to the laundry industry in Kentucky.

Alice Morrison, O. U. of K., Lists Several Checks On Inflationary Practices

A price-rise in consumer goods, working hardships on everyone, may in part be prevented by united action, according to Miss Alice Morrison of the University of Kentucky home economics department. In view of repeated statements on Miss Harriet Elliott, consumer representative on the defense commission, and others, the Government clearly wishes to prevent inflationary prices, pointed out the home economist. To succeed in this program, the cooperation of consumers must be obtained. They may help in the following ways:

- By slowing-down on all unnecessary buying.
- By putting any increase in profits from farm products into defense bonds or other safe savings, rather than spending it.
- By systematically buying less expensive products, without getting poorer, quality necessarily—by astute buying in other words.
- By millions of Americans serving in the army or on defense projects, the ability to produce normal consumer goods is lessened. Taken with higher wages and profits, severe "competition" in buying might force prices beyond normal ability of lower income groups to buy needed goods, Miss Morrison added.
- At the University of Kentucky a consumer group has been meeting several hours weekly to consider ways of meeting the problem, and how to give the family adequate diets without greatly increased costs. "Only consumers can prevent prices going higher—the Government's direct action can be rendered useless by ill-adviced buying practices on the part of the public," concluded the home economist.

Air Corps Cadets

Enjoy Busy Life At Advanced Schools

"It Takes A Good Man And A Lot of Training To Make An Army Flying Officer"

"Almost anybody can fly an airplane," recently commented an Army Air Corps instructor, "but it takes a good man and a lot of training to make an Army flying officer."

That explains why only twenty-three percent of the total time at Advanced Army Flying Schools is spent in the air.

Out of a total of 1,440 hours, the Army Aviation Cadet spends 325 hours to flying, 285 hours during daylight hours, and forty hours to night flying. These figures include the time taken in preparations on the runway, taxiing the ship to take-off point and bringing it back to "the line" when the flight is over. The time the student pilot actually spends in the air is seventy hours—fifty-nine hours in daylight and eleven hours in after-dark flying.

Seemingly the most important thing is to "get 'em in the air," but there are other things which count for more. One is that the aviation Cadet learn to be a good, well-disciplined soldier.

To formations, therefore, he devotes 23 hours, forty minutes, or sixteen percent of his time. To orientation he gives thirteen hours, or one percent to ground school, fifty-six hours, or three and one-half percent; to calisthenics and athletics, eighty-eight hours, forty-five minutes, or six percent; to study, sixty hours or four percent; and to pistol practice, twelve hours or one percent.

It would seem that a program rapidly becoming geared to produce 30,000 pilots a year would permit little time for sleep. But leading military authorities have learned economy in this ancient institution. To the men who handle America's most skilful defense weapon, the airplane, sleep is dished out in a large portion.

In the ten week period, Flying Cadets are required to sleep 680 hours, or thirty-four percent of the time!

Add to this eleven percent free time allotted to the Cadet to take

CHURCH NEWS

Three Graduates Three local youths, Misses Mary Eda Lappin and Joyce Wolford, and Mr. Jimmy Reynolds, received diplomas last Saturday at the graduation exercises held at The Northern Kentucky Young Peoples Conference, held at Camp Meacham each summer.

Those three attended the conference for four summers, receiving passing marks in the courses of study offered by the faculty. The courses dealt with such religious problems as conducting meetings, church administration, worship, teaching, classes, the meaning of Christianity, and with normal problems as the liquor traffic, war and poverty.

Graduates of the Kentucky Youth Conferences, which are held throughout the various areas of the State, are eligible to attend the Kentucky Christian Adult Conference held at Midway each summer. This conference projects the studies mentioned in advance fields.
