VOLUME VIII MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 24, 1941 NUMBER THIRTY

Jim Clay is having his annual bath at the Fordyce Bath House in Hot Springs, Arkansas. We hope as all his neighbors hope that he will smell better when he gets back. I understand they had a fish flood when he got into the bathtub. It overflowed and washed the lower end of his pants away. This one guy I'd like to see going down the creek in a bathtub rowing with his cane and grinning like an opossum.

Showing those hoarse teeth of his. I sincerely hope he has a good time, and we are all enjoying the cards he is writing back to us with children's picture on them. When I see youngsters sitting over the fence I always think of them and wish they look so much alike. We miss you Jim and we hope that you get back you will be 99 1/2 years old. (Is that a little waitress there you was talking me about?) Arthur J. Willey of Mayesville spent some time in Tennessee. He wore the same suit he wore twenty-five years ago with the white shirt around the vest and saw the same people. It was his twenty-fifth anniversary as he said and he really enjoyed it. Well, I can imagine a great time was had by all for there is no limit as to the fun a bunch can have.

According to custom, the registrars will be out to enroll all boys and girls who expect to attend the Bible School for the two ensuing weeks. The school will be held in the morning and will be held in the afternoon. The public generally will be made aware of the fact that a bigger and better school is beginning this year.

On the following Monday, July 22nd, the first day of regular school will form at the door, and pupils will march in for the opening exercises. The school will be held in the morning and will be held in the afternoon. The public generally will be made aware of the fact that a bigger and better school is beginning this year.

DEFENSE BOND Quiz

Q. What is the reason for buying a Defense Bond?

A. To keep America free. To show your faith and pride in your country. To warn foreign dictators that the United States is the strongest country in the world.

Q. But if I do not have enough money to buy a Defense Bond, what can I do?

A. Buy Defense Postal Stamps, on sale almost everywhere. Your post office, bank, department store or druggist has them, or can get them for you, at 10 cents upward. Save enough Stamps to exchange for a Defense Bond.

NOTE.—To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

vehicle will operate within a twenty-four hour radius of the Red Cross processing centers in Philadelphia. It will rush blood from donors to the centers to be converted into preservative plasma that is kept in "blood banks" for use when transfusions are required on brief notice. The Red Cross plans to establish additional processing centers throughout the country and add other refrigerated vehicles to serve them. Essential element in the success of this project is a good highway system. Similar use of mobile medical units in London has focused attention on this important sidelight of highway transportation in defense.

When a doctor decides hospitalization is required, his first two requisites are usually speed and ease of travel. These two factors are made available to every rural resident through important roads. Poor roads should not be permitted to deprive any citizen of the right to equal opportunity for adequate medical care. Good roads are an indispensable ally in the race between Life and Death.

son, Resident Landscape Architect for the park, has been responsible for the preparation of the first and ensuing annual editions. It is the outgrowth of cooperative planning by the Park Superintendent, R. Taylor Hoskins, the branch of engineering headed by Park Engineers Paul McGrath Miller, the branch of forestry and the landscape architect's office. It is a long term program for the future of the park, with successive revisions each year to bring the plan up to date.

For the present year which began July 1, major construction work includes a three-acre parking area for cave visitors; surfacing the Echo River road from Highway 70 to the river with waterbound macadam; temporary lighting and trail construction in the New Discovery; surfacing the headquarters area road to cabins, picnic and camping grounds, a total of about one and one-half miles, for which eight inch base has already been completed; extension of the road system in the residential area by constructing a half-mile loop road to the new residence for the superintendent; extension of the sewage treatment plant to triple its present capacity; and a connecting road on the north side of Green River from the present Mammoth Cave Stockholm road to Cave to serve a new ranger residence being completed there.

As far as new building construction is concerned, authorization will first be sought for at least part of the unit which will already have been completed, an office building, museum and post office, according to Mr. Hoskins. As soon as the National Park Service takes over the operation of the cave and the guide service, such a building will be essential, he points out. An administration building to house the Service personnel is next on the priority list to supplant the temporary buildings built since the National Service first brought personnel here in 1933.

The long term program, much of which lies in the future, includes: a community building and school; an apartment house for park employees; a community building for the cabin and camping area to house a store, office, and recreation room; nineteen residences with connecting, water, sewer and power lines; development of the Green River beach; a cafeteria and office for the cabin area; a new lodge building; new cottages and extension of the cabin developments as required.

Ultimately the public will have a choice of five different types of facilities in the park, says Mr. Hoskins. These will include a modern hotel, cottage such as the Southern type buildings now in use, cabins, housekeeping cabins, and camp areas for visitors who bring their own trailers or tents.

Still to go up later in the year, utility areas will be two stone storage buildings approximately thirty by ninety feet in size; a carpenter shop; and a fire station including living quarters for the ranger in charge. The master plan also includes possible dormitories for employees of concession operators in the park.

Road plans for the future are so designed that ultimately as soon as the visitor's car enters the headquarters area he will drive entirely in one-way traffic and over high-type surfaced roadways.

Cincinnati Dean Speaks At College Auditorium

Dean L. A. Peckstein, of the University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio, spoke at the college auditorium, Tuesday evening, July 14, to a large audience.

He spoke in a quiet, convincing manner, but with strong emotion about the problems of youth today and in tomorrow's world. He compared his generation with the youth living today. Tomorrow's world will have strange and startling problems, said Dean Peckstein.

South, therefore, must have a method of solving these problems. Tomorrow will be a day of even more power than we have today. It will be an industrialized world with the masses of people crowding the already overgrown and over-races will be found. These people with alien psychology and problems running into their station. They will set up other problems, and it will take intelligent youth to carry on.

Dean Peckstein spoke at length of the new wave of thought and the trend after the war. He believes that democracy and Christianity are linked together and if one should fail they will both fail, but he believes that both will triumph over the greedy warmongers.

Hopkins County farmers found pigs raised in sanitary quarters healthier and made better growth than those in worm-infested pens.

In Johnson County, poultry raising was increased until a local hatchery could not supply the demand for chicks.

Large Peach Crop Since 1931 Is Ready For State Markets

Estimated Harvest Of Over 570,000 Bushels Produced In State This Year

A million-bushel peach crop, the largest and best crop since 1931, is being harvested in Kentucky, says a statement from the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The Red Bird and June Elbertas already have been picked, and other varieties are opening. The harvesting of the big crop will continue through July and August.

In the Bowling Green district, the department of the college says the commercial crop in the Henderson district will be at least 300,000 bushels. This district includes the counties of Henderson, Union, Warren, Allen, Monroe, Simpson, Barren, Christian and Caldwell counties. Jefferson, Bullitt, Shelby, Oldham, Trimble and Nelson counties, comprising the Louisville district, should have a commercial crop of about 80,000 bushels according to Mr. Magill. For the Northern Kentucky counties of Campbell, Kenton, Gallatin, Bracken and Grant he estimates production of 50,000 bushels; and for the Eastern Kentucky counties of Johnson, Pike, Pulaski, Harlan and Boone he estimates production of 40,000 bushels. Some commercial peaches are produced in other counties, while home peaches from which few or no peaches are sold will add to the production, Mr. Magill pointed out.

Home-makers in Hopkins County have been attending church and butter-making demonstrations.

Seven Carroll County 4-Hers have started purebred Jersey herds this year.

Daviess County farmers used Vitamin B-1 on their tobacco plant beds, with good results.

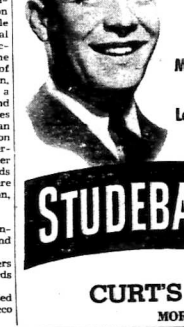

Mammoth Cave Is Scene Of U. S. Army For State Markets Battle Maneuver

Engineer Corps Effect Crossing Of Green River During Darkness

The rugged bluffs of the Green River, once the site of sharp engagements between forces of the North and South, this weekend again became a battlefield. This time, however, there was no bloodshed, for it was only a simulated battle staged by the 16th Engineers battalion of the First Armored division on field maneuvers.

Problem assigned to the army was to remain bivouacked under sheltering trees in Mammoth Cave National Park during the day, then send out advance units as soon as night came to effect a crossing of the Green River. Under complete blackout conditions, the engineers' test run for the first time their night came to effect a crossing of the Green River. the river edge, became the foundation for steel beams over which trucks, winches and cranes were hauled across the river. Nearly five hundred men made the crossing on the site of the old Mammoth Cave ferry, the entire construction and crossing being effected in complete darkness.

Under the command Major T. H. Stanley the advance units were to establish a bridgehead on important elevated points across the Green River. Meanwhile, their rear was protected by machine-gun units distributed over a wide area covering all possible approaches to the site of the position. Theoretically this engineering unit would have been followed by large units of infantry and artillery.

By morning, the ferry having served its purpose, it was dismantled, and few of the visitors in the park were aware of the fact that a modern battle maneuver had been accomplished during the night.

Redford Damron Is Elected Senior Class President, July 16

At a senior banquet held in the faculty dining room of the Morehead College Cafeteria, Wednesday, July 16, Mr. Redford Damron of Pikeville, was elected President of the Senior Class, to fill the vacancy created by James Stewart of Greenup County, who completed his work at the end of the first term.

Mr. Damron has been outstanding in college activities since entering in 1939. He has been teaching at Freeburn, Kentucky, for the past two years, but will be principal of the South Williamson graded school this year. He will receive his A. B. degree in Biological Science in August.

Raising of vetch has increased in Perry County during the past two years, with prospects of its being the leading fall cover crop.

What is happening to a great many of our college students during their four years of college life? In some cases they appear day upon day to hear what has been revealed in the realms of science, mathematics, literature, and what have you. It is an accumulation of the same ideas without the modern trimmings. There isn't anything wrong particularly with some of this college reading, but there is another aspect to one's education which is also quite significant. If one keeps up with this accumulation of ideas, worked out by the "other fellow" he will probably leave college a "walking encyclopedia" but he may know comparatively little of the lessons of life and thinking in general. This type of a "book-worm" student should have written after his A. B.—Absorbed in Books. On the other hand, if one has absorbed a modicum amount of book culture and has made it a daily practice to question critically what is presented, and occasionally thinks something out for himself, he should have the degree in I. L. D. Devotee of Literature and Learning.

Occasionally the writer has asked his students if they ever had any original ideas. This really gets embarrassing if followed up by, "name one." The best teachers whom the writer knows are like gad-flies that stir their pupils into thinking out their own problems. George Bernard Shaw once said, "Few people think more than two or three times a year. I have made an international reputation for myself by thinking once or twice a week." In colleges the plaintive note is heard too often, "we are so busy just this and that, we don't have time to think things out for ourselves." The ideas of Shakespeare bear the approval of the ages. He worked them out through his great genius. It is highly significant to know what impact his ideas have upon the mind of the learner. There are not many intrinsic educational qualities in constantly bending one's mind to fit the patterns or moulds of a Shakespeare, a Locke, a Milton, a Spenser, or a Rousseau. College students should approach every problem with the same frame of mind. The Moser approached the burning bush. The questioning, curious mind may be the uncomfortable approach to learning, but it is the only intelligent way to approach any problem.

We who teach in college are all too busy hatching out the questions and prescribing the answers both of which the student may or may not have the slightest interest in.

Obituary

William Lee Eldridge, son of James and Malissa Eldridge, was born at Oldtown, Greenup County, Kentucky, on September 25, 1883, and departed this life at his home at Haldeman, Rowan County, Kentucky, June 25, 1941, at 11 p. m., of a heart attack.

Mr. Eldridge was married to Ida Patton in 1904, and to this union were born one daughter, Mrs. M. C. Forgy, of South Point, Ohio, seven boys, namely Dale, Denver, (deceased), Athol, Faye, Venis, Hubert and Lloyd of Haldeman, and one daughter, Mrs. Emma Parker and ten grandchildren.

Mr. Eldridge joined the Methodist Church the age of nineteen and during his last hours he expressed himself as being prepared to meet Jesus in blessed peace and departed this life with prayer upon his lips.

He was one of the oldest employees of The Kentucky Firebrick Company, having worked for them thirty-one years. During this time he worked in the capacity of Foreman and Machinist, ever giving loyal and efficient service.

In his passing, the community loses an excellent citizen, his family a kind and loving husband and father.

Falls Addresses Teachers Meeting

Dr. J. D. Falls spoke to the Rowan County Teachers last Saturday, on the subject, "The Proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Kentucky and its effect on the future Educational Program." He stated that, "The adoption of this amendment will be one of the most forward steps in education that Kentucky has taken in the last decade."

State Farmers Used More Lime in 1940

Every year Kentucky farmers in the AAA program spread hundreds of thousands of tons of lime on their land. In 1940 the amount of lime spread in the program reached the all-time high of more than 1,180,000 tons.

What this may mean to national defense through improved health of the people is recognized by leading health authorities like Dr. Phillip F. Barbour of Louisville, consultant on child diseases for the Kentucky Health Department.

Speaking of the entire southern Appalachian area, which includes much of eastern Kentucky, in a recent address Dr. Barbour said, "the absence of lime in the soil is leading to early disintegration of this region's teeth. Perhaps no where else in the nation are their children with such poor teeth."

Dr. Barbour pointed out that more lime was spread on the soil in the Appalachian area last year than in other similar areas in the United States, but he added that much more lime is needed.

Employment Office Places 21,451 Men Since January 1st

Placements Are Fully Twenty-Seven Percent Above Same Period Last Year

Impact of the National Defense Program in the first six months of this year is reflected in increased job placement activity of the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation's twenty local offices, according to Robert B. Hensley, Acting Executive Director.

Through June 30, Commission offices made 21,451 job placements, an increase of twenty-seven percent over the corresponding period of last year when 15,571 jobs were filled.

Job placements in June alone totaled 3,733 an eighteen percent increase over June 1940.

"The National Defense program with its attendant problem of recruiting workers for key industries has focused attention upon the job placement function of the Commission's offices," Hensley pointed out. "Our local offices are readily accessible to every resident of the state are logical centers both for recruitment of workers by employers and for workers to register their skills."

"The Federal Government and many industries are utilizing the facilities of the public employment offices by listing their openings and qualifications for a great variety of jobs. Qualified workers registered at the offices can obtain full information about these opportunities and thus save themselves time, expense and often a vivid disappointment in their quest for suitable employment, especially when the positions are located considerable distance from their homes.

"In order that the increasing demands may be met, our offices have found it necessary to appeal to all skilled persons with experience in shipbuilding, aircraft, metal working and electrical equipment manufacturing, who are not at present utilizing the maximum of their abilities, to visit the nearest local office so that a record may be secured of their experience," Hensley said.

A "hick town" is a place where the citizens open a telegram with prayer.

Too often "progress" means making bigger and better circles for us to run around in.

The National Guard, Reserves and Selectees for the duration of the emergency. President Roosevelt told his press conference that unless Congress acts the Army faces serious disintegration.

The President said no violation of the faith would be made in such extension of service, because the Selective Service Act had provided for such extension of service by Congress in the event of a national emergency.

The War Department announced initial deliveries of the A-24, a new dive bomber that can outperform those used by other nations. The Department said rifles and sub-machine guns are now being produced at a daily rate of 1,500, compared with 296 one year ago.

Under Secretary Patterson issued a statement of Army progress showing expenditures increased six fold in the past fiscal year.

Less-Lease Aid
 President Roosevelt sent Lease-Lease Administrator Hopkins to London for a new survey of British needs, and assigned two Army generals to speed the flow of munitions and food to Britain. The Surplus Marketing Administration purchased 30,000,000 pounds of tobacco, 2,544,000 bushels of corn and 75,000 bales of cotton for shipment abroad under the Lease-Lease program.

Civilian Supply
 The OPACS announced a program of give preference over other civilian needs to repair and maintenance parts for privately-owned automobiles, trucks, tractors, household refrigerators, stoves, ranges and water heaters, plumbing fixtures, and furnaces, hospital equipment, surgical instruments and eye-glass frames and parts.

The Maritime Commission said expansion of the merchant ship-building program requested from the Congress would provide 566 new ships by the end of 1943. Although only one of the 312 emergency cargo ships was scheduled for delivery this year, at least ten will be in operation by December 31, the Commission said. The fastest ship construction during the last war was seven months and twenty-four days, the Commission said, but it now hopes to reduce the time to 4-1-2 to five months, with two ships completed every day in 1943.

The Maritime Commission took title to sixteen more Danish vessels and to four Italian vessels under provisions of the Ship Requisitioning Act and the Coast Guard seized fifteen other Italian ships and one German ship to be damaged as soon as sabotage damage is repaired.

President Roosevelt signed legislation giving him power to select defense materials priority in merchant shipping space and loading facilities.

Aluminum Collection
 OPM Conservation Chief McConnell announced household collections of used aluminum ware during the collection campaign July 21-29 should permit construction of more than 2,000 additional fighting planes. He said tests indicated a minimum of 15,000,000 net pounds usable in defense manufacture will be collected in the national campaign. Civilian Defense Director LaGuardia said State Procurement offices of the Treasury Department will direct shipment of collected material from concentration points in each State to the nearest selected smelter.

Price Administrator Henderson said additional supplies of waste paper and cardboard are needed for packing articles produced by defense industries and urged that waste paper be saved by the householder for collection by waste paper dealers.

Prices
 Under Secretary Perkins announced retail food prices increased 1.7 percent during the last two weeks of June, in addition to 1.6 percent in the first two weeks of the month. Principal rises were in the price of eggs, lard, butter, pork chops and canned tomatoes, she said.

President Roosevelt told his press conference he is considering a price ceiling on rents and on commodities and asking Congress to put "teeth" in price-fixing measures.

Price Administrator Henderson, speaking at Atlantic City, said costs and prices have risen at the wholesale level and will soon hit the nation's pocketbooks. Before long, he said, "there will be more purchasing power running around hunting something to buy than there is goods available."

WPA and Defense
 WPA Commissioner Hunter said total average WPA employment during the 1942 fiscal year will be maintained at 1,000,000 instead of 1,700,000 as in the past year. He said almost thirty percent of all WPA workers were employed at national defense projects in June.

Increased Wages
 The Labor Department announced weekly earnings of wage earners in manufacturing industries in May rose to a new high of $39.69, a rise of five percent since this April and twenty-one percent over May, 1940. Hourly rates moved up an average of 72.6 cents, a gain of 2.5 percent over April and 8.1 percent over the same month last year. The Department of Agriculture reported the general level of farm wages rose to the highest level in eleven years in July, sixty percent above the 1910-14 average.

Power For Defense
 President Roosevelt asked Congress for authority to establish regional or nation-wide daylight saving time for all or such parts of the country as it deems proper. The Federal Power Commission reported that rainfall lessened the power shortage in the Southeast since September 13, inclusive, and before full usage of energy can be permitted small consumers.

State Fair Tickets Go On Sale July 28 At A. & P. Stores

Morehead Purchasers May Get "3 For 1" In Bargain Ticket Books

One'll get you three, if you'll listen to Robert B. Jewell, manager of the Kentucky State Fair, now busily engaged in reading plans for the fourth annual and what he deems to be the greatest exposition of Kentucky's varied products. Dates for this year's Fair are September 12 to September 13, inclusive.

While it may sound like the jargon of the Midway barker, Mr. Jewell really means every word of it. It's dollars, not doughnuts, he's talking about. It's not a trick and he uses no mirrors; he hasn't any cards up his sleeve. One good word, however, is true: you will get you what otherwise would cost you three.

Bargain budget books of special tickets will be on sale July 28 throughout the State at Farm Bureau Distributor's offices, various groceries, drugstores, hotels, cigar stands, bar and retail establishments and department stores. Each book contains six tickets with a total value of $3.00, at a cost of $1.00. A limit of 50,000 has been set so, when the supply is exhausted, there just won't be any more.

Good on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 8, 9, and 10, each ticket may be used for admission at the gate or to the grandstand or to the Horse Show. By application of these tickets at the grandstand and the Horse Show pavilion, purchasers are secured of admission to these stellar fixtures at one-third the regular rate. On the aforesaid nights at the Horse Show there will be offered the Stallion, Gelding and Mare divisions leading up to the World's Grand Championship Saddle Stake. On Tuesday and Wednesday nights the piece de resistance in front of the grandstand will be the famous Flying "X" Rodeo. And on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons at the track the offering will be programs of Grand Circuit harness racing by the world famous pacers and trotters which make history at Goshen, New York and other tracks on the Circuit.

Tickets will be on sale in Morehead at the great A. & P. Stores. In the language of press departments of movie studios, the 1941 Fair is going to be super-stupendous and colossal. A greater Horse Show being arranged, Grand Circuit harness racing will be for five instead of four days. Indications point to increased entries in the Baby Health Contest, Flower Show, Horticulture Exhibit, Dog Show, athletic competition and exhibits of the State's products from the farm and home. Newly found antiquities will be on exhibition, Colonel Cliff Gatewood's Cabin and new features are promised in the displays at the Game and Fish building and the Forestry Service Cabin.

Entertainment at the new Fair will be on a much larger scale. The Bendra Valley Barn Dance troupe will be Saturday night's preview feature with a personal appearance in the Horse Show pavilion. Colonel Cliff Gatewood's Flying "X" Rodeo will hold forth at the Grandstand every evening, Monday through Saturday, September 8-13. Jimmy Lynch's Death Dodgers are the Sunday afternoon, September 7, feature for the Grandstand Show. The Johnny J. Jones Shows, best of all carnival attractions, and Clyde Beatty and his wild animals will dominate the Midway. Different "name" bands will furnish music for dancing in the Pavil-

Rural Carriers Act As Salesmen For Defense Stamps

Thirty-two thousand rural mail carriers are now acting as agents in the sale of Defense Savings Stamps, postal officials have informed the Treasury Department. Demand for the stamps in sparsely settled districts caused the Post Office Department to authorize the carriers to act as salesmen.

The stamps range in value from ten cents to five dollars. Purchasers are given albums in which they can be mounted. When filled, the albums may be exchanged for Defense Savings Bonds.

Post Office officials recalled that rural mail carriers acted in similar capacities in 1917 and 1918 selling War Savings Stamps.

At ten Marion County community meetings, big home gardens and larger production of poultry, pork and dairy prodn stover planned. A final check-up showed 125,000 square yards of tobacco plant beds in Gerard County treated with Bordeaux mixture.

$5,300,000 Taxes Paid by Railroads in Kentucky in 1940

Railroads operating in Kentucky paid a total of more than $5,300,000 in taxes to the State, counties, cities and towns last year. Of this amount, at least $2,645,000 went into School Funds; approximately $960,000 went to build and maintain county roads and city streets, and the remaining $1,695,000 went into General Funds.

IN THIS COUNTY ALONE IN 1940 RAILROAD TAXES' TOTALED

$26,372.98

Thus the railroads paid a generous share of all the money required to conduct State, county and local business. This includes public education, streets and highways, public health work, police and fire protection, mental and tuberculosis hospitals, penal institutions, public charity, administration, and all the other services that you and other citizens require of your State and local governments.

You can readily see by these figures that every section of our Commonwealth shares in the prosperity and earnings of Kentucky railroads. So to your interest, as a progressive citizen and taxpayer—

1. TO OPPOSE unfair national or state subsidies to competing forms of transportation.
2. TO SUPPORT fair and reasonable measures to put all other carriers for hire under regulations similar to those prescribed for railroads—which bear so large a part of the general tax burden and carry over their own roadways the bulk of the transportation load in peace and in war.

*The railroads also paid to the STATE taxes on all their property located in this county. A large part of these State taxes is spent in the counties for roads and other State services.

How many of these can you answer?

TRUE or false?

1. Each penny you spend for electric service works harder and gives you more than any other penny you can spend. True or false?
2. One kilowatt hour of electricity will do as much work as 13 men working for one hour. True or false?
3. The average house uses about 65 kilowatt hours a month—equal to 13 men each working 16 hours. If you paid for this labor at the rate of only 25c an hour it would cost you $211.25! True or false?
4. Your electric rate is the same as it was 10 or 15 years ago. True or false?
5. Your electric rate today is only about half of what it was 10 or 15 years ago, and today you get twice as much electricity for your money. Your bill probably has not come down because most customers are now using better lighting and many more appliances than they did 10 or 15 years ago. True or false?
6. The electric companies are owned by a few Wall Street bankers. True or false?
7. FALSE. As a matter of fact, you are probably part-owner of an electric company. Every family who has a bank account or a life insurance policy is part owner of some electric company. The money you put in the bank or pay to an insurance company is invested in various businesses, including electric companies. This makes you one of the millions who have a personal stake in the electric companies.
8. Taxes paid by the electric companies help reduce your own taxes. True or false?
9. TRUE. City, county and state taxes paid by the electric companies help to help pay operating expenses of the city, for financing the school system, street maintenance, streets and state expenses, such as pavements, roads and bridges. These taxes help to lighten the burden of all other taxpayers.

THINK ON THESE THINGS
By REV. B. H. KAZEE

There is today in the mind of the world general pessimism exists that we have, only in the last decade or so, come into the great revelation of what, through all the centuries gone by, has remained a mystery. I refer to nothing in particular, and everything in general.

I cannot tell just what is the basis of this conclusion, but it is true that people generally think of life. Man believes he has achieved great things, and in his enthusiasm for what he believes he has accomplished, he crosses with egotism, and tackles the future as if he would revolutionize man's whole existence.

Furthermore, I cannot, in this short space, give instances to prove my statement. I only know that we have learned furiously in the last few years, and are now on the eve of some great world-rocking achievement.

I have space only to point out that we ought to pause here and take stock of our learning. As I see it, the utter conclusion of what we have learned is, that a man is learned only if he is uncertain.

If a man be absolutely positive about anything these days he is relegated to the horse-and-buggy days, in which man ignorantly relied on superstition and hearsay as if it were written across the sky. No man today, who claims the attention of so-called intellectual appraisal, is allowed to be positive about anything. He must always be hanging on the unfinished end of a sentence. He must wait until further discovery is made before he can be positive. About some things, there is virtue in this position. But if there is nothing positively known, there certainly cannot be anything positively unknown. In the matter of religion this theory of uncertainty is working its havoc. We must not be sure, we must be always in doubt, ready to hear any new thing.

For myself, I prefer to be called dogmatic or narrow, and know some things positively than to be thought learned and remain forever a fool.
