Salt Lick Youths Crushed As Speeding Car Strikes Tree At Farmer's

Three young men were instantly killed Saturday night at a farm near Salt Lick when a car, driven by one of them, struck a tree at the side of the road, and crushing their lives out. The dead are Carl Muryan, 21, Ray Muryan, 14 and Kenneth Dickerson, 17, all of Salt Lick. Jimmy Cassidy, who was also in the wrecked car, escaped without injury, although he was just recovering consciousness when found.

The wreck occurred about 11 o'clock Saturday night. It is presumed that the car, driven at a high speed in the rain and fog, failed to make the turn, jumped a slight ditch at the side of the highway and collided with a tree. The car was a total wreck, the entire front being demolished, the motor driven back into the front seat. The speedometer kept at 70 miles per hour, indicating that they were making a terrific speed, considering the king of weather and night.

The bodies were taken to Morehead. Later the remains of the Dickerson boy were taken to Salt Lick to the Barnes-Hornum Funeral Home.

LAMBS BIG FACTOR

IN SHEEP RAISING
Lambs represent 80 percent of the income from sheep, the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station found in a study of flocks on farms. Wool contributes 18 percent and manure 2 percent of the flock value.

Feed and pasture represent 55 to 60 percent of the gross cost; depreciation of ewes, 15 to 17 percent; labor, 6 to 8 percent, and other items, such as interest, taxes, rams, shelter, equipment, veterinary fees, medicine, salt, shearing and marking, 11 to 21 percent. The following comments are made about the value of sheep on farms:

Sheep make possible a cash income from pasture, stover, straw and other feeds that otherwise could be sold.

Sheep furnish employment at a time when there is little else to do on the farm.

Sheep provide income from buildings, such as tobacco barns, which are not needed for sheep at the time of the year that tobacco need shelter.

Sheep help to control weeds.

Sheep are especially valuable on farms where much of the land must be kept in grass.

ELECTRICITY-FOR 20,000 FARMS

The Rural Electrification Administration reports that 7,000 miles of lines have been built or are under allotment in Kentucky, to furnish electricity to about 25,000 farms.

Twenty-four farmers' cooperative corporations of rural lines, and $125,000 to lend members to wire houses and install fixtures.

POULTRY BUILT BET FOR SMALL FARMER

On small farms, where tobacco has been the only source of cash income, a flock of 100 or more hens should add to the income and help to diversify the farming system. So believe Stuart Brant, county agent in Todd county. Most farm operators in Todd county, he continues, are realizing that some type of livestock should be kept, and in the southern part of the county there already have been increases in the numbers of beef cattle, dairy cattle and sheep. On small farms, or where fencing is inadequate, he would make poultry the beginning of a general improvement program.

POTATOES GROWN IN ONE FIELD 61 YEARS

Will potatoes "run out" when planted year after year on the same land? County Agent R. V. Trosper of Bell county wasn't sure, and so he asked Mrs. J. W. Lee, 80 year old farm woman. She said: "My husband and I bought a bushel each of Burbank and White Rose potatoes in the spring of 1878 from that planting we have sold more than 3,000 bushels of potatoes. Each spring we have planted seed potatoes from this original stock in the identical place where we planted them in 1878."

When girls are weak, run-down, nervous, subject to periodic pains, many a mother knows there may be early symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to indigestion, which many find are relieved by CARDUI. It helps build physical resistance through improved appetite and digestion. Also reported by many is that CARDUI, taken a few days before and during "the time," helps to ease the pain.

Meeting For Crippled Children in Louisville

Members and friends of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children are invited to attend the Society's annual meeting in the Brown Hotel, Louisville, on Wednesday, Dec. 6.

Work will be discussed. At noon there will be a joint luncheon with the Louisville Kiwanis Club. Mr. Paul King, Detroit, Mich., president of the National Society for Crippled Children, will be the guest speaker.

An afternoon program has been arranged at the Kewanee Hospital when the new wing of the hospital with its beautiful swimming pool, physiotherapy and occupational therapy departments and additional quarters for the care of crippled children will be open for inspection.

An entertainment will be staged by pupils in the special classes for crippled children in the Louisville Public Schools, and tea will be served by members of the Louisville Junior League.

Representatives of civic clubs and welfare groups from all parts of Kentucky are expected to attend the meeting, according to a statement of Mr. H. V. McChesney, president of the Society's executive committee.

The Society's annual meeting is held in Louisville on December 6. It is the object of the meeting to increase cooperation and enthusiasm of individuals and volunteer groups in every community that has made possible the widespread success of work for crippled children in Kentucky.

Mr. McChesney further pointed out that the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children is the parent of crippled children's work in this state, as it was responsible for the creation of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission, which now handles the professional program, holding free clinics and bringing crippled children to hospitals in Ashland, Lexington, and Louisville for treatment.

The Society supplements the activities of the Commission, raising funds through memberships, disseminating general information about the work, and assisting with the clinics and the solving of local welfare problems. Luncheon clubs, such as Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and others, Parent-Teachers Association, Women's Clubs and similar organizations, play an active part in the work of the society.

ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS FOR TOBACCO IN 1940

The outstanding change in the burley tobacco program for next year is the use of acreage allotments instead of pounds, from 100,000 to 100,000. This new method will reduce the tobacco they produce on their allotted acreages.

With the approval of the marketing quota for 1940, the vote in the county on October 21 referendum, the production of burley tobacco next year will be reduced about 19 percent from this year's estimated production of 354,000,000 pounds.

In determining the acreage allotments for next year, the usual normal acreage will be established for each farm. A prorata reduction will be made to bring the total within the acreage quota allotted to the state. In most cases, it is expected that the final allotment will be about 10 percent smaller than the allotment this year, according to the announcement from the State Agricultural Adjustment Administration office.

For instance, if the allotment of a farm this year permitted the growing of 10 acres, the grower would receive an allotment next year of nine acres and he would be permitted to sell all the tobacco grown in the nine acres. Provisions are to be made for small growers. By small growers is meant farms on which the normal average produces less than 2400 pounds.

Provisions also are to be made for the allotment of limited acreages to new growers.

YOUR BEST FRIEND

One of the finest tributes ever paid by one industry to another was recently voted by a newspaper in a mid western city, which had just suffered a destructive fire.

The owner of the paper ran a front page editorial along this line: Insurance, Your Best Friend

After a fire such as we recently experienced, the value and importance of a proper inventory of appraisal service is realized. Some of the things everyone should do are:

First: Have an inventory of your properties made ready to prove your claim.

Second: Have an insurance company go over your inventory. See if you have enough insurance to cover your property. Don't have too much, but don't have too little.

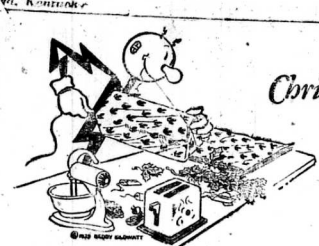

Third: If you have numerous articles that are expensive to replace, that depreciate rapidly and that change periodically in value, have some qualified man appraise and inventory your property.

Fourth: Play fair with the insurance company adjuster. Tell them the truth, regardless of value of your property. They'll play fair with you.

Fifth: Carefully check your own expiration dates and protect yourself if your agent does not. This is important.

Sixth: Above all, go to a capable insurance man and have him map out your insurance program. If ever you have a loss you will find that it pays big dividends to be properly protected. That's the agent's job—he knows more about it than you do.

Most thought-provoking of all was the editorial's last line which said: "If it were not for insurance, we (the city's oldest business firm) could no longer continue in business."

MOTORISTS AND TAXPAYERS! YOU, as users of Kentucky highways, know the danger you meet, the inconvenience you endure, because of big trucks, even though the present Kentucky law limits their length to 30 feet, and their weight to 9 tons. Larger and heavier trucks would: 1. Make use of the highways more hazardous. 2. Cause added inconvenience. 3. Destroy the roads and bridges. 4. Increase taxes to build and maintain a few highways for big trucks. 5. Leave little or nothing to maintain secondary and farm-to-market roads. It has been officially estimated that it would cost $88,800,000 to put Kentucky's main highways in condition to support big trucks. Why Railroads Are Interested: Railroads build, maintain and pay taxes on their roadways. It is grossly unfair for the government to permit great public utility transportation companies to operate trucks as big as freight cars upon its highways built and maintained at public expense. As the largest taxpayers in Kentucky railroads have the same interest as other taxpayers in avoiding payment of additional taxes to build and maintain super-highways needed only for express trucks which constitute less than one per cent of all highway traffic. Like farmers and merchants, railroads are interested in the maintenance of adequate secondary and farm-to-market roads.

The Extras are in the CAR—and not in the Price! Not a six, but an EIGHT for $895 and up. The model illustrated is the Buick Super model. $149-down saving $100 delivered at Flint, Mich. *This sidewall tires additional! YOU look this smooth-stepping Buick honey over, and its very manner tells you here's a one-in-a-million kind of automobile. You look at the advertised prices, add something more for transportation and accessories—and there you begin to go wrong! For one of the things that give this Buick its buy-value is the number of items included in the price that cost extra elsewhere! For instance—the Flash-Way Direction Signal, standard on all models, costs around $10 extra elsewhere—even without the automatic cut-off. Every Buick comes to you with automatic choke and an efficient oil cleaner—it's surprising how often they're sold as "extras." Every Buick has dual horns, dual sun visors, locks on both front doors, electric lighter, assist straps, 1 robe cord, 1 glove compartment. All have torque-tube drive, battery under hood, two ways of starting. Super and Roadmaster have front seats close to five feet wide and all models have Safety Plate Glass all around. And all this is included in the at-the-factory price. Why not see the nearest Buick dealer and see how little more it costs delivered to your door? "Best buy's Buick!" BROWN MOTOR COMPANY

County Agent Praises Seed Of Apperhart
plant breeders at the Kentucky Experiment Station where its superior qualities were first proven before it was made available to the public.

Mr. Apperhart has been very fortunate in producing this seed, which is of unusual quality. It is very bright, heavy, well matured seed that tests much higher than requirements for certification. This is the first certified seed ever produced in Rowan County. However, certified seed of all kinds are well known in the county and farmers realize its superior quality and appreciate what was made by the Seed Improvement Association and its members seed that can be depended upon in every respect.
