Well it certainly is tough to come back to this Mountain country I have been on a spree over in Indiana making the Ellis around Hickman, Indiana. The wife left Friday and I got on the supply. We went to one of them fancy weddings and did I put on the dog. (I wore a scissor tail with a stiff shirt and a white tie, white gloves, and pants with a silk stripe running down each side. My shirt did not have any buttons on it and I used what they called studs. Not the kind of studs we know here but shirt studs that hold your shirt together if they beaded down at a Mrs. Freeman's one of the grandest persons I have ever met. I was treated as only a mother could treat a son. The wife and I had a bed with a roof over it and the bathroom was so interesting that I had to take of both. Fact is, I spent most of my time in the bathroom trying out the different soaps that were in there. The wedding was in a huge church with a beautiful altar decorated with red and white flowers. The bride was dressed in a kimono sort of a garment that was new. She had a hair and nose equal to the best. Her eyes were like the sparkling stars from Heaven and her hair was blonde, hidden in a veil of lace. She looked like an angel who had jumped from a cloud. The groom was there from Jackson with a neck-tail coat and a white snow white. He came in an opposite door with some guy from the States. (I think they had been out shooting pop.) Well, I met her at the Altar and the preacher was there; they went through the usual lot and both got the rings all messed up, of which was to be expected. In the meantime had cried two handkerchiefs full and lost both studs out of my shirt. I was scared stiff. I would for some horrible reason be beheaded if placed on the Altar would catch the church on fire or that the Preachers nose glasses would fall and that my wife, who was bride's maid would drop her flowers. I was afraid Mrs. Tremalar, who hides mother, would give up on her if she had, I would have shown them some crying that was crying. I was in misery as the bride came down the aisle on the arm of her father. If he would have stumbled his toe, I would have fallen through my collar, cost, tie and all. It was a very exciting time. However, I have never seen such good people. Nothing was too good for us and others who have heard of Kentucky hospitality, which I must admit is good (for I live here). But I'll never enjoy those folks out there in Hickman, and my foot is always open from the bride and groom I wish you both the most joy and happiness. And if you, James Hogue, of Jackson, if you wish to make Patty and me happy as I like to fry green tomatoes. You to Patty, pet him and him to hit him and sweat him. I'll hit his hair, and don't fix any holes in his pants pocket. Mix his clothes up with yours in the washbowl. When he gets hard up demand a new hat or a vacation. Never cook biscuits and always be off on hands for breakfast. Sister, that is the secret for a successful married life. I know.

Charles E. Jennings Gets Promotion At Washington, D. C.

Also Honored By Local Union Of Federal Workers There

Charles E. Jennings, former Rowan County Judge, who is now living in Alexandria, Virginia, was recently promoted to the position of Acting Sergeant of the United States Public Personnel Administration.

Mr. Jennings has been in the service of the Federal Government for over twenty years. He was promoted to the position of Sergeant in the service of the American Federation of Government Employees, having been appointed alternate delegate to the National Convention of the Federation, which met in New York City. This, also, is quite a distinction, since there are only eight delegates and eight alternates appointed to represent the more than one thousand members.

Mailing List Being Revised This Week

In connection with the current effort to get our mailing list in order and to clear out of delinquent subscriptions, we have appointed Mrs. Cora Carrell as representative of our office, who has already or will in the near future contact those in Morehead and vicinity, whose subscriptions to The Morehead Independent have expired. She has been authorized to collect payment for subscriptions, for which a receipt is given.

It is our intention to bring our mailing list up to date by October first. We have been exceptionally lenient in many cases, making papers to agree with you on sending the paper five or six months in arrears. In all of these cases, we have anticipated your removal, and in the event you do not wish to continue your subscription, please check your expiration date in the mailing list and return it to us.

It is impossible to contact persons in the mailing list outside the county and out of the state. However, the expiration date is printed on the mailing list for your convenience. M. S. T. C. Fall Term Begins On Sept. 22

New Guidance Program For Freshmen Being Planned

Monday, September 22, is the opening date for the fall semester at Morehead State Teachers College, and from all indications, the new defense program will not seriously interfere with the enrollment.

It is back to college for a vast number of young men and women, to greet student friends and faculty, to lustily sing the praises and cheer football heroes on to victory, but to all colleges, the emphasis for the fall semester is placed on freshmen orientation. Special preparations are made to take care of the large army of young, fresh, eager freshmen who will knock for admittance.

The faculty members will be held in matters of etiquette, grooming, dating, conduct of the various classes and other matters so vital to a happy college life.

The faculty will return from their traveling vacations, and from college workshops, where they have studied with national educational leaders on how to give instruction in new and interesting ways; how to give inspiration and instruction to the youth.

Parents, as well as youth, are realizing that it pays to be prepared. Educationally, and they, too, have caught on to the slogan, "ON TO COLLEGE!"

2nd Degree Murder Charge Is Returned Against Ples Brown

Accused Of Knife-Slaying Of Muncie, Ind., Bartender, July 25

An indictment of second degree murder was returned against Ples Brown, formerly of Clearfield, Kentucky, by a Delaware (Ind.) County grand jury on September 5th.

Brown is accused of having stabbed to death Victor Kerns, Muncie, Indiana, bartender, last July.

In its report, the jury said it had questioned nine witnesses and that the members had received anonymous letters. The report continued that no one appeared to give evidence regarding the murder.

The indictment handed down by the jury found that the murder was premeditated, in which case a first-degree indictment could have been returned. A life sentence is the penalty on conviction in second degree murder. However, a trial jury has the right to convict on any lesser charge.

Brown had come there concerning Kerns' refusal to sell him liquor at the downtown tavern where the latter was employed. In a statement to police, Brown told of drinking a quantity of whiskey on the day of the slaying and then described the affair. He said that he stabbed Kerns when the victim started to strike him.

Reverend C. L. Cooper, pastor of the Methodist Church at New Castle, Kentucky, for the past four years, was assigned the pastorate of the Morehead Methodist Church.

At the Kentucky Conference of Methodist Churches, held at Wilmore, Kentucky, last week, Reverend C. L. Cooper, former pastor of the Methodist Church at New Castle, Kentucky, for the past four years, was assigned the pastorate of the Morehead Methodist Church.

Rev. C. L. Cooper Is New Pastor Of Methodist Church

Assigned Morehead Pastorate By Conference Held At Wilmore, Last Week

At the Kentucky Conference of Methodist Churches, held at Wilmore, Kentucky, last week, Reverend C. L. Cooper, former pastor of the Methodist Church at New Castle, Kentucky, for the past four years, was assigned the pastorate of the Morehead Methodist Church.

Reverend Cooper is a comparatively young man, married, but has no children. He is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and of Emory University of Atlanta, Georgia.

He and his wife, a very talented singer and musician, moved to Morehead last week, and has assumed his new duties in the church here.

Reverend Cooper was at one time pastor of the Methodist Church in Owingsville.

Other assignments of interest to the people of Morehead, were: Dr. J. H. Kizes, pastor of the Baptist Church; and Rev. G. B. Traylor, pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Reverend A. E. Mattingly, assigned pastor of the Methodist Church at New Castle, Kentucky, transferred from Flemingsburg, Kentucky; Marcus Redwey, prominent Lexington attorney, re-elected conference lay leader.

Rev. L. E. Mattingly Transferred To Emory University

Reverend L. E. Mattingly, who for the past year has served as pastor of the Morehead Methodist Church, was transferred by the Kentucky Conference of Methodist Churches to serve as Director of Religious Life at Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia.

Emory University is one of the largest Methodist institutions in the United States. Reverend Mattingly's promotion is quite a distinction.

One of the best educated ministers to serve in a Morehead pastorate, Reverend Mattingly led his church in a splendid, spiritual manner, and at a direct result of his efforts, the church has made rapid progress since his installation as pastor one year ago.

Reverend Mattingly left Morehead for Atlanta, where he will resume his new duties. Morehead feels the loss of a good leader, a gentleman, and a man of God.

Your pay in the Navy is gravy

No need to pay. No need to buy. No doctor's or dentist's bills. Even movies and other amusements are free. And when you first enlist, the Navy gives you $118.00 worth of uniforms! And if you want to learn a trade, the Navy is the place to do it. There are forty-five odd trades you can learn... training that's worth hundreds of dollars the first year.

SERVE YOUR COUNTRY! BUILD YOUR FUTURE! GET IN THE NAVY NOW!

THIS WEEK IN DEFENSE

The President established in the OPM a Division of Contract Distribution with Floyd Odium of New York as Director to "face the responsibility of alleviating the hardships which have resulted from the defense program and to marshal our productive capacities to the objective that no article or tool which can be used for defense shall be allowed to remain idle." The order was issued, the President said, "in furtherance of a determined move... to help the smaller business units of the country obtain a fair share of the defense orders and to prevent, as far as possible, dislocation of industry and unemployment of workers in plants where production has been curtailed by priorities and material shortages."

The Division will set up branch offices throughout the nation where there will be available procurement representatives of defense contracting agencies to negotiate contracts and subcontract, technical engineering aid on conversion of plants to defense work, representatives of the OPM Labor Division to plan reemployment or training of workers in plants idled, and financial facilities of the War and other Federal agencies which may be necessary to finance plant conversion.

To spread defense work among as great a number of firms as possible, "the Division will review Federal procurement practice in units... at large, and will promote organization of pools of small manufacturers to undertake work jointly. The Division will also establish exhibits showing parts of defense articles needed, their number, the tools necessary to make them and all other information so that manufacturing shop owners and manufacturers can determine when and where they can do it and arrange to do it."

Production of announced military aircraft manufacturers increased 854 planes during August, a record and 394 planes more than in July. OPM reports that 4,920 defense plants have been built or expanded since the beginning of the defense program.

The President told his press conference armament production will be accelerated by greater Priorities and Allocation. The new Supply and Allocation program stated it will stimulate and reorganize defense production to the benefit of the nation's resources, said its general policy demands curtailment of a less-essential industry where the materials and facilities necessary to a "realistic" defense program.

Navy Ships The Navy reported that during the first eight months of 1941 a total of 213 Naval vessels were completed, including one battleship, one cruiser, eight submarines and eight destroyers—and keels were laid for 436 ships, including two battleships, thirteen cruisers, eighteen destroyers, two aircraft carriers and fifty-seven destroyers.

Merchant Ships Maritime Commission Chairman Land announced the Commission's building program will place in operation 1,153 new ships of approximately 12,410,000 deadweight tons between July 1, 1941, and the end of 1942. He said production in the second quarter, 154 in the third quarter, and 184 in the fourth quarter. By the beginning of 1943, the program will yield in three months more than the 1,480,000 tons of ships constructed in the entire war year of 1918.

Army The Second and Third Armies and 1,000 planes of the Second and Third Tank Corps including Navy and Marine units, began moving into the Louisiana maneuver area for combat practice September 15 to 30. The war Department said it expects to work out actual conditions of a major battle the role common to all in support of mechanized and armored ground forces. To increase the efficiency and stamina of the Army, the Department set age limits for field officers ranging from thirty years for Second Lieutenants to sixty-two years for Major Generals. Officers over age will be given desk jobs.

Air Raid Defense The Army announced that it will conduct exercises during October to test the alertness and effectiveness of Eastern seaboard defenses against hostile aircraft flying against areas 125 to 150 miles inland. Approximately 48,000 civilians will act as spotters.

Aid to Russia A Russian mission to study procurement of planes for the Russian air force arrived in the United States. President Roosevelt named W. Averell Harriman to head the United States mission to confer in Moscow with the Soviet Government and a British mission regarding supplies to Russia.

The Maritime Commission announced the first American tanker carrying aviation gasoline to Russia had left New York for Vladivostok. State Secretary Hall issued four export licenses to permit movement of British and Latin American shipments to the Soviets through the United States.

Aid to Poland The President authorized Lend-Lease aid to the refugee Polish Government in the form of weapons and other supplies for the Polish Legion organizing in Canada for overseas action.

Prices Labor Secretary Perkins reported that the index of retail prices of eighteen staple foods in eighteen large cities in the last two weeks of August. The Department of Agriculture reported that prices are now 133 percent of the 1937-14 parity average, highest level in eleven years. QCD Director Lawrence, acting as president of the United States Conference of Mayors, recommended revocation of municipal licenses of retailers in cases of persistent violation of Federal price ceilings fixed by Price Administrator Henderson.

Oil, Gas Acting Oil Coordinator Davies announced all commercial aircraft and agricultural aviation gasoline needs will be met in September but there will be a ten percent cut in deliveries on the Atlantic coast States and Puerto Rico. Davies also announced he had asked for and received commitments from eleven principal East coast oil refiners to provide an available railroad tank cars in transportation of petroleum products to the Eastern States shortage.

President Roosevelt authorized the Southern Pine Line Company to use the services of the War Department to obtain right-of-way for an oil pipeline from Port St. Joe, Florida, in Chattanooga, Tennessee, for national defense purposes. J. Howard Marshall, Counsel for the Petroleum Coordinator's Office, said the OPM has authority to enforce the civilian allocation program of OPACS and to enforce a consumer rationing program on the Atlantic coast should it become necessary.

Recruitment of Soldiers Selective Service Headquarters announced local boards will assist regulars of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps as well as selectees and Guardsmen to find employment when they leave service. The War Department sent a letter to each soldier advising of the program for reemployment.

The Army announced it will observe the following order to release of 200,000 Civilian Control selectees and regulars during the rest of 1941; dependency and hardship cases who complete enlistment of either one or two years, selectees and Guardsmen who reached twenty-eight before last July 1 married selectees who have completed one year; selectees who have completed their normal term of service.

In determining the number of men to be released from each unit, the Army will consider the state of training of the unit, its logistic mission. The Army said it will also release reserve officers, except those in the air forces, after one year of service in order to provide training opportunities for others not on duty. The air force is expanding at such a rate all air officers are needed.

Do You Know Your Ky. Department Of Agriculture?

Created in 1876 the Kentucky Department of Agriculture renders many services to the farmers of Kentucky that have become more or less accepted and taken for granted by them. In order to acquaint you with our work and the things being done, we are presenting to you a brief summary of the more important functions carried on by this office and its various departments.

We hope that this brief description and analysis of this branch of the State Government will be both interesting and instructive, as well as provide an opportunity for you to become better acquainted and more helpful to each other. Kentucky sells annually 350,000,000 pounds of tobacco and the Department of Agriculture annually supervises its sale; the crop with which it is auctioned, the size of the baskets, the hours that it is sold, and the statistics covering the price and amount sold are all functions handled by this Department.

The ninety stockyards, concentrated points and packing plants through which millions of dollars of your live stock annually finds its way to market are all checked and supervised by this Department. The scales over which this livestock is weighed are regularly being tested. The witnesses are bonded for the faithful performance of their duty. Constant vigilance is kept with the idea of continuing to improve the trade practices employed.

This year the Department of Agriculture worked out with the Federal Department of Agriculture a Federal-State Inspection Service. Through this service an individual, a group, or a cooperative marketing association may bid to market all or part of their produce. This year sorghum, vegetables and fruit have been federally graded and sold under Federal grades, thus bringing to the farmer considerably higher prices for his product.

Assistance is available from this Department to help organize cooperative marketing associations to dispose of his product. During the past year, twelve cooperative marketing associations have been formed and many others are in the process of organization. This work has not ended with the formation of the cooperatives since the Department has been able to materially assist in selling their products through chain stores and other large users of farm products. The Dog Licensing Law is also administered through your Department of Agriculture. Under this law, owners of dogs are required to buy a dog license. After the small administration cost of this law is paid, the dog tax money is used to pay claims to farmers for livestock killed or damaged by stray dogs. Any residue in this fund after all claims are paid is turned over to the County School Fund to assist in their local school expense. This law has been very helpful in partly compensating farmers for sheep and other livestock which have been destroyed. It is not a popular law but a necessary law, where the livestock industry survives and prospers. The Livestock Sanitation Division of the Department of Agriculture exercises control of interstate and intra-state shipments of livestock, in order to prevent diseased livestock from entering Kentucky.

In order to keep the State free of Bovine Tuberculosis, cattle in every county in the state are tested once every three years and as a result, we have in Kentucky a modified Free Accredited Area of less than one-half of one percent of Tuberculosis infection.

The testing and eradication of Bang's Disease in cattle occupies a very prominent place in the activities of this Division. The control of this disease is a very important factor in bringing about a richly developed and profitable dairy and breeding industry in the State. The disease known as Brucella Fever is traceable to this disease and likewise can be controlled to a large extent by its eradication.

The control of other communicable diseases, such as: Anthrax, glanders, Rabies, Foot and Mouth Disease, Hog Cholera and other diseases now under the control and supervision of the Board of Agriculture are showing much improvement.

The inspection of livestock yards, control of designated slaughtering plants, maintenance of accredited herd work, disinfection of premises where diseases have been found are all parts of the general program carried on by the Livestock Sanitation Division.

Under the work done by this Department, practically all public livestock yards in the State maintain Vets for the dipping of sheep to control and eliminate scab, sheep scab. Also, sheep and hogs on the farm are quarantined where scab and cholera are found to exist.

The Department is now engaged in preparing legislation designed to strengthen our existing laws on Sheep Protective Associations and the grading of small grains, including wheat. These proposed laws will largely eliminate the confusion that results from conflicting Federal and State laws.

We publish each month the Kentucky Marketing Bulletin, which publication deals with agriculture in all of its phases. The Bulletin also offers a free advisory service wherein proposals of barter and sale of farm products and equipment may be offered to our readers. If you would like to receive the Bulletin each month, it will be sent to you without cost, upon request.

Supply Priorities And Allocation Board Is Organized

First Official Statement, Below, States Activities

The following statement was issued today by the Supply Priorities and Allocation Board following its initial meeting:

The President established the Supply Priorities and Allocations Board to speed all-out defense. The Board realizes the magnitude of its task. It recognizes as well that success requires a vigorous, united effort on its part, together with unstinted cooperation from the public in accepting certain responsibilities necessary in the defense of our democratic institutions.

To hasten direct action along lines where action is needed, the Board today charted a general policy designed to broaden and accelerate the defense program and to make it more immediately effective.

Specific actions will be announced promptly and an explanation given that there may be no doubt or confusion in the public mind concerning the Board's direction and destination.

Our general policy is simple. Production shall be stimulated and organized to the limit of the nation's resources. Every available man and machine must be employed either on direct defense requirements or at work essential to the civilian economy. Along this road lies protection of our freedom and of the basic economy necessary to maintenance of that freedom.

We must forego the less essential that we may have an abundance of the more essential. By less essential industry is meant those industrial activities involving use of materials and production facilities which sap supplies and machinery resources necessary to a realistic all-out defense program. In some cases this may involve only a part of an industry; in other cases it may involve several parts. Whenever possible to convert the less essential to military or essential civilian production this will be done. Every means will be employed to expedite this process with a minimum loss of time for men and machines. But the less essential must go.

This means cutting off the fat and hardening the muscles. The Board holds that defense comes first and while recognizing that the civilian economy must be stripped of non-essentials, it must be kept in good running order and in more than staidy condition. To achieve this twin purpose the Board will devise promptly appropriate controls to assure equitable distribution of materials under a constructive system of priorities, the basic purpose of which is to assure the wisest use of all our resources for the task at hand.

Those materials, which may be hoarded in the cellars and attics of certain industries and traders will be routed out and put to use where most needed in military and essential civilian production. In its allocations, the Board will consider existing supplies which have been bought in anticipation of future requirements. This means, of course, that the Board will assemble complete, detailed and accurate statements of requirements as to military and essential civilian needs to guide its application and enforcement of priorities. It should be emphasized that the demands of military and essential civilian requirements of this hemisphere must be equally recognized and adequately provided for in allocating materials.

Scarcely buying against imaginary requirements of the future will be discouraged effectively. Real requirements are too immediate and urgent for us to tolerate the slightest diversion by speculators or others whose actions would destroy our policy of share and share alike the burdens and responsibilities which confront us.

The Board hopes to be able to announce by next week the means adopted to carry out this purpose. There will also be announced a national plan for conservation of materials needed in defense production.

The goal our country must reach to perpetuate our freedom and to assure victory for all who share our philosophy means sacrifice. But we must make certain that sacrifices are not imposed because we are wasteful, because we fail to look ahead or because proper use is not made of all available materials, men and machines. For this reason, it is the Board's intention to state publicly the basis of each important step taken, insofar as that may be done without affecting our military security adversely.

The Board believes that if the public knows why it must forego certain comforts, why it must give rather than get, why, in substance, the fact must go and the muscles be strengthened, the cooperation vital to success will be had in full measure.

Thus, in an hour when men must unite to defend their freedom, we shall move forward in that spirit which holds that none but the free are strong and none but the strong can be free.

Every large ship in the United States Navy and many of the smaller ones publish a daily press sheet in mimeograph form; the items are picked up by radio.

All men in the United States Navy and Naval Reserve are paid twice a month. They receive no coins but are paid to the nearest dollar.

Los Aeros Troupe Is Booked By State Fair, Sept. 6-13th

Latest Of Seven Free Acts On Program For Annual Exhibition

Latest of seven free acts booked by the Kentucky State Fair, September 6-13, inclusive, is the Los Aeros Troupe of aerialists, three beautiful girls and a robust young man, who perform on a whirling replica of a fighter plane mounted atop a lofty steel tower. Twice daily during Fair Week this daring quartet will perform on wings and propeller while the make-believe craft spins around at better than a plane's cruising speed. The act is climaxed by all four artists suspended only by their teeth from the crazy-spinning "fighter" and with no protective net or safety device apparent.

Pep and Pete, a pair of clownish Keystone cops, is another of the outdoor acts just signed. The former stands seven feet in his stockings and the latter is exactly a yard tall. They have no script and there's no telling what they won't do.

A midjet plane with a sky-writing pilot who flies upside down on occasion is still another of the new things to be seen at the grandstand show. The other four free acts booked some weeks ago include Hollywood Horse, an unbridled human bred, Paul and Petey, trick and fancy skaters and acrobats; the Great Gretelons, high wire artists and Thurston the Great, juggler-magician.

Among other entertainment features will be the Flying "X" Rodger, Jimmie Lynch and his Death Zoo and Circus, the Johnny J. Jones Shows, five days of Grand Circuit harness racing and, of course, the "world's greatest horse show" and with no protective net or safety device apparent.

Home Demonstration Agents Push Better Food Work

How a country home demonstration agent works in a varied program designed to increase food supplies and improve the diet of the people, is revealed in a monthly report of Miss Sunshine Colley of Bell County. She cooperated in twelve canning demonstrations attended by 522 women, men, boys and girls. She spoke on gardens and nutrition at twenty-nine meetings attended by 1,033 persons. At twenty-seven meetings late gardens were stressed. The she attended conferences on school lunches and with supervisors of the Works Progress Administration and Farm Security Administration, in the interest of more food and better nutrition.

TO THE CONSUMING PUBLIC:

As a source of supply for merchants who serve unnumbered thousands of persons, we feel that we owe you information pertaining to market conditions as they exist in this critical period. And so we take this opportunity of making recommendations based on authentic facts gained by our buyers and market reporters who keep in constant touch by teletype, telephone and other means of direct communication with Washington and the trading centers of the nation.

Briefly, they explain that two great consuming interests — our National Defense Program and Aid to Britain—rightfully enjoy priorities over civilian needs. We all recognize the necessity of this arrangement and accept the sacrifices that will result from curtailment of civilian output not as a hardship to be borne, but as a patriotic privilege to be enjoyed.

However, there are commodities that are now available for popular consumption in quantities that will be steadily reduced. For that reason, it is advisable to plan your purchases NOW in relation to present and future needs that you recognize as basically essential. Manufacturers, distributors, and merchants are doing their utmost to curb rising prices, in many instances selling merchandise far below replacement cost, but it is obvious that such procedure cannot be continued indefinitely.

Therefore, we advise that, in planning your purchases, you use foresight and vision tempered with discretion. And don't hesitate to ask your merchant for his suggestions; now, as never before, he is keeping well informed on commodity conditions and to that end we have pledged him our fullest cooperation. You can do your part in assuring the maximum distribution of necessities by paying cash bills NOW, thus aiding your merchant to maintain an uninterrupted flow of essential supplies.

Rowan County School News

Fay Stidham, nine years old, of Clearfield, and Harold Williams, of Fripsett, Kentucky, leaves Wednesday, September 17, for Danville, Kentucky, to attend the Kentucky School for the deaf.

The Rowan County Board of Education is interested in the education of the handicapped children of Rowan County, and are making arrangements for transportation any deaf child who will attend school at Danville. The blind, and partially blind, are being encouraged to attend the Kentucky School for the Blind, at Louisville.

In one case in the county, a child who cannot walk is being visited by the teacher of that school district, who spends two hours each week instructing the handicapped child.

CLARFORK SCHOOL

Lula Horze, Teacher
The boys and girls have taken a very active part in improving the school grounds at Clearfork. Flowers have been brought in by the children and transplanted, making the border along the front enclosed by white-washed rocks. The trees have been white-washed and the yard has been mowed. The clean and grass has been sown on the bank in front of the school house.

Surveyors passed the Clearfork road Tuesday morning surveying route for a road up Clearfork. The road is badly needed.

RAMEY SCHOOL

Baby C. Moore, Teacher
The average attendance for the month was 94.25 percent. Pupils who were absent one day or less enjoyed a picnic with parents and teacher, Friday afternoon, August 29th at Joe's Place east of Morehead on U. S. 80. The free rides on the airplane, swings, slides, teeter-totters, and merry-go-round were much fun. Pictures were made, ice cream served, and the CCC Camp visited.

Saturday, August 9th, eighteen pupils, thirty-two patrons and the teacher enjoyed a trip to Retro Valley near Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, to hear the Retro Valley radio program. Since the trip was long and the group didn't arrive home until Sunday morning, only the sixth and eighth grades were permitted to go. Points of interest were Berea College, Richmond College, Old Fort at Boonesboro, and the bridge across the Kentucky River. Pupils enjoyed the many curves in the highway, especially dead man's curve. Six counties were passed through, namely Rowan, Bath, Montgomery, Clark, Madison, and Rockcastle. Pupils who went were Hayes Jr., Clyde Caldwell, Otto Caldwell, Lovell Caldwell, Vivian Adcox, Elsie Harris, Ann Harris, Hazel Black, Mabel Jackson, Elwood Black, Elwood Black, Wilford Black, Mary Lou Fultz, Ruth Fultz, Dorothy Ellington, and Marvin Black.

MINOR SCHOOL

Thelma Fraley, Teacher
The Minor School is showing great progress. They have made their school room a very pleasant place to live by putting up shades and curtains, building and painting book shelves, water stand, reading table and chairs, shelves for lunches and glasses, bulletin boards and chimney. They made $25.00 at their pie supper which will be spent to add to their school supplies.

Other things they have added are A.B.C. script cards, new library books, a ball and bat and three large art pictures. The P.T.A. is planning for a bug fair from their district, and they are making plans for a school lunch project. The president of the P.T.A. is Mrs. Lovelace, Mrs. Hazel Thornberry, Vice-President, Thelma Fraley, Secretary and Treasurer. A highly contest is being carried on in the sixth grade. The winner will be given a cash prize.

NEW HOME

Irene James, Teacher
A P.T.A. was organized at the New Home School Friday. The officers elected were Mrs. Julius Trent, President; Mrs. Joe Mart, Vice-President; and Nila Conn as Secretary and Treasurer. They had a membership of fourteen at their first meeting. Refreshments were served. The $18.30 made at their pie supper will help improve their school equipment and pay the Fair expenses.

OAK GROVE

Athlene Lawson, Teacher
The Oak Grove School has been working on their school room. The children planned how they could improve the school and are carrying out their plans. Curtains and shades have been bought. Charts, cards, seat work and a frieze have been made. A P.T.A. has been organized.

WALTZ SCHOOL

Katherine Canfill, Teacher
The Waltz School had a pie supper and made a nice sum of money. They have bought new curtains and pen and sharpener and plan to use some of the money for Fair expenses. There has been good attendance, several from this school having come every day. Two of our students, Ruby and Lillian Compton have moved from our district. We were very sorry to see them go. That leaves the enrollment twenty-seven.

PIE SUPPER

There will be a pie and ice cream supper at Lower Lick Fork on Friday Night, September 12, at 7:30 p.m. Please come and bring pies, and money and help this school raise some money. Everybody and everybody come.

GYCOLOGY SET

IF THE BRIDE BURNS HER FINGER ON THE STOVE AND FORGETS TO MENTION IT—THE HONEYMOON IS OVER

THINK ON THESE THINGS

By REV. B. H. KAZEE

There is a beautiful story told of an old-time painter, a painter whose heart was so full of love for the Lord Christ that he was willing to sacrifice his own fame and the praise of men for His Master's glory. The artist had just finished a picture of the Last Supper, putting his best effort into the work. Indeed he had lavished some time and pains and love upon it, working out every detail with the greatest care. Even the cup that stood on the table was painted with as much perfection as the more important parts of the picture. It was a wonderful cup, richly set with jewels that held the light in their ruby depths and seemed to sparkle and flash, so cunningly were they wrought. When this great picture was finished and hung, the painter concealed himself that he might hear, unobserved, the comments of those who came to see his masterpiece. And behold, one after another as he looked would cry out "What a wonderful cup, how it sparkles!" "The cup is surely made of gold and precious stones!" "Such a cup has never painted before."

Out from his hiding place came the disappointed artist and with a few strokes of his brush painted out the lovely cup, to the dismay of the onlookers. In its place he drew a common cup of clay, such as the peasants use, and colored it in dull and sober tints. When the people upbraided him, saying, "Why did you destroy the jeweled cup?" He replied sadly, "because it did not fulfill its purpose. I made the cup beautiful because it was for the Master's use, and nothing can be too rich or too carefully wrought to do with Him. But if your eyes are held by the beauty of the jewels so that you cannot see the face of the Lord Christ beyond, the goodly cup must be sacrificed." From Hallock's Five Thousand Illustrations.

U. S. NAVY RECRUITING OFFICER PRESENTS APPLICANT WITH NEW "BADGE OF HONOR"

COMMANDER F. K. O'BRIEN, of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Service, is shown here placing the new Navy "Badge of Honor" on the lapel of an applicant for enlistment in the Navy. (Badge shown above at right.) All ambitious young men who apply for service in Uncle Sam's "Two-ocean" Navy, whether accepted or not, are given this new badge as a mark of their patriotism. To learn of the many opportunities the Navy and the Naval Reserve offer, local men of 17 years and over can get the official illustrated free booklet, "Life in the Navy," from this newspaper's Navy Editor.

Army Draftees Show Lack Of Vitamins; Have Dental Trouble

Draftees to the United States Army have been found to have high percentage of dental difficulties. Many factors may be involved, but from a nutritional angle, the need is for a diet containing plenty of vitamins A, C, D, and calcium, phosphorus and iron. The use of large amounts of sugar (as candies, jellies and jams) are detrimental to teeth for two reasons: they are substituted for foods that would have the natural nutrients and, and, they are more likely to cause acid fermentation in the mouth which may cause caries. The best answer is to have a national diet more adequate in vitamins and minerals from natural sources, eliminating undue use of sugars. It was stated in a two and one-half week's "refresher" course in nutrition offered for defense workers and others by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Good Roads, Telephones And Defense

"What hath God wrought" were the first words spoken over the crude instrument which Alexander Graham Bell devised to carry the spoken word through miles of space. Since that first experiment proved successful, the modern telephone has transmitted millions of messages from house to house and from nation to nation. Every day it serves as go-between for choice tidbit of gossip, the latest Smith or for a president to discuss prime minister. Between these two extremes lie a myriad of other messages of greater or less importance—calls for doctors, firemen, police; grocery orders, business conferences, invitations, appointments—all the talk for which the telephone serves as person-to-person link. Back of all these calls stands the Bell System with its thousands of employees in all the forty-eight states. Integral part of this organization is its "mechanized division" which represents the biggest company-owned fleet of motor vehicles in industry. It is made up of about 22,000 motors, including many heavy trucks and large numbers of other kinds of cars. Quickly mobilized and fully equipped with winches, derricks and motors must go into instant action whenever danger threatens or disaster strikes, so that service may be rendered in the shortest time possible. Over city streets and country roads they roll to keep the nation's telephone communication at the highest peak of efficiency. On the condition of these roads and streets is dependent the rapidity and ease with which they can perform these services. Especially is this true since they cannot wait till fair weather to repair the frequent damage caused by rainstorm, snow and ice. Muddy or slippery roads which delay of vital telephone service.

$2,946,226.19 Is Collected In August By Revenue Dept.

Four Percent Gain Over Same Period In 1940

State tax collections totalled $2,946,226.19 in August, a four percent gain over August, 1940, according to the monthly report currently issued by the Department of Revenue. This gain compares favorably with the increase in prosperity of Kentucky business and agriculture. Collections from alcoholic beverage taxes amounted to $370,240.95, which was an increase of seventy-nine percent over the corresponding month in the previous year. The factors contributing to this large increase have arisen chiefly from the effects of national defense policies. The report shows property taxes of $222,534.13 were thirty percent lower than for the previous August; however, this decline is due to earlier payment of certain trans-

"NAVY TRADE TRAINING GAVE ME MY START" SAYS PRESIDENT, SPERRY CORPORATION

THOMAS A. MORGAN (pictured in insert), president of the Sperry Corporation, world's largest manufacturer of aeronautical and marine instruments, received his early technical training in the U. S. Navy, in which he enlisted as a young man. "This has proved of great value to me in later years," said ex-sailor Morgan. Pictured above are new Navy recruits receiving electrical training at one of the modernly equipped Navy Trade Schools. The Navy offers training to young men in nearly 50 different trades and vocations. Opportunities for advancement, to learn skilled trades, for travel and adventure are identical whether a man enlists in the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve—and his pay, food, clothing, medical and dental care are the same.

Agr. Defense Board Asks More Gardens Be Planted In 1942

Program Would Offset Any Food Shortage Which Might Occur

Gardening on an enlarged scale in town and country alike next year, is suggested by the Kentucky Agricultural Defense Board, in a statement issued by the chairman, M. D. Royle of Winchester. Backyards and vacant lots in towns and cities are to be used, and farmers are urged to have bigger and better gardens. The garden program is launched months in advance of the 1942 planting season so that family heads will have time to plan and to prepare garden beds, to secure the use of vacant lots and to turn, fertilize and sow cover crops. Once again food may be the deciding factor in war, the state defense board chairman pointed out. In any event, he feels that a good supply of garden products—between an oversupply—may be better than risking a shortage of food. Families with gardens can produce at least a part of their needs, and thereby release canned products for shipment abroad, he pointed out. Large quantities of food now are going to England and will continue to go as long as the war lasts and even after that time, it is pointed out in the statement of the defense board. With the exception of vegetables, most of this food comes from farms. So long as town people are concerned, they can be of assistance in increasing the food supply only by growing gardens for their own use. This they are urged to do next year and every year thereafter that the emergency exists, Mr. Royle said.

Two Elderly Ladies Make Second Visit To Mammoth Cave

First Visit Was In 1894, As Member Of Christian Endeavor Society

Two little gray-haired ladies, their minds replete with memories of their first adventure in Mammoth Cave nearly fifty years ago, returned here this week to see what changes time and man had wrought here. The two ladies are the Misses Fanny and Mary Alice Weller, 1606 Elwood Avenue, Louisville. They brought with them, a worn, brown tinted picture taken May 28, 1894 in front of the natural entrance to Mammoth Cave. Pictured were two colored cave guides with eight young ladies and a bewigged young man with a bewigged look. The nine were members of the Christian Endeavor Society who had decided to change the national meeting in Louisville with a four-day visit to Mammoth Cave, a trip which then amounted to an arduous expedition. Their guides were Ed Bishop and William Bransford, descendants of Stephen Bishop and Matt Brunsford, the first two guides in the cave's history. Their lights were open tallow lamps. Their costumes were long flowing habits topped with jaunty sailor caps. Thus rigged out, they wound their way for hours through the then-known passages. This time they found everything changed but the cave itself. Sections of the cave are electrically lighted. The old avenues are supplemented by hundreds of attrac-
