THIS WEEK IN DEFENSE

Fourteen new ships were launched in "Liberty Fleet Day" ceremonies held at shipyards on Saturday, September 27, at Baltimore, Maryland, Los Angeles, California, Portland, Oregon, Quincy, Massachusetts, Chester, Pa., Kearny, New Jersey, Pascagoula, Mississippi, Seattle, Washington, and Wilmington, Delaware. The Navy announced launching of the battleship, Massachusetts, three minesweepers, Summit, Guide, and Ideal, and the submarine chaser, PCS15.

The Navy Department announced fifteen British and Free French warships recently in United States ports, and said twelve others also have left United States ports where they were put in for repairs and supplies. The War Department said fifty-nine officers and enlisted men of the British armored corps are studying American methods at the Army Ordnance School at Fort Knox, Kentucky. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau announced the Soviet Government has already repaid in gold "a little more than half" of the $10,000,000 advanced by the United States Treasury to Russia in August.

Assistant Attorney General Arnold, speaking at Yosemite, California, said "there is not an organized basic industry in the U. S. which has not been restricting production... to avoid what they fear may be ruinous overproduction. They have canceled shortages by over optimistic predictions about supplies."

Mr. Arnold also said "a few strategically located labor unions are costing the American consumer one billion dollars a year through labor restrictions on production by strikes and boycotts for illegitimate purposes, pricefixing, restricting labor - saving devices, eliminating competitors, and other operators and 'tying up' huge industries in the struggle to determine which of two unions shall dominate the field."

Director Odium of the OPM Contract Distribution Division announced between one hundred and two hundred offices to help small shops and businessmen get defense work will be opened soon. Also scheduled are offices in Hartford, Connecticut, Providence, Rhode Island, Youngstown, Dayton, and Columbus, Ohio; Indianapolis, Indiana, Rochester and Albany, New York, Portland, Me., Springfield, Illinois, Springfield, Massachusetts, Trenton, New Jersey, Wichita, Kansas, and Spokane, Washington. Existing offices at Harrisburg, Wilkes-Barre, and Allentown, Pennsylvania, will be enlarged and the present thirty-nine offices of the abolished Wartime Contract Service will continue to operate, he said.

Mr. Odium asked fifty-six major defense contractors to appoint representatives to cooperate in spreading defense work among smaller firms. He also announced defense contracts with five aluminum war companies forced to abandon civilian community hardship can be negotiated up to fifteen percent above minimum prices, performance bonds can be waived and bid splits allowed to enable pools of small firms to obtain contracts for "bits and pieces."

Assistant War Secretary McCloy, speaking in Jackson, Michigan, said the United States has an army and an air force "in the sense that one is in process of production. Some of its elements are prepared to meet any foe... Yet that army is just becoming an army.

He said the army has its full amount of the fundamental weapons - rifles, machine guns, machine guns, artillery grenades - but does not have its full equipment of light and medium tanks, anti-tank and anti-aircraft weapons. He said there is sufficient equipment for training but heavy production will not come until this winter or next spring. He said the Army has much to learn about the tank-plane and anti-tank plane combinations and "we still have a long way to go in our coordination between air and the ground, but we are beginning in earnest in Louisiana now."

Priorities Director Nelson limited production of spare parts for passenger automobiles and light trucks for the period September 15-December 31, 1941, to sixty percent of the number sold during the same period this year. SPAB said it will extend to American industry assistance in obtaining new parts for their equipment.

The State Department said three hundred South American firms and individuals to the original Anti-Axis "Black List" of 1,800 names and deleted sixty-five names where corrective action had been taken since July 17th. The new additions included "Air France" and "Liti," a French and an Italian airline, and the German news agency, Transocean. Firms placed on the blacklist are automatically deprived of American oil and gasoline and other supplies from this country.

Agriculture Secretary Wickard told Northwestern farm leaders that the government has been buying and dried skim milk that will result in processing of more than four and one-half billion pounds of milk; a billion and a half pounds of pork and lard; about five hundred million dozen eggs; six million pounds of poultry meat, and quantities of tobacco, vitamin, fruits and vegetables. He said the British need a minimum of $1,000,000,000 in food between now and February 28, 1942.

SPAB announced special attention will be given provisions of equipment necessary for expansion of production to meet domestic and British requirements. The Agriculture Department said total income from farm marketing will reach $10,000,000 in 1941.

Labor Secretary Perkins said food prices continued to rise during the first half of September with biggest increases in pork chops, lard, eggs, and milk. Price Administrator Henderson said evicting proceedings had been begun by "unscrupulous" landlords on various parts of the country against tenants who complained of increased rent in view of increases to their local Rent Committee.

The Federal Reserve Board increased reserve cash requirements for member banks by about one-seventh to the present lawful limit. The Board said the action will not prevent credit for defense needs and all legitimate requirements.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau announced his staff has started work on legislation to limit corporation profits to six percent of the invested capital for the duration of the emergency. He said the profit motive in war ought to be eliminated entirely. He said the move would also head off the inflationary trend.

Farm Credit Administration Governor Black asked a Washington meeting of leading farm leaders to prevent a speculative boom in farm and real estate such as bought bankruptcy to thousands of farmers after the World War. He suggested:

- (1) Basing all appraisals in connection with loans on normal values;
- (2) Impressing present borrowers with the wisdom of using higher income available now to payment of existing debts;
- (3) Encouraging savings to meet future debts;
- (4) Avoiding fostering speculative increases in production without discouraging necessary shifts and increases.

Mrs. William P. Hobby, Chief of the Women's section of the War Department, speaking in New York, said "Let us stop talking about the hard lot of the enlisted men. Every possible provision for the welfare of our soldiers is being made as quickly as is humanly possible. Let us also stop the 'Oh, you poor thing, so you're in the army away from your family and friends'... Keep your handkerchief in your pocket. Instead, invite him home to meet your sons and daughters."

Selective Service Headquarters asked local boards to assure college students who are not expected to be called for service before the middle of the college semester that they will be granted postponement until they finish the semester. Students preparing for essential defense occupations, Headquarters said, should be deferred.

DEFENSE BOND Quiz

Q. How do I get the highest return on my investment in Defense Savings Bonds?

A. By holding each Bond for its full term of years you will secure the full maturity value. A Defense Savings Bond of Series E increases in value thirty-three and one-third percent if held for ten years.

Q. Is the Government concerned over whether I buy my Defense Savings Bonds at post offices, banks, savings and loan institutions, retail stores, or elsewhere?

A. No. The Government is interested in having as many persons as possible take a hand in the National Defense Program. Toward that end the Treasury is making Bonds and Stamps available for purchase in the largest number of places possible.

NOTE:—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at retail stores.

turned to the Forest for road construction and maintenance.

Policy of the Department of Agriculture is to cut all timber on National Forest land on a sustained yield basis, with provisions made for cuts on a given area every twenty years over an indefinite period of time. Each of the forest sub-units of the Forest Service so organized that each has a round of cutting every twenty years, the second cutting being made where the first cutting was conducted. This involves cutting on a given sale area one-half of the merchantable volume at a given time. Growth of remaining volume in thrifty standing trees, it is figured, will provide at least an equal cut twenty years hence by again removing only one-half of the merchantable volume. As young growth becomes established—

All Timber On Government Ranges Is Sold As Stumpage

Cumberland National Forest earnings for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1941, show an increase of eighty-five percent over earnings for the previous period, according to an announcement made today by H. L. Borden, Forest Supervisor, United States Forest Service, Winchester, Kentucky. The higher earnings are largely the result of a ninety-five percent increase in timber sales of National Forest stumpage.

A total of 5,934,000 board feet of timber valued at $15,696,000 was sold and cut during the past year. An additional $128,000 was returned from special land uses such as rentals and commercial limestone quarries. Trespass action resulted in a recovery of another $27,000 for damages incurred by fire and timber trespass. An equivalent of 1,470,000 board feet on miscellaneous timber was given away to local people for fuel, fence rails, fence posts, boards, and shakes.

Twenty-five percent of the total earnings will be returned to the Commonwealth to be distributed to the sixteen counties within the Forest for roads and schools. An additional ten percent will be re-

"Telling Kentuckians of Kentucky"

GEORGE ROGERS CLARK IN KENTUCKY

By Hamilton Tapp,
General Chairman, George Rogers Clark Memorial Movement

George Rogers Clark, perhaps as great an extent as any famous Kentuckian, belongs to the entire state and not just to one community. This fact is being realized more and more as the campaign for funds—September 15 to November 15—for an adequate memorial to him gains momentum. Any spot throughout the state is an appropriate site for a memorial to him.

Clark as an eager young pioneer made more than one trip back to Virginia over the Wilderness Trail to transport political and military business vital to the safety and even the life of Kentucky. He traversed by flat boat the entire course of the beautiful Ohio, blazing the trail of American freedom and carrying the torch of American civilization. While residing at Harrodsburg, in 1778 and 1779, he conceived and planned the bold move into the Northwest, to save Kentucky from annihilation. Near the site of our state's capital he, in 1775, helped establish a settlement, Lestown. The great expedition into the Northwest was launched in 1778 from Corle Island at the Falls of the Ohio—the expedition which saved Kentucky and conquered an empire for the new nation. He founded Louisville. He spent some time in the Kentucky region

Fort Jefferson, on the Mississippi River. He is buried in Cave Hill Cemetery, Louisville. Surely George Rogers Clark belongs to all Kentucky.

When Clark, in 1775, as a bold, handsome, young man of twenty-three years stood on the high lands overlooking the Kentucky River, he beheld a land more beautiful and lovely than any yet seen. He gazed, thrilled and enthralled; it was as gorgeous as a new Eden. He determined to live in it, at all hazards, and make it a safe place for others. From that happy time until the bleak day, as the end approached, when he sat in a wheel chair at Locust Grove, decrepit and old, one leg gone, the other paralyzed, hapless, poverty-stricken, wracked with pain, neglected by his government, abandoned by the people, he never ceased to love and Kentucky. He had practically given his life, and lost his health, his fortune and all hope of comfort and happiness, for Kentucky.

For his courageous services and his noble sacrifices, Kentucky has done little to show her gratitude. Now she has the opportunity.

The plan to raise funds for a memorial is a national singular. No person is asked to make a large contribution, to the Kentucky City and mostly from five pennies to a dollar. Every Kentuckian has the opportunity to have a part.

Each school child is asked to give five pennies, each teacher twenty-five and each member of a club or society one dollar. The schools, particularly the high schools—senior and junior—and graded and consolidated schools are asked to present by November 15 (Clark's birthday) some form of entertainment—play, pageant, movie, carnival, bazaar, athletic contest—asking the public to attend, and to donate the money made therefrom to the Clark Memorial Fund. In addition, special gifts will be solicited from a list of interested persons, particularly in and around Louisville. It is hoped that in these ways $103,000 will be raised.

Many states owing Clark far less than does Kentucky—Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Virginia, Missouri—have erected magnificent memorials to his memory. Indiana's memorial at Vincennes costing more than $2,000,000.

It is hoped that every Kentuckian will take an active part in making possible this memorial which, for more than a century, Kentucky has failed to raise. The Filson Club, Louisville, is general headquarters for the Clark Memorial Movement.

The third grade at the Clearfield School gave a party Tuesday afternoon for Fay Stidham who left Wednesday morning for Danville, Kentucky where she will attend the School for the Deaf. She received many nice and useful gifts, from the teachers and children in each room. Refreshments and cookies and orange were served. Phyllis Ray Stewens, Iris Barnard, Glenn White and Jeanetta Rose helped the teacher serve the refreshments. Fay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Stidham. When she was a baby she had a disease which has caused her to be deaf. She is now nine years of age. She is a very intelligent child and anxious to learn. Her father and Superintendent Corneille took her to Danville on Wednesday. Her playmates wish her happiness and much success in her school work.

Squirrels Said To Be Plentiful In State This Year

Squirrel hunters are finding game rather plentiful and where the little animals fail to appear they are likely to find them in damage to corn—indicate that they are present nevertheless, according to information received by the Division of Game and Fish from all sections of Kentucky this week.

All squirrel hunters could take a lesson from Ray Willis, 416 W. 12th Street, Newport, Kentucky, in the skinning of the bushy-tailed animal.

Most people spend the greater part of a quarter hour skinning and dressing a squirrel but for Ray Willis the task requires less than a minute.

A squirrel hunter of long standing, Willis has not only developed a process to beat the very tree rodents, but has perfected a quick, efficient method of preparing them for the kitchen.

The procedure is simple. First step is an incision at the base of the tail, severing the tail bone in the body and adding the skin about two inches across. Place the tail under the left foot and hold the cap with the left hand while holding the hind legs in the right. Pull up until the skin peels to the shoulders. Stop there and with the right fingering grasp the unpeeled fur at the stomach and pull away, feeling it back over the hind quarters and legs.

Willis still holds the squirrel with right hand and foot (under which the tail pin is placed) in the forefinger of left hand between the front of the shoulder and strip the skin from the front legs. Slip off the four skinned legs, hold the head in one hand and sever the head at the base.

The entrails are easily removed after an incision from chest through the length of the under-side.

Willis, after years of practice and improvement, has been timed at fifty-two seconds for the complete routine.

Navy Enlistments Credited To Local Draft Quotas

"Secretary Knox of the Navy Department has announced that local draft quotas are credited to each Naval recruit and that local Selective Service quotas are reduced accordingly," said Jack Cecil, head of the local draft board, yesterday.

"Every young man who joins the Navy or Naval Reserve thus helps to fill our local Selective Service quota. Young men within Selective Service age limits who have not been deferred will do well to consider the opportunities the United States Navy offers for specialized training and advancement while serving their country in its emergency.

"The age limits for the regular Navy are seventeen and thirty-one and for the Naval Reserve the limits are seventeen to fifty. All applicants under twenty-one must have the written consent of their parents or guardian."

In addition to explaining that Navy enlistments are credited against the local Selective Service quota, Mr. Cecil also stated that a high school education is not necessary for acceptance by the Navy. "Any ambitious and patriotic young man of average mentality and good character who meets physical and other requirements may be acceptable to help man Uncle Sam's new 'Two-Ocean' Navy."

Black To Resume Duties At MSTC Soon

Dr. J. G. Black, head of the Mathematics and Physics Department of Morehead College, who was called this summer to work on a research program for the National Defense, will be three or four weeks late to his duties.

During this time Dr. Black has been at the University of Michigan, at which University an extensive program was underway, but nobody is allowed to reveal the nature of the work being done. We are permitted to say that it is of vital importance to the defense of our country, and it may prove revolutionary in nature.

Dr. Black was sent to the Wright Air Field in Dayton, Ohio, to the General Electric Laboratory and to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In each of these places he has continued his studies in connection with research for defense.

And in taxes they paid more than $6,300,000 to the State, counties, cities and school districts. Thus, their total contribution to Kentucky's economic welfare in 1940 amounted to $71,322,897. Similar payments were made in all other states.

For fuel, materials and supplies the railroads last year paid $18,646,339 in 377 Kentucky cities and towns. In wages they paid $47,376,558 to 28,694 Kentucky citizens. And in taxes they paid more than $6,300,000 to the State, counties, cities and school districts. Thus, their total contribution to Kentucky's economic welfare in 1940 amounted to $71,322,897. Similar payments were made in all other states.

The Treadford Contribution to National Welfare

The railroads carry over their own roadways the bulk of the national transportation load in peace and in war. Most of the $4,577,000,000 which the public paid for railroad services last year was turned back to the public in wages of employees, purchases of materials and supplies, and direct tax support of the schools and of city, county, State and Federal governments. Less than 1% of the investment in railroad property was paid to the stockholders who own the railroads and furnish the service.

Efficient Mass Transportation is Essential

Still more important, the railroads at all times support the nation's economic welfare by providing highly efficient mass transportation. Preparation for national defense largely depends on mass transportation by railroad. The emergency and magnitude of the defense pro-

KENTUCKY RAILROAD ASSOCIATION

"You'll get a kick out of this, Ben Franklin"

I DON'T blame you for looking so dumfounded, Mr. Franklin. There's been a lot happening in this country since you left us 151 years ago.

As you can see, some very able inventors took up where you left off.

I'll bet the biggest surprise to you is the electric electricity has made—remember your experiment with the kite and the key?

Well, sir, electricity stayed just about where you left it in 1790 until nearly a hundred years later when Edison came along, and things started to happen.

He gave us the electric light, Mr. Franklin, and then other inventors developed electric power and heat. It would take all the space in this newspaper to tell you about these marvels. Now factories are run by electricity; we have a wonderful invention called radio that brings us voices, music and entertainment out of the air; we wash, iron, and clean by electricity. Remember the stove you invented? Now we have electric stoves.

And here is something about electric service that will please your thrifty soul: electricity is within the reach of everybody because it's so cheap. What's more, the rates are being reduced all the time. For example, during the last 10 to 15 years the average rate for household electricity has been cut about in half. Today folks get about twice as much electricity as they got 10 to 15 years ago for the same money.

Why? Because of efficient business management of the electric companies. And while the rates under business management are going down, the service is getting better and better.

We Americans appreciate these things, Mr. Franklin. We know a good thing when we see it. And we're grateful to you, sir, for the work you did in electricity!

UNCLE SAM'S SAILORS ON HORSEBACK
SEE PANAMA FROM THE SADDLE

No, the U. S. Navy doesn't have a cavalry unit, but many a sailor straddled leather before giving up his bucking broncho or plow horse for the bounding main.

The sailors in which above are seamen in the U. S. Naval Reserve on shore leave in Panama. No distinction is made between sailors in the Naval Reserve and those in the regular Navy. Enlistment in the U. S. Naval Reserve is for four years, but all men enlisting in the Naval Reserve will be released to inactive duty as soon after the national emergency as their services can be spared, regardless of the length of time remaining in their enlistment. If the emergency ends within a period of several months, those enrolled in the Naval Reserve will not be required to complete their 4 year term in active service.

Opportunities for advancement to learn skilled trades, for travel and adventure are identical whether a man enlists in the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve, and his pay, food, clothing, medical and dental care are the same.

"NAVY INTELLIGENCE"

What is meant by "Happy Hour in the United States Navy"? This is the name given to the sessions of relaxation aboard ship when duties are forgotten and greetings, matches, movies, swimming and entertainment by various members of the crew.

How many fleets are there in the United States Navy? There are three Fleets in the Navy at the present time, the Atlantic Fleet, the Pacific Fleet, and the Asiatic Fleet.

When once in the U. S. Navy, how does one learn to specialize in one specific field of work? There are three ways a sailor may attain perfection in the specialized work of his own choosing by study in Navy Schools, by practical experience aboard ship, by spare time study aided by correspondence courses conducted by the Navy.

When are you paid in the Navy? Twice a month, on the 3rd and 20th.

Is there any way of saving money aboard ships? Yes, men may deposit money with the Disbursing Officer, who will keep it in a safe. Each depositor is furnished with a "bank book" and receives from the Government four percent annum interest on all money deposited.

What are the "ports" on a ship? They are openings in the ship's sides which serve various uses. Air ports are for the admission of fresh air.

Is card playing allowed on board ships in the United States Navy? Card playing, checkers and similar games are usually allowed on the main deck during the dinner hour and after working hours.

Everett Riskin produced the comedy for Columbia.

Here's A Few Army Fish Stories

Laugh all you like about the maneuver "stimulation" but there are soldiers in the Thirty-Eighth "Cyclone" Division (Ind., Ky., and West Virginia) commanded by Major General Dan I. Sultan, who will tell you that stimulation at times is as good or better than the real thing—especially as regards fishing.

Encamped near the swift Whiskey Chitto Creek in Southern Louisiana, men of the thirty-eighth have brought back to camp strings of catfish and brim caught with:

1. Scraps of paper.
2. Tobacco.
3. Nothing.

One group caught eleven frying sized cats using paper wads on their hooks. Another lured a credible mess of brim to the hook with quarter-inch sections of cigarette butts.

Best story, however, was told by the group which dispensed with bait altogether and caught both species with bare hooks weighted down with finger nail clippers and empty cartridge hulls. And they had the fish to prove it.

38th Division Uses Hammocks For Mobility

Battery A, 138th Field Artillery, Kentucky unit of Major General Dan I. Sultan's 38th "Cyclone" Division (Ind., Kentucky and W. Va.) is all up in the air, but it's nothing for the General to get worried about.

It's because Battery A's one hundred and five men bought hammocks to avoid sleeping on hard battlefields of the Louisiana maneuver area. Dyed in camouflage colors, the hammock roll up into packs and are swung between trees and vehicles. As a protection against rain, shelter halves are hung over the hammocks.

Battery A, assigned to forward duty, finds the hammocks increase the outfit's mobility because it takes

Why Blame Beer?

Occasionally, beer is blamed for unwholesome conditions, anti-social practices or other abuses in a handful of law-breaking taverns.

Such blame is entirely unwarranted. Prominent authorities—physicians, psychiatrists, dieticians and others—have definitely said that beer is a wholesome and healthful beverage, a true beverage of moderation.

Kentucky's legalized beer industry is determined to protect beer's good name—determined, therefore, that beer should be sold in Kentucky only under clean, wholesome conditions in law-abiding places.

You can help us, if you will, by patronizing only reputable beer retailers; and by reporting any disorderly outlets to this committee.

MOVIE STAR JOINS U.S. NAVY

Earl C. Wayne Morris Seeks Wings

Wayne Morris, recent star of "Wanted Wings," became a member of Uncle Sam's Navy in May, 1941, when he was appointed to the rank of Ensign.

When asked what he thought of the United States Navy, Morris said, "I think every man who is considering joining a military service should look into the 'chance of a lifetime' which the Navy and Naval Reserve offer to get into the blippy field of the future aviation. In the Navy you can attend the finest flight training schools in the world, and receive instruction from Navy pilots who introduced five bombing aircraft carriers and catapult take-offs to the rest of the world. Also, there are opportunities in Naval Aviation for men who don't want to fly. They can be trained as aviation machinists, metallurgists, photographers, observers, or they can receive instructions in many other trades. It's a great life in the Navy."

Churchill Is An "East End Kid," Honorary Title

Winston Churchill, prime minister of Great Britain, was paid an especial tribute recently when he was made an honorary member of "The East End Kids," group of Hollywood screen toughs. This puts the noted statesman in select company as other ex-officio "East Siders" include Fiorello LaGuardia, Charles Farrell, Luigi, Buck Jones and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

During the filming of Monogram's "Bowery Bizzarrie," which opens Thursday at the Mills Theatre, the "East Side Kids" held a special meeting and voted Churchill in as a honorary member of the group as a tribute to his gallantry. An engraved scroll was sent to the prime minister to notify him of the kids' action.

Supv. Borden Urges Public To Visit Cumberland Forest

October Frosts Converts Hills Into Riot Of Color And Scenic Beauty

In October, the riot of color produced by nature draws us like magic to our hardwood forests. We haven't seen the fall colors on the Cumberland National Forest at their height, plan to do so this year.

There is another reason, according to H. L. Borden, Forest Supervisor, why you should plan to visit a certain section of the Forest in McCreary County, Kentucky. Here on October 5 at 11:30 a. m. the Federated Women's Club of Kentucky plans to dedicate a planting of forest tree seedlings made in their cooperation with the Forest. It so happens that this planting occurred on and in close proximity to a Natural Arch, one of the largest and most beautiful ones to be found anywhere.

The Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture, has according to Mr. Borden constructed a picnic area at the point for the convenience of the public. From the picnic area an excellent trail takes you to the Arch itself. The beauty of the Arch, coupled with the fall coloring and the ceremonies commemorating this memorable plantation constitute a combination one can ill afford to have out of his fall itinerary. The area is two miles off United States Highway Number 27 about fifteen miles north of Stearns on a good road well marked. Bring your lunch and prepare to spend the day.

Cumberland Falls is only fifteen miles away as well as other scenic points that one should become acquainted with. The Forest Service welcomes you to its National Forests. Its only restriction is use them as you would your own home, keep them attractive and be careful with fire. A burned and fire-scarred forest has no appeal and value. Now more than ever timber is vitally needed in National Defense.

THE UNKNOWN STUDENT

R. D. JUDD, Ph. D.
KENTUCKY STATE TEACHER COLLEGE

Much has been said and written about the "Unknown Soldier" of the first World War. Educators have picked up these terms and have given us some interesting platitudes about the "Unknown Teacher." The time has now come when we should write about the "Unknown Student." These are times in which mass production is the order of the day. In this period the machine pushes man ever backward and he begins to take the role of the "Unknown Soldier" or the "Unknown Teacher." It seems a strange paradox that man who made the machine should suffer at the hands of his own brain child. But such is the case. This situation has been brought about because of man's inventive genius, the knack of turning out "things" in huge quantities. In this process man has been victimized by the machine in that he has become a mere cog in the things he created.

But what of the educational implications with respect to the "Unknown Student?" How many college teachers are there who really know a few of their colleagues? When we say "know," we mean an acquaintance of which is more than a knowledge of one's ability to achieve a certain standing in a certain subject. We mean a knowledge of one's emotional life, his background, his voluntary interests, his concern about building a useful life, and, too, a general estimate of his philosophy of life as touching religious and ethical values.

One of the things that disturbs my college teaching is that forty or fifty students sit at my feet daily and I realize that I am teaching such a small cross-sectional area of their lives. Most of them will never know really except in a very narrow, bookish sort of way. When we teach subject matter to our students they sit there in a calm and deliberate frame of mind. We get little opportunity to see them "under fire." After all, many of our clientele may become "gun shy" when they reach the front line trenches in the battle of careers. To me, most of these students will go down in my memory as "unknown."

You ask, what is the answer? Smaller classes, "closer personal contacts and more thorough supervision. In our age when quantity is the "sine qua non" in business, editors have slavishly apeed the business man and we are at it also. Quantity is worthless unless we get quality. Quality in the schoolroom is more to be desired than quality in the factory or the automobile plant.

Socrates had one notable student (Plato), who in turn had his illustrious student, Aristotle. Each one transcended the other. Never in all human history did the master know so much about his student or the student know so much about his master.

Perhaps the reason we have so many "colleges" is because some disappoint us by failing in life, while others fail to disappoint us by succeeding. Concerning the former we recurred their golden deeds with an "A," but the golden deeds of the latter did not fall within the pale of academic attainments.

The writer has often wondered about the "Unknown Student." He wonders if his contemporaries do not share these convictions as portrayed above.

Foreign Spies Are Revealed In "Deadly Game"

The machinations of foreign spies are revealed in "The Deadly Game," the absorbing Monogram drama which opens at the Mills Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, with Charles Farrell and June Lang in the co-starring roles.

Not only does this exciting story give a sharp picture of the dangers menacing the United States from without, but it furnishes an interesting glimpse of the methods used by the FBI in combating the schemes of this country's enemies. It demonstrates that a high order of intelligent counter-plotting is necessary at all times to defeat the

PORK and BEANS EN CASSEROLE

Score a Touchdown on Football Supper Menus

With football season near at hand, we asked the wife of one of our most popular football coaches, Mrs. Lou Little, what she likes to serve at the game.

"We like to entertain in a simple manner," said Mrs. Little. "There must be good food, not elaborate but plenty of it. Everyone will like this menu from the hungriest player to the daintiest feminine guest."

FOOTBALL SUPPER MENU

- Hot Malted Cider
 - Casserole of Pork and Beans
 - Battered Hot Dog-Vet Bread
 - Calery, Pickles, Chili Sauce
 - Italian Cole Slaw
 - Football Doughnuts Coffee
- As you plan Mrs. Little's menu, you will find it is not only good to eat and simple to prepare, it is economical, too.

To get the party off to a good start, Hot Malted Cider is served in a punch cup. This is easy to make—just heat slices of cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves in cider for 3 or 4 minutes.

For the Casserole use canned pork and beans with tomato sauce.

beat in a hot oven about twenty minutes. The decoration is merely half slices of canned date-fruit. Put them around the top of the beans about five minutes before the casserole comes from the oven.

Ordinary cole slaw is delicious with this menu, but moiding it with plain gelatin makes it even more interesting. A little chopped green pepper and pinicetto will give it zing.

To make "Football Doughnuts" Cut inch rounds of regular doughnuts pull them gently into oval, and fry as usual. They will puff up and look like footballs. Imitation "icing" can be put on with white confectionery sugar icing to further resemblance.

efforts of international terrorists. In "The Deadly Game," foreign agents attempt to kidnap an American inventor working on a detector for use in night air raids, and the action supplies a swift succession of exciting events.

trium cuts, this process can be repeated indefinitely. The result is a sustained supply of saw timber for an indefinite period of time.

All timber on the National Forest is sold as stumpage under a contract. Trees to be cut are marked under the supervision of trained Foresters. Purchasers manufacturing the timber as they see fit. Logging is conducted so as to inflict the least possible damage to young trees and timber allowed to remain for future cuts. Sales are made in values as low as $10.00 and as high as $60,000.00. The little man is often a mountain farmer using his $10.00 sale as source of cash income.

Forest Supervisor Borden stated that he expects to sell and cut some 10,000,000 board feet of stumpage in the fiscal year 1942. The objective is to eventually cut 12,000,000 board feet each year. The Forest can maintain this rate of cut for twenty years. A cut nearly double that figure is indicated beyond that period.

Being carried on a sustained yield basis, this type of forest management, Mr. Borden said, should make the Cumberland National Forest a meaningful contribution in the sustained life of local industries and the people dependent upon them for a livelihood as contrasted with the practices of quick liquidation of timber resources. It makes timber a crop capable of fitting into national life like wheat or corn. Much of the progress of the methods of management applied are dependent upon fire protection and in this the people have a share of success to claim by eliminating all causes of man-caused fires.
