Red Cross Quota For Rowan County Set At $2,500.00

The National Red Cross Chapter has advised the local Chapter of an urgent appeal for funds to meet the national crisis that has befallen the nation within the past week. It is regrettable that this additional appeal for funds should come so closely with the local drive but no one knew at that time that the nation would be at war so soon. In this event, the following is a program received from Norman H. Davis, Chairman of the Red Cross to the local chapter:

Mr. H. C. Hagan, chairman Rowan County Red Cross, Morehead, Kentucky. Again the American Red Cross is called upon to serve the nation in war both nationally and locally. We face vast and definite responsibilities for services to our armed forces. Red Cross today is launching a campaign for war funds with a minimum of $50,000,000. The president will issue a proclamation, December 17, raising the quota in shortest possible time. Please report action taken. We must not and shall not fail in this crisis.

SIGNED,
Norman H. Davis
Chairman, National Red Cross

The local chapter of the Red Cross is calling upon the citizens of Rowan County to do their part in serving the nation. A drive for funds is being conducted in this request. If citizens desire to give before a solicitor see your mail or give your checks to Glenn Lane, Cashier, Bank of Peoples Bank, Percy Caudill, Cashier of Peoples Bank.

Deferment Of College Students Explained By Selective Service

The following information received from National Headquarters, War Relocation Administration, is of interest to many Morehead students. The information is released for the purpose of clarifying the situation concerning the deferment and also the postponement of induction of college students.

If a local board determines, that a particular student registrant is in training and preparation to perform a function which the national interest requires should be performed, and that at the time such student is in training or arrangement to perform such function there will be a shortage of persons qualified to perform such function, it should defer student's induction until such time as the student should be inducted into the occupation which forms the basis of his training and preparation. If the registrant is a student.

National Headquarters has stated that under the provisions of paragraph 418b of the Regulations as amended, a local board may reasonably grant a temporary postponement of induction to prevent unusual hardship and permit a particular registrant to have additional time to complete or arrange for the completion of a pending activity. A student might be granted such an extension in order to prepare for and take an examination, or to complete a college term which he started in good faith after ascertaining that his induction would not normally occur until a reasonable portion of such term had expired.

With respect to the question of granting temporary postponements of induction to students who are not deferred by their local board, it is being in training and preparation to become necessary men, it is only reasonable that information should be given to both students and their colleges as to

Mrs. Ellington spoke on the subject, "Thrift". In making out the advantages of being thrifty, Mrs. Ellington also warned of several evils arising from a development throughout by several humorous short stories illustrating her subject.

Vikings Bow To Hazard And Viper

Morehead High School's Vikings basketball contingent invaded South Kentucky's mountains on Tuesday night, and were defeated by Hazard High, 17-10. On Wednesday night they continued the road trip to Viper, Kentucky, a small town about nine miles from Hazard, and were another beating by the Viper quintet, 31-23.

According to coach Roy "Papa" Holbrook, the road trip was a much needed experience for the local lads, inasmuch as they met for the first time a real "squad" all ranging about six feet in height, and a very tall ball club. The experience gained in this road trip is a very helpful, according to Holbrook.

Methodist Church Plans Candle-Light Services Sunday

The young people of the Methodist Church will take charge of the "Candle-Light" services on Sunday evening, December 14, at 5:15. A beautiful candle-light service is being planned under the direction of Miss Edna M. E. George will be at the console of the Hammond Organ to play the beautiful Christmas music so loved by all at this season of the year. This hour of the day lends itself beautifully to this type of service. It is an hour free from other public activities, so plan to attend this service Sunday evening.

The regular services will be held on Sunday morning. The Sunday School is well-organized and well-attended. Plan to attend this Sunday morning and every Sunday at 8:45. The morning worship service will be held at 10:45 with the pastor bringing a message leading up to Christmas. All are invited to attend any and all of the services of the Methodist Church.

United States Is Staging Bold Defense In Battle Against Japs

The United States today buckled down to the grim realities of a World War that may make the struggle of 1917-18 seem as child's play. In a dastardly attack on the great United States naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, at 6:15 in the morning (12:15 Central Time) Sunday the Japanese forced this country into the struggle even while its ambassador and special peace envoys were at the desk of Secretary of State Hull in an apparent effort to seek peace.

The surprise attacks on Hawaii, the Philippines, Wake Island and Guam admittedly caused serious damage to the United States fleet and air force but Wednesday's news from the eastern front partially offset the score as the United States sent two great battleships belonging to the land of the rising sun to the bottom along with a number of smaller craft including cruisers and destroyers.

A unified, all-out United States, after listening to a 500-word speech from President Roosevelt declared war on Japan at noon Monday, England had already declared war on the Japs as had a score of smaller nations, most of them in Central and South America.

An air and a half address which neutral observers found a man undecided and apparently afraid of the outcome Hitler declared war on the United States Tuesday and Italy fell in with its axis partner.

Today the United States finds itself in a battle to the finish with Japan, Germany and Italy.

Allied with the United States in the British Empire, the Dutch East Indies and the United States are pushing the Germans back all along the front. The first losses being the sinking by Jap bombers of the Prince of Wales and the Repulse, two of Britain's finest battleships.

The first and second days of the war, which came so unexpectedly, brought disheartening news to the Axis powers. The first losses being the sinking by Jap bombers of the Prince of Wales and the Repulse, two of Britain's finest battleships.

"The Messiah" Will Be Presented Sunday At College Auditorium

"The Messiah," greatest of all Christian music, will be presented Sunday night, at 7:30 p. m., by the Morehead Civic Chorus in its annual concert from the college auditorium stage.

This great group of sacred numbers, the work of George Frederick Handel is regarded as among the finest of oratorios, and is the most famous of Christmas music. Sunday night's performance of the local civic chorus will be the fifth time that the chorus has presented "The Messiah" at Christmas season here.

Under the direction of Professor Lewis H. Horton, the chorus, which includes students, faculty, and townpeople, has been rehearsing weekly in preparation for this special program.

Prior to last year, guest soloists had appeared with each civic chorus production of "The Messiah." Last year, however, four students from the college music department, Miss Edna M. E. George, Miss Lavinia Waters, soprano from Pelmyra, Illinois, will be contrast soloist. Florio Owens, soprano from Jenkins, Kentucky, will sing tenor solos. William Snyder, Black Junior, of Cincinnati, Ohio, will do bass solos.

Accompanying chorus numbers and solos will be Keshner Heinrich, pianist, a freshman from Mt. Sterling. The history of "The Messiah" is somewhat unique. The oratorio was based upon the general significance of the Messiah, and set to music by George Frederick Han-

Workers Receive $68,538.97 In November

A total of $68,538.97 was paid to 1,976 employees of 119 firms in Kentucky and Kentucky during the month of November. This was announced by William M. Eaves, Regional Director of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Nashville, Tennessee.

Zachem Makes All-Star Team At KIAC Conference

1941 Crop Far Ahead Of Last Year's In Ball Playing

Vincent Zachem, end star of the Morehead Varsity squad this season, was named to the mythical all-star team of the Kentucky Inter-Collegiate Athletic conference for 1941, in a list released by the Associated Press Friday.

Zachem, a junior at Morehead, recognized as an outstanding figure on the Morehead football field during the season just ended, and his selection to the KIAC team proves his worth.

In selecting this year's all-star team, the judges did not bother to consider a comparison of this year's players and last year's. It was generally agreed among the judges that the 1941 crop were far ahead of last year's in ball-playing. It was also noted that the team selected to the 1941 KIAC team are heavier than last year's by about eight pounds the man.

All conference members except two are represented on the list released yesterday by AP Louisville, who quit football in mid-season, and Union, who played only two KIAC conference games, are omitted from the star squad placed on the first squad are Downing, end, Western; Schuster, end, Eastern; Thornberry, half-back, Transylvania; Speth, tackle, Murray; Salvato, quarterback, Western; Smith, halfback, Eastern; Elmore, guard, Georgetown; Darling, tackle, Eastern; Bowling, guard, Western; Wadlock, fullback, Centre; Zachem, center, Morehead.

In comments released in Friday's Ashland Daily Independent, Zachem was highly commended as follows: "Zachem—with Haddock—the Morehead line star, last year was listed as a player to watch this season. He took over the pivotal duties when Adams was shifted to another position, and he handled the assignment well.

NYA Reduction Made In State

500 Fewer Kentucky College Students Will Receive Aid

A reserve set up by the Bureau of Budget in Washington has rendered a portion of the National Youth Administration appropriations for the current fiscal year unavailable for expenditure, necessitating a reduction of the number of youths employed on NYA in the state. Robert K. Salyers, State Youth Administrator, announced today. A reduction of about thirty-five percent will be made in the regular out-of-school work program, with reduction effective on a sliding scale. On the student work program about seventy-five percent of the present high schools will be continued during the last half of the school year.

In making the reduction in the out-of-school program, NYA will continue to operate projects which contribute most directly to national defense needs. As far as possible, the most valuable projects will be retained and, at the same time, an effort will be made to maintain a balanced geographic distribution of NYA activities in the entire state.

Mr. Salyers said there would be little, if any, change in the defense training program now being carried on. He also commented that although approximately 1,000 youth leave the program each month for jobs in defense or military service, there are about 18,000 eligible youth awaiting assignment to NYA jobs in Kentucky.

The reduction in youth workers will mean that about five hundred fewer college students will receive aid and that a reduction of about 3,000 high school students will be made. The out-of-school work program will be reduced by approximately 1,400 during December.

Employers Must Establish Age Of Employees

Employers are faced with the responsibility of establishing the age of employees who are near the border line under the Child Labor Law. Commissioner of Industrial Relations William C. Burrow declared this week.

The Commissioner also announced that his department is working in "close cooperation" with the Department of Education in checking on possible violations of the law.

"The Kentucky Child Labor Law," Commissioner Burrow pointed out, "gives inspectors from this department and school attendance officers the right to investigate where the law may be violated. The employer alone is faced with the responsibility of establishing the age of his youthful employees, and in cases of violations it is the employer who is made to answer. It is, therefore, a matter of self protection and common sense on the part of the employer to require his minor employees to obtain employment certificates or age certificates before he allows them to work in his establishment."

Commissioner Burrow also said that an intensive drive which he ordered several weeks ago to check possible violations of the law is "still in progress and will continue indefinitely."

Home Ec Gives Xmas Program

A children's Christmas party will be given Thursday afternoon, December 18, by the Home Economics club.

The club met Tuesday at Breckinridge to make plans for the party. Mary Frances Hunt, chairman of the committee on arrangements presented the plans which were accepted by the club Jean Thompson, president, presided.

THE REMINDER

By Reverend A. E. Landolt

There is hardly a man who does not sometimes fear tomorrow. We all have a recurring feeling of utter weakness in the face of life. What a dragging burden fearfulness! It saps vitality, and sucks away our best for great living.

So we need to be reminded that deeply implanted within all of us is a heroism which enables one to rise above fear. We all have a courage we must learn to develop if we are to face life successfully.

A picture drawn by Shakespeare in the play, "Julius Caesar" is keenly alive with interest for us. It is the night before Caesar was stabbed by his enemies. The night shadows are heavy. The pillars at the front of the house stand like dim ghosts, and the very atmosphere seems laden with apprehensions. Calpurnia, Caesar's wife, entreats him not to go forth into the night. Doom weighs heavy on her heart. Depressed, she pours out her fears. They have their effect on Caesar, for he is a man of feeling. But in the face of duty, he says: "Cowards die many times before their deaths; The valiant never taste of death but once."

It seems to me most strange that men should fear. Seeing that death, a necessary end, Will come when it will come.

Yet true heroism does not take this form in all cases. Heroism is physical suffering. It does not always mean one be fearless of danger. Too many times physical bravery turns out to be only momentary ignorance, or forgetfulness of consequences, or tragic indifference as to what may happen

One may not really care to continue living because he is discouraged, or disillusioned, or exhausted and tired. This is not "heroism" in the deeper sense. It is not really bravery; it is suicide.

But there is a courage within us, which, when properly developed can lead to definitely adventurous living. The real heroes are not the dead ones, but those who continue to face life with a determination to add something worthwhile to the lives of others. One needs more courage to live sacrificially for others, day after day, year after year, despite ridicule or lack of appreciation, than to be "heroic" in momentary heat of passion. It requires a great deal more strength to be merciful to one's enemies than to be vindictive that blind hatred leads to physical combat. It calls for more courage to be meek than to be arrogant.

Jesus brought forth one of the vital truths of human existence when he taught that all men, regardless of who or what or where they may be or are, can be heroic in this fashion. It is true for all men and with all men.

So look within yourself, and remind yourself that after all you too are something of the hero! Exercise the hero that is in your soul, if you would rise above the dregs of your fearfulness.

Life insurance benefit payments contributed 37 cents of the 1940 national income dollar. This compares with one cent in 1900.

Of every one hundred men starting a business career when they are twenty, approximately twenty-four will have died before they reach sixty—that is, when their earning power is greatest. At the end of another fifteen years only thirty-eight will be expected to be alive.

Lives of United States citizens, capitalized on earning power, are worth six to eight times as much as all capital and consumption goods and all personal wealth, industrial and government establishments.

It won't be long now! And you'll find the stock of fine wines and liquors that we now have on our shelves won't last long. Better start checking up on your needs right now, and then come in and let us fill your order. For a really acceptable gift for friends and business associates, give a favorite brand of liquor.

Most experts are in agreement that this will be the worst of all wars in which the United States has engaged and that it will not be over for five years or longer.

President Roosevelt has practically said the same thing with a further statement that we will win.

State Motor Truck Operators Pay Seven Million in Taxes

State taxes paid by motor truck operators in the Kentucky Territory totaled almost seven million dollars and represented in 1940-41 thirteen percent of the entire tax collections of the State, it is revealed in figures furnished by the Kentucky Department of Revenue and made public this week by Lewis Ulrich, manager of the Motor Truck Club of Kentucky. This total does not include almost $1,500,000 in Federal gasoline taxes which were paid during the same year by the motor trucking industry in Kentucky.

Mr. Ulrich's survey of the tax situation pointed out that the trucking industry paid more money to the State of Kentucky than the Kentucky Department of Highway expended in the same year for construction of new roads in the State. The totals were $6,300,000 in direct tax payments as compared to $6,072,000 directly expended by the State for new roads.

Bill Of Rights Day Program Scheduled Sunday

All national youth administration projects in Kentucky are arranging a special Bill of Rights Day program for December 15 to commemorate the one hundred first anniversary of the first ten amendments to the United States constitution. Robert E. Salvary, State Youth Administrator, announced today. The program will occur simultaneously all over the state, he said.

Every young man and woman employed on NYA projects will gather with their project supervisor and, at exactly 12:00 o'clock noon, bow their heads in prayer. Following this, the project supervisor will read the President's

Back Wages Paid Over To Employees

Back wages totaling $3,508.25 were collected during November and paid over to employees who had been paid less than the Minimum Wage Order standards. Commissioner William C. Burrow of the Department of Industrial Relations announced this week. The collections came as the result of 131 inspections made by the field force of the month, during the month, the Commissioner revealed.

A similar number of inspections were made under the Kentucky Child Labor and the Women's Employment Regulation Laws, which provides for a maximum ten-hour working day for women in most occupations.

In addition, Commissioner Burrow disclosed that his inspectors made thirty-eight investigations of safety conditions in Kentucky plants during the month, correcting hazards wherever found.

A total of fifty-two employees received the benefit of having their back wages paid to them as the result of the Department's investigations.

Governor Endorses Bible Sunday

Governor Gene Johnson endorses the observance of Universal Bible Sunday.

As a fitting prelude to the President's address to be given to the nation on December 15 in celebration of the adoption 150 years ago of the Bill of Rights, the churches of the country will observe Universal Bible Sunday on December 14 for the philosophy behind the Bill of Rights stands squarely upon the Bible. The American Bible Society which has sponsored Universal Bible Sunday for many years, and is itself celebrating its 125th anniversary, has suggested, as the theme for the day, "The Light Shines in the Darkness."

This adoption from the fifth verse of the First Chapter of John's Gospel points to the encouraging fact that against the tragic background of the present world's life the Bible is better known over wider areas of the Bible Society of Berlin reports sales of the Bibles are 289,813 copies for 1940 as

Why Go To College ?

By WARREN C. LAPPIN

Anyone who is at all familiar with the demands of American business, industry, and professional activity must realize the importance that is attached to formal preparation by these several forms of enterprise. Advanced training is almost a prerequisite for entrance upon any phase of the world's work today. Furthermore, there seems to be arguments in support of the position that training at the college level will become more essential in the years immediately ahead.

Just now our country, because of the war in Europe and our own defense program, is experiencing an industrial surge. When this period is over many of those now employed will be without work. It is apparently safe to conclude that those who are best prepared for their task will be given employment. Previous to 1939 there was much unemployment in the United States. There were not enough jobs for all. There is every reason to believe that a similar situation will present itself when the existing emergency is over. Complete training in any line of work will certainly be to the advantage of the person who wishes to succeed.

Again, if history has any value as a criticism for predicting future events, we may expect the years immediately following the emergency to be marked by advances in training requirements in the various lines of endeavor. This is to be expected when there are more workers than there is work to be done. Such a movement was characteristic of the years following World War No. 1. There is every reason to believe that it will be repeated at the close of the present conflict.

As a matter of plain judgment it seems that the individual who looks at the problem clearly, and is not blinded by the immediate consideration of temporary employment with inflated wages, will secure the very best possible training for his chosen work. This means that in the majority of instances he will go to college.

Coaches Present At KIAC Conference

Mr. Ellis Johnson and Len Miller, Morehead coaches, along with Dr. Romie D. Judd of the Education department attended the meeting of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic department this past week. The KIAC conference was held in Lexington, Kentucky.

A system of bells rings out the time in the United States Navy. The day starts at midnight with eight bells. At 12:30 a. m., one bell is struck; at 1 a. m., two bells; and one bell is added for each half hour until eight bells are reached, at which time the cycle is repeated. Eight bells are struck for every four hours of the day and night at 4:00 a. m., 8:00 a. m., noon, 4:00 p. m., 8:00 p. m., and midnight.

Rose Marionette Troupe Features "Snow White--Rip Van Winkle"

The Rufus Rose Marionettes, recognized as leaders in the field of puppetry, will appear at the college auditorium on January 14 for matinee and evening shows. This fine troupe is brought to Morehead by the Beaux Arts club, and the shows promise to be a treat for townspeople as well as students. There will be an afternoon showing of "Snow White" and an evening showing of "Rip Van Winkle," as well as puppet revues at both performances.

Rufus and Margo Rose, show owners will appear personally with their show at Morehead. The couple have won nation-wide acclaim as puppeteers, and are bringing to Morehead two of their puppet plays. Also in the troupe are six professional assistants who will operate and supply voices for the tiny wooden actors.

During the past twelve years, the Rose Marionettes have appeared in over a thousand cities. Today Rufus and Margo Rose are recognized as the finest artists in the Marionette Theatre. They are frequently asked to collaborate with film companies in supplying puppets for popular movies.

The puppets themselves have personalities. "Snow White" and "Rip Van Winkle" both are presented in excellent dramatic style, with an extravagance of colorful costuming and good music. The Beaux Arts club is fortunate in booking the Rufus Rose troupe between their engagements at University of Kentucky, and Marshall college.

Admission for the afternoon show will be 15 and 25 cents; for the evening show, 15 cents, for training school pupils, 25 cents; for college students, and 35 cents general admission.

The United States Navy Department has ordered all shore stations to set up a definite schedule of military drills and physical exercises in order to maintain physical fitness and military smartness for all naval personnel. A medium of one hour of military drill must be given each week and physical education shall be given for at least fifteen minutes each day, five days a week.

Housekeeping the Modern Way Brings New Joys to Mother, 83

By MARGON CONGER

Times have changed for the housewife, according to Mother Johanna Enright, 83 years young, agile, alert and ubiquitous who has reared a family of four sons and is now raising her grandchildren growing up.

"Why, I used to work from sun-
up to sun-down," reminisced Mother Enright. "I put up bushels of tomatoes and strawberries and pic-nicles. I baked my own bread, and ground the coffee. And when the evening dishes were done, I was still working—mending or making clothes while the boys studied their lessons."

"I still keep house, and of course
my daughters-in-law keep house, too. But housekeeping's just a halftime job these days with pickles and tomatoes and jams to be bought already prepared at the corner grocery—just as good and actually cheaper than I could make them. I buy coffee that's not only baked, but sliced, and I get my coffee in glass jars that can be re-sealed and kept in the refrigerator. It's just as easy as the pic-nicles. I used to grind each day myself. I used to buy my salad dressings in glass so that there's no more to bring a meal than just the last-minute cooking preparations."

"Electricity Does it Now," she said. "Even cooking has been simplified. I use an electric range that almost does the cooking for her. She gets burns readily, sets the automatic timer, and then goes out to play with her grandchildren
and sets the range cooks the food
and sets the refrigerator below arrived so that she could ever
do when she had to hang over
the boiling pot."

"She has an electric refrigerator
that saves operational costs
and enables her to market less frequently and in quantity. She gets her meats and vegetables and dairy products to last for several days
and sets the refrigerator below arrived so that she could ever
do when she had to hang over
the boiling pot."

Bakes Cakes Now and Then Mother Enright doesn't sigh for the good old days. She still likes to bake her own cakes and to spice some pears now and then. But she Glassed for Her!

There's a reason for the way Mother Enright smiles after she takes a jar of glassed fruit down from the kitchen shelf. She used to spend days putting up fruit herself. Now she buys it already glassed at the corner grocery.

likes it because she doesn't have to do it. She just does it now and then and makes a list out of it.
The rest of the time she prefers to let the packers do her glassing
for her and her modern kitchen save her time and energy for outside pleasures.

"Why, I can even go to the movies
in the afternoon now," she exclaimed. "I save enough time and money by keeping house the modern way to do all sorts of things
I used to think foolish and extran-sagant. Believe me, there weren't any good old days for the housewife. There were just seven workdays a week. Today, every day's a holiday by comparison and the house is cleaner, the meals are easier, and the budget more balanced than ever it could have been in the past."

One of the first things a new recruit in the United States Navy or Naval Reserve learns is the Navy's method of speaking of time. Each new day in the Navy begins at midnight or "0000." The Eagles Submerge Rio Grande, 40-33, In Season Opener

In the first game of the 1941-42 basketball season, More-head's Eagles handed the Rio Grande Redmen their first

ing 19-13 in Morehead's favor.

son.

Legislative Council a bill to increase the gross truck load limit from 18,000 pounds to 28,000 pounds on certain highways for duration of the national emergency.

If the General Assembly passes
the bill in its present form the commissioner of highways would be empowered to designate what roads could be used for the new maximum load limit, and to consider any or all of them at his discretion.

The commissioner would be discreted to consider two factors in designating the roads, as follows:
1. Whether the roads and bridges are strong enough to bear the new load limit without damage.

2. Whether public safety would be endangered by heavier loads than now are allowed by law.

The proposed bill also would increase maximum length of semi-trailers from thirty to thirty-three feet.

Heads of four other departments asked the council to recommend annual increases totaling about $160,000 above their current appropriations. Attorney-General Hubert Meredith, Treasurer, Ernest E. Shannon and Hiram Wilson, director of banking and ac-curities, asked the council to leave their appropriations at the present level.

Hunters Reports Indicate Game More Plentiful

Varied reports of succeeds and failure are pouring into the Division of Game and Fish offices here by the hundreds from every section of the state. S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division, stated today.

The reports, when sifted carefully, indicate that hunting is fully better this year, as a whole, than it was last year. Birds are being found over larger territory and more plentifully than last year and rabbits are reported abundantly especially in those countries noted for their good rabbit hunting.

Several cases of tularemia (transient fever) have been found in the state but according to reports these cases appeared before the hunting season opened on November 24.

Wakefield calls attention to the fact that the season on the Best Fox opened December 1 and will end December 31.

County Court Clerks say that the sale of hunting licenses, both county and state-wide, has been rather heavy for the past two weeks.

Farmers Urged To Check Machinery Now For Repairs

An immediate check of all farm machinery and equipment for possible worn or damaged parts is suggested by the Kentucky State Defense Board.

A sharp reduction in the number of new farm machines to be manufactured in 1942 makes it important to take care of existing machinery and equipment, it is stated. Although the storage of steel, copper and other metal means that fewer new tractors and implements will be available, farmers will be able to obtain repair parts for old machinery if the importance of food production to national defense, manufacturers will be allocated sufficient metals to produce repair parts.

The Defense Board advises farmers to order now any new parts required to put the equipment in top working condition for next season. Dealers and manufacturers can give better service if orders are placed early. The same advice applies to machinery which must be serviced at the dealer's
shop or a factory branch.

Hunting Season Opens With A Bang

Any stranger, wandering thru the fields of Kentucky on Monday, November 24, would have sworn that the Russo-Axis battle lines had been moved to the Commonwealth, judging by the popping of guns in every nook and cranny of the State, as the hunting season on quail and rabbits opened.

Reports of success varied in the different counties of the state. Some hunters reported getting the limit of quail or of rabbits while others reported getting the limit of cotton-tail. Some nimrods stated that they found the quail in the open fields while others said the birds were located in thickets and brush heaps.

For the most part, weather conditions were favorable for the opening day of the hunting season. Although the Eastern Kentucky nimrods had to do their shooting in a cold rain, the rest of the state saw sunshine after rains had dampened the ground on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, making for better hunting where dogs had to work.

According to reports received by the Division of Game and Fish, some sportsmen estimated that the same crop was up twenty to thirty percent over last year. Others stated that they had more quail and rabbits in their counties this season than had been noted for the past five years.

County court clerks reported a good sale of hunting licenses, both county and state-wide.

Class Inspects Plant On Dairy Excursion

Mr. Hagan's dairying class recently made a tour to study some of the different aspects of dairying. The class first visited the Carnation milk plant at Maysville and was very much impressed by the amount of mechanical equipment and the amount of milk handled.

They next visited two dairies which supply milk to the Spring Grove dairy. At these two dairies the cows were milked by mechanical milkers. The most notable thing about the barns where the cows were kept was their cleanliness. Later the Spring Grove dairy was visited. Now the milk was handled, pasteurized, cooled, bottled and demonstrated. The boys were given a treat of chocolate milk by the employees of the dairy. The class gained much first-hand information from the tour.

TRUCKS BUILD ROADS

KENTUCKY'S trucking industry paid more to the State (last fiscal year) than the State Highway Department expended for new road construction—$4,274,044, as compared to $4,072,147.38. About 8% of Kentucky's freight is transported by truck, but the trucking industry pays almost 13% of the State's total tax income (1940-41 fiscal year)—$4,274,044, as compared with $49,294,095. Trucks paid more than one-third of the entire expense of the Kentucky Highway Department in 1940-41—$4,274,044, as compared to $18,165,587.

(These figures furnished by Kentucky Department of Revenue and Kentucky Highway Department, Frankfort.)

TRUCKS PAY		KENTUCKY COLLECTED
	IN 1940-41		IN 1940-41
Licenses	$1,314,479	Total tax revenue	$49,294,095
Permits	4,730	Kentucky Highway Dept. expenditure	18,165,586
Weight tax	4,970	New road construction paid for by the State	4,072,147.38
Drivers' licenses	21,948	The State built the following new road mileage:
State Gas Tax	4,044,550	High type	188.9
TOTAL	$4,274,044	Low type	173.4
		Shoulder improvement	28.0
		Reconstruction	76.2
		City or Construction	46.7
		TOTAL	763.7

($49,220 of the foregoing total was set-aside for local farm-to-market roads. The entire remainder went to the road construction fund.)

The Truck tax figures do not include the Federal gasoline tax of 1 1/2c per gallon—totaling for Kentucky trucks $1,405,343. This returns to the State for road building purposes. Nor do the foregoing figures include sales taxes on new trucks, registration fees, nor real estate, tangible personal property, franchise, income tax, and other contributions by the trucking industry and its personnel to the State Government.

short" in arithmetic and geography. He suffered indescribable pain when he could not do as well as his playmates could do to help him in this dilemma. It was a problem between Johnnie, the book, and the teacher — the eternal triangle of the schoolroom. Arithmetic was a puzzle to Johnnie, the teacher was a puzzle to Johnnie. Miss B succeeded in teaching him the rudiments of the fundamentals but when it came to solving problems poor little Johnnie could not reason out things. It just didn't make sense.

Secondly, Johnnie was a "place geographer." That is, he knew capitals, rivers, states and their boundaries, but somehow he could not relate "cause and effect." To be specific, he could not give an intelligent reason of the climate on events Johnnie had been "born thought and living. From the foregoing account it may seem to the reader that Johnnie was dreadfully dumb, that his I. Q. would indicate that the higher mental processes were beyond the scope of his mind. But here is the crux of Johnnie's problem. The school system was attempting to sound out areas in his life which existed only "in vacuo." When his stature was plumbied by arithmetic and geography it looked like Johnnie was about to tumble down. But there were other areas in his life which Johnnie's teacher did not touch, though they were brought along to school with him each day.

Now Johnnie has a special I. Q. of about 140 (the genius type). Every body liked Johnnie and Johnnie liked everybody. In the next place, he had extraordinary ability in art, but as the teacher knew little about art, there was little art taught to mention. Those doors were closed to Johnnie, the only doors through which he might escape defeat.

In brief, to sum it all up, Johnnie was about to be stamped as a failure because his nature was not in line with the prescribed subject matter. Nature was not to be trusted. It had to be sent to fit the program. Miss B forgot her pedagogy. She forgot that the modern system of education should begin with the child. Take exactly what he brought to school and use this as her doing of this for she was teaching subjects and she comforted her program to fit books, rules and regulations, which Johnnie was building up a good sized "inferiority complex."

Debate Team Unable To Attend Meet

Due to lack of sufficient funds, the Morehead State Teachers college debate team will not be able to attend the forenoon tournament at Murray, Dr. Holtzclaw, coach of the team, stated Thursday.

Members of the club had been holding tryouts and collecting material for the debate but due to the news, meetings this week were postponed.

Dr. Holtzclaw is contacting Kentucky Wesleyan college in an attempt to have a practice debate with their team within the next week. Morehead won one and lost two of last year's contests with this school, one other debate being defaulted by Wesleyan.

Tentative team to meet the speakers from Winchester consists of Margaret Young, Ollie Lyon, David Hennessey, and Jack Miller.

Volumes Presented To English Dept.

Dr. Dudley of the Morehead college English department has announced that the proceeds from the series of Shakespearean plays given last spring by the Avon Players have been used to purchase books for the Johnson-Candem library.

Included among the books are modern novels, modern dramas, standard works and approximately seven volumes to connect children's literature courses with the growing interest in South America. Titles purchased vary from Citadel of a Hundred Stairways and Courage Over the Andes, South American works, to American Drama Since 1918 and Warwick Deeping's Roper's Row.

Since the funds from the plays will buy a total of twenty-three volumes, it can be seen that the English department has made a large contribution to the stocks of the library. All volumes so contributed are going to be marked the department and the Avon Players as their contributors.

Students Attend KIPA Convention

Charles Thomas, president of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association and LaRue Warner, editor of the Trail Blazer, left Thursday morning to attend the KIPA convention held at Murray State Teachers college, Murray, Kentucky. The convention was held on December fourth and fifth.

At a banquet given Friday night in honor of the visiting delegates from most of the Kentucky colleges, LaRue Warner made a short talk on "the college paper and its connections with the public relations department." Also presented for the visitors was a play done by students at Murray.

An important feature of the meeting was the judging of the best college paper; also the finest from among individual stories, sports, news articles, features, editorials, special columns and cartoons, that were submitted by the various college newspapers.

It has been decided that the spring meeting of the KIPA will be held at Union college in Barbourville, Kentucky.
