Some Ask: "Where Is Our Navy?" The Navy Replies: "Be Patient!"

Present Strategy Calls For Remote Blockade Of Jap Areas

To the question which many Americans are asking themselves as they watch the tide of battle in the Far East tonight—"What is our navy doing?"—the navy's "Be patient!"

For above military reasons, navy officials who know—and their member is restricted—are not yet ready to answer the question in any detail. But one official has said:

"The American people must be patient. When the time comes, the navy will deliver. It has not lost the tradition of the offensive."

OUTTING BUSINESS SALE

AN ABSOLUTE SELL OUT TO GET OUT...WITH NO REGARD FOR LOSS, COST OR WORTH...ALL MUST GO AT SOME LOW PRICE!

THE TRUTH

During my many years of experience as a merchandise adjuster, I have come to know the true value of merchandise and true money-saving prices when I see them offered. I wish to say in all sincerity the value to be found in this mighty going-out-of-business sale set an unheard-of precedent in the field of price cutting. Never in all my long experience have I seen such ruthless price cutting as I see now, in spite of a fast rising market. Our prices are actually being cut much lower than present day wholesale prices.

Mr. McBrayer has authorized me to close out this business as quickly and completely as possible, in order that this may be done, price precedent has been demolished.

This is not a one-day sale; every day will be a new and sensational sale day until the final article has been sold.

THE REASON

Due to other pressing business engagements which demand our entire time we find it necessary to discontinue this business. In appreciation of the patronage of our many friends throughout these years we have decided to give them something unheard of in prices in this final closing-out-sale.

In order to close this business as quickly as possible we have gone the limit in price cutting regardless of costs.

Every item of this merchandise is being sold for less than replacement costs. Come in and stock up for the coming year and save money.

made from Canada and importation of lumber from Russia has been resumed via the White Sea.

"In South Africa regulations on private buildings were imposed by the Government last summer, restricting new homes to costs of 2,000 pounds or less per unit. These measures were not designed to divert metals to the war effort, but specifically to release building labor for defense construction.

"Similar regulations have been put into effect in Australia for the same reasons, but with a ceiling of 3,000 pounds per dwelling unit. But in Melbourne, after the restrictions went into effect, new dwellings for August amounted to 457,841 pounds, in comparison with 497,244 pounds for July—no great decrease.

"How Great Britain's post-war building program is taking shape is summed up in a pamphlet just published by the Building Industries National Council of London. It outlines projects of vast scope on municipal, ecclesiastical, industrial and overseas building, with the following paragraph on residential buildings suggesting the immensity of the plan:

"Even if enemy action this winter is only a slight scale, at least 1,500,000 new houses will be required. These will make up for those shattered or damaged, and for inevitable war wastage. It will also be imperative to carry on the program of slum clearance and the relief of overcrowding."

"The hope in these items from nations which are usually at war is that civilian housing needs will surely be recognized in the same way in our country and the ways and means will be worked out by our Government to maintain the private building industry here at least to the same degree that it has been maintained in the war-torn countries.

All local employment offices of the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Commission are now equipped to furnish information and application blanks to young men interested in the free courses in seamanship and in radio telegraphy being offered by the United States Maritime Commission, it is announced today by Vego E. Barnes, executive director.

"Our merchant marine is growing at the rate of a ship a day," he said. "Soon two ships a day will be launched. Good jobs on these ships, paying from $72 to $200 a month, including bonuses, await 40,000 young men, many of whom will be trained by the Maritime Service in schools and on training ships during the next two years.

"Every young man between the ages of eighteen and twenty-three, in good health, who would like to become a seaman or a ship's radio operator, should ask for information about these training courses at his local State employment office. Although a trainee is expected to serve on ships for at least a year after graduation, the Maritime Service is not an enlisted service.

"Enrollees receive pay while learning a clothing allowance of $100, and free transportation to a training school. These schools are situated in Boston, New York City, Port Huemene near Los Angeles, and St. Petersburg, Florida."

Men receiving training in the deck, engineers, and stewards departments are paid at least $21.00 monthly during the six months course. Student radio operators receive from $35.00 to $54.00 monthly during courses of from six to ten months, depending upon the student's previous experience and technical training.

Pastor Tells How To Live During Our Present Emergency

Spiritual Morale Necessary For Ultimate Victory

One of the functions which churches have assumed during the war period is to give comfort, courage and stability to America's Methodist clergymen in Manchester, Connecticut, the Reverend W. Ralph Ward, Jr., has ten rules for Christian living in a world of war.

1. Do not let the war become an excuse for neglecting and ignoring life's normal responsibilities and duties.
2. Take time for counsel and give place to reason before following upon decisions made when the emotions are aroused.
3. Make light of your own sacrifices while being ready to acknowledge the greater sacrifices of others.
4. Maintain a sense of humor.
5. Let there be no hate or persons in anything you think, or say, or do.
6. Do not imply selfish motives to those who differ with you in what they conceived to be their compelling duty in this time of war.

Change Made To Streamline Employment Problems During Wartime

The 125 local employment offices in Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio, opened this week as units of the nationally-operated United States Employment Service, it was said by Robert C. Goodwin, regional director of the Social Security Board.

The change is the result of a Presidential order which centralizes control of the public employment services in the board, through its regional offices.

In Region V, which includes these three states, the administration of the employment offices will be under the direction of Edward L. Keenan, regional representative of the USES. Commenting on the change, Keenan said:

"The action has been taken to place at the disposal of the nation its entire labor supply, with the greatest possible speed.

"The action has been taken to place at the disposal of the nation its entire labor supply, with the greatest possible speed. The change also is in the interest of economy and efficiency. The President's order contemplates that the USES shall perform, in addition to placement functions, certain operations which will be of service to the states in connection with the administration of unemployment compensation laws."

State directors of the USES in Region V who are appointed effective today are W. H. Fraysure, Kentucky; Wade Hammond, Ohio; and George M. Cross, Michigan. These men, each of whom has been employment service director in his state for two years or longer, are being inducted into the Federal service together with their present state staffs.

In Region V approximately 2,575 former state employees thus become Federal workers today. The total for Ohio is about 1,150, for Michigan 1,140 and for Kentucky 240. This is about thirty-five percent of the total personnel of the three state job insurance agencies.

Rose Marionettes To Appear On MC Stage Wednesday

Will Give Afternoon And Evening Performances

Two most unique performances will be presented from the MSTC auditorium stage next Wednesday, January 14, when the Rufus Rose Marionettes, nationally famed puppet show, will give afternoon and evening shows for students and townspeople.

The Rose Marionettes, which has won for itself a reputation as one of the best entertainment groups of its type in the whole country, have perfected their tiny life-like characters with the Rufus Rose company, owners of the troupe, formerly played with the Tony Sartz Puppets, with the A & P Shows in the recent World's Fair, and with other well-known groups. Not only have they won distinction for their own shows, but they have also been called upon to furnish the tiny dolls for Hollywood's film productions.

Behind the scenes of the Rufus Rose performances are six persons who operate the wooden apparatus by complicated strings and sticks. The operators are themselves former stage and radio performers, who supply the voice for the marionettes.

The Beaux Arts Club, who are bringing these fine shows to the campus, feel indeed fortunate in booking such a well-known troupe as the Rufus Rose company. The Rose performers will come here following an engagement at the University of Kentucky, and will play at Marshall College following their Morehead presentations.

A matinee, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," will be given from the college auditorium at three o'clock next Wednesday afternoon; the plot is a jolly and entertaining one, the same as featured in movie by the same name which was popularized a few years ago. Also included in the afternoon performance will be a puppet review, with Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire, and other important movie stars impersonated in miniature wooden form.

The play, "Rip Van Winkle," which starts at seven-thirty p. m. The plot is based on Washington Irving's story of the same name, and is moral enough for adults, as well as humorous enough for children. A puppet review will also be featured with the evening show.

Prices for both evening and afternoon performances will be fifteen cents for children up to twelve; twenty-five cents for students; if tickets are bought prior to time for the shows, thirty-five cents for faculty and townspeople. Members of the Beaux Arts Club are selling tickets, and urge students to buy early; gate prices for students will be thirty-five cents. The Club hopes that the good audiences will attend both shows, and avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing such fine performances from a Morehead stage.

A. C. P. In County Has Best Year In Entire History

917 Farmers Signed Up For Participation In 1942

The Agricultural Conservation program has just completed one of the most successful years in its history. There were 825 farmers taking part in the '41 program. These farmers received $168,850 worth of phosphate and vetch seed. They are now receiving their cash payments. Checks for 825 farmers have been received for the total amount of $10,271.28 and checks for the other 221 are yet to be received in the amount of about $400.00 in addition to the phosphate and vetch seed they received. These payments total $1,181.28, or eighty-eight percent of the total payment of deductions for expenses at the rate of twelve percent is being made from payments that meet expenses of the Association for the year. Payments and deductions total $1,181.28 in Washington. This is four and one-half percent lower than was deducted for the 1940 program, or thirty-seven percent lower expenses than for the year ending September 1, 1940.

The Rowan County Agricultural Conservation Association is supported entirely by Federal Appropriation. No funds from state or local branches of government are contributed either directly or indirectly.

Exactly 917 farmers have signed up from indications that they will take part in the 1942 program. This is the largest number of the county's farmers ever to participate in the Conservation program in any one year. Vetch seed, phosphate, and limestone are available to farmers as Conservation material. This makes these materials available with a little or no cost to the farmer until his ACP payment is made at the end of the year.

Recent action by Congress has renewed the Agricultural Conservation program for five years.

Kentucky Utilities Workers Granted $110,000 More Pay

Many Kentucky Utilities Company regular employees who have been with the organization more than a year will share a $110,000 total pay increase effective January 1, J. M. Watt, president, announced in Lexington this week following a meeting of company directors.

Praising the loyalty and co-operation of employees, Mr. Watt said the pay raises were granted to help compensate for higher living costs and as a reward for long and efficient service.

Many of our fine young men have volunteered for service in the army, naval or air forces and they cannot readily be replaced," Mr. Watt said. "The rest of us are glad to take on extra duties until they return."

"We will keep our plants and facilities operating at capacity as every kilowatt of electric power available is needed in the war program. To date we are meeting all demands."

In co-operation with other utility companies, in which a transmission system is connected—including the Louisville Gas & Electric Company—we are now sending almost 1,250,000 kilowatt-hours per day for defense needs in the TVA area.

Mr. Watt said Kentucky Utilities Company is trying secure an improved priority rating from O.P.M. to complete as soon as

Sinking field goals from almost every angle, he rocketed the away through the net eight times for double-deckers and cashed in on seven free throws out of thirteen attempts for a grand total of twenty-three points. This being the last session of this Fiscal Court as it is now composed of the members of the court, wish to take this moment of thanking all the officials of the county for their co-operation and helpful cooperation with us during our term of office, now ending. We most especially wish to thank Judge L. E. Peiffer for his intelligent and capable leadership of our court. It has been a pleasure to every member of our court to have been associated with such an official and high-minded public official as Judge Peiffer. This Fiscal Court with Judge Peiffer, have made every effort during our administration to save the taxpayers

We leave the administration of the affairs of our county to our successor with the satisfaction of the fact that we have left the order book of this court.

$300,000 for the first time since 1920 and that the independent warrants bear one percent interest. He said that "the legislative session started two months ago well done and with best emphasis upon that which it has been possible to accomplish in the past year."

The Governor said that no one could predict how much would be received in revenue due to the war, especially to the highway department in gasoline taxes, to the general fund through the three-percent of the Pearl Harbor, he said that the legislative achievements "substantially and constructively" they have been, pale into insignificance and are overshadowed by the perils presented.

The budget which the Governor said he approved, he characterized as "alarmingly large." He said it would call for expenditures of $28,550,917.56 in the 1942-43 fiscal year which is $2,332,480 greater than the budget of the present fiscal year. In the 1942-43 fiscal year the budget will call for an expenditure of $28,770,207.56.

The Governor declared that the budget recently approved by the State Budget Officer, the State Finance Commissioner and the Board of Legislative Council and sent to the legislature.

"I believe you will recognize the necessity as the justification for the increase of the State Budget Officer as outlined by the Governor as follows:

For education, $960,902 increase to provide $12,000 per capita. Increase in history and $400,000 for equalization fund authorized by Constitutional amendment in November and increase of $18,000 in teachers' retirement fund.

For other research, $25,000 for College of Agriculture, increased program of food for freedom by $7,500 for research of College of Engineering into by-products of coal.

For defense, minimum increase of $430,000 for operation of state's institutions and $250,000 additional to old-age assistance.

For public health, increase of $119,895, partly due to "imperative need" for additional laboratory facilities for tests prescribed by Selective Service boards and under pre-marital law.

The Governor's budget recommendations contained no specific appropriation for construction of the state's charitable and institutional buildings except $250,000 for routine maintenance. He said that the $712,662, "expended for the restoration of heating plants, reconstruction of utilities and such repairs" was "a drop in the bucket." He said engineers recommended expenditures of more than $18,000,000 to provide electrically and plumbing for all housed in the institutions.

"A new but sound provision has been written into the budget, approved by the legislative council," the Governor said. "It would authorize surplus money in excess of budgeted requirements, if necessary, to be expended in correcting the frightful conditions in the institutions." He added the School for the Deaf and Hazelwood Tuberculosis Sanitarium in these institutions.
