Cecil Fraley Is Appointed For Joe Bates

Local Railroader Selected To Head Campaign For Re-Election

Congressman Joe B. Bates to announce the appointment of Cecil Fraley of Morehead as his campaign manager in Royan County for the August primary election.

In accepting the campaign managership, Mr. Fraley said that he had been in the past as behind President Roosevelt's program, which Mr. Bates has supported in its entirety.

The new campaign manager announced that Mr. Bates was endorsed by every labor organization and every farmers organization in the state and nation because of his unflinching support of legislation favoring the farmer and the laboring man.

Mr. Bates had just secured the passage of a bill in Congress, steering it through both houses, which means that over a million jobs will be handed to the railroad employees.

This money is what the railroad men paid into the unemployment insurance to the State. Later the Federal government took over this insurance, with the result that every dollar these railroad men had paid in was lost to them.

Workers May File Claims When Over 65

Claims Will Not Be Allowed If Applicant Continues At Work

Workers can file their claims for old-age and survivors insurance at age 65 or any time thereafter, whether or not they plan to retire James A. Chaney, manager of the Social Security Board's office at Ashland, Ky.

He explained, however, that insurance payments will not be made to any worker as long as he is employed—that is, the law will not require an insurance payment for any month in which he earns as much as $1500 a job covered by the law.

Mr. Chaney said that workers aged 65 or older who are planning to file a claim for insurance payment should consult the Social Security Board office in their respective cities. First, the employee may not have worked enough to be eligible for benefits, but (Continued on Page Two)

W.C. Lappin Gets College Deanship

Warren C. Lappin, newly elected Dean of the Morehead State Teachers College, succeeding Dr. W. H. Vaughan, who retired either to Morehead or to the Morehead State Teachers College.

Coming to Morehead in 1919, when his father assumed the presidency of the old Christian Normal Institute, the first runner of the present Morehead State Teachers College, Mr. Lappin has grown up in the institution of which he is now Dean. He is perhaps as familiar as one can be with the hopes, the aspirations, the purpose and the ultimate ideals of the Morehead State Teachers College.

With his educational background intricately woven with the development and history of the college, there is every reason to believe that Mr. Lappin, who remained in that capacity as Dean of the College following the death of his father in 1923, he was elected as principal of the Morehead Public School, remained in that capacity for two years. In 1925 he was elected as director of the training school at the Morehead State Teachers College, where he has remained since, until 1939, when he was elected as Dean. Thus he has been intimately connected with the college since before its organization and is peculiarly well fitted for the duties of his new office.

In 1929 he secured his Master's Degree from the University of Chicago in 1934. This year at the University of Indiana working on his doctor's thesis. He intends to return there in September on a leave of absence to finish his doctorate during the coming year.

Laughlin And Clayton Are In Restaurant

No Name Selected Until Contest Is Decided, Say Owners Of Restaurant

The Question Mark is at present the unofficial title of the new restaurant opened on Tuesday night of this week by Frank Laughlin and Claude Clayton in the new building recently completed on the site of the old Blue Moon Restaurant.

The opening was, of course entirely without the usual formality accompanying such events, and the trade was far in excess of anything that had been expected.

The Cafe is at present known as the Question Mark because as yet no name has been selected for it. A contest is being held by the owners for the selection of the best and most appropriate name for the new establishment. If you have a suggestion write it together with your name on a slip of paper and drop it in the box provided for that purpose. The name will be selected next week, according to Mr. Laughlin, and a prize will be awarded to the one suggesting the name chosen.

In the meantime they invite you to visit their new and modern restaurant, which is undoubtedly the finest in both arrangement and equipment to be found any place between Louisville and Huntington.

Plans Made For Church Services During Summer

Plans are being made for the continuance of all Church services of the Morehead Christian Church throughout the entire summer. During the absence of the Pastor and his wife, July 29, to August 15, the various organizations of the Church will have charge of the morning services. Under these plans, the Church will not be closed any Sunday during the summer.

Company Announces Plan To Give Employees Vacations With Pay

Approximately 70 per cent of the employees of the Company will receive a vacation with pay this year. On June 27, D. B. Leadbetter, Vice-President, announced to the committee representing employees that he was happy to inform them that vacations would be paid hourly, paid and granted. Workers would be granted.

On July 2, George P. Wardley, Assistant Vice-President of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., was in Morehead to review with an employee's committee rules covering the vacations, which will be published in the next issue of the News.

The announcement of the vacation plan was especially appreciated by S long service contractor. Of course, the cost of the property owner is a great deal less, only the actual cost of the materials.

"Not only are they getting the walk laid at a minimum cost," he added, "but they are actually getting the work done. Figures will be released in the near future regarding the actual accomplishment of Mr. Seymour and his boys, but it is safe to say that you have only to look at the number of feet of sidewalk already laid to see for yourself that this is no idle talk. They are really doing a fine job."

Incidentally, it may be added that the demand for the services of the N. Y. A. gang is so great that it looks as if they will be able to continue the work for several months yet. Those who have not yet contracted for their services should do so as soon as possible, as this is a first laborer to your donation to served proposition.

Let's Turn To The Record

It is now only a few short weeks until Kentucky and particularly the Eighth Congressional District will be asked to choose candidates for the important office of Congressman. In off year elections like the present, citizens are apt to overlook the importance of this office to the people of the district, and to neglect to go to the polls.

The fact of the matter is that the office of Congressman is one of the most important to the people of the district of all the offices from that of President on down. For the Congressman is the near-direct representation between the people and the government. It is closer to the people than any other federal office.

For that reason, if no other, it behooves us as citizens to select the best candidates possible for the office. For that reason, it behooves the Democrats of this Eighth Congressional district to select a man with experience, a man with ability and a man with a record that stands out for the things that closely touch our lives and the lives of our fellow citizens.

We have in Congress at the present moment such a man in the Hon. Joe B. Bates, who is a candidate for reelection in the August primary. Mr. Bates has served one full term and a part of another term and thus has the qualification of experience and service, that cannot be offered by any other candidate for the office. In Congress things are run by seniority. A new man going into Congress gets what is left over in the way of committee appointments. He takes what is offered, and it is usually the poorest and least influential committees of the lot. On the other hand a man who has served one or more terms draws the plums and gets the best assignments. Mr. Bates is in that position now. He is being ranked member of the important military affairs committee, a committee that is outstanding particularly at the present time in the affairs of the nation. His influence is practically unlimited.

Other committees are in similar condition. The question was, as voters, must answer is this: Are we willing to sacrifice what we have gained in influence by having an experienced man at the top of the committee of which he is a member, or a beginner who must start all over again? The question is whether we want the benefit of experience or the perils of lack of experience.

These Are Perilous Times

These days are dangerous days, dangerous to the nation, dangerous to the individual. This is no time to change horses. This is no time to experiment with possibilities. This is no time to alter our course and to put in charge of one of our most important offices a man without experience to cope with dangers who know and who are in a position to accomplish.

The Bates Record

Joe Bates' Record has been a record of service. He has served not only his constituents but his country in this time of peril. His record has been and will continue to be one hundred per cent New Deal. He has supported President Roosevelt in his program and he will continue to support the President in his program. He has supported labor legislation one hundred percent and he will continue to support labor one hundred percent. He has supported nine major farm-legislation projects and proposals and he will continue to support them one hundred percent. He has listened patiently to every request, and wherever possible he has done his best to obtain fulfillment of that request. And where he was unable to accomplish the thing asked for, it has never been for lack of effort on his part.

To refute Congressman Bates' candidacy now would be to slap President Roosevelt and the National Democratic administration. In making the race for Congress two years ago, Mr. Bates pledged that he would return the Commission you gave to him unscathed and unshamed. He pledges that he would follow the great leadership of President Roosevelt. He is an undeniable New Dealer and a vote for him is a ballot of endorsement for the Roosevelt administration.

His record for support of the President, for the support of labor and for support of the farmer are above reproach, so much so that labor has given him his record a one hundred per cent endorsement, and are behind him to a man. He invites those who care to do so to investigate his record as a public servant during his entire political career and to form their own opinions, not based on idle malicious gossip, but on facts. Every farmers organization has given Congressman Bates their 100 percent endorsement because he has proved to be their friend.

He is basing his campaign strictly on its merits, on his record and upon facts. He does not and will not enter into personalities, believing that the people of the of the Eighth Congressional District are lately fair, and that they are capable of judging his merits by his public acts and not by a smoke screen thrown up by any candidate who has no platform of either performance or promise on which to make the race.

Fideler Pledged Support In 1938

We listened to a tirade against Mr. Bates made by one of his opponents in this race this year. His vitriolic utterance against the character of Mr. Bates recalled to us a banquet at which we were present, in 1938, a banquet in Mr. Bates' honor at which this same candidate was present. At that time this candidate spoke and publicly endorsed Mr. Bates' candidacy, and record. Imagine our surprise then, when this same candidate told of things while he claimed to have known as early as 1937, a year before, that he now, for the first time, unfolds to the people. We have only to say that, if this now candidate had this information in 1938, it was just as damning then as now. If Joe B. Bates was a fit candidate then, he is a fit candidate now. If he is entitled to this now candidate's endorsement then, he is entitled to it now.

And whether he gets that endorsement now, we firmly believe that there are enough far-seeing citizens, enough laboring men, enough farmers, and enough Democrats in the Eighth District to return Mr. Bates to office by an overwhelming majority, even though this is an off election year. Let every Democrat go his duty and Congressman Bates will be given a vote of endorsement that will still for once and for all the petty attempt to tear a private life to sacrifice for the sake of a little public gain to one person.

WEEKLY BIBLE STUDY

REV. B. H. KAZEE
WRITTEN EACH WEEK BY PASTOR BAPTIST CHURCH,
MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY

NOTE: THE READERS OF THIS COLUMN ARE REQUESTED TO SEND IN QUESTIONS TO REV. KAZEE

Question—Why do not Christians generally wash the feet as commanded in John 13:14-17?
Answer—There is no commandment here that every Christian should wash every other Christian's feet. Neither is there today any church in which every Christian washes every other Christian's feet. There is a command here that when some other Christian needs to have feet washed (John 13:10) we should be ready to perform even so menial a service as this for him, and thus go as Jesus did to His disciples in their need.

Now let us look at the text in the Bible and get the situation. If you will read the 10th verse you will see what Jesus is trying to teach. He is showing that he is in service, and that the greater the soul the greater the servant.

Everyone knows, who understands customs of that day in the East, that when one was visiting, the first thing the host had his servant do was to provide water, and wash the feet of the visitor. For, he had been walking in sandals and the feet needed cleaning before he could be an acceptable guest. But mind you, the Jewish lord, the head of the house, would not think of going it himself. He would have his servant do it. To stoop to such a menial task was certainly not the custom of the Jewish lord or householder.

Now, Jesus, in explaining what he has done to his disciples, says: "Ye call me Teacher, and say ye well for; so I am. If I then, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, ye also ought to wash one another's feet." That is, "you mlity and service, and having taught this, the act was over. It is never practiced by the church es of the New Testament, ner taught by the apostles, hence, there is no place to prove that it is a church ordinance or even a practice of the apostles and disciples. Speaking of the qualification of widows to be cared for by the churches, 1 Tim. 5:20 says, "if she have washed the saints feet," which means simp that if she is the kind of woman who, in the custom of the times, has shown herself to be humble and willing to serve the people of God. No where was feet washing ever practiced in a New Testament church, as far as Scripture is concerned.

Workers May File Claims

If he continues to work he may qualify later. Any worker who plans to retire in order to get by his insurance payments should inquire whether he is eligible to be getting quitting his job. The second point on which

Mr. Chaney advised workers of 65 or more to consult the Social Security office is concerned with the amount of each employee's benefit will be determined by the monthly average of wages he has received under the system prior to 1914 time he applies for benefits, whether or not he continues to work. In some instances where the employee continues to work, the amount of his benefit would be increased if he waits and files his claim later. In other cases where the employee is working at a lower wage than formerly, it might be to his advantage to file his claim at once. Mr. Chaney asserted.

HAVEN FOR SAVINGS

The sales of life insurance remain at high levels. And in all probability, they will go higher still. For in these days of world chaos, it becomes constantly more difficult for the average man and woman to make safe investments. "What shall we do with our savings?" is an oft-asked question in thousands of family councils.

Life insurance still offers the highest conceivable degree of security. All that is humanly possible is done to make certain that each and every contract will be fulfilled to the letter the day—it comes due. Time and again it has proven itself the wisest investment that an ordinary person can make.

WORLD ART COMES TO AMERICA

This year's main culture exhibit at the New York World's Fair, as it was last year, will be the art exhibition. The current collection covers four centuries and consists of 400 European and American paintings valued at $30,000,000. Practically every great name in art, from Titian and Rembrandt to Degas and Renoir, is represented.

Millions of Americans will experience the deepest of aesthetic pleasure when attending this magnificent exhibit. And, more than that, it is a fitting thing that so many of the shinning, masterpieces of world art should be gathered in this country at this time. Bombers are not attacking our cities. It may be tragic as the thought is, that concentrating art masterpieces in our land may save them from destruction.

SPIDERS MENACE TO EVERGREENS

Red spiders are a menace to evergreens at this time, reports N. R. Elliott, Kentucky College of Agriculture landscape specialist. Hold a white sheet of paper under the plant's branches and tap the branch gently—if red spiders are present, the sheet will be covered with tiny, red, moving objects.

If the home owner has access to water pressure, spray the plants with a hose once every 10 days. Use all the force obtainable. Do this when the sun is not on the plants. Another control is to keep the plants gusted with a finely ground sulphur. A bean beetle dust gun may be used. Apply the dust in the middle of the day when the plants are dry, once every 10 days to two weeks.

BLACKBERRIES NOT ATTACK BY LOCUSTS Nothing whatever is wrong with blackberries in locust years says a statement from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Reports from various parts of Kentucky indicate that some housewives are not serving blackberries and are not preserving them, because this is 17 year locust year. One report is that locust lay eggs in blackberries.

Locust in no way affect berries, declare experts at the college, and this fruit is as good and wholesome during locust years as in any other years. Locust does not lay eggs in blackberries nor any other kind of fruit
