

Craig Toliver.

The cut given herewith represents Craig Toliver, notorious for his connection with the troubles in Rowan county. It is from an original picture, and the display of pocket artillery was arranged in accordance with Mr. Toliver's taste and habits, before the artist was permitted to proceed. He is not a handsome man nor a particularly brilliant one, but in the matter of giving Kentucky a bad name he has done his work villainously well. Mr. Toliver could in no manner serve the State so well as by dying out of it.
