Council Postpones Action

The Morehead City Council met on Tuesday night of this week to discuss the extension of water mains to Redburn, from which point the CCC authorities hope to carry the extension to the camp up the road from Redburn. The plan suggested was that the city extend the service lines to the camp and that the CCC authorities would carry the extension from the point of the expense and purchasing water from the city at regular rates.

Request Of CCC Authorities To Extend Water Mains Is Held Up

The council, stated that they were already under obligations to make main extensions to the territory recently added to the city limits, and that in view of the small amount of revenue possible from the proposed extension, as well as the cost of laying such a main, it appeared impossible at the present time to give the proposal consideration.

Elect A Man With Experience

Citizens of the United States have since its establishment as a nation, been in the habit of drifting along with the tide. We take that attitude that as long as things appear to be right, it is safe to let them drift. This has been that every national crisis, the eye before any and every war has caught this country unprepared. It was true before the First World War, and it is equally true now. This country is not prepared for War. It is not prepared even for defense from any aggressor.

It is only recently that the nation was roused by President Roosevelt to a state of alarm, but the lack of preparedness to defend this nation and this hemisphere against invasion from any source. It is time to say that the safety of America is not threatened, or for it is threatened. It is useless to say we are not in danger of invasion or harassment for we definitely are. This nation is at length aroused, and being aroused we are ready to give our government a free hand in establishing the strongest defense possible.

The ground work of that defense has been laid and is being laid at this moment. Our own Congressman, Joe B. Bates has helped to lay that foundation, as the third ranking member of the allpowerful Military Affairs Committee of the House. Those bills carrying the huge appropriations for defense programs are the bills that have originated in the Military Affairs Committee. The plans for the defense of the United States and of America are dependent on this and similar bills ranging from an intimate knowledge of the plans and of the working of these committees, knowledge that it takes months, and sometimes years to attain. It is upon this through service on such committees.

Joe B. Bates has the experience, he has the service. And he has attained a high ranking on the committee through that service. A vote, then for Joe Bates in this critical period of national defense building, is a vote to continue on this important committee, a man who is in a position to render good and effective service to his country and his people at the present moment is all important, and that is right now the biggest thing in the United States Government.

Can you be selecting a man to go a certain piece of work for you, a piece of work that when completed meant life or death to you or your family? Would you work on which the lives of your family and your friends depended, what kind of a man would you select? Would you elect the first man you meet who tells you he wants the job?

Or, remembering how much depends on the man you select, would you inquire into his qualifications, his experience, his rating in the work? Would you ask him how long he had been employed in that type of work, how much he knew, what references he had, or if his only reference he had was that he wanted the job? Would you pick up Tom, Dick, or Harry to do this job on which the safety even the lives and the future of the lives of your family depended?

We venture to say that you would not. On the other hand, you would say forth to find the best qualified man you could do to do the work. You would inquire into his experience. You would ask about his knowledge. You would carefully review the record of the past, and would have your estimate of his ability on his record, his experience, his references.

Can you elect a Congressman you are employing a man for a delicate job, a job on which the welfare not only of your family and friends but of our nation may depend. You have a man who is qualified by experience, by knowledge, by reference, and by rank to serve you in other ways. Would you have other applicants for the place. But even a moment's comparison will prove that they are lacking in needed qualifications to do the job now and do it well. Voters in the Eighth Kentucky District, know the answer, for they will give it definitely and decisively on August 3. They will return this man, Joe B. Bates, who has demonstrated his ability by his constructive votes in the past, to the Congress of the United States, by nominating him by an overwhelming majority.

SOOND DEMOCRACY

When he made the race for Congress in 1908, Joe B. Bates had one place in his platform. He made the race on one statement, alone.

He said in so many words that he was an advocate of the New Deal, and that he would support President Roosevelt's program in its entirety. And on that platform he received one of the most every man's candidates for any office in this Eighth Congressional District.

For over two years now he has been in Congress. Elected on a New Deal platform, it is interesting to learn just how he has conformed to that platform. Has he supported administration legislation? Has he supported the President? Has he in the past, lived up to his pledges to the people? For over two years Mr. Bates has served this district. In all that time, with hundreds of pieces of legislation offered, with many bills having the endorsement and approval of the President, he has never failed in any instance to live up to his one platform platform. He has supported all labor legislation, all farm legislation, all relief legislation, all veteran legislation. He has stood out as one of the staunchest of the staunch New Dealers in Congress. He needs make no apology to his constituents to whom he promised to give his loyal and sincere support to the National Administration. His record is a record of fulfillment.

WEEKLY BIBLE STUDY

WRITTEN EACH WEEK BY REV. B. H. KAZEE, PASTOR BAPTIST CHURCH, MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY

NOTE: THE READERS OF THIS COLUMN ARE REQUESTED TO SEND IN QUESTIONS TO REV. KAZEE.

Question—Is there a real personal Devil?

Answer—Who could live in this day and not know that there is? With all the effort of modern education and scientific analysis of man's problems, we are still up against the forces of evil which are Satan and his host in person.

Satan is a fearful being, apparently created as one of the cherubim angels (Ezek. 28:12-14) and anointed for a position of great authority, perhaps over the primitive creation (Gen. 1, 3; Ezek. 28:1-15). He fell through pride, (Isaiah 14:12-14). His "will" in this passage marks the introduction of sin into the universe. He entered the garden of Eden having been cast out of Heaven as his first and proper place (Lk. 10:18), and there through the serpent, he beguiled the woman, and drove her from the human race through Adam, and there brought sin into the world of men (Rom. 5:12-14). When God sentenced him to final destruction, he began a warfare against God which has continued through the ages until now. The present warfare (Rev. 12:4) is waged upon the principles of force, greed, selfishness, ambition, and sinful pleasure, is his work, and was the same which he offered to the tempter in the temptation (Mt. 4:8). Of that world-system he is prince (John 14:30; 16:11), and God (2 Cor. 4:4).

As "prince of the power of the air" (Eph. 2:2) he is at the head of a vast host of demons (Matt. 7:22). To him, under God, was committed upon earth the work of death (John 8:10). He still has access to God as "the accuser of the brethren" (Rev. 12:10), and is permitted a certain amount of lying or testing of the self-confidence of carnal or believing members (1 John 1:8; 1 John 2:21; 2 Cor. 5:1; 1 Tim. 1:20), but that is a strictly permissive and limited power, and those who so tested are kept in faith through the advocacy of Christ (1 John 2:21; 2 John 2:1). At the beginning of the Great Tribulation Satan's privilege of access to God as accuser will be withdrawn (Rev. 12:7-12). At the return of Christ in glory Satan will be bound for one thousand years (Rev. 20:2); after which he will be "loosed for a little season" (Rev. 20:3), and will be come the head of a final effort to overthrow the Kingdom. Defeated in this, he will finally be cast into the lake of fire, his final doom.

Paul says (Eph. 6:12) "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, and against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." Then he tells us "what kind of armor to put on that we may withstand the same in the enemy." In 2 Cor. 4:4, Paul tells us why men are not saved. "But if the word of God is hid, it is hid to them that are lost: in whom the path of the devil blinds the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them." Yes indeed, there is a live, active, personal devil, and there are many demons with him. And they are active in the world right now more than ever, trying to keep men from hearing and believing the Gospel and harrassing the believer, trying to make him fall in his spiritual life. Put on the armour and stand against him.

Farnsey Announces Candidacy

Farnsey asserted in his campaign speeches that Chandler was attempting to interfere with the "trained military experts of the Army high command" by deciding in advance whether the battles should be fought if America was attacked. Chandler's pointed out that Chandler's phrase "never to vote to send American boys to fight for foreign soil" would leave Canada and Central and South America wide open to invasion. He recalled numerous instances in history where troops had been slaughtered because of political interference with the generals in charge, and asserted that he was qualified to "tie the hands and put shackles on the feet of the men responsible for the lives of American soldiers."

Although campaigning on the one issue of "help defend America by aiding the Allies," Farnsey touched incidentally on one subject of importance—the fall of the human race through Adam, and there brought sin into the world of men (Rom. 5:12-14). When God sentenced him to final destruction, he began a warfare against God which has continued through the ages until now. The present warfare (Rev. 12:4) is waged upon the principles of force, greed, selfishness, ambition, and sinful pleasure, is his work, and was the same which he offered to the tempter in the temptation (Mt. 4:8). Of that world-system he is prince (John 14:30; 16:11), and God (2 Cor. 4:4).

ECONOMIC BELIEGMENTS

At least the presidency of the United States is one of the world's toughest jobs. When a man takes the oath of office from the Chief Justice and goes to live in the White House, he accepts quiet and responsibilities which will be with him every waking minute of his time. The next president will take on an even tougher job than the great majority of his predecessors have faced. He will take office in a time of world crisis and national emergency. And as soon as he sits down at his desk he will have to grapple with a problem whose solution is known to no one. He will have to be prepared to deal with changes and trends which mean the end of the old and the creation of the new. The Revolution, and which threaten the very foundations of our system of government.

The next president's most immediate problem will be that of national defense. It is apparent that we will be able to produce a defense in time of crisis, and it takes time for a great nation to switch from a peace economy to a war economy. The program for this—being laid now, but difficult bottlenecks exist. And we start the defense program under the present administration of $45,000,000,000 national debt largely built up during the last eight years. There is a possibility that the debt will reach and perhaps pass the $70,000,000,000 mark before we are gone.

Even so, the defense problem, it is a personal one. The next president's jobs—few question that we will find some way to produce and pay for the guns and airplanes and battleships we must have, and before him will be other problems, far reaching and immensely difficult, which must eventually be solved. And here are a few of them.

There is the problem of trade. Today Hitler dominates the continent all Europe, and Hitler does not get in money, which means dealing in gold. He deals in gold, in barter. His economy is based on the most primitive type of economic systems. He says, "I have coal that you need—you have machines that I need—so I will trade them." In name of farm relief, and it is apparent that we have gotten little of durable worth in return. The problem grows grayer. Today the problem grows grayer. There is a certainty that Europe will want and need more of the products of our farm and industry, but there is also a certainty that Europe will be unable to pay for it. The next president, sitting in his ornate White House, will be faced with the task of the United States, which would involve a veritable economic revolution. It will force him to meet Hitler's terms, which would involve a veritable economic revolution here, or to free him to meet our traditional trade policy—which few economics believe will be willing or able date for the Republican nomination, for the office of State Representative on two occasions.

There is the problem of agriculture, which is related to the problem of trade. We have spent immense sums in the office, will have to seek a way out, and whichever way he turns there will be gigantic barriers between him and success. There is the problem of unemployment, coupled with the problem of relief. The defense program will make many jobs but it does not look as if it will take care of the millions of unemployed who are looking for work, and men who today are supported in one way or another by government. In some important lines there is a serious shortage of workmen—many willing hands reach out for jobs, but they are not adequate to perform the tasks. Training people for highly skilled work takes a long time, and it also takes facilities which do not now exist in sufficient quantity.

There is the problem of the American standard of living. Whatever we spend for national defense—fifteen billion, twenty billion, thirty billion—must eventually come out of the people's pockets. Perhaps fifteen per cent of the national income will now be devoted to armaments, in addition to possible debt increases. That means that we will have fifteen per cent less to spend for housing, food, clothing, education, and all the luxuries and necessities. The next president will undoubtedly attempt to increase our national income sufficiently to make up for this—but so far as we can see now, he is foredoomed to at least partial failure. It is almost universally agreed that the standard of living must suffer—that Americans will eat cheaper food, live in cheaper homes, spend less for subsistence and for pleasure.

There is the long range problem of the effects of war and war preparedness on the entire economic structure. The factory that is built to make shells is either worthless when the emergency is over, or must undergo a costly reworking process. War-time booms, in other words, produce peace time depression. War-time booms, in other words, produce peace time depression. These are but a few of the problems the next president must face—but not an enviable job.

An Open Letter to Rowan Democrats

Dear Democrat:

It had been my intention to spend several days this summer visiting my friends in Rowan county, talking with them, and getting their ideas, in fact getting acquainted with them. However I feel that you would rather have me spend the time in Washington, looking after your interests, so I was forced to forgo that pleasure.

Since it is impossible for me to see you and visit with you, I feel that you are entitled to have "an account of my stewardship." You have a right to know how I have taken care of the trust you imposed in me, two years ago.

For that reason, I am writing you this review of my work in your behalf and in behalf of my constituents. If you feel that I have accounted for my time satisfactorily, I will appreciate your vote in the August primary on Saturday, August 3, as an endorsement of my efforts.

I Have Supported The President.

Two years ago I promised that I would give one hundred per cent endorsement to the Democratic administration. Accepting that pledge you elected me. I have carried the pledge out in the smallest detail. I cannot say more than that. The record speaks for itself. I can only say that the future will see my actions the same.

Veterans Legislation

As third ranking member of the Veterans Committee, it has been a privilege to serve the veterans of my district often and well. My record on all legislation connected with veterans is one of complete support for them. Not a veteran of this county has ever called on me, that I have not done my best to aid him. I will continue to do this to the utmost limit, as I believe it is a privilege and I know it is a pleasure to aid them in any way at any time.

Supported Legislation To Benefit Kentucky Farmers.

I have been a strong supporter of President Roosevelt's farm policy and I have voted and worked for the passage of legislation submitted by this administration for the benefit of the farmer. It is my belief that this legislation has saved the farmers of my state and district. I feel that the farmer is entitled to a fair return for his labor and investment. I know that this administration has done much to see that he farmer is given a fair break. I realize that there remains much to be done in the future in farmer legislation and it is my intention to continue to support the President in the legislation that he asks for to aid the farmer. I know that he has the interests of the farmer at heart and I know that every vote I have cast in Congress has been for the benefit of the Kentucky farmer, and in particular the farmer of my district, I am most anxious that every farmer carefully examine my record.

N. Y. A. Students Increased

Through my own efforts, I succeeded in obtaining a double number of N. Y. A. scholarships for the students in the Morehead State Teachers College in 1938 and 1939, and this year I am making an effort to have this allotment still further increased. Thus I have been able to offer my friends in this district an opportunity to obtain an education for their children, who might otherwise have been unable to attend college.

Working To Obtain More Highways

I am at present working with the federal and state departments in an effort to obtain funds for the construction of additional roads in Rowan county, an effort which I believe will have good results in the near future.

Rowan's C.C.C. Camp

It was more than a pleasure to be instrumental in helping Rowan county to retain the C.C.C. camp at Rodburn. The loss of this camp would have been a severe blow to Rowan County, and I feel that my efforts were well repaid in the assistance I was able to render.

Aid During Flood

Immediately after the news of the disastrous flood of 1939 reached me I contacted the Disaster Loan Corporation, and it was a happy moment to me when I realized that I was able even in a small measure to relieve the suffering in the Rowan County City and its neighborhood. This effort resulted in the loan of thousands of dollars to Rowan county citizens, who were thus enabled to rebuild their homes and buy new equipment for their businesses.

Improved Postoffice Service

In an effort to improve mail delivery service in Morehead and in Rowan county, I have succeeded in getting the rural route extended to serve more citizens; I aided in obtaining the establishment of city delivery for Morehead; We have obtained parcel post delivery for the city; and we are planning and working on still further improvements.

Among other plans we have for the future is the establishment of a center of federal agencies operating in this section of Kentucky, to be located in Morehead. This is under way and we hope and expect in the near future to see it firmly established.

There are many more items that I would like to remind you of, and to discuss with you. However, space forbids my going into them.

Always For The Laboring Man. Look Over My Record

It has always been my belief that every man is entitled to a fair and just remuneration for his day's work and that his employer is likewise entitled to a fair return on his investment. I have supported labor with my vote in the Hall's of Congress. As I seek re-election as your Representative every laboring organization has examined my record and each and every one of them have endorsed me without reservation. I invite every laboring man to carefully examine my record. A short time ago I introduced and steared through the House of Representatives a bill, which I had prepared, in which more than a million dollars will be refunded to Railroad employees who had paid this amount to the state for retirement. These men would never have had an opportunity to receive any benefits from this money they had had paid in each month, and I feel would have lost this money, in its entirety, if my bill had not been passed and made a law.

If, after you have read this letter, you feel that I have done my duty by you, and by the National administration, I want to ask you to register your approval by casting your ballot for me in the primary election, on Saturday, August 3.

Your Friend,

Joe B. Bates,
a Democrat for Congress

F. F. A. Doing Good Work
(Continued From Page One) and now I have 7 acres of good corn that I am going to see to feed my calves this fall and next spring." Some may not put instructions in agriculture the whole cause of what happened to this boy and neither do, I but it has helped him considerably.

We are faced with this issue, our country is becoming industrial and people need training in some form of mechanics. This is true but this can only go on and agriculture steps in. It is just the essential to be able to produce food for our people economically as it is to be able to perform any task in our country today.

Summer Term Closes Friday
(Continued From Page One) their credits. Since most rural schools of this section begin in mid-July, it is impossible to accept the post office department to furnish the bulk of the students enrolled for the summer term.

The new system may work out satisfactorily in other schools of the state, but locally it is entirely the opposite. Many students who ordinarily enroll here for the summer either write to furnish or to other colleges where they were able to obtain work in a five week term.

Faculty members and members of the administrative staff will mostly leave on their vacations next week, which due to the shortened term will extend for an additional two weeks.

Primary Election To Be Saturday
(Continued From Page One) election already over. With the support of the National administration, with labor and solidly behind him, with all elements of the Democratic party supporting him, Mr. Bates should receive a substantial majority of votes in Rowan county. There is probably no county in the district that is more strongly obligated to Mr. Bates than is this county. He is instrumental in keeping the CCC camp in Rowan county. He forces all the post office department to extend city service in Morehead. He has interested himself in getting highways extended. And he has added in every possible way to improve conditions and situations in this county. Rowan county will undoubtedly demonstrate that they appreciate this cooperation on the part of our Congressman, by returning a heavy complimentary majority for him in the primary election of Saturday, August 3.
