

JEFF. BOWLING'S FATE.

A Strong Probability That One Rowan County Man Will Go to the Scaffold.

[Special to the Courier-Journal.]

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28.—The friends and relatives of Jeff. Bowling, formerly of Rowan county, Ky., under sentence here for the alleged murder of his father-in-law, are making every effort to save his life by having Gov. Foraker commute the sentence for life. The Governor had an interview with Bowling to-day, and the impression of those who were present is that the unhappy man will have to die. If the Governor does not interfere Bowling will be hanged in the penitentiary walls about 1 o'clock Friday morning, in accordance with a law of the State.
