"ONE OF KENTUCKY'S GREATER WEEKLIES"

VOLUME IX MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 7, 1942 NUMBER NINETEEN

Pledge System To Be Adopted By Defense Committee

Systematic Method of Buying Bonds and Stamps To Be Introduced

A plan, patterned along the same lines as the drive now underway in many parts of the United States, to enlist every American in the purchase of defense bonds and stamps, will be opened next week in Rowan county, John M. Palmer, county chairman, said today.

The drive, known as a pledge drive, will enlist the aid of some seventy-five public spirited citizens, besides the work that will be done by the existing committee.

Rowan county and Morehead are being divided up in sections and every home and business will be visited. They will be asked to pledge to such each week, paying one month for the purchase of defense stamps or bonds.

The local committee, state and national organizations urge that the people be made aware of the work they are doing, without any pay, a great national service.

Every person will be asked to sign a pledge card, triplicate. One they will keep themselves, another to be sent to Washington and the other to be kept here or at the state headquarters.

The pledge card is not an order form. It does not constitute a formal legal contract on the part of the pledger. It is a definite moral obligation on the part of the person who signs it, to purchase defense bonds on a regular plan.

The pledger agrees to carry on a systematic purchase program for the duration of the war, or so long as he is financially able to do so.

If prior to signing the Pledge, has already been following a systematic defense bond purchase program, the formal signing of the pledge does not mean that he is adding a second purchase program to the one which he is already undertaking. The pledge is a formal agreement and under no circumstances will the information which it contains be divulged to the general public or to other pledgers.

To provide the pledger with tangible evidence of his participation in financing defense, stickers will

Baptist Church Plans Series of Bible Schools

Sunday School Workers Meeting To Be Held Here, May 13th

Vacation Bible School season has already started in Rowan county. Last week Missionary Edward Storm and Mrs. Storm, his mother, held schools at Clark school and Pine Grove. Reverend L. E. Leeper, Clyde Kame, and Reverend B. H. Kazez announce plans for several other schools in the near future.

A school will be held at Clearfield school house next week, beginning Monday, May 11th. The week of May 25th a Vacation Bible School will be held at Elliottville, and another at Farmers, on the week of June 8th. Other schools are being planned, but these are definitely announced.

Walter Kazez states that, according to custom for several years now, the Morehead Baptist church will hold its Vacation Bible School at the usual time, the week following the close of summer school. This year it will begin on July 20th, and continue for

Morehead's New Service

(REPRINTED FROM THE EDITORIAL COLUMNS OF THE LEXINGTON HERALD)

The Morehead State Teachers college has been selected as one of the colleges in the United States to conduct a school in connection with U. S. Naval training. Headquarters of the Ninth district in Chicago announced the selection. The Navy thus will have opportunity to make use of the facilities of the trade school.

Those who have visited Morehead know what a wonderful purpose this institution serves and are familiar with the increasing work that it is doing at the outbreak of the war. Following the war the enrollment of male students was greatly reduced.

Morehead's able president, William H. Vaughan, was quick to see the facilities of the school to the Navy for bluejacket trainees and from six hundred to 1,000 will be trained there. A part of Thompson hall will be used for a laboratory.

Unquestionably this use will greatly advance the facilities and usefulness of Morehead in looking to a future program within the state but even wider that not so would be pleasing to all to know that this school could fulfill such a worthy use during the present emergency.

Rev. Cooper Will Deliver Haldeman Baccalaureate

Reverend C. L. Cooper, pastor of the Morehead Methodist church will deliver the baccalaureate address to the graduating seniors of Haldeman high school, Sunday morning, May 10, at nine o'clock, in the high school auditorium, at Haldeman.

Reverend L. E. Leeper will give the invocation and benediction and the Girls' Glee club will sing "In Thy Father's," and "Sanctus."

A Tribute To Mother

Everything that is tender, everything that is beautiful, everything that is holy and sacred, clustered around the name "Mother." There is no human name enshrined in our hearts like the name, "Mother."

Mother and Home are the tenderest notes that play across the keyboard of the human heart.

The greatest name in all the world is "God," the sweetest name, "Home," and the dearest, "Mother." Think of home and you think of mother, think of mother and you think of the Bible, think of the Bible and you think of God. As Mother's Day approaches, the curtain rises in our hearts and the great panorama of days of yesterday, of today, and of tomorrow play on the tender chords of our heart strings. Glorious memories, memories of the old, memories of the old friends, memories of Mother singing the old hymns, memories of Mother's kiss, Mother's voice, Mother's smile, Mother's distant face, Mother's last farewell, memories of a green mound somewhere, memories of the past, memories of the future, memories on the tender chords of our heart strings.

Or perhaps we see Mother sitting quietly by the fireside in her old armchair, while Tabby, the cat, sleeps silently by her feet, and the flames in the fireplace leap to and fro like voices of long ago. Or again, we hear her singing softly one of the old familiar hymns, or perhaps memories of Mother's that she sang as she shuttled to and fro, while she spun wool to make clothing for her children, or perhaps memories of Mother's that she sang as she tucked us tightly on a cold, winter night, or a cool hand on a fevered brow, "No hard feelings, my dear, I'll be as soft as her lips, no rose so lovely as her smile, no path so beautiful as that imprinted by her footsteps."

Sequentennial Essay Contest At College, Completed

Miss Leona Fyffe Wins First Prize On "Mammoth Cave" Essay

Morehead State teachers college completed its Sequentennial essay contest today and devoted the convocation period to exercises commemorating the centennial of Kentucky in the Union. The program consisted of musical numbers furnished by the department, and the reading of the address of Professors Lewis Henry Horton and Marvin E. George. An address was given by Professor O. Peratt of the department of history and government. Dean Warren C. Lappin presided.

Professor Peratt stressed the significance of the name, Kentucky, and the conditions prevailing in Kentucky in 1792, as compared with some conditions in Kentucky at the present time. He stressed the importance of the provisions of Kentucky's first constitution that did not prevail in other state constitutions up to the time of the adoption of the present constitution. For example, the first constitution of Kentucky granted suffrage to all white male citizens over twenty-one years of age, whether or not religious or property qualifications, thus setting an example for other states. He stressed the advancement of economic, social, and political conditions in Kentucky. He pointed out that Kentucky had produced great men in many lines of human endeavor.

Old Kentucky Home Chosen No. 1 Spot Of Interest In State

Students Of 15 State Colleges Select 10 Historical Spots

"My Old Kentucky Home," at Bardston is rated by Kentucky students as Number One place of interest in the state.

In a vote to select Kentucky's seventeen outstanding historical spots, students at fifteen colleges chose Man O' War, the only living figure included in the fifty nominations, as eighth on their "must list of things to see."

The famed thoroughbred, long retired from the racetrack, is at the state and local civilian defense office in Lexington.

The list compiled in connection with the state's sequestennial Commission. It follows in order: Old Kentucky Home, Bardston; Mammoth Cave National Park, Edmonson County; Cumberland Falls, Whitley County; Lincoln National Memorial, Hodgenville; Cumberland Gap, Bell County; State Capitol Buildings, Frankfort; Horse farms in the Bluegrass; and Old World Lexington.

Civilian Defense Is One Year Old

Morehead Asked To Join Nationwide Observance Of Anniversary

The Civilian Defense organization in Morehead today was invited to join in a nationwide observance of the anniversary of the inauguration of "The Town Meeting for War" as an expression of all-out participation in the total war effort for victory of the United States.

The call was issued by Dan T. Moore, director of the fifth region of its office in civilian defense, which includes the states of Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Indiana and is in co-operation with the state and local civilian defense councils of the entire region.

"Civilian Defense becomes one year old this month and it is well that the people of each town and city take stock of what has been accomplished in that time," Mr. Moore said.

While the rapid growth of the spontaneous co-operation of free people in preparing for the battle front and the home front has been an inspiring demonstration of democracy at work, the goal has not yet been reached.

"Until every council has its report centers ready to function with trained personnel, we are at the mercy of the war that flames from the skies.

It is a personal job for each one of us in concert with cities and towns all over the nation, it is suggested that a Saturday be set aside for a public gathering for the total war effort, where stamp and bonus committees, scrap committees, civilian defense organizations, the Red Cross, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Boy Scouts, and all the other vital agencies of the civilian effort may be given due attention," Mr. Moore said.

We Babies Like A Nap But Darn That Conditioned Response

By REX HOKE

We used to go to sleep snugly crossed our Colonial mother's apron, or sprawled across her lap, or in the arms of our lullaby-bosom bed roomed, lullaby-Supper we said, "I believe I'll take a nap," and off we went, from the arms of a mother's heart. The sweetest thing in the world is a mother's prayer, which would be a thought of love passing through the heart of God, winged by the spirit of prayer.

The greatest letters ever written were penned by the gentle hand of a saintly mother, written in the red ink of human feeling, baptized with a mother's kiss, borne on the angel wings of a mother's love to a boy or girl somewhere.

One young man once said that when he opened his letters from his mother that he always found them thus: money, love and tears.

The more powerful prayers come from the arms of a mother's heart. The sweetest thing in the world is a mother's prayer, which would be a thought of love passing through the heart of God, winged by the spirit of prayer.

USO Committee To Launch Drive For Rowan Quota, $700

Standing Committee Will Meet In College Cafeteria Monday Evening

The USO committee of Rowan county will launch its drive with a set quota of $700.00 Monday evening when they meet in the cafeteria of the Morehead State Teachers college.

The county's standing committee is headed by Dr. J. D. Falls, extension director at the Morehead State Teachers college. Other members are: Bob Bishop, C. P. Caudill, Ira Caudill, Reverend C. L. Cooper, Roy Combs, W. E. Crutcher, Richard Daugherty, Mrs. Ethel L. Ellington, Harry Goldberg, Mrs. John Will Holbrook, Reverend B. H. Kazez, Reverend A. E. Landolt, Glenn W. Lane, Frank Laughlin, C. Boyd McCullough, Reverend Bill W. Moore, Betsy Myhner, John Palmer, Francis Proctor, Mrs. W. H. Shafer, Bill Sample, W. H. Vaughan, F. D. Wellman, J. R. Wendell, Jack Wilson and Tom.

Commenting on the drive today, Dr. Falls said that he believed that every civic minded citizen of Rowan county should join for this worthy cause.

"It is one of the most commendable and worthwhile campaigns that has ever been staged," he declared.

The main objective of USO, according to Dr. Falls, is to help build and maintain the strongest fighting spirit among our men in uniform by showing them how much their friends back home appreciate what they are doing, to make this appreciation tangible in the form of friendly hospitality and service to the soldiers and sailors of duty hours.

"The mothers and fathers and wives and sweethearts of the men in service demanded that someone do this work. The President, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of Navy and the Federal Security Director requested USO to take over this important phase of our national effort.

USO itself plans, finances and operates the program, but is assisted under its name; both from national headquarters and through local USO committees.

It relies on its member agencies to staff and operate its clubs in continental United States, but itself conducts directly all services outside the continental United States.

The six agencies are the Young Men's Christian Association, the National Catholic Conference for the Service, the Salvation Army, the Young Women's Christian Association, the Jewish Welfare Board and the National Travelers Aid Association, representing the three principal religious faiths of this nation.

THE HOME FRONT

The government's bold stroke to combat the rising cost of living and inflation by a comprehensive control of prices overshadows every other event on the "Home Front" as the nation enters its sixth month at war.

In a single sweeping order—General Maximum Price Regulation—Price Administrator Leon Henderson set the highest prices charged in March as an absolute ceiling on "virtually everything Americans eat, wear and use."

For wholesalers and manufacturers the price order is effective next Monday for the retail trade on May 18.

Prices on literally millions of articles of all sort are thus automatically controlled. When a given commodity because of special condition required special price treatment, separate order was issued. In the first World War the United States paid thirty-one billion dollars to crush German imperialism and it is estimated that thirteen billion of this was wasted by paying swollen prices for war supplies.

THE MOREHEAD (KY.) INDEPENDENT

Back of the present drastic price regulation is this lesson of World War One and the determination of the government that it shall not happen again.

Thus goes into effect the most drastic and far-reaching step ever taken to control the American economy.

Rents will not be permitted to skyrocket, while other components in the cost of living are stabilized. The rent fixing order of the week will affect rents in 302 "defense rental areas" housing 78,000,000 people in addition to the twenty-one areas previously designated. It reaches into every state except North Dakota and Idaho and even extends into Puerto Rico. The order does not have the immediate effect of law, as does the price control order. OPA is giving state and local officials sixty days to cut back rents to varying previous levels. After that, if adjustments are not made voluntarily, OPA will take things into its own hands.

"A program as vast as this," said Mr. Henderson, "will need the fullest public support, and we know that we shall have the backing of all landlords who have not attempted to take advantage of abnormal conditions."

The nation's farmers are assured that they will be no upping of prices on bulk amounts of 250 pounds or over are those which prevailed in March. Smaller sales are covered by the General Price Ceiling order.

Said Price Administrator Leon Henderson, "because of the great expansion of agricultural activity for fertilizers has sharply increased. To permit sales without a maximum price regulation at such time—might result in an unreasonable increase in prices which would be unfair to the farmers and a hindrance to their efforts in producing vital commodities and foodstuffs. High fertilizer prices at this time can only serve to hinder the national food production program."

President Roosevelt told the nation during the week that we are spending at the rate of one hundred millions daily for war, and will be spending double that rate before the year is over. Said he about the whole war program: "The blunt fact is that every single person in the United States is going to be affected by this program—the price of civilization must be paid in hard work and sorrow and blood."

Figures which picture as accurately as possible the economic effort on the "Home Front," were made available this week. War funds made available by congress for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation since June, 1940, have reached the staggering total of $162,416,000. The sixth supplemental appropriation of $19,138,000,000 signed by the President, significantly budgets $8,761,000,000 for planes.

Service station gas prices will be better under ceiling throughout the nation effective May 18. Ceiling is at the maximum March level except in seventeen rationed eastern states and the District of Columbia where the March base is raised four cents a gallon, to adjust the market to wartime transportation conditions.

War production demands alcohol for explosives. Known to the industry as "high wine," beverage alcohol from one hundred to one hundred eighty-nine proof has been brought under allocation control by the War Production Board to supplement the industrial alcohol supply.

The fate of the taxicab which last year carried almost a billion passengers, will depend largely on how carefully the business community serves its machines and tires. Office of Defense Transportation warns against cruising, dead mileage, an individual haul.

Jurisdictional disputes between rival labor organizations are stopped for the duration. William H. Davis, chairman of the National War Labor Board, announced that an agreement to this effect had been arrived at with heads of the American Federation and the CIO.

Day by day steel is more and more of a premium. War Production Board now restricts the amount of metal for hairpins and bobby pins, and is even urging American women to save the metal containers in which they buy lipstick and other beauty aids.

Mr. Henderson publicly praised the school teachers for their work carrying out the industrial, commercial and institutional sugar registration. "We asked the public school teachers to handle the registration, because we were confident they would be a good job," he said. "They came through one hundred percent."

The names of the persons who will contact residents of the various sections of Morehead and the county will be released this week.

If I were hanged on the highest hill, I know whose love would follow me still. If I were drowned in the deepest sea, I know whose tears would come down to me. If I were damned in body and soul, I know whose prayers would make me whole.

Mother 'o mine, Mother 'o mine." The sweetest voice is a mother's voice, that brings courage and comfort and drops on our hearts like soft drops of rain. There is no flower so beautiful as a mother's face aglow with heavenly light, transformed by spiritual power. She may be wrinkled and old, her hair may be turned to silver and her eyes grown dim, but she is the most beautiful in all the world.

There is no tomb so cold and empty as a home without a mother. No wonder the poet eered out in his lonely hour: "Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight, Make me a child again, just for tonight. Mother! Come back from that schoolish shore! Take me again to your heart, as of yore: Come back from the silence so long and so deep, Rock me to sleep, Mother, rock me to sleep."

Sunday is Mother's Day, when many will journey back to the old home and sit down to the old family table to be served with a mother's kindly hands. Many messages will be borne across the land. Many will send flowers and gifts to a mother somewhere, while still others will kneel and place flowers on a green mound and other stand in a gallery of memories. Sadder still, millions of our sons, who are far from home in defense of our American home and the "Stars and Stripes," will be dreaming of home and Mother. May God bless and encourage their hearts!

Let us all honor our mothers this Mother's Day, write the letter you promised to write when you went away, send her a token of your love, give her the roses while she lives—don't wait until you get the letter edged in black. She can't see the flowers when they are heaped upon her, she can't hear your words of comfort when she is still in death.

REMEMBER HER THIS MOTHER'S DAY!

Out of Every Dollar Comes Back to You in Government Benefits

★ Out of every dollar that you pay us for electric service we pass 21 cents on to Government in taxes. And Government passes them back to you in benefits—National Defense, Schools, Police and Fire Protection, Highways, Hospitals and Health Service, Charity Institutions, Courts, ...

Last year (1941) our total tax bill was about $2,265,000. That was $6,200 every day including Sundays and holidays. It was $18 for each electric customer, and $1,997 for each regular employee.

If our company didn't pay any taxes your electric rates would be much lower—but you would pay higher taxes. Do you want to do that?

Whenever and wherever Government goes into business political management replaces business management. It offers lower prices because it pays no income taxes on the business.

A nationally famous fact-finding service reports that aggregate taxes in this country have risen about 800% in the last 25 years—prior to Pearl Harbor. In the same period the electrical industry lowered its service rates an average of 55%—and improved the service immeasurably.

THIS IS THE STORY OF CARBOLOY

How a Most Strategic Material of the War—Invented in Germany—Was Made Available to the United Nations

More Precious Than Diamonds in War Production . . . Carboloy is an American trademark for cemented tungsten-carbide, an alloy second only to diamonds in hardness, more precious than diamonds as a vital material in America's war program. It is used for the tips of cutting tools, and for wear-resistant dies. Carboloy is used in small quantities; it is difficult to make and difficult to use—but it has never been scarce in modern times. There is no scarcity now.

Invented in Germany—Krupp Protected by U. S. Patents . . . Cemented carbide was invented in Germany—it belonged to Krupp of Germany, and this made all the rest of the world Krupp's customer. In this country, Krupp was protected by patent grants from the United States.

General Electric Creates Independent Production . . . The General Electric Company two years before this had begun research on tungsten-carbide and foresaw its importance in industrial production. For immediate use in its own plants and for easier availability to others, General Electric undertook the long and arduous negotiations for the American rights. Limited rights were obtained in 1928, with Krupp continuing to export the material to its United States customers—a business which languished, however, as General Electric painstakingly developed its own Carboloy technique. This paved the way for General Electric to make the United States entirely independent of Germany for its cemented tungsten-carbide supply as early as 1936.

American Tool Costs Half That of Germany . . . From the start, two totally different businesses were involved. Krupp originally exported cemented carbides in chunks—and its subsidiary, Carboloy Co., Inc.—found it necessary to develop a complete engineering and manufacturing service, making various types of Carboloy-equipped tools, training men in their use, and offering to its customers a specialized and successful production technique. For purposes of fair comparison, a typical German cemented carbide tool in 1928 cost $22.26 in the United States, while a comparable American Carboloy tool cost $11.14.

Lost to General Electric for Many Years—Art Bought by Industry . . . In times of peace and 1928 was such a time—the measure of success of industrial adventure is to be found in profit to the adventurer. By such a measure, Carboloy could not be called successful. Initial expenses were great. For a time the Company lost at the rate of $1000 a day, and once had an operating deficit of more than a million dollars. "One of the major contributing reasons was the continuing high cost of development, standardization, and training. In 1937-37 alone, training courses were given to 10,000 men in industry. Moreover, six major price reductions were made in the face of operating losses, until the standard tool blank had been reduced in price 90 per cent.

Faith and Persistence . . . Depression was still another reason—labor-saving tools could not be sold to industry or labor at any price. But General Electric, with determination that now seems providential, kept on—increasing its "Over the entire period of its existence up to January 1st, 1942 the total net profit of the Carboloy Company was 2.5 per cent of sales.

capacity, granting new licenses, condoning instances of unlicensed production, staying ahead of its market.

Production Multiplied Forty-five Times in Four Years . . . Cemented tungsten-carbide could easily have been a source of weakness here, as it was in England, had it not been for General Electric's policy of continued expansion. In 1939, the production of the Carboloy Company was less than 20,000 lbs.; in 1940, it was 55,000 lbs.; in 1941, it was 165,000—and in December came Pearl Harbor. Now, in 1942, the Company's production is going at a rate that is 45 times that of only four years ago.

Britain Dependent upon Us . . . By contrast, British companies, which had been content to continue as customers of Krupp, found themselves cut off from the vital material when Poland was invaded. But the General Electric Company was able to supply substantial quantities to British industry immediately and since then has continuously filled British orders. It has, in like manner, filled Canada's requirements since 1936. It is currently supplying Canada, Russia, and other United Nations. All this in addition to supplying the greatly expanded needs of American industry.

An Inspirational Story of American Industry . . . This, the story of Carboloy does not end in "too little and too late." Like many previously untold stories of American industry, it continues, a sturdy and inspiring example of public service born of private enterprise, and characterized by hard work, ingenuity, investment, research, risk, and courage—a familiar pattern on this side of the Atlantic. mere suggestion of a sheep, as a dam for his tail, what you want is to keep the fence, lots of sheep and fences, then you could go to sleep.

You know all the while the sheep's tail is an idea of a conditioned response, an automatic inducer, something for you to fiddle your time away with while she goes to the movies. But your idea is a nice rock-a-bye-baby and the old rocking chair.

So as things stand now you are against the conditioned response while the Tarzans who surround you are out for it. If you weaken and quiet down you have lost the game, so it's up to you to keep your flag waving and the battle raging. You go down like a jackass in a tin barn. On Friday night of last week, a team composed of Shorty Peltrey, James Justice, Pete Hall, Harold Crosthwaite and Lindsay Caudill went to Mayville for a Duck Pin match. The Mayville lads, being more experienced in the art of Duck Pin bowling, won the match, but the other side brings home the consolation prize.

Sunny Allen scored one of the highest three game totals that have ever been rolled in the local alleys, last week. His scores were 213, 218 and 258 for a total of 689 points. Although he hasn't been bowling long enough of time, he is a consistent high scorer and is tough competition for any Morehead bowler.

Lum 'n' Abner Hit Opens, May 10, At The Mills Theatre

Newest Film Venture Of Hillbilly Pair Sticks To Comedy

A hillbilly romance that goes astray from the theme of "The Bashful Bachelor," the new Lum and Abner picture which brings those two popular radio favorites back to the screen in what is said to be an unusually hilarious vehicle opens Sunday, May 10, at the Mills Theatre.

Avoiding the serious aspects of their earlier film, "Dreaming Out Loud," the famous pair stick strictly to comedy in their new venture. Lum's romance with Geraldine is the basis of the plot, with Lum, too shy to propose, seeking to make himself a hero in Geraldine's eyes.

He competes Abner to assist him in his schemes, one of which has near fatal consequences. Another, however, is successful and Lum triumphantly sends a proposal to the lady by Abner who makes a mistake and gives it to the scheming Wilder Abernathy instead.

The Wilder insists on furthering Lum to his promise, and further tions will be marked by the highway commission.

The program was coordinated by Herbert J. Evans, Pineville, member of the Kentucky Sesqui-centennial Commission.
