Mayor Proclaims "Clean-Up Week" In Morehead

Says City Will Furnish Garbage Disposal Trucks During Week

The week of May 25 has been designated in Morehead as the annual spring "Clean-up Week" by Mayor N. E. Kennard...

"WHEREAS, the season of the year has arrived when it is incumbent upon us that all filth and trash be removed from our city if we are to maintain its beauty...

"WHEREAS, by reason of the fact that our city is soon to become the home of a large number of new residents by virtue of its selection as a Training Station by the United States Navy...

"WHEREAS, the Women's club of our city have taken and are taking an active hand in presenting a "City beautiful" for our visitors...

"THEREFORE, I, N. E. Kennard, Mayor of the City of Morehead, Kentucky, do, by virtue of the authority placed in me, as Chief executive of said city, proclaim the week beginning May 25, as "Clean-Up Week" and request each and every citizen of our city to cause their property to be cleaned up and all filth and trash removed therefrom at that time...

It is further ordered that on Monday, May 25, 1942, the city shall cause trucks to go from house to house and pick up all filth and trash or refuse. The citizens may place where it can be picked up by said truck, any and all such trash or refuse and the same will be gathered up by said trucks.

"Given under my hand as Mayor of the City of Morehead, Kentucky, this 15th day of May, 1942. N. E. KENNARD Mayor."

Navy Recruiter In Morehead On Monday, Each Week

There will be a representative of the Navy Recruiting Service at the postoffices in the below named towns on dates noted for the purpose of examining and interviewing those who are interested in serving their country in either the U. S. Navy or Navy Reserve.

Morehead, Kentucky - Monday each week. Paintsville, Kentucky - Tuesday each week. Louisa, Kentucky - Saturday each week.

The Naval Service provides an excellent opportunity to learn any standard trade such as machinist, electrician, carpenter, boiler-maker, metal-smith, tanner, radiator, and many others.

Naval Reserve personnel are expected to serve only during the national emergency.

Those interested in either the Navy or Naval Reserve are asked to meet the Navy Recruiter while he is in this section or write to the Navy Recruiting Station, Ashland, Kentucky, for further information.

Sequesterianal Poster Contest Winner To Get $25.00 War Bond

A $25.00 war bond will be awarded the Kentucky high school student who designs the poster judged best in a contest to be held in connection with the Kentucky sequesterianal celebration.

Second prize in the competition, in which posters depicting any phase of the sequesterianal will be eligible, will be $10.00 in defense stamps. Rules stipulate that the cards not exceed eighteen by twenty inches in size.

All entries are to be sent to H. I. Miranda, executive director, Kentucky Sequesterianal Commission, 150 Barr Street, Lexington. Deadline for entries is June 1.

Board of Trade Establishes Free Rental Service

There has been an increased demand for furnished quarters, dwellings and apartments recently, and it is anticipated this demand will further increase with the arrival of the staff personnel at the newly created Naval Training Center located here, and in order to meet this condition the Board of Trade at their Monday meeting decided to register all dwellings and apartments that are available for rental.

Virgil Woodard was designated to accept these registrations at his Real Estate and Insurance Agency offices. Any one having dwellings, rooms or apartments for rent are asked to contact Mr. Woodard's office, and in this manner it is hoped we will have ample facilities for the new residents as they arrive.

Service is being rendered entirely free of charge. It is hoped that all who have desirable property will list it immediately.

Tips From The County Agent

By KERMIT C. MILLS COUNTY AGENT

Thinning the Hemp Seed Crop Thirty-six Rowan County farmers have made plans and signed contracts with the Commodity Control Administration to grow one hundred and sixteen acres of hemp to promote our war effort.

This of this hemp has been planted so that the crop will be ready for production in the general practice to drop twelve to fifteen seeds in each hole. The spacing greatly increases the chances of getting a good stand if moisture and fertilizer are available.

Usually, of course, most of the seeds produce plants, and since the best time for a rain before in each hill, thinning is necessary.

Thinning of hemp is best done when the plants are just large enough to be pulled with the fingers—say about four to six inches tall. If delayed much longer, the roots become matted and it is difficult to pull out individual plants without injuring the others.

Just as in thinning corn, the plants to be best when the ground is fairly moist. If for any reason the job has been delayed until the plants are a foot or more high, it may be necessary to try to cut out the plants instead of pulling them.

Most of the seed crop is produced on hills. If the spacing is wide, and not more than two to four plants should be left in each hill. If the spacing is close, only two plants per hill on rich bottom land, and not more than three on five productive upland.

Four and one-half feet apart, leave three plants per hill on very productive bottom land, and four plants per hill on upland if the spacing is five feet. Leave four plants per hill on bottom land, and four to five plants per hill on upland.

More productive the soil, the fewer the number of plants that should be left to develop. When the seed crop has been planted in the hills, one plant every ten to fifteen inches should be left, depending upon the distance apart of the rows.

Delano Hamm Dies Of Heart Ailment

Was Manager of P. & H. Wholesale For Two Years

Delano C. Hamm, 40, of Clearfield, Kentucky, died Saturday morning, May 19, of a heart ailment, in the Saint Joseph Hospital, Lexington, Kentucky.

For the past two years, Mr. Hamm was manager of the P. & H. Wholesale and retail furniture establishment in Morehead. Prior to that time, he had been connected with the Clearfield Supply Company for five years.

He was married to Mrs. Myrtle Jones, of Zipco, Kentucky, in 1920, to which union two children were born — Margaret, who died in infancy, and Iris Nelle.

Besides his wife and one daughter, Mr. Hamm is survived by his father, W. H. Hamm, of Lexington, Kentucky; two brothers, Johnnie and Arthur Hamm, of Clearfield and one sister, Mrs. Arville Armstrong, of Ashland, Kentucky.

Carroll D. Alcott To Address M.S.T.C. Graduates, Tues.

Commemoration Exercises To Be Held In College Auditorium, June 2

Carroll D. Alcott, WLV newscaster, will deliver the commencement address to the members of the Morehead State Teachers College, Tuesday, June 2, at eight p. m. in the college auditorium.

Mr. Alcott, W. W. R. eastern authority, joined the staff on December 7, 1941, the day of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. He had left Shanghai a few weeks previously, ending a sixteen-year career, covering the news fronts of the Far East, including three wars.

A veteran American newspaperman, Alcott went to China in 1914 to be the senior editor of the Shanghai Post and Mercury, association editor of the China Press, Associated Press Correspondent, and newscaster on XMH, Shanghai. It was in this latter position that Alcott, through his frank reporting of Asiatic affairs, aroused the anger of the Japs to the point that they made several near-successful attempts to assassinate him.

Mr. Alcott has the honor to be rated high on Japan's list of public enemies. He is an eye-witness to the barbaric treatment of the Chinese in Shanghai since 1937, and the machine gunning of a large number of women and children on a railroad bridge just across the harbor.

He has vividly seen women and girls, crowded by Japanese bayonets, crawling on their hands and knees under the barbaric treatment of the Chinese in Shanghai. He returned to the United States in 1937, and the machine gunning of a large number of women and children on a railroad bridge just across the harbor.

Mrs. Lina Sparks Accidentally Killed By Passing Auto

Mrs. Lina Sparks, 69, of Hayes Branch, Kentucky, was killed accidentally Monday morning, May 18, when she was struck by an automobile, driven by Fred Guebling, civil engineer, of Ashland, Kentucky.

The accident, which was reported as entirely unavoidable, occurred about ten miles east of Morehead, on U. S. 60. Mr. Guebling came to Morehead, where he filled a $1000 appearance bond.

Mrs. Sparks was the widow of the late Flen Sparks and was the landlady of Solomon and Rebecca Wilson Carroll.

She is survived by two daughters: Mrs. Elizabeth Riley, Wheelersburg, Ohio; and Miss Zina Sparks, Cincinnati, Ohio; four sons: Milford, of Portsmouth, Ohio; Tilmon, of Sciotoville, Ohio; Wiley, of Portsmouth, Ohio; and Arthur, of Cincinnati, Ohio; three sisters: Mrs. Anna Eden, Holdeman; Mrs. Fabele Eden, Holdeman; and Mrs. Sallie Eden, Ashland, Kentucky.

WIT, WISDOM, BLASPHEMY AND THE LIKE WITH DIATRIBES ON PSYCHOLOGY

Better Stop and Ask, What Will the People Think? Then Use Your Own Judgment

By REX HOKE

It was said of Socrates that he had a beautiful indifference as to whether the people liked him or not. If he had cared he no doubt would have been like them—unknown to us. But he suffered many a blow from Zanthippos, his wife, for his liberties in disregarding her views (See some books of papers on this couple, I forgot where I read that).

Here is what the Chicago Times thought of Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, 1863, morning edition: "The cheek of every American must tingle with shame as it reads the silly, flat dishwater utterances of a man who has to be pointed out to intelligent foreigners as the President of the United States."

Now don't be too presumptory in evaluating this little essay. It might be a masterpiece. Once I read where Pearl Buck said no grade A writer ever made a best seller, and if she can high that the common reader is what you call "would you expect of me?" But it was plain modesty of Pearl for she made the best sellers.

Some like what you say when expressing yourself, some not. If they would have said the same, they are it, otherwise not. "Get your enemies to read your works."

Lost! M. L. Withrow, eleven-year-old member of the fifth grade at Breckinridge Training School, has lost a brown purse containing two dollars, which he had saved to pay his expenses on a field trip, Friday.

M. L. was pretty disappointed when he came into the Baggage office yesterday and asked money to help him locate the lost money.

If anyone finds the purse and money, M. L. will be very grateful for its return, since it means that he will not miss the trip with his class.

Girl Scouts To Sell Cookies

The Girl Scouts of Morehead will be making orders next week for Girl Scout cookies made at National headquarters and guaranteed one of the best tasting cookies made. They will be delivered in a cellophane bag at fifteen cents per bag.

Troops throughout the nation observe cookie week. People interested in helping the local troop enjoy an overnight camp are asked to buy cookies.

More Scrap Needed From Ky. Farms, Says War Board

Recent reports from county USA War Boards throughout Kentucky indicate that there is still more than enough scrap iron on farms in the State to build a 35,000 ton battleship, M. D. Rouse, Kentucky USA War Board chairman, announces.

These reports show, Rouse points out, that less than half the scrap on farms has been collected and sold and that steps should be taken immediately to speed up collections.

Only forty-six of the county war boards reporting that half of the scrap on their farms has been collected, the War Board chairman states.

Ten counties reported collecting five hundred tons or more of scrap metal since the drive began. These counties are Clark, Fayette, Hart, Jefferson, Jessamine, Logan, Nelson, Perry, Union and Warren.

The total amount of scrap collected and moved from farms in Kentucky up to March 15 was 17,744 tons.

"Kentucky farmers have an unusually heavy responsibility in producing better soybeans, for milk, meat and eggs for the war program," Rouse says, "but we believe that they can spare in collecting scrap to keep other vital war production industries moving."

Claude Wickard Says Dairy Month Is Necessary

The Secretary of Agriculture, Claude Wickard has asked that June be selected as Dairy Month, with every effort be made to increase sales of milk and dairy products. This is necessary, because of huge supply of these products, both here and overseas, and farmers will continue production increases.

The slogan adopted is "Victory Means Healthy Americans" and Governor Ken Johnson has been named honorary chairman of the Kentucky June Dairy Month Committee.

An intensified campaign will be carried on in Kentucky because of the importance of dairying in the state.

Gardening—Corn and Beans Despite the first plantings of these two running behind schedule because of the spotty season, the "system" of making plantings bi-weekly to make the trouble supply continuous should not be given over. But each two weeks ten feet of beans per household should continue to be planted, and from forty to sixty stalks of corn, in hills or in rows. If any plantings

"overlap," as they may, the surplus may be earned. If specific surpluses are to be planned for, plantings made from June to July 15 should be doubled.

Sweet Corn From now on, only the really sweet sorts should be used. Of these the list may seem so large as to confuse the gardener, but there are a few outstanding ones on which he may concentrate. These findings were made in the latitude of Lexington, but they should reasonably apply to Rowan county.

Aunt Mary's remains the best white sort, but as it needs a season longer than most, it may run into dry weather if planted later than June 1 and make a disappointing yield. Of the white hybrids, Iona appears the best. Because it shares with all the hybrids resistant to drought and warm weather, it is particularly suited to June and July planting. Of the older sorts, Stowell's Evergreen is still good, but it should try the relatively stringless Plantiful, which shares with Bountiful Bush, whence it came, the excellent quality and the high yield that made it a favorite years ago. Another newcomer is Stringless Refugee, improvement over its parent Refugee, whose other name, "1000 to 1," indicates its especial value as a canner.

Beans—The usual variety for main season use is still stringless Greenpod, albeit its flavor is on the neutral side. Gardeners who wish more "character" of flavor should try the relatively stringless Plantiful, which shares with Bountiful Bush, whence it came, the excellent quality and the high yield that made it a favorite years ago. Another newcomer is Stringless Refugee, improvement over its parent Refugee, whose other name, "1000 to 1," indicates its especial value as a canner.

FWA Discontinues Hospital And Other Construction Work

Shortage Of Materials Makes Policy Necessary

Hospital "construction as usual" is out for the duration of the war. Brigadier-General Philip B. Fleming, Administrator of the Federal Works Agency, warned in an address broadcast last Tuesday evening over the Blue Network. Communities planning two hundred or three-hundred bed hospitals may have to be content with forty or fifty-bed structures, General Fleming predicted, and many ailments now treated in hospitals probably will have to be treated in the home, he added.

"Shortage of critical materials have made it impossible to approve plans for monumental hospital structures," the General explained. "Wherever possible, only temporary construction will be approved."

"Recently, WPB has tended to pass upon each hospital project on its individual merits. But we feel the need of a general overall policy, and we are hopeful that we can together arrive at an agreement that will result in the allocation may be, will be glad to take it and to spread it around where it will do the most good."

General Fleming said FWA for many months has been stripping plans calling for steel, copper and other scarce materials to the late essential's, and has indicated substitute materials wherever possible.

Army Needs--

"And WPB often insists upon still further substitutes, if it will approve the project at all," the administrator added. "If choice is between a fine momental hospital and additional guns and battleships—and it is—I think we all know how we must choose." The Federal Works Agency today is the nation's greatest builder of hospitals and other community facilities, such as schools, sewer systems, police and fire stations, and garbage incinerator plants or- derly needed in communities over- crowded by war workers.

Signal Corps Needs Radio Men For Service Now

Headquarters Fifth Corps Area has just announced that the Army Signal Corps is in need of radio operators and repairmen. To be eligible men must be between the ages of eighteen and forty-five. Operators must hold either a commercial or amateur operators li- cense or be qualified for such a license. Repairmen must be mem- bers of the Radio Manufacturers Service (RMS) or Radio Service Men of America (RSMA) and at the time of application for enlistment be employed in radio service work.

Radio plays a very important part in modern warfare. Airplanes in flight and armored vehicles in motion depend almost entirely on this method of communication for directing operations, reporting ob- servations, and relaying important messages. Radio is used for com- munication between the farflung units in all parts of the world. During the siege of Bataan and Corregidor no other type of mes- sages were getting through. "All men who are qualified should contact their nearest Army Re- cruiting office without delay and to their part to help win this war. Remember, it takes many men to keep one plane in flight or one tank in motion."

employment Service offices, county school superintendents, State De- partment of Welfare offices, or by writing to J. P. Glasgow, Merit System Supervisor, Division of Personnel, Frankfort, Kentucky. Under present plans examinations will be given simultaneously in the following cities: Anland, Bowling Green, Covington, Frank- fort, Harlan, Louisville, Murray, Pikeville, Owensboro, Lexington, and Somerset.

Your Badge Of Honor

When you see some one wear- ing the little USO pin in his lapel, or on her coat you can say: "There goes a friend of my friend in service."

This pin has red stripes and white stars—the letters USO in blue on the white background. All contributors to USO will get one. It is hoped that each con- tribution will be liberal.

You may ask: "Why should I give to USO?"

The answer is simply this: "Because we can't win this war 'by machines alone.'"

Because it takes a high- spirited, fighting army to do the job.

Because boredom and monoton- y for our armed forces are dangerous enemies in themself- es.

Because the spirit USO helps maintain is a real contribution toward victory.

Because we owe each of the 4,000,000 men we will have in 1945, the services—amounting only 66¢ a month—which USO will provide.

Because $22,000,000 is less than one-sixth of what the USO is doing for our armed forces in the same purpose after the Armistice in 1918.

Because USO represents one way we can all get behind the man behind the guns.

Because "you help someone you know, when you give to the USO."

Because we must not forget the men of Rowan County.

Our quota—$700—is approxi- mately $1.00 for each boy this county will have in service by Christmas. Contribute a dollar and wear this badge of honor.

Women Entering Various Phases Of War Industries

Still More Jobs Will Be Available To Women As Army Expands

Women are entering war indus- tries in ever increasing numbers, according to Edward L. Keenan, representative of the United States Employment Service for Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

"As an illustration of the in- creasing acceptance of women by industry, women are working to- day in sixty-six Cleveland war plants," Keenan said. "Twenty- nine additional firms have an- nounced that they will hire wom- en in the near future." Women are working today as operators of milling machines, punch, drill and bushing presses, riveting machin- es, automatic trimmers, engine lathes, power-sewing and various other machines. They are working as core makers, oxyacetylene welders, spot welders, armature winders, assemblers, polishers, brush and spray painters, and as packers, wrapper and sorters.

"A large number are employed as inspectors; others as mechani- cal assemblers, riveting machine operators in which they are currently engaged range all the way from laborers to laboratory assistants to finger-print experts."

"An examination of statistics on Cleve- land war plants is illuminating. For example, fifty Cleveland firms with a total employment of 31,325 have 5,205 women workers. This represents 16.6 percent of the total employment of those concerns. One aircraft company now em- ploys 1,030 women and this num- ber will increase each week. Thir- teen companies employ more than one hundred women each. In one plant women represent eighty-two percent of the total employment."

As the country swings into peak war production, more and more women will be needed in war plants throughout this region and the country. Before many months have rolled around, more than a million American women will be employed in war produc- tion. By the end of 1942, we be- lieve that more than 75,000 wom- en will be working in Detroit fac- tories alone.

"During the last war hundreds of thousands of women worked in industry. Women employed in the iron and steel industry went from about three percent of the total employment in 1914 to nearly ten percent in 1918. In the aircraft industry women rose from five percent to almost nineteen percent. It is pretty generally recognized that at least half of all the jobs in aircraft plants can be performed by women already are working at a wide variety of jobs. They will be called upon to replace many men called into the armed forces. They will be asked to take civil- ian jobs made vacant when men leave to go into war plants; and more jobs will open up constantly for women in the factories."

THE HOME FRONT

Three tire dealers in Houston, Texas, are under indictment for violation of tire rationing and price regulations in Federal Court. They are also charged with conspiracy to evade rationing and price reg- ulations.

Two companies in Chicago and one in Indianapolis, Indiana, have been caught by the War Produc- tion Board for dealing illegally in critical aluminum. WPB is pun- ishing these companies by forbid- ding them materials for from two to three months.

Production of anti-freeze for au- tomobiles will be placed on a quota basis this fall. The quota is ex- pected to be about fifty percent of the amount sold by each pro- ducer in 1941.

Have you put in your coal supply for next winter? Donald M. Nelson, War Production Board chairman, urges that all consum- ers lay in their stockpile to the limit of capacity now to avoid a transportation pinch next fall.

Suggestion of J. J. James, a New Orleans tailor, decided the WPB to urge all tailoring establishments to turn over all their wool clips and old samples to the Red Cross. Cloth thus salvaged will be repro- duced.

WHEN you read your metropolitan newspaper today, the chances are it was brought to you by GREYHOUND! To thousands of communities the country over . . . communities not served by any other means of transportation, (and to many that are) GREYHOUND is newsboy, mailman, and expressman—as well as the most popular public conveyance of Mr. and Mrs. America. Whether for people, packages, or papers, GREYHOUND serves the need for fast, dependable transportation linking the interests and activities of the nation. Its operations are geared to fill the requirements of peace times . . . flexible to meet the emergency needs of war. Thus today, GREYHOUND is doing double duty by serving two great armies—selectees and trainees, the fighting forces in troop movements and on furloughs . . . and the civilian army of defense workers who are backing them up. And while the role of "newsboy" is, by itself, a minor capacity, it indicates the wide range of GREYHOUND'S indispensable services in the nation's daily life.

These Neighbors of Yours Spent Over $2,047,285 of Their Pay In Kentucky Last Year!

FOLK: Today there are 1,138 men and women employed in our company. Last year they got $2,047,285 total salaries and wages. They spent practically all of it with local merchants in small Kentucky towns . . . for food, clothing, fuel, rent, education, medical and dental care, etc. Thus it helped to provide jobs for many other people.

These employees are your neighbors, fellow church members, Legionnaires, Rotarians, Kiwanians, etc. Eight out of ten of them were born in Kentucky. And these employees—not some group in Wall Street—really are the Kentucky Utilities Company. They are responsible for better electric service you get at lower rates year by year.

By putting politics in business, politicians plan to wreck this organization and destroy the company. They aim to substitute political man- agement and all its evils for business management.

Political management of one kind or business sooner or later means political man- agement of other kinds. It is un-American in principle. It spells the end of free enterprise.

Planning Conference Trip
Young people of the Morehead Christian church are now laying plans for a number of their group to attend the Northern Kentucky...

For the past four years a representation has been in attendance at the Summer Conference from Morehead, last year four of the young people having graduated from the courses of study.

The conferences are designed to provide courses in church leadership for the youths acquainted with the qualities necessary to be successful in their church endeavors.

The pastor of the local church will serve on the faculty at Morehead again this year, teaching courses in the "Bible" and "Cooperation Among People"...

How much is one to give in to the prevailing fashions of speech and dress and the like? In giving a party must it follow the type of parties that have been given? Special Matinee - Saturday, May 23

We moderns do get added efficiency from manufactured gadgets and geometric forms, but these things standardize you and me, taking all the variety out. For me like inefficiency. An encouraging sign, among the women, at least, is getting yourself "typed." After you know what type you belong to, that settles it so far as selecting colors, hair, and the like go. It also simplifies matters for the young men, who must be discriminating. If this even out we ought eventually to have at least a half-dozen distinguishable varieties of women.

Decidedly there is more variety among men, in spite of all the effort to compress us into a mould. I'm told that if I drop my knife while eating, I ignore it (I don't even help hunt for it, partly as I am to waitresses) but if I drop my napkin, I'm supposed to pick it up. It seems that waitresses object to picking up napkins, but don't mind the knives. She will pick up anything made of metal, including salt cellars or a stray, once-carved—but no dry scoops—there's where she draws the line.

There is also a tale about tipping your soup bowl, if you expect to rate socially above a castaway. You tip it toward you (or away from you), whichever it is, the idea being to get all the soup—without reducing the meat. When an exhibition my usually safe rule is to omit the soup.

Emily Post, my teacher once told me, is religiously followed in the small towns, but in the bigger places she is no go. In the small towns we are sticklers for form, but they look more to the fitness of things. Not that they try to be different—the rule seems to be a simple regard for the other fellow's well being.

The great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

Christian Youths Planning Conference Trip Young people of the Morehead Christian church are now laying plans for a number of their group to attend the Northern Kentucky Young People's Conference, held each year in Camp Meacham, near Mentor, Kentucky, on the Ohio River.

For the past four years a representation has been in attendance at Summer Conference held at Morehead, last year four of the young people having graduated from the courses of study.

The conferences are designed to give the young people in church leadership for the year, equipping them with the qualities necessary to be successful in their church endeavors. But beside class periods, much time is set aside for personal recognition and companionship; and the week is spent in devotions and worship.

The pastor of the local church will serve on the faculty at Meacham this year, teaching courses in the "Bible" and "Cooperation Among People." The time of the conference is the week of June 14-22.

How much is one to give in to the prevailing fashions of speech and dress and the like? In giving a party, must it follow the type of parties that have been given? Should you let your moustache bush out a little at the sides, if you like it? Or if you like a picture in a room, what about taking it home, even if it isn't religious? I have a desecrated suspicion that most of us aren't getting a lot out of life because of our unwillingness to respect our own appetites. In our food, but our intellectual-artistic-social diet is pretty well standardized.

Anything edible is eaten in the kitchen, but you are de classé if you eat in the living room. Dale Carnegie or Edgar A. Guest or Home Sweet Home appears in the living room. That's what I'm against, if we like these.

Once I read in a book (See Henry VIII, Second Act, Scene 1) that young men conform to group demands because of insecurity and our dependence on others, but around forty we begin to go our own way, ignoring what others think, since we usually have enough cash laid by to keep us, even if our idiosyncrasies do ostracize us. And if there is any originality in it will come out then or never.

So at forty if you build a house, if you wanted you could put a den in the back where you could lock people out, or you could add a billroom in the front for receiving the public. But little chance for whims in the early years.

We moderns get added efficiency from manufacturing gadgetry and geometric forms, but these things standardize you and make you all the variety out. For me I'll take inefficiency. An encouraging sign, among the women, at least, a getting yourself "typed." After you know what type you belong to, that settles it so far as selecting colors, hair fix, and the like go. It also simplifies matters for the young men, who must be discriminating. If this work at least a half dozen distinguishable varieties of women.

Decidedly there is more variety among men, in spite of all the effort to compress us into a mould. I'm told that if I drop my knife even being hunt for it, partial as I am to wasteness) but if I drop my maskin, I'm supposed to pick it up. It means that waitresses object to picking up maskins, but they don't mind the knives. She will pick up anything made of metal, including salt cellars or a stray spoon course—but no dry goods. There's where she draws the line. There is also a rule about tipping your soup bowl, if you expect to rate socially above a castaway. You tip it toward you (or toward the youth), whichever it is, (the idea being to get all the soup) or to reduce the noise. Winea exhibition my usually safe rule is to omit the soup. Emily Post, my teacher once told me, is religiously followed in the small towns, but in the bigger places she is no go. In the small towns we are sticklers for form, but they look more to the fitness of things. Not that they try to be different—the rule seems to be a simple regard for the other fellow's well being.
