

MOREHEAD NORMAL

FIRST YEAR SUCCESSFUL; MRS. DUDLEY CAUDILL FIRST GRADUATE—MANY STUDENTS REMAIN FOR SUMMER TERM.

Special to The Leader.

MOREHEAD, Ky., June 11.—Morehead State Normal has just completed its first year. Plans have been made for enlargement in buildings, in enrollment and in the teaching force.

Within the next two years a girls' dormitory and a class room building will be erected. All the old teachers have been retained and 14 new ones have been employed for 1924-1925.

The first commencement has just closed. Seventy-two young people received certificates to teach. Many others were entitled to certificates, but did not desire to take them out now, because they have decided to remain in school for more thorough preparation.

Mrs. Dudley Caudill is the first graduate of Morehead State Normal, having completed the most advanced course, which carries credits amounting to graduation from junior college. Mrs. Caudill has already revealed splendid ability as a teacher.

A number of young people have decided to remain for the summer term of nine weeks. All who were here during the year have decided to return for the first of second semester of next year. Elliott county has the largest representation outside of Rowan county. Twenty counties have been represented in the enrollment this year.

First Baccalaureate Sermon

The first baccalaureate sermon in the history of Morehead State Normal was preached by Rev. Roger T. Nooe, minister of the Christian church in Frankfort. Mr. Nooe's address was a fitting beginning for such services in the history of Morehead State Normal.

On Monday evening the first annual declamatory contest of the James Lane Allen Society was held in Burgess Hall. Miss Edna Sparks won the gold medal. Her reading was entitled "The Search for the Slain." A similar contest was held the preceding week by the Button Literary Society. The gold medal was won by Russell Williamson, of Martin county, who gave "Christmas Eve on Lonesome."

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, assisted by the faculty gave a reception assisted by the faculty gave a reception to the students and the people of Morehead and other guests from a distance. Nearly 400 people were present. The principal features of the program were music by the orchestra, directed by Miss Emma Strader, and a quartette; "I Love My Mountain Home," sung by Prof. D. N. Holbrook, Dean Charles D. Lewis and his son, Charles and Prof. H. C. Haggan.

On Thursday evening the commencement services in the auditorium in Burgess Hall. Decorations of royal purple and gold, the school colors, made the room very attractive. President M. B. Adams, of Georgetown college, delivered the address in his fine scholarly manner. His subject was "Double Honor Men and Women in Education."

A quartette composed of Everett Blair, Paul Johnson, Josie Jacobs

CARPENTER COMES OUT FOR PEPGEN

"My whole trouble came from catarrh. During the night mucus passed down my throat and irritated the lining of my stomach. As a consequence my stomach became madly deranged and then came a case of dyspepsia.

"My kidneys and liver were also affected. When I started to take Pepgen my kidneys were so badly out of order that I was compelled to get out of bed as high as five times a night on account of their activity. I had a pain in my side, no doubt caused by my liver.

"I felt nervous and restless and I couldn't sleep soundly. It was necessary for me to take a laxative every time I desired action.

"I had to be very careful of my diet. If I ate pie, pastry, candy or anything sweet or rich I was sure to have heartburn. At other times I would bloat until my stomach felt as tight as a drum. The gas formed in my stomach and pressed up against my heart and often it was difficult for me to get my breath.

"I tried many different kinds of medicines without avail. I didn't think anything would help me.

"It was only by the most persistent persuasion on the part of a friend that I consented to take Pepgen. Now, today, I am a happy thankful man.

"Friends, if you don't feel right. If you feel tired and worn out. If your food don't agree with you; or if you have catarrh go straight and get a bottle of Pepgen. It is an honest-to-goodness medicine."

(Signed) F. L. Smith, Carpenter,
528 Pemberton Avenue,
Lexington, Ky.

Pepgen has relieved hundreds of Lexington people of gas on the stomach, heartburn, bloated feeling, sour stomach, sick headaches, nervousness, pain in the back, constipation and other symptoms which come from a disordered stomach, kidneys and liver. Why not you?

Pepgen is sold in Lexington only at Will Dunn's Drug Store, Broadway and Main. It is also sold by one leading drug store in every town which may be known by a Pepgen sign.

adv.