BIBLE STUDY

By Rev. E. H. Kazee

Question—If everyone obeyed the Golden Rule, would there be any need of churches and preachers?

Answer—My questioner has put in a very great "if" to start with. The question bears upon the Sunday School lesson for last Sunday. I am glad it has come up.

In the first place, the Golden Rule as it is called, was so named by man and not by God. I have no evidence that God set it forth as any more emphatic verse of Scripture than any other. The general idea is that this rule is the most complete summary of practical righteousness, and hence, some one has named it the Golden Rule. God had nothing to do with the name. There are many other passages of Scripture just as important, and involving the same principle. For instance, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart—and thy neighbor as thyself."

The "golden rule" is in that great sermon preached by Jesus on the Mount. There He was talking to His disciples. He had come, as Matthew tells us, to present Himself as King—of Israel, and "Matthew" was King—of our Lord's ministry on earth deals first with Him as the King. The idea of the Kingdom Parable—the kingdom of heaven is likened unto a sower sowing the seed to what Matthew is writing. All of that sermon on the mount is about the interpretation of sin and righteousness. Jesus teaches that sin from the act to the intention of the heart. He reminds them of what the law says: "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." Then He tells them that the law of the Kingdom of Heaven is to do good for evil, bless them that curse you, pray for them that despitefully use you, and so on through all conduct. Thus, the sin is in the heart, whether it is enacted in life or not. Here He shows that a man can be a murderer without killing anyone, an adulterer without committing the act of adultery, a thief without stealing, etc. The emphasis on the heart and its true condition is set forth.

Thus Jesus shows that man, in his natural state, cannot obey the "golden rule" or any other rule of God. He has broken them all and stands guilty before God and is condemned because he has not sought for His sin through guilt by believing in Jesus Christ, who, alone, can save him from his fallen state.

The idea of man in his natural state obeying the golden rule is absurd. How can you be right and Christian toward men if we are not right toward God? And how can we be right toward God and at the same time not obedient to God's Son from our hearts? Thus, this rule is not for men in their natural sinful state. It is the essence of the law of the Kingdom of Heaven, which is set up in men's hearts through the new birth. Jesus presented himself as King, and at this sermon on the mount was the law of that Kingdom. He was rejected as King, and crucified. Here the world was tried in its attitude toward God and found to be guilty of rebellion and rejection of God. Thus the Kingdom was rejected along with its law, of which the golden rule is a summary.

Then, having been rejected, Jesus set up the Church, through which He set out to reach out to people for His name. He brought the new birth. He would produce a spirit of obedience to that law of the Kingdom. When He has called whom He will and the church has served its purpose, then calling out of those who have been born again, whose hearts are dominated by the Divine Spirit, He will set up His Kingdom and reign here for a thousand years. Thus, the golden rule can be partially obeyed only by those who are Spirit-led. Hence, the world cannot, nor will it receive that rule.

Aged May File Insurance Claims In Own Home
Social Security Board Will Send Representatives To Homes

Aged or injured persons who wish to file claims for old-age and survivors insurance may transact their business with the Social Security Board in their own homes. It was announced today by James A. Chaney, manager of the Ashland, Ky. office of the Board.

Recently our office has received inquiries as to how such persons could not work and we perceived may file their claims without suitable transportation. In such cases we are glad to send a representative to the homes of such claimants, or to hospitals or other institutions in which they are confined.

"While we expect all who can do so will visit our main office or more of the field offices where we operate, we are prepared to make home or institutional calls to receive claims for old-age and survivors insurance. Where this is necessary, persons who wish such visits made should notify us so that these calls may be made in connection with other travel of Social Security Board representatives.

"There is no charge for this service, part of that given by our office in serving the counties of Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Floyd, Greenup, Johnson, Lawrence, Lewis, Martin, Macon, Morgan, Pike and Rowan.

planned to make this an all-day meeting, with a pot lunch at noon. Every woman in the community is invited to attend this meeting and to take part in the work. They will be notified by their representatives who attended the meeting Monday afternoon so as to the party they are expected to play in the sewing program.

So far as the knitting for the Red Cross is concerned, there is still a quantity of yarn available to be knit into sweaters for men and children. The shawls which are crocheted have been almost completed by Mrs. C. O. Peratt. Any woman who is able to knit is invited to take one or more sweaters. The chapter is asked to knit ten sweaters for men and ten for children.

Book Gossip

MR. STITH MALONE CAIN

Assistant Librarian, Morehead State Teachers College

"BOOKS OF TRAVEL"
We are going to discuss the latest books on travel in America, that are being read widely, and discussed by many people. They are as follows:

1. Daniels, Jonathan, A Southerner Discovers The South, Macmillan Publishing Company, $3.00.

The southern newspaper editor who wrote the best-selling Travel Book of this early Fall, A Southerner Discovers The South, has traveled through the New England towns and cities and countryside to give us another revealing and honest picture of this section of our fine country.

2. Laughlin, Clara E. You're Seeing In New England, Little Publishing Company, 2.50.

The author of the extremely popular "So You're Going South" is an equally entertaining guide to New England, rich in background, scenery and history.

3. Federal Writers Project, Oxford Publishing Company, $3.00.

This guide to the Old Dominion is one of the latest additions to the American Guide Series. It contains many good illustrations and lots of helpful information for those who want to learn more about Virginia.

4. Davis, Clyde Brian, The Arkansas, Farrar and Rinehart Publishing Company, $2.00.

A well-illustrated history of the Arkansas and the varied territories through which it flows—from the time of the French explorers to the "pioneer" days of the old west. Includes Oklahoma and neighboring states and sharpshooters in Arkansas. Entertaining illustrations by Donald McKay in this newest volume of the extremely interesting Rivers of America Series.

Teachers Improve Seas Branch School

The teachers of the Seas Branch School have been doing a fine job of improving the building. The inside of the building has been painted and decorated. Plans are now under way to install a hot lunch line for the children. These kitchens in connection with the school are a part of the WPA work carried on in the county. Any teacher desiring to install a WPA kitchen in your school may get information you need at the office of the County Superintendent, J. C. Cecil, teacher at the Old House, Big Springs was the House of the school year to furnish hot lunches to the children.

OLD HOUSE CREK

The parents and children will bring their Thanksgiving dinners to the school house and there will be real celebration and a real chicken dinner on that day. Mrs. Lizzie France was the one who prepared a hot lunch for the children will probably help in keeping the lunches hot and preparing other hot dishes.

BASKET BALL GAME

Basketball season is getting under way and a schedule of both Morehead and Haldeman teams will appear in the paper later. Watch for it.

DRY CREEK SCHOOL

The Dry Creek School in an uncelebrated Thanksgiving in an uncelebrated Thanksgiving in an uncelebrated Thanksgiving. The children will be the Indians and the parents the pilgrims and the big Thanksgiving dinner will be given at the school house with the whole community invited. They will endeavor to have this celebration as much like the first celebration as possible.

Many State Children Receive Aid During Year

Crippled Children Commission Is Active In Bringing Aid To Needy

The Kentucky Crippled Children Commission has provided medical, surgical, and hospital care for 1,41 State youngsters during the past year. Miss Marian Williamson, Director, reported before the annual State meeting of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children in Lexington, Thursday, November 14.

This is the largest number of cases handled in any year since the Commission opened in 1921, said Miss Williamson, and there are many cases waiting for hospitalization because of lack of funds.

In addition to hospital care, many youngsters were aided with medical care, renewal of plaster casts, adjustments of braces, visits of field nurses, and through 27 rural clinics held throughout the State, the speaker said.

The Commission organizes the work with crippled children and through the financial help of State and Federal government and interested lay groups, it carries on its extensive activities. Miss Williamson commended the great aid extended during the past year by lay groups throughout the State.

For its annual Easter seal drive for funds the Society has during the past year turned over $15,652.81 to the Commission for additional aid to crippled children. Miss Williamson quoted from the treasurer's report of Sam English, Jr., Louisville.

Also speaking at the State meeting were E. W. Palmer, Kinsport, Tenn., President, of National Society for Crippled Children; Miss Julia Kobs, Ashland; Miss Ann C. Myers, Covington; Mr. H. C. Robinson, Lexington; H. V. McChesney, Frankfort; Mrs. Baldwin Burnam and Nell Dalton, Louisville, and Dr. R. C. Hoel, Director, Crippled Children's Division, Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C.

YOUR INSURANCE POLICY
Many a job has been made concerning the long provision usually printed in small type in the insurance policies.

Those provisions aren't put there to bewilder you. They are added most of them are specified by law. Their purpose is to make the life insurance contract absolutely definite and specific. There's no guess-work involved, no vagueness.

Read your policy and understand exactly what it provides. If you have difficulty interpreting the legal provisions, ask your agent to explain it to you—that's one of his jobs.

Only if you understand your policy perfectly, can you be sure you're getting precisely what you want and need.

In addition to employment on the regular clerical and home-making projects, young women will be given opportunities for work experience in workshops and in the operation of power sewing equipment.

All work projects under the expanded appropriation are being set up and operated by the National Youth Administration under the sponsorship of state and local agencies.

N. Y. A. Program In Kentucky Is Expanding

More than 3,000 additional young people in Kentucky are being assigned to National Youth Administration out of school projects which offer work and experience in fields essential to national defense. Robert K. Salyers, State NYA Administrator, announced.

This expansion of the NYA program in the state has been made possible through a special appropriation of $637,208, which is in addition to the regular appropriation of $1,269,291 for the fiscal year.

More than six months ago adjustments in the NYA program were initiated to provide work experience for increased numbers of young people in construction and shop projects, including woodworking, metal work, welding, radio, and other mechanical skills. The additional fund will be used to increase the number of youth, principally young men, employed on such projects.

Funds have been made available to the State Department of Education to provide vocational teachers who will be placed in charge of related instruction. Plans for coordinating this phase of the program with activities of the State Department of Education.

Library In National Defense

(Continued From Page One) reading providing it did not advocate the overthrow of the United States government. He said that the general opinion of most librarians and educators is that so long as such reading matter does not seek the overthrow of the system of democratic government that it is far better to allow the public to read it than to keep it off the shelves.

The statement of Mr. Cain, who is in a position to have first hand information of the extent and expense foreign government are going to in order to place their propaganda before the American public, was the first viewpoint as that discussed by the Dies committee and Congressional investigations.

Mr. Cain's titled, "The National Defense Library" is a list of books which are now playing a part in the time to play an even greater part in engineering research for the defense program.

In an open forum following the address the members were divided in opinion as to whether any foreign propaganda should be allowed in the libraries. The club this Wednesday will attend in mass the Thanksgiving Community Church Services at the Methodist Church, following its luncheon.

C. B. Turner Urges Quota Signing

(Continued From Page One) 13,000,000 pounds is exported each year, and the war has cut off most of these exports. Expansion Without Quotas Without quotas, Mr. Turner asserted, there is no restriction on the number of new burley growers nor on the acreage of old growers. Many new growers produced barely in 1937 and 1939 when there was no market regulation. In all burley states the number of growers increased 50 per cent in the past five years, and most of the increase was in 1937 and 1939 when no quotas were in effect.

With quotas growers who cooperate by planting within acreage allotments under the Agricultural Conservation program cannot profit at the expense of cooperators as in 1937 and 1939.

For the first time this year, burley tobacco growers are voting on marketing quotas for three years. If quotas are approved for three years, Mr. Turner said, farm allotments will be the same in 1941 as in 1940, while if the quota for 1941 only is approved a reduction in allotments will be needed. Under three year quotas no 1940 farm allotment of more than one acre can be reduced by more than 10 per cent during the entire three-year period. Under 1940 allotment of one acre or less can be reduced at all during the period. With these guarantees farmers can make plans without allowance for drastic changes in allotments from year to year. Mr. Turner said.

Under quotas the penalty on the marketing of excess tobacco is 10 cents a pound. And while allotments are protected for the three year period for those who plant within their allotments and for those who do not attempt to evade the tax on excess marketings, Mr. Turner pointed out that growers who attempt to evade the tax or to help others to evade it will be penalized by having their acreage allotments reduced. The quota law provides penalties for buyers and warehousemen who growers evade, pay the tax.

Homecoming Crowd Enjoys Festivities

were present. Taken all in all, the 1940 Homecoming at Morehead State Teachers College was one of the most successful in point of attendance of any Homecoming in recent years, in spite of the inclement weather. Perhaps an even more outstanding feature of the day was the apparent era of good feeling that seemed to attend every meeting, an era that portends well for the future of the college.

Among the out of town visitors was Dr. John Howard Payne, former president of the college.

Many of their stars have been lost by graduation, and the newcomers do not stack up as capable of taking their places. However, they again they may come ahead faster than expected. Frenchburg always has a way of surprising the fans and year in and year out, they have a really representative team on the floor. The game Wednesday night, being early season encounters for both the Vikings and Frenchburg, should serve to give both teams a line on future prospects.

3-Year Quota Will Protect Small Growers Those Raising One Acre Or Less Will Be Protected From Reductions There are 452 burley tobacco growers in Rowan county whose allotments are one acre or less and if these small growers along with other growers in the burley area, approve marketing quotas for the next three years in the referendum on Nov. 23rd, there will be no reduction in these small allotments during the three year period. C. B. Turner, chairman of the Rowan County Agricultural Conservation Association, said today. Mr. Turner also pointed out that if growers approve the three year plan on Nov. 23, no 1941 burley allotment for any farm in the county will be reduced below the 1940 allotment, and that no allotment of more than one acre may be reduced more than 10 per cent below the 1940 allotment within the next three years. (The only possible exceptions in these regulations, Mr. Turner said, would be farmers who might be penalized for attempting to evade or help others to evade the tax on marketing of excess tobacco under the marketing quota, which is now in effect for the 1940 marketing year.) If a quota is voted for only one year, Mr. Turner said, some further reduction in 1941 allotments may be required. Burley growers will vote on 3 questions on Nov. 23. These questions are: 1. Are you in favor of quotas for three years? 2. Are you opposed to quotas

THE Nazi-Fascist theory of "expanding power" at the expense of other peoples has been on the march long enough for all of us to realize its consequences. Although Hitler calls it a "world revolution" of young nations against the old and decadent, it is, in fact, a counter revolution against the freedoms that have been won by human beings through centuries of aspiring and suffering.

There is no such thing in Germany, Italy and Japan as that freedom which we have proclaimed for ourselves in the Bill of Rights, and there is little more than slavery and suffering for peoples of those nations which have been overrun by the Nazi war machine. We believe that all Americans are determined that what happened to Norway, Denmark and Holland, peaceful nations which sought only their peaceful and happy ways of life, shall not happen to us of the Americas.

Because British courage and tenacity form our first line of defense, because the British Navy is our truth our Atlantic Navy, because the heroic fight the British are making has, for the time being, blocked aggressive aims, made clear by Hitler, against this hemisphere, we favor giving them the fullest aid for our own security, in consideration of our own defense needs. We believe that help could be given that has not been given because we as citizens have not recognized our Government leaders with the full strength of American sympathy for the British cause.

We purpose to maintain contacts with sources that have the fullest and most authentic information and to convey that information to the people of Louisville and Kentucky.

We purpose to invite committees which are already in existence in Kentucky to join with us in organizing chapters in every city and town in the State, so that upon specific questions and upon the broader questions of general policy which are bound to arise as the war progresses, we may have a quick and ready way to convey our sentiments to elected representatives.

One of the penalties of democracy is that it moves slowly. That it can fight nobly Britain has proved. That it can act quickly in an emergency we fully believe. We offer one channel through which sentiment that has already crystallized may become voice; through which Kentuckians, who have always loved liberty, may be in the forefront of the national effort to secure it to ourselves.

To that end, we invite all those who feel as we do to join us. There is no financial obligation. Simply fill out the coupon below and send it in.

mourner her death her husband, ten children, seven girls and three boys, forty grandchildren, four great grand children, three sisters and one brother.

Inasmuch as it hath pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom to call this dear wife, mother and friend from her earthly home to her heavenly home on high, the church has lost a true and faithful member, the community a just, useful and valuable citizen, the family a kind, dutiful and loving wife and mother.

In bowing in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well we extend to the sorrowing family our deep and dear felt sympathy with a fervent prayer that God's blessing will rest upon them and His grace will abide with them forevermore.
