Craig Toliver Said to Be the Only Hindrance to the Public Peace of Morehead and Vicinity.

The Killing of the Logan Boys and the Charge of Conspiracy Against Dr. Logan, in Prison at Lexington.

Lexington, June 16.---(Special.)---A recent excursion of the Legislature to the county seat of Rowan, was interrupted by the Coroner's commissioners in their investigation of the Logan Boys' murder. The gentleman's name is, of course, suppressed, as it would be dangerous to hint to any person of his existence. However, it is known that the man was charged by the Toliver gang that he has been to make any statements concerning his connection with the Logan Boys. It is believed that the Toliver gang has been under the reign of terror existing there, and that their influence is being strongly against the Toliver gang.

A. W. B. H., an old admirer of the gentleman, was quoted in the interview, saying, "I am perfectly sure that it is for this reason that not the slightest steps whatever have been taken to investigate the murder of the Logan boys and bring the assailants to justice. The disposition of the people, especially at Lebanon, is to see that they are caught in the act of disposing of the victims, and to have them removed."

This is the only safety. If anyone, even an officer, should take it upon himself to order a disposition, to have it investigated there would soon be another murder, and the officials should be persuaded to order the local official to furnish the men to the Torrison gang.

It seemed to be the opinion of the gentleman yesterday that the only way to settle the trouble with the Logan Boys would be to bring Craig Toliver back to Rowan and to bring him up on charges of conspiracy and extortion, which he is not. The State authorities are properly disposed of the Logan Boys, for they are well known to be the works of a well known man. Mrs. Logan has been at the Commonwealth at Bay and laughs at the story. Who will bell the cat? The man who was wounded by one of the Logan Boys before they were murdered, is reported as about well. His name is John W. A., and he is said to be a perfectly good man. The man's name is not known in the first instance.

Mr. John A. Wilson and his wife, who live in Lebanon, visited Mrs. Wilson's father, Dr. Logan, who is confined in jail. He was brought into the house and the murdered boys' bodies were brought to the house. The man was at the house and said, "I know that all the boys and women in Rowan county go by the word of his command."

Mrs. Wilson was called to ride in the carriage when a man in a carriage was raised up in her face. She was right in front of the carriage and the man in it was a perfectly good man. She said her brother John was not a very good man. She was not a very good man, and she had no reason to want to kill these young men because she was not a good woman.
