Majority Of Farmers Participate

78 Percent Of Farmers File Plans To Take Part In Farm Program

Approximately 78 per cent of Rowan county's farmers have filed farm plans, indicating their intention to participate in the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program, according to a report today by C. B. Turner, chairman of the Rowan County Agricultural Conservation Association, who said that plans of 850 farmers have been completed.

An additional group of farm plans is expected to be filed by April 15, the final date for registering intention to participate in the 1941 program, Mr. Turner said. There are 1050 farmers in the county eligible to take part in the program.

Most of the plans completed up to date are those of farmers who have ordered conservation materials through the county office. Turner said. Farmers who have not ordered these materials through the county office or who have not already reported their intention to take part in the program this year should call at the county office or report to their county or community committee immediately, he urged.

According to reports from the State AAA office in Lexington, Mr. Turner said, approximately 86,851 Kentucky farmers had completed plans through the county office. He said that 29,716 farmers in the State are eligible to participate in the program.

Committee For Land Planning Formed Here

Committee To Be Set Up In Each Community To Plan For Farm Work

Plans are underway to develop a Land Use Program Planning Committee for Rowan County. Property Owners Warned To Make Sewer Connections

Ordinance Governing Connections Will Be Enforced After May 1

In this issue appears an important notice in property owners of the city, a notice to which they will do well to pay heed, since any violations of the order after May 1 will levy a fine of $50.00 per day that it continues, each day constituting a separate offense.

The notice applies only to sanitary sewers are connected with the storm sewers of the city. A number of residents are thus connected. An ordinance passed some time ago prohibits this and fixes the fine mentioned. It has been rather loosely enforced. But the health department is demanding that the ordinance be remedied and the proper connections be made.

Mayor Allen stated that he realized that many whose sewers were so connected did not know it. However, ignorance will not be a defense. If property owners have any doubts as to how their sewers are connected, they are urged to see the city clerk who will give them the information. If they are connected with storm sewers, property owners are required to change and connect with sanitary sewers at once, before the expiration date mentioned in the notice.

Clearfield Is Planning Good Team

Issues Call To Amateurs To Join Team For League Season April 30

Maybe it won't be the Cincinnati Reds in action, but baseball fans and about Clearfield this summer, will have an opportunity to see some real baseball, if the plans now being made are carried out.

Clearfield has joined the Kentucky Amateur Baseball League, and is now making plans to build up a real team of outstanding amateurs for the season. A number of players will be given an opportunity to help the home town team in its drive to the pennant.

This is frankly a call for volunteers. Clearfield knows there is some good baseball material going to waste here. They are urgently asking that all amateurs interested in playing ball this summer get in touch with John Francis, M. S. Bowne or Clayton Preffer—before the season opens on April 30. The team will be selected from the best material available.

If you are interested in playing baseball this summer without an amateur team, get in touch with one of these men without delay. Help bring the pennant to Clearfield.

Men may be signed up for the league until June 1, but you are urged to sign up early, and with out-delay.

The following clubs belong to the league: Rowansharpsburg, Mr. Sturges, Bowling, Lexington, Mt. Olivet, Clearfield, Winchester. It is expected that the Sharpsburg High School Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. (Continued On Page Three)

Farmers May Reduce Quota Of Tobacco

Reduction Within Next Three Years Will Affect Future Quotas

Under the marketing quota provision of the Agricultural Adjustment Act which govern allotments for burley tobacco during the next three years, farmers may plant less than their allotted acreage in 1941, 1942, or 1943 without being penalized by reduced allotments in future years. C. B. Turner, chairman of the Rowan County Agricultural Conservation Association, announced today.

When a farmer failed to grow his entire burley tobacco allotment over a period of years in the past, Mr. Turner pointed out, his farm allotment was reduced, but under present regulations allotments are "frozen" and such reductions cannot be made.

This does not mean that reductions cannot be made under certain other specific conditions, such as violations of the marketing quota law, Mr. Turner explained, but it means that no reduction can be made because of a farmer's failure to grow his allotted acreage. Two farms having allotments of five acres each in 1941 will have equal allotments in 1942 even though one farmer grows five acres of tobacco in 1941 and the other grows only two acres—unless the allotments are changed for some other reason.

Turner said burley growers with allotments of five acres in 1941 or less may wish to plant more than the allotment in 1941 in order to reduce the "weight" large growers or those with a return in production of burley tobacco in 1942. Mr. Turner said.

system is affected adversely by excessive use of alcohol.

The question of the medical profession in regard to the value of alcohol as a stimulant is divided, and the extent to which the drug is used in the treatment of disease is on the decline.

White 3 per cent alcohol, such as is found in light wines, and beer, may temporarily bring benefit by producing the gastric juices in the stomach more freely, and thus speed digestion, yet when the proportion exceeds 5 per cent, even at 10 per cent, it definitely retards digestion, and more so as the amount is increased. Thus, serious stomach troubles may result from its use.

Excessive amounts of alcohol cause a pronounced fall in the blood-pressure, since they depress both the heart and the coronary centers which have to do with the control of the blood.

Even in the absence of motor excitement, the drug causes an increase in the amount of air breathed. In cases of alcoholism the shallowness of the breathing is noticed in proportion to the intensity of the case.

Some claim that alcohol is a food. This is not strictly true. It is a fluid to the body, and will carry on certain functions while sparing the use of fats stored in the body for this purpose. However, it carries nothing away for itself. If alcohol were to feed, large doses would prove more profitable to the body than small ones, which is not true.

What has been said here references to alcohol in ordinary use. Volumes have been written about alcoholism and alcoholism, those who have drunk to excess and have become addicts of the drug.

Aside from scientific study on the subject, it seems that one can best judge the effects of alcohol on the human body and mind by watching those who drink. It makes people drunk, forms habits from which one can hardly free himself, causes many deaths in murders, car accidents and other ways, makes anyone unfit for normal living or work or social contacts, and brings sorrow to countless children and mothers and fathers. Surely, a thing for which nothing good can be said, and which is not needed in any beneficial way to mankind, but is definitely harmful to those who drink and others who must live with their conduct. Is not to be looked upon with any degree of favor.

The following two books, a heart Democracy and Democratic living have been planned to emphasize the significance of citizenship. They offer similar content, organized around institutions of trends which are characteristic of life in a democracy. By starting from the concrete and familiar things of everyday experience, they aim to insure an intelligent approach toward understanding today's problems.

"Our Use Of The Land discusses the following questions: (1) Questions related to soil erosion, flood control, farm tenancy, farm debt, forest and wild life conservation, depletion, drainage and re-creation, declining mileage of resources and land use planning in terms of those who work with these resources; (2) Who our land use problems mean to us; (3) How we can improve our land use; (4) The historical origins and basic causes of the problems connected with natural resources, in terms of those who work with them; (5) The problems of the nation generally, locally and personally; (6) A Committee Howard and Sweet, "Our Use Of The Land", Harper Publishing Company, $1.40.

CLEAN UP TIME

Soon thousands of American communities will inaugurate their annual clean-up campaign. Those campaigns give all towns a chance to achieve two highly important goals—a handsomer town, and a safer town.

A properly managed clean-up drive helps to lessen the ever present danger of fire. Vacant lots are mowed and covered with litter. Old shacks are torn down. Buildings are repaired and painted. Dead trees and bushes are cut down. And when they happen, five hazards disappear. Order and cleanliness are among the first of these.

This year, the fire quarters of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce is distributing fire prevention material, prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, to its local members. The material consists of a main script, an article suitable for newspaper use, window displays, and an interesting leaflet which is to be distributed to the public. Local insurance agents will likewise be given the material and will take an active part in making the clean-up campaigns successful.

Here is a real opportunity in which every town, no matter how small, can participate. Every citizen should cooperate. It's a rare town which doesn't contain gas, electric, and telephone lines, unoccupied lots on which grass has grown waist high—accumulations of junk and refuse which belong in an incinerator, lines of broken fences, etc.

Clean-up week needn't be expensive. The combination of a little paint, plus plenty of green grass, will look wonderful in many cases. A working hard and a better will do the work in most others.

Lay plans for a clean-up campaign now. And take advantage of such expert assistance as that Fire Underwriters, 85 John St., New York, offers gratis.

Make your Power as you need it

The only way to get power out of an engine is to burn fuel in it. And it wouldn't be smart to burn enough gas to develop a hundred-plus horsepower all of the time—when it usually takes only a small part of that to give you the performance you want.

The sensible thing to do is to develop power as you need it—and that is precisely what the Buick FIREBALL does with Compound Carburetion† eight.

As long as one of the two carburetors in this system will do the job, that is the only one that functions.

But when you need extra power, extra pressure on the foot throttle throws an extra carburetor into action, feeding more fuel mixture into your engine and pouring more horsepower out.

You thus make your power as you need it. You know the lift and life of plenty-power when it's wanted.

And you get such frugal operation that the whole range of your driving that two carburetors give as much as 10% to 15% more mileage than the same engines once gave with one!

Interesting? We think so too—especially now.

See your dealer and learn about FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion out on the road.

†Slight extra cost on Buick Special models, standard on all other Series.

is an important guy to industry! He's used to make edible and lubricating oils, candy, cosmetics, peanut butter, dyes, and medicines. In fact, 1935 100,000 tons of peanuts were used in O. Last year but only a small part of them finished up at the circus or a boys' game!

Based on an annual coal production of 800 tons for each man employed, more than 24,000 coal miners were employed to produce the coal consumed by railroad locomotives last year.

Ever heard the history of the locomotive cowcatcher? Locomotives belonging to an early railroad suffered so much damage from collisions with trespassing cows that something had to be done about it. A young employee soon invented a small triangular supporting iron frame and attached it to the front of the engine. This was effective but very hard on cows! To avoid injuries from these farmers a crosswise bar was substituted, and from this evolved the present V-shaped cowcatcher.
