

ALLIE W. YOUNG DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 18 (AP)—State Senator Allie W. Young, of Morehead, died at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon at St. Joseph's infirmary here.

Senator Young, who was 69 years old, came to Louisville on Jan. 8 for treatment and entered the hospital Feb. 5.

He had expected to undergo an operation for mastoid trouble, but attending physicians earlier today had announced that he was so weakened by a septic condition that he could not withstand the ordeal.
