THE BULLETIN
WILLIAMSVILLE, N.Y.
THURSDAY, JUNE 13
1861

ALEX. MADDOX,
OLD STAND ON WALL STREET
BROKERS, OLD BROOKLYN WEEKS

BY TELEGRAPH.

WATERFRONT, June 12.—The Thirteenth
New York Regiments, under Col. James Mackay, arrived here last evening. This regiment is compounded of three companies of the 8th New York and ten companies of the 6th New York. The line of march is the opposite of the other regiments of the same regiment and the same regiments of the same line as the opposite regiments.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A report from Philadelphia says that the President has signed a proclamation declaring a national mourning day for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The Thirteenth
New York Regiment arrived here last evening.
This regiment is composed of three companies of the 8th New York and ten companies of the 6th New York. The line of march is the opposite of the other regiments of the same regiment and the same regiment of the same line as the opposite regiments.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The President has issued a proclamation declaring a national mourning day for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A report from Philadelphia says that the President has signed a proclamation declaring a national mourning day for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The President
has issued a proclamation declaring a national
mourning day for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A report from Philadelphia says that the President has signed
a proclamation declaring a national mourning
day for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The President
has issued a proclamation declaring a national
mourning day for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The Thirteenth
New York Regiment arrived here last evening.
This regiment is composed of three companies of
the 8th New York and ten companies of the 6th New York. The line of march is the opposite of the other regiments of the same regiment and
the same regiment of the same line as the opposite regiments.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The President
has issued a proclamation declaring a national
mourning day for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The morning
newspapers say that the President has issued a
proclamation declaring a national mourning day
for Tuesday next.