Japanese shore installations in the area and started fires, as the drive. All buildings in the area were destroyed.

The Japanese have fought back but their retaliatory bombing raids have had little effect on the American advances. Secretary of War Stimson, holding a press conference in Washington, said these attacks were carried out with members which appeared from the departed for the west and suggested that the planes were operating from bases in the Kurile Island group.

Incomplete reports of American casualties in the struggle for Attu show 127 killed, 399 wounded and 118 missing. Secretary Stimson, in giving out these figures said Japanese losses were believed to be heavier.

Bad weather, which aided the American in their initial landing, subsequently hampered their progress in the campaign, interfering with naval artillery and aerial bombardment. The army has been advancing steadily under conditions of wet and snow but, freezing temperatures and heavy fog have prevented the full use of supporting air power. Most of the fighting has been between infantry units using bayonets and hand grenades.

The heavy pounding of Allied bombings was inflicted over and over last week on Italy's most important ports. Harbor installations, supply centers, rail and road facilities, in Sicily, Sardinia, and Italy felt the destructive might of Allied planes. In one daylight attack, more than 300 planes of Maj. Gen. James Doolittle's strategic air force swarmed over Sardinia, meeting no fighter opposition and no anti-aircraft fire wrecking ships, buildings and airfields. In another series of raids, flying fortresses again have paralyzed that port, and in 24 hours brought down 23 enemy aircraft over Sicily, Sardinia and Pantelleria.

After several days of limited activity forced upon them by bad weather, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Allied fliers, using one-ton bombs, raided the Japanese bases at Lae and Madang, and attacked a long stretch of the New Guinea coastline.

Twenty-eight tons of explosives and fire bombs were dropped on the Lae, on Huon Gulf along the northeast New Guinea coast. Fires, visible 75 miles, were set in supply dumps and direct hits were scored on two grounded enemy planes. The planes at tree-top height strafed Japanese installations with 12,000 rounds of machine gun fire. Intense enemy anti-aircraft fire brought down on fighter of the force of liberators, Mitchells and Beaufighters that made the attack.

In twin attacks on the Nazi submarine bases at Wilhelmshaven and Emden, in Germany, American flying fortresses and liberators brought down 74 enemy fighter planes, losing only 12 American bombers. This was a new record, and boosted to 269 the number of German fighters shot down in combat in an eight-day blitz over Europe. The loss ratio in these attacks was more than six enemy planes for every American bomber lost.

Did You Know That ---

Mr. Hoshal, head of the Anti-Saloon League in Kentucky paid income tax on $30,000.00 last year.

Did You Know That ---

The Federal Government spent millions to enforce prohibition and it was a failure, if the Federal Government could not enforce prohibition, how could you expect local officers to enforce it?

Did You Know That ---

The Kentucky State Revenue Department said in its report for Sept. 14th, 1942, that the Federal Government this year issued more than 300 retail alcohol beverage licenses in 50 dry counties of the State.

Did You Know That ---

More people were killed in attempted enforcement of prohibition from 1920 to 1930 than were killed in the Spanish-American and Revolutionary Wars.

COMPARE

THE SCORE IS 262 TO 44

If anyone would have you believe that prohibition really prohibits, just compare these records of the Rowan Circuit Court for the year 1930 (a typical prohibition year) when the dismal failure of prohibition was breeding law violation and contempt of the law, and the past year under CONTROL and REGULATION.

At the March, June and October terms, 1930—262 indictments were returned by the Grand Jury, of which 112 involved drunkenness, drunken driving, manufacture, transorting and selling moonshine whiskey, giving moonshine to minors, and having moonshine stills in possession.

At the November term 1942, the March and May term 1943—44 indictments were returned by the Grand Jury, of which only 7 involved liquor violations.

You remember these conditions—well, do you want another "Gangster Era"?
