

THE Daily Republican of Ironton claims to have interviewed a reliable party from Rowan County, at Ashland fair, who claims that the Tollivers and their friends are and have been for some time quietly buying arms and preparing to again open the terrible struggle. The Republican's informant says people who imagine that the Morehead tragedy is a thing of the past, and will never be heard of, will awake some of these days to a realization of the terrible fact that the Tollivers are awful haters, and never fail to be revenged. They are at present quietly collecting money, guns, revolvers and ammunition, and their relatives are sending these things to them in such small quantities as not to excite suspicion.
