FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Kentucky Folk Art Center has announced the opening of "The Original Silver's Circus & Zoo: The Art of Sonny King." The opening reception will be held on Thursday, Feb. 26, from 5-7 p.m.

It will remain on display through May 31.

"The Original Silver's Circus & Zoo" will feature 13 intricate, multi-media dioramas that depict the artist's memories of his childhood on the road with Australia's most famous traveling circus in the 1940s and 1950s.

Sonny King is the eldest son of Merv King, who owned and operated Silver's Circus until selling it in 1953. An orphan who was given to St. Leon's Circus at the age of six, Merv King learned the business and eventually become an owner.

Sonny King, now in his late 60s, migrated to America where he enjoyed an Emmy-winning career in television graphics. King now lives in Beverly Hills with his wife.

"The scenes portrayed in these dioramas represent a fascinating personal narrative," said Adrian Swain, KFAC artistic director. "Sonny King's father was the lion tamer and owner of Australia's best known circus. The dioramas illustrate detailed personal memories of his early life. The exhibition offers an intimate inside view of that unusual world as remembered from childhood. As different as these memories may be from our own, they remind us of the unique nature of our own experience."

Kentucky Folk Art Center is a cultural, educational and economic development service of MSU. The Center is open Monday-Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, 1-5 p.m. (April-December).

Additional information is available by calling (606) 783-2204 or by visiting its Web site at www.kyfolkart.org.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University students travelled to Frankfort on Tuesday, Feb. 5, for the Rally for Higher Education, which was cut short due to weather. Before the rally was canceled, students talked to representatives from across the state about issues related to legislation and higher education.

Michael Harmon, Student Government Association president, said representatives from four universities showed up in Frankfort, with approximately 50 students from MSU.

Harmon said Rep. Carl Rollins introduced House Bill 226 that dealt with bundling of textbooks. If the bill is passed, publishers of college textbooks would be required to price textbooks separately, instead of multiple books in one bundle.

Since some teachers only use one of the books in the bundle, this could save students more money by requiring them to buy only the books they need, Harmon said.

Joelle Sprague, MSU student, said representatives met with students in a conference room and discussed the government stimulus plan and budget cuts.

Sprague said Reps. Robin Webb and Sannie Overly answered questions, telling students the state values education, dedicating 60 percent of funding to education and trying to cut larger budgets instead of education.

Students asked about tuition caps at universities, Sprague said, but the representatives said capping tuition may not allow universities to offer some classes.

"I had a great time and found it very enlightening and beneficial," Sprague said. "I only wish the rally had gotten to take place."

Harmon said he was able to bring up the development of a unified approach to education, with a stable funding and stable future for students. He said, with the constant budget cuts, students never know how much school will cost the upcoming semesters, but a unified approach would make the cost of education not as uncertain.

"I think we are starting a new era in higher education," Harmon said. "It will take a little while, but I honestly think this will be accomplished."

As a short-term approach, Harmon said decreasing the cost of textbooks and shortening FAFSA forms would be a start in the right direction.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A Morehead State University professor and student recently participated in an observing run at the Kitt Peak National Observatory.

Dr. Thomas Pannuti, assistant professor of space science, and Doug Staggs, Belfry senior, conducted observations at the research observatory operated by the National Optical Astronomy Observatory (NOAO) located near Tucson, Ariz.

Working in collaboration with an astronomer from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Pannuti and Staggs conducted observations with the WIYN (Wisconsin-Indiana-Yale-NOAO) 0.9-meter telescope at Kitt Peak.

During this run, imaging observations were made of a sample of nearby spiral and irregular galaxies. Specifically, the images were made of the galaxies using filters that only passed light from ionized sulfur and hydrogen atoms. By analyzing these images and comparing them with images made of these galaxies using X-ray and radio telescopes, the observers sought to identify supernova remnants.

This research will help astronomers gain insight into the underlying physics that govern supernova explosions and the physics of the resulting supernova remnants, as well as estimate the rates of supernova explosions in nearby galaxies.

The data collected from the Kitt Peak National Observatory observing run complements observations made at Morehead State University's Space Science Center with the 21 Meter Radio Telescope. This telescope is used to study galactic supernova remnants, active galactic nuclei, gamma ray bursts and other astrological phenomena.

More information is available by calling the Space Science Center at (606) 783-2381.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Homeowners interested in applying for the inaugural Morehead-Rowan County Repair Affair have until Monday, Feb. 16 at 4:30 p.m. to submit their applications for assistance. Applications received after the deadline will not be considered for this year's program.

"It is important that those interested in the free home repair service submit their applications before the deadline," said Randy Manis, vice chair of the committee. "This will ensure that their application will be considered for this year's program rather than next year's."

Manis expects to see a substantial increase in the number of applications received closer to the mid-February deadline.

"We have been heavily promoting this project since mid-December," Manis said. "We started seeing the first applications around the beginning of the year and they have been steadily coming into the committee since that time."

Applications can be obtained at local social service agencies, banks, Frontier Housing, Morehead-Rowan County Chamber of Commerce and the MRCRA Web site. Completed applications must be sent or delivered to City Hall, 105 E. Main St. or to the Chamber of Commerce, 150 E. First St. Completed applications also may be sent to the Repair Affair committee at P.O. Box 10323, Morehead, KY 40351.

The Morehead-Rowan County Repair Affair is a community-wide initiative that will address the minor repair needs of low-income, elderly and disabled homeowners in Morehead and Rowan County. Approximately 20 homes will be selected from applications to receive safety, security or energy efficient improvements such as paint, door repair, window replacement, power wash, gutter and/or roof repair and other services. Repairs also will include installing wheelchair ramps or railing for elderly or for persons with a disability to make housing more accessible.

Additional information is available by calling the MRCRA committee at (606) 784-2131 or by visiting their Web site at www.mrcrepairaffair.com.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--- Members of the Kentucky House of Representatives voted 66-34 on Wednesday afternoon to approve a budget reduction package to reduce the state's current $456 million shortfall by combining a $150 million in new tobacco and alcohol tax revenue with state spending cuts, budget transfers and use of the state's "rainy day" reserve fund.

"This is very encouraging news," said Morehead State University President Wayne D. Andrews. "Additional state revenue should translate into a smaller cut in the University's state general fund appropriation, as Gov. Beshear has proposed. We're hopeful that the Senate will take the same positive action for the future of the Commonwealth.

"The tax provisions in House Bill 144, sponsored by House Speaker Greg Stumbo, D-Prestonsburg, needed at least 60 votes to pass since the current legislative session is not considered a regular budget session, held in even-numbered years. Other budget modifications aimed at helping the state eliminate the rest of the shortfall were included in HB 143, also sponsored by Stumbo, which passed by a 77-23 vote.

Both bills now go to the Senate, where a vote on the legislation is expected on Friday. The bills are expected to pass and could take effect soon since both include an emergency clause that would allow them to take effect immediately upon becoming law.

Revenue from HB 144 would come from raising taxes from 30 cents to 60 cents on each pack of cigarettes sold in Kentucky, doubling excise taxes on chewing tobacco and snuff, and a 6 percent sales tax on package alcohol sales. HB 143 would authorize the governor to make a one-time transfer of up to $50 million from the state employees' health trust fund if actuarially sound, give the governor authority to make necessary spending cuts among state agencies and authorize cuts of up to four percent in the legislative and judicial branches.

FRANKFORT, Ky.---By a bi-partisan vote of 24-12, one more "yes" vote than the 23 needed as a "super majority" in an odd-year session, the Kentucky Senate today approved House Bill 144 to raise taxes on tobacco products and alcoholic beverages.

The bill now goes to Gov. Steve Beshear who is expected to sign it into law immediately. The governor testified in favor of the bill at Thursday's meeting of the Senate Appropriations and Revenue Committee.

HB 144 cleared the House on Tuesday by a vote of 66-34. It is projected to generate $150 annually in new state revenue and about $50 million in the remainder of the current fiscal year ending June 30.

"We are proud of the governor and our legislators for their political courage in approving badly-need taxes in these difficult economic times," said Morehead State University President Wayne D. Andrews. "This measure obviously does not solve all of the state's budget problems but it will result in a smaller-than-expected reduction in the University's state appropriation during the balance of this fiscal year."

Feb. 16, 2009

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Two Morehead State University professors recently received a $3,883 grant from the Center for Regional Engagement for the "Morehead-Rowan County Repair Affair."

Dr. Edna Schack, professor of education, and Denise Watkins, associate professor of theatre, collaborated on the proposal which focuses on the community-wide initiative to be held Saturday, April 4. The Repair Affair will address the minor repair needs of low-income, elderly and disabled homeowners in Morehead and Rowan County.

Repair Affair is an important project because it builds our community in both tangible and intangible ways," said Dr. Schack.

"By improving the homes of those who do not have the funds or ability to repair their homes, the tangible value and livability of the homes and the community are increased while the intangible effects on the community when 200-300 community members pitch in to help others are priceless."

The funding provided by the Regional Engagement grant will be used for the marketing and promotion of Repair Affair. However, Watkins believes this funding also underscores the true nature of this project.

"This is a joint effort led by the Morehead-Rowan County Chamber of Commerce Leadership Academy, MSU faculty and staff, Frontier Housing and Gateway Community Action," she said.

"When others pitch in to make a difference in their community that is truly regional engagement at its best. We are honored to be a part of this."

The purposes of the Regional Engagement grants are to promote research and applied research activities within the academic community that will help benefit MSU's service region and help further the Center for Regional Engagement's mission. Regional Engagement grants are awarded annually pending the availability of funds. The deadline for proposals is Oct. 31 of each academic year.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Bonnie Bramlett, Randall Bramblett and Delta Moon will perform at the next edition of "Americana Crossroads Live."

Morehead State Public Radio (MSPR) and the Kentucky Center for Traditional Music will present the program on Friday, Feb. 27, at the Morehead Conference Center, located on First Street. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. with the music to start at 7 p.m.

Bonnie Bramlett is an accomplished singer/songwriter with a background in soul, blues, country and gospel music. Showcased as Bonnie and Delaney with Delaney Bramlett early in her career, she has performed with Leon Russell, Eric Clapton, Stephen Stills, Carly Simon, Delbert McClinton and many others.

As an actress, she appeared in the TV series "Roseanne" and movies such as "The Doors" and "The Guardian."

Bramlett recorded nine records as Bonnie and Delaney and released 11 solo records. Her latest CD is titled "Beautiful."

From Athens, Ga., singer/songwriter Randall Bramblett began his solo career as a musician and songwriter in the 1970s. He has performed with Gregg Allman, Sea Level, Elvin Bishop, Steve Winwood among others.

He has a rare combination of gifted songwriting and musicianship which delights audiences with his Americana roots style. He has recorded five solo records with his latest CD titled "Rich Someday."

After a chance meeting at a music store in Atlanta, guitarists Tom Gray and Mark Johnson formed Delta Moon. Their idea was to weave two slide guitars into one big sound, in the tradition of great two-guitar bands similar to The Rolling Stones and The Allman Brothers.

After Delta Moon won the International Blues Challenge in Memphis in 2003, the band began to travel throughout the United States, Canada, and Europe.

Gray was named Blues Songwriter of the Year in the 2008 Roots Music Association Music Industry Awards. Delta Moon has released five CDs with their latest project titled "Clear Blue Flame."

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Academic Services Learning Lab is experiencing great success in preparing students for today's challenges.

The MSU Learning Lab offers free academic guidance outside the classroom to all MSU students. Tutors are MSU students who offer assistance in basic skills, study skills, writing skills, computer skills, standardized test preparation and assistance in specific subjects and classes.

The Learning Lab is located on the second floor of Allie Young Hall on campus and offers flexible hours to accommodate students' schedules. A new addition to the Learning Lab is now available 24-hours a day, online through the Blackboard system.

"Earlier this spring, a biology student missed class due to the snow and she got help online from our tutors," said Alvin Madden-Grider, learning strategies coordinator. "This service is available to all students, including those enrolled online and at our regional campus centers. It's another way for students to get the help they need."

In the fall semester of 2008, the Learning Lab experienced a record number during the last 20 years of students seeking assistance. Almost 1,000 tutoring sessions were offered to 365 students during the semester. Students utilized both the online and in-person services of the Learning Lab.

Jeremy Moore, Garrison sophomore, said some students are nervous, at first, about using the Learning Lab services. "The truth is that the tutors you deal with are students, too. We understand where other students are coming from and what they are going through," he added. "I encourage all students to at least try our services once."

To examine the success of the services offered during the fall semester, students were given a satisfaction survey on the Learning Lab. Students responded overwhelmingly that the services were helpful and their tutor was knowledgeable. The vast majority of respondents also replied that they would use the services again and would also recommend the services to other students.

(MORE)

"Most students see the benefit of individual tutoring," said Madden-Grider. "Online tutoring is a great supplement to personal tutoring. As busy as many students are now with work and family, I anticipate we will serve more and more students as we enhance these services."

In cooperation with the Camden Carroll Library, the Learning Lab offered "Finals Relief" tutoring from Dec. 1-10 to assist students. Nearly 30 MSU students attended tutoring sessions during "Finals Relief" for assistance with research, writing and study skills as well as specific assistance in subjects such as math, religion and business.

This spring, "Finals Relief" will again be available. In addition, this spring will feature the inaugural "CramFest" for midterm exams. "CramFest" will offer the services of tutors from the Learning Lab as well as the help of Camden Carroll research librarians.

CramFest will be held in room 201 of the library on the following days: Thursday, Feb. 24, from 1 until 3 p.m. and 6 until 8 p.m.; Wednesday, Feb. 25, from 2 until 6 p.m.; Thursday, Feb. 26, from 1 until 3 p.m. and 6 until 8 p.m.; Monday, March 2, from 1 until 5 p.m.; Tuesday, March 3, from 5 until 9 p.m.; and Wednesday, March 4, from 1 until 5 p.m.

"Camden Carroll Library is excited to co-partner with the Learning Lab again to help prepare students for their midterm and final exams," said Helen Beaven, librarian. "We invite all students to take advantage of the one-on-one tutoring with various tutors and the research help provided by a number of research librarians."

The library is open Monday through Thursday, 7:30 a.m. until 11 p.m.; Friday, 7:30 a.m. until 6 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.; and Sunday, 1 until 11 p.m. Research help is available by calling (606) 783-5491 or by sending an instant message from the library home page to the research specialists at www.moreheadstate.edu/library.

Free tutoring is available in the Learning Lab in 208 Allie Young for any MSU student. Hours of assistance are Monday-Thursday, 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. and Fridays from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Other days and times can be arranged by request.

Online tutoring through the Internet is available 24 hours to all students through MSU's Blackboard site. Students can log in to the site at <http://moreheadstate.blackboard.com>. Next, select the "My Courses" tab and search for "Tutoring" under "Course Search." Click the "Enroll" button on the right (course ID is ORG-MSU-TUTORING). Students can then select the forum for the subject in which they need assistance and post the question or problem. A tutor will then respond to the question as soon as possible.

More information on the Academic Services Learning Lab is available by calling Alvin Madden-Grider at (606) 783-5181 or by visiting www.moreheadstate.edu/acs.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Arts and Humanities Council, Department of Music and Morehead State Public Radio are teaming up with Rowan County Arts Center for a "Live at Five" concert series.

MSU faculty, staff and students along with Rowan County community members are welcome to come to the events, slated for upcoming Friday evenings at the Rowan County Arts Center.

MSU's faculty jazz ensembles will kick off Friday, March 6, with a concert lead by Dr. Gordon Towell, professor of jazz studies. A potpourri of MSU student ensembles is scheduled for the April 17 event and the MSU Baird Winds will conclude the series on May 8.

Events will begin at 5 p.m. with a punch and hors d'oeuvres reception, provided by visual artist members of the Rowan County Arts Center, giving guests a chance to mingle and meet new people. At 6 p.m. participants will move upstairs to the old courtroom for selected MSU music ensembles.

Tickets will be $8 at the door and all proceeds will go toward operating costs of the Rowan County Arts Center.

Mary Jerde, MSU Arts and Humanities Council director and grant specialist, said the concerts are sort of a TGIF celebration, for the university and the community to wind down from the work week and get to know each other.

"It's an opportunity for our MSU faculty and other people in our community to meet and network, find new friends and get together with old friends," Jerde said.

She said she hopes the concerts will give MSU faculty and staff an opportunity to connect to the community, making them feel Morehead is their home, which would retain more faculty members.

The series this spring is a pilot study, Jerde said. If the concerts have a large turnout the series will become a regular for Morehead.

Jerde said about 10 years ago she noticed other communities having similar events that were very popular. When she came to Morehead, she said she wanted to bring the same kind of event to this community.

"I really hope everyone will come out for this," she said. "They can be young or old. They can bring their children. I hope they all come to see what we have in our community."

Additional information is available by calling Rhonda Logan Bailey, Rowan County Arts Center director, at (606) 783-9857 or Jerde at (606) 783-2545.
