Elmer B. Applegate Is Candidate For State Senator

Elmer B. Applegate, former sheriff of Mason county and one of that county's best known and most highly regarded citizens, formally announces in this issue of the Independent his candidacy for the office of State Senator from this district—the Twenty-seventh—which comprises Mason, Fleming, Bath, Rowan, Wolfe and Menifee counties.

Mr. Applegate filed his declaration papers for the office early in July and was unopposed for his party's nomination. He seeks the office on the Republican ticket.

The people of Rowan county, Democrats and Republicans alike, promptly with these terms.

ARTHUR HOGGE
Master Commissioner
Rowan Circuit Court.

as well as those throughout the district who know him, feel that the voters of the district are fortunate in having the opportunity to vote for a man of Mr. Applegate's calibre.

It is generally conceded that Mr. Applegate will receive a large majority from the voters in his home county of Mason. And reports from over the district indicate very definitely that he stands an excellent chance of being elected.

Mr. Applegate was elected sheriff in 1925, serving the four-year term from 1925 to 1930. His elevation by the voters to the office of high sheriff followed after he had served four years as deputy under the late Sheriff C. M. Devore.

It is generally believed that Mr. Applegate made one of the best sheriffs Mason county has had in many years. His administration was characterized by efficient and business-like conduct of the affairs of the office, courteous treatment and fair dealing to all alike.

As a man, Mr. Applegate is clean, honorable, able and is known for his sound business judgment. He is a successful farmer and for the past several seasons has been connected with the Mayesville tobacco market.

If elected to the State Senate, Mr. Applegate will give this district the able representation it deserves. Although he made no announcement of his platform, he pledged that if a majority of the voters support his candidacy he will fill the office to the very best of his ability and will do his utmost to make a record of which the entire district will be proud.

He respectfully solicits the support of both Republicans and Democrats, for which he will be deeply grateful.

One Job Well Done Begets Another

THERE'S no satisfaction in all the world like the feeling of having done a job well—of being able to see the results of your work. This is one thing that all producers of useful things have in common.

And those of us whose job is production—whether of goods on farms and in factories, or of services in stores and banks and utilities—can best see the results of our work in the high standard of living which we have helped to create in America. For this standard is built on our ability to produce more per person than any other nation on earth. And the people of every country, who are looking hopefully to us for food and weapons, can see that America because it has this great productive might.

After the war is over? Many people are talking about a richer life for all of us then. And they're right. For that richer life will be brought about, not by promises, but by hard work on the part of America's producers. And they—those who grow and make and do things—can do this post-war job better if they work together and understand each other. General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

STATE OF KENTUCKY
COUNTY OF ROWAN

I, C. V. Alfrey, Clerk of the Rowan Circuit Court, certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of the general election ballots to be furnished to the precincts of Rowan County for the election to be held on the second day of November, 1943.

Given under my hand this, the twentieth, day of October, 1943.

Can You Picture
KENTUCKY
without Highways?

A strange place it would be—this State of ours—if our splendid 9,417 mile network of improved highways suddenly ceased to exist.

Great many communities would be isolated. Others would find it infinitely more difficult to carry on even the most ordinary daily activities—with no trucks on the move, no cars or buses taking workers to war plants and farms, soldiers to camp and home on furlough, business travelers to nearby communities, children to school.

We Kentuckians are apt to take for granted the convenience of our excellent roads—but these highways didn't just grow. Building and maintaining them is a tremendous job and for achieving this successfully we can thank past and present administrations and particularly the Kentucky State Highway Department and Kentucky State Highway Commission.

That isn't the whole story, however. Transforming these lifeless ribbons of concrete and macadam into live, active arteries of public transportation has been the accomplishment of the Kentucky Public Service Commission. They've labored hard and long to give our State a transportation system that compares favorably with any other in the country.

All of us who live and work and pay taxes in Kentucky can take pride in our share in this highway system.

As fellow citizens, the Greyhound Lines have made a very large contribution in the form of license, fuel and operating taxes—but we feel that our greatest service is in putting the highways to work for the benefit of all who must travel, making near neighbors and good neighbors of all the communities we serve throughout the State.

From where I sit

by Joe Marsh

Vic Burton was home on furlough last week. And you ought to see the fun the town made over him.

Seemed like almost everybody wanted to give a party, or stage something special in the way of celebration.

Of course, Vic acted grateful. But he told me later, all he really wanted was to sit down with a few old friends—to relax in home surroundings, and talk about old times again.

I guess that's how a lot of soldiers feel. They want to enjoy the old familiar things—old friends, quiet talk, and a good, hearty wholesome glass of beer.

And from where I sit, I don't see why anyone would want to take those things away from them. Do you?

It's HIGH TIME to Change in Kentucky!

For 12 years now, state administration has been in the hands of a gang!

In spite of changes in outward leadership, the gang has remained unchanged. Its policy, from first to last, has been to keep itself in power.

And so we have seen the waste of money and the abuse of trust. We have seen sleepers on the payroll and leeches on the public purse. We have heard of deals and bargains and conspiracies against the general interest. We have read of political assessments against state employees and illegal contributions to campaign funds. We have seen the public service degraded and standards of honor cast aside. We have borne a heavier and heavier burden of taxation.

By these means, the machine has fattened and grown strong, until now we can free ourselves from it only by united and resolute action.

YOU can help save Kentucky

The Republican party, by nominating able independent and able citizens pledged to the elimination of political gangsterism, offers the opportunity for freedom and good government. By supporting them, we strike a blow for liberty and take sides against dishonor.

Vote Republican!

Poultry Profit Reported By Roy Eldridge

Roy Eldridge, Rowan County farmer, from the Sharkey community, recently reported that the 100 pullets which he started with last October the first, made him a net profit of $203.95 before they were sold in September.

Mr. Eldridge lost a few hens and he culled a few out and in September he had 87. Over the period of 11 months these hens laid 16,118 eggs. Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge kept a daily record of their poultry business, and found that in August they had made a profit of $10.42, which was the smallest amount of profit that the chickens had made in January the chickens cleared $40.00. Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge now have a nice flock of pullets and report that they expect to stay in the chicken business even though feed prices are high.

The Trunk of the Tree

FIRST there was just wilderness. Then some men came and cleared away the trees and the underbrush. Pretty soon they started to build a factory—way out to nowhere and gone.

The reason was simple—the land was cheap. Also, they knew they could depend on the railroad's laying a spur line over which they could bring in people and raw materials and ship out to market their finished product.

It wasn't long before a little cluster of houses sprang up for the workers. Roads appeared. An enterprising merchant arrived and opened a general store.

Soon a doctor came and a dentist. A garage went up. Then a drug store, a barber shop, a movie house.

And so the town grew. Nobody planned it that way. American initiative made it that way.

The town grew as opportunity grew. It grew like a tree—slowly, steadily, surely. And the trunk of the tree—the trunk through which the life sap flowed—was the railroad.

Every man who made his living in that town made it from goods that came in by the railroad, or that went out over its bright rails to markets beyond.

The men who built that town in the wilderness believe with all their hearts in free enterprise. But some of them may not appreciate the extent to which their continued economic freedom depends on freedom of the railroads.

The sirens of regimentation may lull us with the theory that it is all very well for private businesses to remain free, but that public carriers should be owned by the government.

But what would this mean in practical terms to every business man in the community we have described? It would mean that his dealings with the railroads would now be on a political instead of a business basis.

And would railroad service be improved? With bureaucrats in charge, and no more competition between lines? You can read the answer in any country in the world where railroads are government-controlled.

Before you listen to those who would "regiment" our railroads, consider whether our business structure could long remain half slave and half free.

And whether, if the axe is laid at the trunk, the whole tree would not suffer.
