NUMBER TWENTY FOUR

Americans All

A card from Walter W. Carr, states that he has completed his sixty hours of flying time and has been transferred to Ganters Field, Alabama where he will continue his training as a pilot in the Army Air Corps.

Mrs. Melvin Hamm is with her son Irvin Hamm at the California. Irvin who has been in the Navy for over six years was injured at Pearl Harbor, suffering injuries to his right leg and a crushed knee, which later had to be removed.

He was married last September to a Navy nurse. She is in the hospital with him.

A brother Harlan T. Hamm is serving in the Navy on the Atlantic seaboard. He was recently married to Martha Jean Hancock, daughter of Mrs. Jack West who is living in Boston.

From Wm. H. Fonder, Jr., Lowry Field, Colo.

Dear Friends:

I thought you might be interested in some of the things we will graduate in June. My class will do a great deal of crumming as a result. My school days are over now and I work on the planes. We get two weeks of actual field work on the new planes before graduation.

I've seen all the planes in the service since my arrival here. Truthfully speaking our planes are as good or better than any other country's. We haven't enough of them yet, but there will be a day in the near future when we will have them.

I'm applying for flying cadet training this week. I plan to become a flyer if possible or get a commission as a ground officer.

A shortage of equipment for the training of armorer corpsmen has caused the school to close.

We Pledge Allegiance to the Flag and to the Country for which it stands.

Hash Marks On Sleeves Show Service

The "ship's company" of the Morehead Naval Station is being gradually built up with the arrival of additions crew members and chief officers week after week. The most recent arrival is Joseph Elmer from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. Chief Elmer is chief gunner's mate.

As a civilian we have been interested in nautical terms that are becoming prevalent about Morehead. In Thompson hall floors for example have meaning to the floors and have become the "jail" or the "mill" or the "hoosgow" as it is variously and vicariously called in civilian life, becomes the "brig" and a place to keep out of.

There are hundreds of other terms such as the court, which is called having "them before the mast" and so many others that it takes time and space to enumerate them and more time to learn them. As we pick them up we'll pass them along.

We have been asked the meaning of the diagonal stripes of braid on the sleeve of several of the chief petty officers.

These stripes may be of red or gold braid and should not be confused with the braid on the sleeves of commissioned officers, which indicate the rank held by the officer. They are service stripes and indicated the number of years the man who wears them has been in the service. Each stripe regard less of color indicates four years of service. Thus if a man

This Flag Shall Honored Be!

Sunday is Flag Day throughout the Nation, and while no special program has been arranged in Morehead, it is the hope of the American Legion that everyone who has a flag flying, everyone should have one, display is prominently. This day above all should be observed by Americans, particularly this year, when freedom is so threatened and so in danger from the forces of evil.

Flag Day is a day of special significance. Through one hundred sixty six years; through war and peace; through famine and drought; through good and bad, proudly she has waved, bearing to the oppressed a message of hope; to the down trodden a message of future help.

For one hundred sixty six years the American Flag has waved defiance to the oppressor and salvation to the oppressed. Now that flag is in its time of greatest trial. Now the forces of right and justice are we know right and justice are in their greatest jeopardy.

Therefore, now, Sunday, June 14 there is no better and no more appropriate time to fly the Flag, to demonstrate the completeness of our loyalty, the unity of our determination to crush for always the powers that would blight our freedom, overthrow our government and make a mockery of our Justice.

Telephone Company Pays Award

J. N. Johnson, general manager of the Ashland Home Telephone Company, which furnishes telephone service in 16 counties in Kentucky, announced today that the company had forwarded checks to all employees and former employees for additional compensation said by the Wage and Hour division of the United States Labor department to be due under the Fair Labor Standards Act, from October 24, 1938, to date when the act went into effect, to June 24, 1942.

Mr. Johnson said that the company did not agree that any additional amounts were due but was glad to give its employees the benefit of the doubt.

The total additional amount paid said Mr. Johnson were less than 1 percent of the total wages paid during the period and all the amounts that were claimed to be due for the first year; the Act was in effect when it was generally considered that telephone companies were not subject to the act.

Fire Bug Gets Seven Years In Atlanta Pen

Most eastern Kentuckians remember the pall of smoke that hung over them late in April. Although some of it came from forest fire burning locally, a great deal of smoke drifted in from North Carolina and Tennessee. They should be less of this for the next seven years. Supervisor Harold L. Morfitt of the Cumberland National Forest, Winchester, stated today that Hub Parker of Haywood county, N. C. was recently sent to the Federal Penitentiary by U. S. District Court for seven years for maliciously setting a fire on the Pisgah National Forest that destroyed several thousand acres of valuable woodland. Trial of others is scheduled for U. S. Court at Bryson City, N. C. shortly. For den said State and Federal courts in Kentucky are taking a firm stand in convicting career less or malicious fire setters.

Look At The Stars For Guidance

"When it is dark you can see the stars".

Do you feel downcast and disheartened? Do you feel that there is no ray on your horizon? That all is gloom, that the war and its attendant evils are too much to bear, that there is nothing ahead?

When it is dark, enough you can see the stars".

Look around you. The stars you knew have gone to war, careless and thoughtless you called them, but when the hour came they squared their shoulders to courage and gave a tilt to their chins, and they went. They gave up their shed ambitions and went to face the hardships, change, pin shortages, even death. They are stars in the sky of your community.

Look around you. See how your neighbors have accepted the restrictions of war, uncomplaining and cheerful. Notice how gladly they do without the things they thought were necessities, the housewife learning to make do, buying carefully and spending little; the business man regulating his business in order to do his part; the man who works with his hands, putting aside his hard won and long sought standards of living to speed production; the farmer, keeping everything at hand, breaking toll to raise food for victory.

Here are real stars in your sky.

Look around you. See how unafraid your community is today. Notice the new sense of being an active partner that has come over the hitherto preoccupied citizens; how your fellow townsmen are backing the USO and the War Bond drive, giving of their time as well as money.

Look around you. See the courage in time of trouble, the fellowship of sorrow, the brotherhood of disaster. Every place there is evidence of greater common neighborliness and an impa comm.

When it is dark enough you can see the stars". Look up and rejoice!
