Local Red Cross Is Proud Of Xmas Aid To Armed Services

Much Helpful Assistance Is Given By Service Men During Holidays

The Rowan County Chapter of American Red Cross had an enjoyable part in Christmas Activities to Service Men both at home and abroad. Some of the men at home and across the sea sent the local Chapter cards conveying Christmas Greetings in various ways. This was appreciated by the local Chapter officials because it seemed to bring the Chapter and Service men closer together.

The local Chapter supplied three Christmas trees to the men of the United States Navy Training School at the college together with all the lights and trimmings. The men of the department were beautiful trees in each dormitory and one in the cafeteria. Lieutenant Jones, the Supply Officer and Miss Samuels, Cafeteria Director, saw that the men were supplied with a beautiful Christmas dinner. The menu consisted of roast turkey, mushroom dressing, giblet gravy, snowflake potatoes, buttered frozen peas, crispy baked celery, radish roses, onion, carrot sticks, cranberry sauce, spiced crabapples, cocktail pickles, moulded fruit salad, hot biscuits, butter cream cups, dark fruit cake and coffee.

The local Chapter of Red Cross gave each service man a souvenir printed Menu which contained a list of the officers in charge of the various activities of the Naval Unit. Envelopes were furnished for their mailing home and to friends. The men in the States were supplied with cigarettes free of charge. The Chapter ordered 10,000 cigarettes to be distributed to the men by the Sick Bay during the holiday season.

Sometime ago, Miss Exer Robinson, formerly of the local college and now with American Red Cross as Hostess of a Service Club in Algiers, wrote the local Chapter that she would like to have a certain list of supplies for Christmas decorations for the men visiting the Service Club during the holiday season. The local Chapter assisted in their mailing and Tuesday a letter came from Miss Robinson thanking us for the part we played. Her letter is in part:

Banks To Be Closed Jan. 1st. In Observance of New Year.

Morehead banks will be closed all day January 1, 1944, in observance of New Year's Day.

The local banks are observing the holiday for the first time in several years as a result of a proclamation by Governor S. S. Willis, proclaiming January 1st a legal holiday.

Retailers Must File For Ration Tokens Before January 8th

Many hundreds of retail grocers have not yet filed an application for ration tokens with their bank. It was disclosed this week at the Louisville District Office of Price Administration. The date for filing of retail orders for tokens was extended from December 15 to January 8. Food retailers complain that they were unable to file because there have been no application blanks available. The Ration Banking Department of the OPA stated that these forms are being sent to the Ration Boards this week and that distribution will be made by each Local Board Office to the dealers registered with them.

It has been pointed out that when the ration token plan goes into effect February 27 that no dealer will be able to do business unless he has his share of tokens on hand. Instead of the coupons having a point value of .52 and 1, each will have a value at that time of 10 points and the only "change" that can be made will be through the use of the ration tokens by the retailer. It was further disclosed that many retail food handlers have not yet registered under the rationing order. It will be necessary that they do so before their ration token order can be filled. Local banks will be required to have necessary ration tokens on hand no later than January 8 so that they in turn can place their orders with the rationing board. Many banks have been mailed concerning this matter.

Kentucky Utilities' Customer Service Is Lauded By Journal

Electric Trade Magazine Says Company's Efforts Praiseworthy

Familiar to local residents, Kentucky Utilities Company's customer service program has been given nationwide recognition as an outstanding public service activity and contribution to the American war effort. "Electric Merchandise," nationally circulating publication, recently published a copy of its interest in the program, and warmly praising the program.

"War cut off the supply of electrical appliances and made the repair situation very grave," the article stated. "Kentucky Utilities Company management could have sat back and twiddled its thumbs and let the electric program go. It can sell all the electricity we can produce these days any how."

But believing that it had a real obligation "to look after the interests of the company's 101,025 domestic consumers in 413 communities that it serves," the management set up the program to prevent what might have been a very bad snarl.

After the manufacture of electrical appliances stopped, the dark days of 1942, so that industry could go all-out for war production, the article explained, Kentucky Utilities Company did not fire its appliance sales people. Instead, it taught them how to repair and adjust irons, lamps, vacuum cleaners, etc. Mr. Eppert then set up the program, and installed, refrigerators and other electrical devices, and sent them into the customers' homes.

Censorship To Be Stricter

More rigid censorship of war news flowing from Britain to the United States can be expected in the coming weeks as American and British forces mass their strength for the continental invasion under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

This was foreshadowed today by the disclosure by Capt. Eugene F. Nute, who is taking over as the Army's chief press censor, that the military censorship set-up is being expanded considerably. He insisted, however, that the move was only normal under the circumstances. The Army censorship staff for the European theater now numbers thirty, virtually doubled in recent weeks, and it will be increased further. "We are getting pretty caggy," said Captain Nute said, "since coming events may cast their shadows before them."

It is reasonable to assume the principal future concern will be over speculation on imminent Allied moves in this sector and it is not denied there will be a tightening up on that type of news.

Mrs. Helen Fitzpatrick, 92. Succumbs to Pneumonia

Mrs. Helen Fitzpatrick, 92, died at the home of a niece, Mrs. Gearhart, of Haldeman, as a result of pneumonia on Thursday, December 18.

In addition to Mrs. Gearhart, she is survived by two nephews, Ross Fitzpatrick and Dave Fitzpatrick, both of Haldeman.

Meat Ration Slash Planned

Government food ration and price officials disclosed this week that tentative 1944 meat rationing plans for civilians envisage an average annual per capita consumption of 132 pounds—about eleven pounds less than this year.

The 1944 program, now being worked out by officials of the War Food Administration and the Office of Price Administration, would give civilian ration book holders about eleven pounds of meat a month against this year's average of close to twelve pounds.

Officials said the current, above-average meat allotments for civilians, made possible by record-high slaughtering, would continue with no major changes until spring when consumption will be forced downward by higher ration point values.

Rowan County Man Featured On WHAS Radio Program

Record of Wheeler Epperhart Shows Part of Small Farmer in War

The contribution of small farmers to the war effort, with the aid of Farm Security Administration credit and advice, was graphically portrayed over radio station WHAS, Louisville, Kentucky, on December 4, when the program, "Farm Heroes" featured the farm history of the Wheeler Epperhart family, this county.

Discharged from the U. S. Army at the close of World War I, Mr. Epperhart returned to his home in eastern Kentucky and secured work in the coal mines, but with a burning ambition to save enough money to buy a farm, and to do so, he worked in the mines.

By 1926 he began to realize this dream when he purchased 180 acres of unproductive land and built a farm in Rowan County. But it took several years and a number of trips back to the coal mines before Mr. Epperhart really got the farm into operation and set all the bills that are the natural result of the demands of a family of six growing youngsters.

In the spring of 1937, Mr. Epperhart used time for the first time on seven acres of his farm. The results of that experiment sold Mr. Epperhart on the idea of using lime and phosphate in building up farm soil. In the fall of 1937, he consulted the Farm Security Administration for credit and advice, and after careful consideration of the situation, the FSA Supervisor and the Soil Supervisor worked out a farm and home plan, and funds were advanced for lime, phosphate, and seed. The farm has since been improved and Mr. Epperhart now has 50 acres of highly productive soil.

Mr. Epperhart says, "While I was improving my soil during the past few years, many of my neighbors criticized me and said that I was making a bad step, but my land has produced better and I have made more money every year since I really started to build up my soil." A good example of this is the increase in the yield of corn from 15 bushels to the acre to 75 or 80 bushels, and the yield of other crops proportionately increased. Mr. Epperhart very seriously declares, "It is all food.

Some of the Haldeman 4-H Club members have been making some Christmas wreaths by constructing Christmas wreaths under the capable direction of their leader, Mrs. H. C. Haggan. Haldeman 4-H Club boys Billy Fultz and Paul France have both made over $5.00 each by making and selling Christmas wreaths. Thomas Stevens, Jr., and Leon Butler have also made Christmas wreaths. These wreaths are learning to use their hands to create pieces of art from the material that are so plentiful in Rowan County. One of the boys made a wreath which Mr. Haggan said was as pretty as any he had ever made. These wreaths are adaptable for use as either Christmas decorations or may be used at the cemetery.

Rowan Farms Get Top Tobacco Prices

Root Rot-Resistant Variety Is Best Plant to Use

Devey Nickells is well pleased with his 1943 tobacco crop. On 1.1 acres he grew 2,054 pounds of good quality tobacco that averaged $35.85 per hundred pound. He received $1,063.74 for the tobacco raised on 1.1 acres. Mr. Nickells developed by the Agricultural Experiment Station in Lexington. It is a root resistant tobacco variety commonly known as 41A. Mr. Nickells sowed his tobacco patch in vetch in the fall of 1942 and applied 600 pounds of phosphate, when he seeded his vetch. He turned the vetch under in the spring of 1943 and drilled 900 lbs. of 41A in the row. Rowan County farmers are increasing the weight of their tobacco rapidly, and within a few years some growers will be raising a ton of tobacco per acre.

Orville Jennings, who lived near Poplar Grove, said 2,400 pounds of tobacco which he raised on 1.6 acres. Like Mr. Nickells, he used a root resistant tobacco variety known as 2900, sowing and using fertilizer and manure. His crop averaged $47.00 per hundred pound.

Orville Caudill says that he has sold his tobacco and that he has found that it pays to save the bottom leaves before the tobacco is cut. He received $45.00 per hundred pound for leaves picked up in the field, which would have been sold for 30 cents per hundred pound, but decided that these findings would bring still just as good without being tied into business. When he had his tobacco on market, the bottom leaves that had been tied brought $42.00 per hundred pound and the leaves that had been tied only brought $26.00 per hundred pound. Mr. Caudill has resolved to tie all of his bottom leaves in regular hands in the year. Mr. Caudill consistently produced more than 1,000 pounds per acre and has found that No. 16 makes him the most money.

General Eisenhower Predicts Allies Will Win War In 1944

Leaves Africa For New Post As European Chief

General Dwight D. Eisenhower said Friday this week that "we will win the European war in 1944" in a ringing valedictory before leaving Africa to take command of the second front from the West.

It is only necessary, said Eisenhower, speaking in the decisive manner which has helped him to strike the diverse Allied Mediterranean element into one powerful striking force, that "every man and woman, all the way from the front line to the remotest hamlet of our two countries (Britain and the United States) do his or her full duty."

The sparse-haired American commander, who shouldered the biggest task since Marshall Foch directed all Allied forces in Europe in the other war, indicated he would assume his new duties at once and "old the directing team to get" for the great assault.

Reviewing the events of the last year, he said he was satisfied with progress made in the Mediterranean thus far and predicted there would be vigorous fighting in this theatre for the remainder of the winter. He said Allied forces necessarily would be slow and difficult, and pointed out that Allied forces in the Mediterranean had to depend on military might in proportion to the needs of other theatres.

Replying to a question whether he was satisfied with Allied progress in 1943—if the year had been up to expectations—the general said the best way to answer that was for people to compare the position of the Allies in October 1942 with the position today.

He then reviewed the changes, pointing out that last year the Germans were almost at the gates of Cairo, Malta hung by a thread and the Nazi submarine warfare was at its height.

Famed and in unusually good humor, the general showed signs of the tremendous responsibility that had been thrust on his shoulders. He expressed regret at leaving this theatre and said he would entertain any question from the time of the assassination of Admiral Jean Darlan, he has returned to his most recent trip to

Severe Epidemic Of Influenza Is Feared

Because the present mild influenza is following the pattern of the preliminary epidemic to the severe cases of 1918, Dr. P. E. Blackberry, State health commissioner, last week urged that the public take extra precautions in treating present cases and in observing health rules.

There are between 125,000 and 150,000 cases of flu and upper respiratory infection spread through out the state, he said. Generally, they are mild cases.

"People with colds and flu should avoid public contact, force themselves to rest as much as possible and eat lightly, taking a large percentage of fluids," he said.

He pointed out that in September and October, 1918, such a mild but widespread epidemic as the present one was in evidence. From six weeks to two months later, influenza in its remembered death-dealing form began to sweep the country.

One Million Dads To Be Called Into Service By July 1st

Armed Forces Strength To Be 11,300,000 By That Date

Draft boards will have to furnish about 2,000,000 more men to the armed services by July 1, Selective Service headquarters reported this week, 1,000,000 of them pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

The manner in which local draft boards have been granting occupational deferments to fathers, however, has resulted in the deferment of about two-thirds of the fathers who lost their 2-A status in October and November.

At the same time, boards have been cutting down on deferments for non-fathers, whitening 62,175 nonparents out of the list of 2-A's and 2-B's in October and November, Selective Service said.

A total of 1,418,333 pre-Pearl Harbor fathers were listed out of the 3-A group in the two months following October 1, when deferency ceased to be a cause for dependency. Nearly 1,000,000 of them, however, obtained occupational deferments in agriculture or other essential work, the report declared.

The number of fathers actually inducted in the two months boiled down to 50,465, Selective Service said.

Shortage Of Nylon, Rayon Is Still Acute

Textiles, particularly rayon and nylon, figured importantly in the news of the War Production Board last week.

So scarce is rayon fabric becoming, in relation to growing wool supplies, that WPB in an order issued last week, the substitution of wool for rayon in trousers and women's coats and jackets. At the same time, rayon bindings on wool blankets were limited to three inches in width in an effort to save about 2,500,000 yards of the fabric.

To the other hand, WPB has lifted all restrictions on the sale and rental of used textile and clothing machinery, as well as on the sale of tanning and shoe manufacturing machinery. In the shoe field, as well as an international committee was agreed that hides (now short) would be divided between the United States and the United Kingdom in the ratio of 3.5 to 1.

Nearly 1,500,000 yards of nylon parachute cloth reflects have been released for civilian use; but that wasn't the hosiery picture, because the fabric already has been woven. Carbon steel tank liners now can be used in furnaces in new buildings or in additions to old ones.

Munitions production is still going up. Donald M. Nelson's 17th monthly report (for November) showed. Index figures climbed 18 points and dollar value rose up 3 per cent over October. Aircraft production out-paced the over-all dollar-value jump. It was up 6 per cent. So was communications and electronics.

Other things were doing in the field of direct war production, too. Steps were taken to speed up the process through which inventories of fabricated articles or components made by contract termination got into normal distribution.

called from the group of fathers now being reclassified out of Class 3-A of the reporting category.

Earlier, the War Department announced that it has ordered that no more draft deferments be asked for by civilian employes in the 18-21 age group and that all such deferments now existing be terminated not later than February 1.

Selective Service headquarters said, meanwhile, that it still has under consideration a plan under which a draft registrant under 22 would be granted a deferment because of his job except in cases which such deferments are made mandatory by law. The proposal was disclosed last week, but draft officials said today that no decision had been reached on it.

Man Days Lost In November Greater Than In October

Although the number of strikes which occurred in November was slightly greater than the number occurring in October, a definite increase in the number of man-days lost last month was reported by the Commissioner of Industrial Relations William C. Burrows asserted this week.

Labor disputes in November brought about a loss of 61,947 man-days, as compared to the 56,531 man-days lost in October. Thirty-four strikes occurred within the month, having lost 52,116 man-days of these strikes, however, made a somewhat general coal strike and resulted in the loss of 51,513 man-days.

Mr. Burrows stated that two more strikes occurred in the mining industry, and one each in a construction firm and a manufacturing concern, the total number of man-days lost in these strikes amounting to 9,831.

Two controversies arose in manufacturing concerns and one in Public Utilities. Amicable adjustments were made in all cases, however, and loss of time was avoided.

Deaths per 100,000 workers in the current war are one to one and a half times less than fatalities to war workers in 1917-1918. The increase, figures show, from 1941 to 1942, was much less than the drop in deaths from 1917 to 1918. Railroad workers are twice as safe today as were their predecessors in the last war, and injuries to these workers are only a third as great as a quarter of a century ago.

Permission was given to certain types of factories to facilitate installation of processing machinery and equipment on a small scale.

Studies were started on production situation of the machine tool industry, all showing a decline both here and in the United Kingdom.

Action was started to promote suitable in-plant feeding facilities for workers in war industry. Mr. Nelson said that all such plant workers must look to plant canteens and cafeterias to obtain the warm and substantial mid-shift meals they must have to sustain the physical effort required in war industry.

Here are some odds and ends — Holders of certificates and permits enabling them to acquire new trucks must exercise their option or turn them in for cancellation or revocation by the end of the year. Labor disputes in November brought about a loss of 61,947 man-days, as compared to the 56,531 man-days lost in October. Thirty-four strikes occurred within the month, having lost 52,116 man-days of these strikes, however, made a somewhat general coal strike and resulted in the loss of 51,513 man-days.

Mr. Burrows stated that two more strikes occurred in the mining industry, and one each in a construction firm and a manufacturing concern, the total number of man-days lost in these strikes amounting to 9,831.

Two controversies arose in manufacturing concerns and one in Public Utilities. Amicable adjustments were made in all cases, however, and loss of time was avoided.

Deaths per 100,000 workers in the current war are one to one and a half times less than fatalities to war workers in 1917-1918. The increase, figures show, from 1941 to 1942, was much less than the drop in deaths from 1917 to 1918. Railroad workers are twice as safe today as were their predecessors in the last war, and injuries to these workers are only a third as great as a quarter of a century ago.

What of Tomorrow? When one studies ancient prophecies, reluctant candor compels the admission that the old prophets "played safe" considering the way as inclining always toward the Devil, they prophesied hard luck by preference, and thus maneuvered themselves into the favorable position of being able to make that well-known and always satisfactory remark: "I told you so."

Occasionally shaking his fist to emphasize a point as he leaned forward in his chair, the general discussed a wide variety of subjects. Much of the conversation was "off the record" for reasons of military security. He grew serious when he spoke of the hard fighting in Italy. He emphasized that it was necessary to attack and to keep on attacking along the muddy mountainsides to make the Germans realize they will be constantly on the defensive until their morale breaks.

and I believe every small farmer could make a similar increase in his production if he would take advantage of the advice and help offered by the Farm Security Administration.

From a farm which barely produced enough for his own family in 1937, Mr. Eppert has increased his production until now he can show from farm records that the farm produced and sent to market this year:

- 2000 pounds of tobacco
1200 gallons of milk
1000 pounds of butterfat
2200 pounds of veal
3800 pounds of pork
2000 chickens
500 dozens of eggs
1 cow (culled from herd)

A very conservative estimate of the 1943 income from the farm produce sales should be $2,578.89. Mr. and Mrs. Eppert are active church workers and Mr. Eppert is Community Committee man for the AAA program. They have two sons in the service now, one in the Air Corps and one in the Marines.

dertful of your Chapter. To do this for us and we appreciate it more than I can tell. I know the men will enjoy them and it will give our Club that distinctive touch of HOME that will be needed about us here. We thank you with all our heart for your generosity.

When we get news like this and see what is being done with the money donated to your local Chapter, don't you feel a little better about your giving? Everyone that gave to Red Cross in the 1943 War Drive had a part in making the Service Men happier at this season. Without the funds donated to us, we could not have done this. The 1944 War Drive coming in March needs even more money to be of greater service. Think on this and we will appreciate your part. The local Chapter brings to all our folk with men in Service and those that help, its Holiday Greetings. We have had a big year in serving the boys and their families. Make it bigger for 1944.

The customer service representatives—now, mostly women—have been an outstanding success, according to the article. In thirteen months they called on 30,748 customers, repaired and restored to service 4,389 appliances, showed 25,331 customers how to replace blown fuses and read meters, and made countless customer friends. Incidentally, they took a heavy burden off the shoulders of over-worked repair shops. Local Kentucky Utilities people say the customer service program will go on indefinitely.

In the United States, the American Red Cross—our own unit of the international league—has a membership of more than 20,000,000. Its income derived from public contributions for the last fiscal year was in excess of 125 millions. It has 2,737 chapters located in every county within the Continental United States, and in our insular possessions. Moreover, it has a twofold wartime responsibility under a charter from the United States Congress, to furnish voluntary aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war and to act in matters of voluntary relief and in accord with the military and naval authorities.

Here's mighty good news... if your nose "closes up" tonight and makes breathing difficult, put 3 drops Vicks Vapo-Rol in each nostril. Vapo-Rol does 3 important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes, (2) soothes irritation, (3) relieves transient nasal congestion. It brings more comfort, makes breathing easier, thus invites sleep... MAN HAD BRICK IN HIS STOMACH FOR TEN YEARS

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, wore out, headache, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking ERB-HELP and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering. Get ERB-HELP. C. E. Bishop Drug Co.

Freedom of CHOICE

WITH ALL THE TALK about Freedom, what about freedom of choice? After all, freedom of choice means the same thing as all the other freedoms people are talking about—and a few other besides. In large measure, freedom of choice is what this war is about.

Freedom of choice means such ordinary things as trying soy beans in the south field next year, if you think it's the thing to do. It means buying the kind of flour you think gives you the best biscuits. It means you and your boy doing the deciding whether he'll go to college, or learn to be a toolmaker.

Freedom of choice is the goal in which character grows. This freedom of choice—and its counterpart, a sense of responsibility for the decisions made—has done much to develop the character that is going to win this war—on the battle fronts, on the farm, in industry. And when the victor is won, the kind of America we have fought and worked to preserve must be a country in which every man and woman, and every boy and girl, will have freedom of choice to every greater measure. "Certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness"

The First of These is LIFE

ONE THING distinguishes American democracy most sharply from other forms of government—and that is its regard for human life.

Remember the historic dash to Nome, in 1925, with life-giving serum when death stalked in that far community?

Remember the Squalus—and the almost superhuman efforts made to save the lives of the 33 men trapped in her sunken hull hundreds of feet below the surface?

Remember the items about iron lungs rushed to infantile paralysis victims who could not breathe without them?

Think of the mercy ships of the last war, loaded to the gunwales with food for starving Belgians and Armenians—the medical supplies and other equipment shipped to the Japanese when the horror of earthquake struck in 1923—the development of blood plasma, penicillin and other ways and means of saving and prolonging human life.

Then think of nations where to take one's life by hari-kari is a national honor. Nations where births are encouraged only so that more and more lives can be spent in battle and conquest. Nations where those unpopular in government are removed not by bullets but by bullets.

Do you begin to see the one great difference between American democracy and other forms of government?

In the midst of war, one of the great railroads of this country has been awarded the E. H. Harriman Memorial Gold Medal "for outstanding accomplishment in railroad safety."

That railroad has been honored, mind you, not just because it has hauled millions of tons of coal and other materials to keep the war production program rolling—but because "with the greatest number of passengers carried since 1928, the Chesapeake and Ohio in 1942 attained the lowest passenger casualty rate in its history. It has not had a passenger fatality in a train accident in over 27 years, carrying 115,350,000 passengers with a passenger mileage of more than 6,750,000,000."

It has been honored, not just because it has speeded to waiting ships the things of war for trans-shipment to the battle fronts—but because "the Chesapeake and Ohio shows a reduction in total employee casualty rate of 70 per cent for the past 5 years as compared to the 5 years, 1921 to 1926 inclusive, and it is one of the very few railroads which were able to reduce their employee casualty rate in 1942 far below that of 1941, with a steady, continued, year-by-year reduction since 1936."

In accepting the Harriman Medal, the Chesapeake and Ohio recognizes in the very existence of such an award the one thing above all others worth fighting for—the sanctity and dignity of human life—which, as history has repeatedly shown, exist only so long as government is in the hands of the people and not people in the hands of government.

"NO PASSENGER FATALITY IN A TRAIN ACCIDENT IN MORE THAN 27 YEARS." Includes two circular graphics and text about the E. H. Harriman Memorial Medal awarded annually to the railroad.

THE FAMILY U. S. Farmers Urged To Pool Machinery

Three American farmers who completed a seven-week tour of Britain, are doing and for the contribution to the British war effort of U. S. farm machinery supplied by Lend-Lease.

"We've seen how our machinery is used here and the British farmer is doing a wonderful job," said Oscar Helms, Marcus, Iowa, after the trio returned from their farms in England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland at the invitation of the Ministry of Agriculture.

You are heartily invited to attend these services.

"At home we grumble about the lack of machinery, but here it's put to good use," Helms said. Despite the blackout, transportation difficulties and reduced acreage, the British farmer has increased his production. This is largely due to our machinery.

The third American farmer, Earl Robinson, Mendon, Wis., owns a quarter of an acre in size, and a garden a tenth of an acre. Then there were thousands of smaller gardens.

"Of the rural gardens, there were 363,000 with an average value of $126.75 for stunted and stored products," says Mr. Gardner's report. "Added to this was the value of vegetables used through the summer, to make an average value of about $225, or a total of $62,172,000."

"Of the suburban gardens, there were 255,000, who produced an average of $192 worth of produce, to make a total of $48,851,000.

"There were 3,900 city gardens, whose all-year value averaged $87.50, or a total worth of $302,500.

"Figures are given for only 80,000 small Victory gardens, although there probably were many more. Putting their value at $10 each, their worth is $800,000.

"Thus we have a grand total of $132,008,500, but that is not all the story. Twice as many potatoes were stored, compared to the amount in 1942, and a third more sweet potatoes were put away. Then, the amount of vegetables canned was much larger than in 1942. It was a good year!"
