The Fight Is On

The world today has an opportunity seldom equalled in its history. There never has been a time when prejudice, discrimination and hatred was more widespread. BUT—there never was a time when this dread-headed monster was more clearly recognized for exactly what it is—a destructive force that feeds upon the weak, not as an animal for preservation but for the sheer lust of killing. War drums into the open by the forces it can be fought in the open and crushed into nothingness, if we FACE the dragon and fight it down instead of hedging on the issues.

Up to now we have all too often compromised with evil. We have taken sides and condoned those cruelties which did not affect our own particular interest. We need now to condemn greatly as such—whoever perpetrates it, or wherever it is an existence—whether it be in the concentration camps of Hitler, or on the chain gangs of Georgia, whether it be in the purges of Russia or in the rape of Nanking or in the massacre of Lidtice.

We must however be consistent. Too many people seek not fair play to all—but rule for themselves. We have seen that situation in India. With the enemy at their gates they have sought advantages for a particular group, not equality for all.

Look back a few years at the Axis record! First the Japanese complained that there was discrimination against them in Manchuria, so they seized it and discriminated against every one else. Then the Italians said they were being oppressed in Ethiopia, so they started to fight—to enslave the Ethiopian people. Finally Hitler claimed the Versailles treaty was unfair to Germany so he started wars and imposed terms that made the Versailles treaty look like a Sunday School treat.

We must make it so plain that no one can possibly not understand that whoever condones murder, massacre, cruelty, discrimination, slander or hatred toward any group, even if it be of race, nationality, color or religion; whoever seeks preferential for his own group at the expense of others, or with out regard for the rights of others, is playing the totalitarian game of divide and conquer.

As Jonathan Daniels of the Civilian Defense stated recently: "Intolerance is treason to lay." NOW the fight is out in the open—clearly labeled. And NOW is the time to wipe it out forever!

Training for Victory

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

ARE we entering an era that to a great extent may duplicate the bad features of the depression years with regard to the training of apprentices in industry?

During the depression period the majority of our industrial firms placed little emphasis upon apprentice training. As a result, these young men were not ready for the task that confronted them when war came. They began a frantic search for skilled and semi-skilled workers.

Now that the war production machine is beginning to roll and something resembling order may be seen, it would appear that real consideration should be given to post-war industrial training plans.

Obviously the first goal is to win the war, but we might lose sight of other objectives that could in a sense mean defeat. In other words, we can go ahead devoting all effort to the present and give no thought to the future. But the need for training is always with us and it will be almost as vital after the war when millions of men return to peacetime industrial jobs.

Farsighted management is maintaining a complete and well-rounded training program today. The program may not be what it would be in peace times, but it is a solid foundation for the future.

Insect Control

HOME gardeners should always be on the lookout for insect pests. Particularly when the plants in the garden are young and tender are they most likely to be damaged by insects. The best means of control is to spray or dust with the proper insecticide at the first signs of attack.

Two types of insect are well-known nuisances—those that suck the juices or sap of the plant, as aphids and lice, and those that chew or bite off bits of the plant, as worms of various kinds, caterpillars and beetles. The effect of the first type can be seen in general drooping and unhealthy appearance of the plant; the work of the second shows up in actual riddling of the leaves and other plant parts.

For sucking insects contact insecticides are needed. The spray or dust must hit and cover the insect, actually smothering it. An insecticide containing 40 per cent nicotine sulfate is one of the best Rotenone and pyrethrum are also effective. The spray or dust must reach the lower surface of the leaves as well as upper parts.

Stomach poisons are required for destroying chewing insects. The powder is sprayed or dusted thoroughly on all surfaces of the plant so as to make a deposit. When the insect eats the plant, it also takes in some of the poison and is killed. One of the most common poisons for chewing insects is calcium arsenate. Rotenone, which is a contact insecticide, acts as a stomach poison for the green cabbage worm and the Mexican bean beetle.

For controlling such pests as cut worms, crickets, and grasshoppers, poison bran bait is sometimes used on the ground at the base of the plant. For the larger insects such as Colorado potato beetle, the big green tomato worm, and the squash bug, hand picking is about the most satisfactory means of control in small gardens.

of time. It is very hot down in this country. We run around in our bathing suits but still we almost burn up. We go swimming and boat riding almost every night. Started to school last Friday and am liking it fine so far. I have to go nine-to-five. Then I think I will be given a furlough. Any way I hope so. That will be about the middle of December.

Did you say John is coming back on a furlough? You ask if there is anyone else from home here that I know. Delbert Caudill from Clearfield was here but he was shipped to some other camp. We are one mile from Elbert, Miss. It is about the size of Morehead. Sixteen miles from Gulf Port and 70 miles from New Orleans, Louisiana. I went to New Orleans on July 4th. Talk about it a town. That is one. We can go to town every night if we want to. But since school has begun I usually stay at home and do my studying. Tell Agnes if she was down here we could go fishing. We are between the Gulf of Mexico and the Bay So you see we have plenty of water to fish, swim and boat ride in. Tell everybody Hello for me.

State Expects $6,500,000 Less Revenue

Reeves Revises Estimates, Says War Effort Causing Decline in Tax Receipts

Kentucky Needs Every Dollar of Taxes from its Legal Industries!

War is costly, and you, as an individual, may be called upon to make up the deficit in tax revenue the Commonwealth will suffer this year. Most sources of revenue are shrinking. But one, the legal industry of brewing, will pay into our treasury more than it paid last year. Here are the figures for the past five years:

Fiscal Year	Amount
1937-38	$1,112,952
1938-39	1,071,769
1939-40	1,059,962
1940-41	1,234,164
1941-42 (estimated)	1,300,000

Think what these taxes mean to Kentucky today—with other sources of revenue drying up.

To preserve the important benefits of legal beer to Kentucky, the brewing industry is cooperating with State and local law-enforcement officers to maintain wholesome conditions wherever beer is sold.

During the past two years, 36 retail beer licenses have been revoked for violations; 10 have been suspended; 4 places have been padlocked and 1 put on probation—all on our recommendation. With your cooperation, the remaining few undesirable beer outlets can be cleaned up or closed up—without eliminating the great majority of respectable, law-abiding beer retailers.

In the attic or cellar of the average home there is 130 lbs. of junk. In ordinary times, it would stay there to gather dust. Or it would be destroyed.

But this is war. America needs every single pound of that junk—every pound of scrap metal, scrap rubber, and old rags. It is needed to make ships and shells, tires for jeeps, bombs, shells, guns.

Gather it up today. And then turn it in. Sell it to a junkman. Or give it to a local charity. Remember, your junk can win the war.

YES, the government wants every disused or worn out article made of rubber that can be sent to the nation's stock pile, and wants you to help get it there in a hurry.

OIL INDUSTRY IS COLLECTING IT!

None of the oil companies will receive ONE PENNY in profit in this service to the nation. By the cooperation of thousands Dealers and gasoline company employees,

We all have a date with VICTORY... but first we have a stupendous job to do!

AND LET'S NOT POOL OURSELVES—it's going to need some real doing. However, America has what it takes. Proof of this we've seen... when our forces have gone into action... when war production meshed into gear... when the railroads showed what they could do, transporting men, supplies and materials... when Uncle Sam's civilian nieces and nephews revealed the power of American muscle on the home front. We needn't tell you that railroad business is not as usual. Railroads are a vital arm of America's fighting power. Our country looks to our railroads as The Mainstay of Freedom. That's the first job of Chesapeake and Ohio Lines... and every other railroad.

So if you, as a civilian, are asked to restrict your traveling... to give up a reservation... or to experience occasional inconvenience or delay... we know you'll do it cheerfully... and understandingly. Being periodically patient is one more way in which you can help keep America's date with Victory!
