

“The Same Here, Pete.”

We agree with the Louisville Post in the subjoined paragraph: Evangelist Barnes, preaching at Morehead, regrets that he did not sooner comply with Craig Tolliver's invitation to visit that place, and exclaims: “Oh, that I could have been here before that fatal 22d (June) when the writer lost his life!” In view of recent events it's an extremely fortunate thing for Kentucky that the mountain exhorter had pressing engagements elsewhere on that fateful occasion.
