
COLONEL C. J. BRONSTON having declined to act as special Commonwealth's Attorney in the prosecution of the Rowan County desperadoes, Judge Cole telegraphed for Hon. Asher G. Caruth, of Louisville. Mr. Caruth responded to the call and is now at Morehead. He has been prosecutor at Louisville for some time and has gained an enviable reputation by the fearless manner in which he has discharged his duties. The Times, of that place, says: "The selection of Mr. Caruth as prosecutor is the best that could have been made, as he is learned in the law, absolutely without fear and a holy terror to violators of the law."
