Cellar Dwellers Set Date For Second Bohemian Ball

1.03 Degree Candidates Sweat Graduating Class

To lead next year's Student Council are (L. to R.) Charles Brown, president; Robin Goodpastor, vice-president; Hansi Bradshaw, historian; Mary Lou Parker, secretary; and Clinton Hickman, reporter.

Faulconer, Walters, Chosen To Lead Senior Ceremonies

Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, will deliver the commencement address to the graduating class at Morehead State College in exercises to be held Wednesday, May 27, in the college auditorium.

Music for the program will be furnished by the college orchestra under the direction of Fred Keith Huffman. The program will start at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Walters, internationally recognized authority on college and university administration, holds of nine honorary degrees, has been president of the University of Cincinnati since 1932. He served as Dean of Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa., and a member of the English department, Columbia University.

An annual statistical analysis of American colleges and university enrollments prepared by Dr. Walters is the standard in the field and has won him the name of Statistician Laureate of Higher Education. Largely on the basis of these annual surveys, Dr. Walters has been elected to the rank of Fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

For five years ending in May 1951, Dr. Walters was Chairman of the American Council on Education's important Liaison Committee on the Relationship of Higher Education to the Federal Government, composed of nationally prominent college and university executives. He continues as a charter member of the Committee.

Plans have been made for the best Cellar Dwellers Ball in Cellar Dwellers history. The Cellar Dwellers are those people who have dug in the basement at Thompson Hall, namely the Trail Blazers, The Morehead Players, and The Writer's Club.

The date set for this second annual Ball is Friday, May 22. Prices are $1 a couple, and a bargain of 88 cents stay. Time 8 to 12. The place, in the basement at Thompson, and since the official title is "Cellar Dwellers Bohemian Ball," requests have been made for you all to come as Bohemian as possible.

At last week's meeting for the planning of this soiree, Thomas

Kubeck was appointed chairman of the decoration committee, Jesse Hogg chairman of the entertainment committee, Pat O'Brien chairman of the refreshment committee, Fredy Perlmutter in charge of publicity, and Dale Sundecker and Don Holloway in charge of the box office.

Most of you will remember the complete success the Bohemian Ball had last year, and we earnestly solicit your help in getting all the cats to come this year. The MSC combo will furnish the music for the frolic (under no circumstances) and the spirit of spring will do the rest. It's the last Friday in school.

This is not a paid advertisement.

Orchestra Concert Featured Tonight

Tonight, at 7:30, in the auditorium, the college orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Keith Huffman will present a concert, their first this year. In Morehead, Miss Anna Louise Davenport will be the featured soloist on the program, and will play the Concerto No. 1 in G Minor.

The orchestra played their concert in Paintsville on May 4 in connection with the organization of a community concert series in that city. This was the first time that a Morehead College orchestra has played out of town.

Miss Davenport, the featured pianist, will be the first soloist to play a complete concerto with a college orchestra in the history of the college. Miss Davenport, a senior at the college, is a graduate of Paintsville High School. She is a member of the Crescendo Club, the W.C.A., and Kappa Delta Pi. Anna is a music major, and has held various offices in the Kappa Delta Pi, secretary of the junior class, secretary-treasurer of the Band Council, student director of the band, and secretary of the Crescendo Club.

He is now president of the state convention of the Disciples of Christ in Kentucky and a member of the board of trustees of the College of the Bible in Lexington.

In 1935 he and his brother made an independent motorcycle tour of 22 countries in Europe, Asia, and Africa.

He is now president of the state convention of the Disciples of Christ in Kentucky and a member of the board of trustees of the College of the Bible in Lexington.

An interest in journalism which began as a newspaper reporter in 1907 won him membership and later the chairmanship of the Commission on Public Relations of the Association of American Universities. He is an associate editor of School and Society, leading weekly educational magazine, and has reported editorial meetings in all parts of the United States and in Canada, England, and Europe.

A prolific writer on educational and musical subjects, Dr. Walters has written four books and approximately 350 articles for periodicals.

A native of Bethlehem, Pa., Dr. Walters received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Lehigh University in 1907, spending the next four years in newspaper work at Philadelphia and elsewhere. In 1911 he returned to Lehigh as assistant to the president of the University and as an assistant professor of English. While there he continued his studies, winning a Master of Arts degree in English in 1913.

During World War I, Dr. Walters served with the Field Artillery Officers' School at Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky.

In 1921 he went to Swarthmore under Dr. Frank Aydelotte, then newly-elected president of the institution, as dean of the college and as a member of the English department faculty, remaining at Swarthmore until his Cincinnati appointment.

Mrs. Catherine Covington To Direct Summer Play

Another modern comedy was picked as the summer production of the Morehead Players. The play, "The Old Story Beloved," by Mildred McCann, This is not a new story, but it has been many times since its occurrence. But it is handled with interest and develops its own ideas. It is not true as it might have been. Indeed, it is some time before

Crane, McCann, Bach Take Inkpot Contest First Prizes

Winners in the Inkpot's annual writers' contest for this year are Marietta Crane, Mildred McCann, and Robert Bach. It was recently announced by Inkpot sponsor James M. Mackeney. The contest is an annual Inkpot project, and entries are accepted from freshmen only. Appointed as manuscripts are submitted in three categories: short story, poem, and essay. Judges this year were Charles Caudill and Jesse Hogg, senior students.

During this week's chapel program Thursday, the winners are to be awarded handsome fountain pen desk sets in the tradition of preceding Inkpot contests.

Mildred McCann's story-winning entry in the short story section of the contest was "An Old Story Beloved." Here what the judges said about it:

Caudill—"Of the short stories I most liked that you wrote, yours stands out. It has a quality of certainty that others lack. It is 'An Old Story Beloved,' by Mildred McCann. This is not a new story, but it has been many times since its occurrence. But it is handled with interest and develops its own ideas. It is not true as it might have been. Indeed, it is some time before the reader begins to realize just what the 'old story' is. When he does the story is over and it ends with a little surprise on the reader. This commonplace story suddenly shakes the reader loose from his commonplace life and he is fully, totally aware of humanity's negligence toward this oppressed person (the hero). Hogg—"An Old Story Beloved" reveals the author's ability to communicate strong sentiment, and, even more important, to see the story in a new light. The author selects and channels his material very well. As a whole, the story appears as an example of a stage of development in the writer. An advance

Enrollment in the Workshop is open to everybody, regardless of age or extent of writing experience, who is interested in improving his writing ability, according to James McKenney, workshop director.

The workshop, only one in Kentucky, was established last year by the University of Kentucky, and for the entire period, it was an enrollment from Hindman, Ky., whose short fiction has appeared frequently in the yearly O. Henry Award Short Stories anthologies; or Creason, feature writer for the Sunday magazine of the Courier-Journal; and McKenney, professor of writing and contemporary literature at Morehead State University. Still were staff members of last year's workshop.

Student writers may attend for either week of the workshop, or for the entire period. It was an enrollment from Hindman, Ky., fiction and non-fiction prose for the second. The general schedule for both weeks includes individual conferences between student writers and professional writers in the mornings, group discussions of original manuscripts in the afternoons, and a series of evening lectures on writers and problems of writing.

Plans for this summer's meeting also include the publication of a magazine containing the best manuscript submitted during this and last year's workshop.

NOTICE

Another street dance, bigger and better than the last one, is being planned for May 16. This dance will be a great success. The dance will take place in front of the Administration Building, and there will be a floor show.

F. T. A. Workshop Meets Here To Plan A Manual

The Future Teachers of America met on campus last week for their third Annual Workshop. The purpose of the workshop was to develop an F.T.A. manual, to study the present constitution and suggest amendments, to plan a type of state organization that will make more effective the future teachers work.

There were 36 people from schools other than Morehead represented. They were from the University of Louisville, University of Kentucky, Transylvania, Eastern of Ashbury College, and the following high schools: Shawnee, Eastern in Louisville, Campbellsville, Shelbyville, DePue, Manual, Erie, and Valley.

The main speaker of the workshop was Dr. J. J. Wilson, Professor of Education at the University of Louisville and co-ordinator of the Ford Foundation project in teacher education in Kentucky. Dr. Wilson spoke to a group of Future Teachers in which they could learn to teach, but create an atmosphere in which they could learn. He said there was a challenge to those entering the teaching profession, and for them to realize the importance of their teaching job.

Also present on the campus were Miss Lillian Lehman, representing K. E. A., Dr. Aaron Deane, State Department of Education, Mrs. W. Kimball, State Parent Teachers Association, Mrs. Edna Liddle, State Association of Educators, Dr. Zell W. A. group, and Neil Hamilton.

The theme of the proposed manual will be that of a treasure hunt among the youth of America. The workshop adjourned Saturday at noon.

Officers were elected two weeks ago for the coming year, and they are: President, John G. Gault, Ashbury College; Vice President, Wyona King, U. of Ky.; Secretary, Carrie Richeson, Campbellsville High School; Treasurer, Temple Hill, U. of Louisville; Corresponding Secretary, Shelly Love, Shawnee High School; Historian, Dorothy Walter, MSC.

Bloodmobile Seeks Donations To Fight Polio

The Huntington Blood Center's Bloodmobile is to be in Morehead tomorrow from 11 o'clock until five to accept blood donations. A quota of 100 pints has been set.

Blood which is donated in this drive will be used for the making of gamma globulin, which is used for inoculations against polio.

In a recent address to the student body here, Bookstore Manager John Collis, speaking for the blood drive, urged students to recruit donors for this special cause. He said that although recent donors would not be expected to give again this year, they would be asked to push the drive.

"Pop" Black Proves Old Men Can Run

(The Lexington Herald, April 30)

Life begins at 40 for some people, but for Coburn Black running the two-mile on a college track didn't start until he was 43.

Black does right well as a distance runner. He has completed three times this year for the Morehead Eagles, finished second twice and third once.

Just what started Black to turn to track at the ripe age of 43 when most men are getting a middle-age spread and others have a hard time getting up and down steps? And running a two-mile race would be worse than a day of hard labor.

Black doesn't know just what got him started. "I used to run up and down the steps at the hall and some of the boys asked me to try out for the track team," Black says. "This seemed useless. I didn't think I would have a chance to make the track team and never had any desire to actually run for a prize, just liked to run and it kept me in shape," he said.

Black is a farm man from Virginia and didn't enroll in college until three years ago. He entered Berea and then switched to Morehead.

Running the two-mile race now is just easy pickings for Black. He is up every morning at 5:30, runs three miles before breakfast and then runs "five or six miles" every afternoon.

Black doesn't smoke and doesn't drink—that perhaps is the answer to his amazing feat. He gets between five and seven hours of sleep at night.

After he finishes his race, Black gets on his hands and walks around the infield of the track. "This just relaxes my muscles," he said recently as he finished second to Morehead's Chester Groat in a two-mile jaunt at Georgetown College.

Beaux Arts Club Tours Cincinnati On Annual Trip

Cincinnati was the destination for the Beaux Arts Club trip on Saturday, May 2. Twenty-four club members went on the tour. They left at 5:30 Saturday morning and returned at 1:00 the next morning.

The group first visited Rockwood Pottery. Here they saw the beautiful Tiger Eye vase which is valued at $10,000. Their next stop was the Botanical Gardens. All types of strange and exotic flowers grow here and many of the students thought this visit to the Gardens the high point of the trip. The last visit the club made was to the Cincinnati Train Terminal.

The group will return to Morehead on Sunday, May 3. They will be back in time for the annual picnic at the college grounds.

The WOTC offers the selected ones the same rights and benefits as do the PLC and the OCC. The two six week periods during two consecutive summers or, in the case of the senior, one twelve week training session. At any time prior to the trainees acceptance of a commission, she can completely resign from the program with no obligation to the service. Great attention is being paid to the current and future needs of the service. New and old uniforms are being introduced each year to keep the Woman Marine looking her finest.

This briefly is the opportunity awaiting each of you in the United States Marine Corps of today; step in to join your future with this proud organization. Kentucky, The Procurement Team will be located in the Marine Corps Recruiting Station, on the 19th, 20th, and 21st of May 1963. A complete medical staff will also be on hand to determine whether you are physically up to the medical standards and team will be looking forward to answering all your questions. Many farm homes as well as many town homes throughout Kentucky.

THE TRAIL BLAZER

Johnson Resigns As Football Director

Coach Ellis Johnson

The Board of Regents last week announced the resignation of Ellis T. Johnson as head football coach.

During the 1943 to 1946 he was in the Navy. Johnson played on what was called one of the greatest football teams ever assembled—the Iowa State Hawks. It had been 11 years since he had played, but Johnson became regular quarterback for a squad that numbered 17 former All-Americans.

Coch Johnson's first love in the field of sports is basketball. Next year he will devote all of his time to what should be the beginning of Morehead's greatest basketball team. During his 17-year stint as head football coach at Morehead, Coach Johnson has produced nine Little All-Americans. Stan Radjansky, Beverly "Jug" Varn, Buck Horton, Joe Latic, Glenn Stanley, Benny Vazzelle, Paul Adams, Charlie Marazetti, and Tim Wyant. A Little better than one Little All-American every two years, a head football coach. Truly a great record.

Haggan's Landscaping Graces Countryside

Mr. Henry C. Haggan has really been practicing what he teaches in that he has designed so many homes in this part of the state. He has landscaped many farm homes as well as many town homes throughout Kentucky.

Landscaping is not Mr. Haggan's regular job and neither does he receive any pay for it. He does landscape on the side because he enjoys this work, and it happens to have at times to see a home made beautiful with good green lawns, beautiful shade trees, shrubs and flowers of the right kind in the right places, as proper landscaping really makes a home beautiful. Mr. Haggan has often said, "When I retire I am going to devote my full time to landscaping."

That's like saying it is past breakfast time and we have eaten lunch. If it's past lunch time there is no use in saying it is 'past breakfast time.' Obviously it would be.

Look at—'Many a person has loved and they will forever pay the cost: They're always sad, and, oh, so! Those are the kind that can't be true!'

It seems to me that the author has been rather dim in sticking to a rhyme scheme, but the meaning is hopelessly jumbled. The last line indicates that those who can't be true always love and lose. At the same time it does not follow that the person who cannot be true cannot truly love someone."

My choice as the best poem of the entries is "The Poet." It has a definite progression of ideas. It is a realization of how things stand. Also, it is on a personal level. The expression of the compact form and is capable of calling up some response from the reader. The reader supplements the poem with his own mind and it becomes a growing thing capable of "growing things."

"Shorty" Jamerson Named New Eagle Football Coach

Wilbur R. (Shorty) Jamerson, former backfield star for the University of Kentucky Wildcats, has been named head football coach at Morehead State College. This was announced Friday by Morehead President Charles H. Babin, following a meeting of the athletic committee at the college.

A new first lieutenant in the force stationed at Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., Jamerson expects to be released from active duty July 1 and to assume his duties at the college July 15. He will visit the campus for his first meeting with the football squad on May 23. Jamerson graduated from the University of Kentucky in June, 1931. A few days later he married the former Miss Virginia Owens of Wheelwright, Ky. He then entered the Air Force and served three months at Bolling Field in the fall of '31, he took coach and player on the base football team for two seasons.

A four-letter man at Barratt Manual Training High School, Henderson, Ky., Jamerson was captain and all-state halfback in his senior year. He lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track.

Although a small player—5 ft. 9 inches tall and weighing 160 pounds—Shorty earned a place for himself in the UK line through his commitment, his natural ability and his willingness to put all of his effort toward his assignment. Coach Bryant depended heavily on Jamerson for both offensive and defensive play.

In his senior year Jamerson, along with big Bob Gann, captained the Wildcats to a 10-5 season, losing only to Tennessee. With All-American Babe Parilli at quarterback, the team had a passing combination that was well-nigh unbeatable. The Parilli-Jamerson combo elicited often to cause trouble for SEC foes. It played others too, as it accounted for one of Jamerson's two touchdowns against the favored Oklahoma Sooners in the Sugar Bowl.

The Sugar Bowl was not the first of such classics for Jamerson. In 1947 he played in the Great Lakes Bowl against Villanova. In 1950 he saw action against Santa Clara in the Orange Bowl. He scored at least one TD in each encounter.

Majoring in physical education at Kentucky, Shorty took a coaching position with the Wildcats staff after the close of the grid season. He thus gained additional experience, working with the coming year's gridder until he graduated. He received several offers from professional teams but chose Air Force instead.

At Morehead the new coach will be stepping into the shoes held for 17 years by Ellis Johnson, also a UK graduate. Johnson recently asked out and relieved of his football chores so he can concentrate on basketball. Jamerson will also coach the Breckinridge Training School basketball team.

An assistant football coach at Morehead is yet to be named. Stanley Radtke, who has held this position since 1946, resigned recently to enter private business.

One of the outstanding performers in the Eastern team last season, Morehead losing at East-Ten on April 14 by the score of 30-36. Since their sterling performance in the Gazette Relays, the Eagles feel that they have an excellent chance of topping Eastern Thursday night.

Eastern has virtually the same team that was named to third place at the O.V.C. meet, the same point-to-point team (Thursday, May 7) this season she is undefeated in track.

Another thrilling event will be the half mile run wherein Morehead's freshman sensation, Jo En Wheeler, will attempt to turn the tables on Gordon Fick, veteran mile distance ace who was second in the 440 and third in the 880 at last year's O.V.C. meet.

In the most exciting race of the day at the Richmond meet of April 14, Wheeler lost in the last few strides by a narrow margin and was seeking revenge Thursday night.

Students and faculty who present their own tickets will be admitted free. A fee of 25 cents will be charged for all others.

Morehead Track Team Second In Gazette Relays

Morehead's first track team scored a major triumph on Saturday, May 11, when it journeyed to Charleston, W. Va., and placed second in a field of nine college teams, plus one independent organization, at the famous Gazette Relays. Well in front of the Eagles was the Scarlet Source of Ohio State University which had an open date last week-end and chose to use it by entering the Charleston event. Tutored by Larry Layder, one of three Olympic coaches of last summer, The Ohioans proposed to teach their opposition some valuable lessons. Their star performer was Jerry Weiborn, Big Ten indoor pole vault champion, who thrilled the large crowd with a leap of 15 ft. 10 in.—the most one- and one-half feet over the O.V.C. mark.

In the wake of the flying feet of the Moreheadians was Marshall College, a long time foe in a 100 yard dash. Fairmont State, Shepherd State, Greenbrier Military Academy, and others.

The top Morehead performance was that done by the mile relay team composed of Ed Wells, Ed Reed, Glenn Powell, and Jo En Wheeler, which took second in that event.

Ed "Tom Thumb" Wells was the top scorer for Morehead with three touchdowns in the 100 and 220 yards races in the 90 and 110 yard dashes, leading by inches at the finish.

The discus throw was Morehead's top event, the trio of Kar-dok, Jim Glasgow, and Jack Slattery sweeping all three places.

Summary
Shot—1. Marshall (G), 42 ft. 11 in.; 2. Ashton (M), 41 ft. 11 in.; Slattery (M), 37 ft. 10 1/4 in.
Discus—1. Kar-dok (M), 127

Morehead Cinder Team To Tackle Eastern

Morehead's last home track meet of the season will take place Thursday evening, May 14, at Jayne Memorial Stadium with the athletes from Eastern providing the opposition.

The meet, a night affair, will start at 7:00, C.S.T. The track weather it will be held the following evening.

This will be the second meeting of the season for these teams, Morehead losing at East-Ten on April 14 by the score of 30-36. Since their sterling performance in the Gazette Relays, the Eagles feel that they have an excellent chance of topping Eastern Thursday night.

and Jo En Wheeler, which took second in that event.

Ed "Tom Thumb" Wells was the top scorer for Morehead with three touchdowns in the 100 and 220 besides running on the relay team. Pitt Hoffman was fifth in the 100 and third in the broad jump.

Chester Green and Coburn Black placed third and fifth, respectively, in the grueling five mile cross country run. Some 15 men were entered in this race which began out in the country and finished in the stadium.

Coburn received more cheers than he had any other athlete of the day for his brilliant performance. "Pop" responded with his usual hand-knuck exhibition.

Jo En Wheeler surpassed the O.V.C. record for the half mile as he did a brilliant 2 minute dash. He also won the 100 yard dash, the line ahead of him, the winner doing a splendid 15 in. 57.8 seconds.

Don Kardok found the long wait for his shot put and finished fourth in the 36 minutes between jumps too much for him and as a result finished fourth at a height which he ordinarily cleared with ease. Jim Ashton had somewhat the same difficulty in the shot put and finished fifth. Smith of Morehead was second in the latter event, but his points could not be counted in Morehead's total since he is not eligible for competition this year.

As a reward for their performance the Eagles received a beautiful trophy which is now on exhibition in the Bookstore window.

Morehead Thins Loses Again To Georgetown

Morehead's green cinder squad found the Tigers of Georgetown twice again too tough to beat in a return meet, held at the opponents field on April 29, by the score of 60-33.

The meeting of the season for these two teams which took place in Jayne Memorial Stadium on April 11 resulted in a 65-58 victory for G's team. The Tigers, favorites, were paced by their crown this year, were paced by their sprinter, ex-Morehead, Phillip Ray Kar-dok, who scored triumphs in the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes.

Morehead had two double winners. Co-Captain Don Kardok and Jo En Wheeler. Don annexed the high jump with a scintillating leap of 6 ft. 2 ins., a height which exceeded the O.V.C. standard in this event by half an inch. His victory in the discus throw left him undefeated in that event this year. His distance of 127 ft. 4 in. was exceeded by only one man in the O.V.C. meet last spring.

Wheeler likewise continued undefeated in the 440 this year as he took the event in the 100 yard dash, 10 in. 57.8 seconds, a tenth of a second better than the winning time at the O.V.C. championships last spring.

Returning to the track a half hour later, he eased through the half in a sound 2 min. 15 sec.

A third Moreheadian, Chester Green, preserved his undefeated status by winning the two mile in a close race with Coburn Black. The latter annexed the fans and athletes alike by a last lap "kicker" of some 220 yards, that brought him very close to the win.

Pitt Hoffman had trouble with his take off but managed to out-leap the opposition in the broad jump with a respectable 19 ft. 10 in.

Ed "Tom Thumb" Wells ran two rousing races in the 100 and 220 with the fleet Kazez, leading by the latter for some 90 yards in the former dash only to lose by inches at the finish.

The discus throw was Morehead's top event, the trio of Kar-dok, Jim Glasgow, and Jack Slattery sweeping all three places.

Summary
Shot—1. Marshall (G), 42 ft. 11 in.; 2. Ashton (M), 41 ft. 11 in.; Slattery (M), 37 ft. 10 1/4 in.
Discus—1. Kar-dok (M), 127

Huffman And Bohunks Lead Intramurals

Joe Huffman of the Bohunks, pitched two victories for his team to overtake the Spenders in the intramural football league. The Spenders are in second place with two victories and one tie. Huffman's winning for the Spenders held the vaulted Hittes Wonders to a 5-5 tie in a five inning affair that was called because of darkness.

Kan Legas enters in fourth place with one victory and one defeat. The Hustlers, Night Hawks, and Recruits have each lost one game while winning none.

The Leftovers, a group composed of the regular football class, have yet to start the winning column. They have lost both of their contests.

The standings:

| Team | W | L | Tied |
|----------------|---|---|------|
| Bohunks | 2 | 0 | 0 |
| Spenders | 2 | 0 | 1 |
| Hittes Wonders | 1 | 1 | 0 |
| The Kan Legas | 1 | 1 | 0 |
| Hustlers | 1 | 1 | 0 |
| Night Hawks | 0 | 1 | 0 |
| Recruits | 0 | 1 | 0 |
| Leftovers | 0 | 2 | 0 |

With Malice Toward None

By Tom Kuback

Congratulations to Morehead's Track team.

Backyard Coach of the Cleveland Browns, Blanton Collier, spoke in chapel last Thursday. His principal theme was "the will to win." Four short words they are, but every member of the track team knew that he meant.

Track Coach Nolan Fowler, a guy with that certain knack of having his team giving their all, had his big day last Saturday at Charleston, West Virginia.

Every member of the track team has this drive to win. They didn't win at Charleston, they came in second to Ohio State in the college standings.

Notice something new on campus??

Something that Morehead sport fans haven't seen in a good many years.

Falls, who missed the Morehead-Georgetown track meet held some time ago will have an opportunity to see the track meet this stuff May 14, at the stadium. Morehead will be host to Eastern State.

This is the last opportunity to see Coach Fowler's boys before they journey to Cookeville, Tennessee for the O. V. C. games.

A seventeen-year stint as head football coach at Morehead came to an end last week when Ellis Johnson resigned his football duties. Johnson, a star athlete in high school and college, will devote all his time to basketball.

From his corner, I predict a sensational season for Coach Johnson and his eager, next season. Watch out Western !!!

What again—Intramural track meet postponed because of rain. If memory serves me correctly this makes the fourth attempt by Coach Fowler to have this meet. Better luck next time.

Heard this on TV... A quitter never wins and a winner never quits.

Robin Reports On Women's Sports

By Robin Goodpastor
"So long, it's been good to know... and the umpire said, 'Strike Three!'"

"Casey at the Bat," but it has been repeated many times since softball season began for the girls. Of course there has been a "tough improvement" since the first time. Seriously though, congratulations to a super gal who did a dandy job as she planned and worked at various other things which make a successful club. Come back Alice, and visit the field clean of flies in Bonnie Birchfield. Naturally there has to be a Yankee team in the outfit, so this time the title is claimed by the "Burke's Workers," and managed by Peggy Burke, who enters an athlete of her day (which happens to be the present).

Adios Senora!
"That's a Spanish salutation for good-bye. Senorita, but in English it means of good-bye. Good luck, and God bless you Mrs. Prop. The WRA is losing a wonderful sponsor, who was as a club worker and an inspiration to every girl athlete. The Freshman Manager, who is losing a fabulous, versatile leader, and the school is just losing a superior athlete and a fine instructor. So, again, Good luck in your future work, Mrs. Prop."

McConkey In Iowa For Doctorate Exam
Mr. James McConkey, associate professor of English, and his family is this week at Iowa State University, Iowa City, Iowa. Mr. McConkey is taking the final examination for his Ph. D. degree. His dissertation deals with the works of the English novelist, E. M. Forster. His final examination is of two-days duration and is given orally.

Photo Developing Is Added Feature Of Bookstore

The College Bookstore has recently added a photo-developing department to its ever-increasing array of student services. It was announced last week by Manager John Collis.

Film will be sent from the Bookstore on Mondays and Wednesdays of each week, and customers are offered four-day service on all film developing and printing.

The following prices are in effect: Ten cents for roll film developing; seven cents for each 6 1/2 x 12 1/2 size film print; and eight cents for each 6 1/2 x 6 print.

Six Moreheadians Visit Various School Libraries

The Library Science class took a trip on April 30 to the various libraries in the neighboring high schools, the purpose being mainly to observe different methods of conducting libraries, and the effectiveness of the methods, according to Miss Lene Chapman, head librarian.

Three college students accompanied Miss Chapman on the trip. They were Miss Polly Lynd, Miss Margaret Stone, and Mrs. Ruth Bradley. Miss Clara Williams, librarian at Breckinridge, and Mrs. Ruby Fowler also went on the trip.

The libraries visited by the college crew were at Mayville High School, Mayville Public School, Flemingsburg High School, Mt. Sterling High School, and Owingsville High School.

The gymnasium bleachers have the capacity of accommodating one thousand spectators.
