G. M. 3-c John D. Epperhart arrived last Wednesday for a twelve day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Epperhart. John D. (that G. M. 3-c means young man's male 3rd class) has just returned from a trip to England. Asked if he had any excitement, he said, "a little—some something." Asked if it was a sub—he said, "might have been." "Was it didn't last long enough to be very exciting, though." John D. joined the Navy two years ago. He is on a gas tanker now. In June, 1942, he was on a freighter that was sunk and he and four others were in a life boat for five days before they were rescued. John D. will leave Saturday.

Edgewood Arsenal, Md., October 16—Graduation Exercises of the Noncommissioned Officers' Staff Course were held here today. Among those graduating was T. J. James, R. Hall, Farmer, Ky. He attended Morehead State Teachers college.

The course is designed to qualify enlisted men to perform the duties of noncommissioned officers in Army chemical sections. The studies ranged from offensive and defensive tactics of gas warfare to prevention and treatment of gas casualties.

Mr. Allard Hall, of Route Two, was in last week and sent The Rowan County News to his sons, Lt. Raymond Hall and Lt. Cecil Hall, both in the Army and both located somewhere in England. The boys were separated for a while, when Lt. Cecil was sent to Africa, but later he was sent to England and immediately found his brother and since then has been with him when he can see each other often.

Mr. Jesse Williams, of Clearfield, has two sons in the Service, both in the Army. Sgt. Williams is a fireman first class. He enlisted in July, 1942, and has been in the North African area for the past five or six months.

The other son, Ted, is a gunner's mate and is in submarine duty. He enlisted in 1940 and is now stationed at New London, Conn.

P. P. C. Otis Luster Cooper is serving somewhere overseas in the Pacific area. He was inducted into the army from Ohio, where he was working. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cooper.

"Ben Jenkins, son of Mrs. Flora Jenkins of Clearfield, enlisted in the Coast Artillery in October, 1938. He has been in North Africa since January. Ben was injured when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a British truck and was confined to the hospital for three months." (Continued on Page Two)

Miss Penix Enters Coast Guard
 Miss Elizabeth Penix, who has been in Navy experiments working in Chicago for the past year, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Penix, this week. Miss Penix has enlisted in the Coast Guard and is en route to Palm Beach, Fla., to begin operations training. Miss Penix is a graduate of Morehead High school of the class of 1933. She has been engaged in war work for several years and is well qualified for the work she is entering.

To Speak at Baptist Church

"Experiences in a Japanese Concentration Camp" will be the subject of a talk by Miss Flora E. Dodson, for 25 years missionary to China, to be given at the Morehead Baptist church, Monday evening, October 25, at 7:15 o'clock. Miss Dodson was in a Japanese Concentration camp for six months, under siege at Hong Kong for one month, and two months on the exchange lines on the ocean trip home. Miss Dodson's next engagement is the Baptist Church at Haldeman, and the public there is invited to come and hear her. She is to speak there Tuesday evening, October 26.

Register For Book 4, Thurs.

Persons applying for War Ration Book Four, which will be distributed through the schoolhouses of Rowan county on Thursday and Friday, October 28 and 29, must bring a copy of War Ration Book Three for each member of the family for whom application is being made. The Office of Price Administration advised today.

The new book will be used to buy processed foods, and sugar, after October 31.

Unlike the method used for issuing War Ration Book Three, which was mailed to consumers, it will be necessary for at least one member of the family to appear at the distribution center in person, to obtain Book Four. An individual may obtain the new book for each member of the family residing at the same address.

The use of War Ration Book Three will provide a speedy and convenient method of establishing eligibility and identity. The fact that Book Four has been issued is announced.

What USO Does For Us

As the Rowan County War Fund Drive opens, this newspaper has interviewed a number of prominent local citizens on the question, "What, in your opinion, is the value to Morehead and the Rowan County of the various organizations participating in the local War Fund Drive—the U. S. O., the Boy Scouts, and the Girl Scouts?" They answered us as follows:

George Walker, Lt. Commander, U. S. N. (Ret.): "As commanding officer of the Naval Training School at Morehead, Kentucky, I have nothing but the highest praise for what the USO has meant to the 600 men attached to this school. During the first few months of the school's existence there were innumerable cases of men getting into trouble solely from lack of sufficient recreational facilities in Morehead. With the establishment of the USO club room these troubles practically disappeared. It is your dollars to the USO which insure that your son or brother or nephew will have the same kind of place to go to fill his lone hours, no matter where he may be."

Beef Show is Real Success

Judged both by the number of entries and the amount of interest shown the third Annual Baby Beef and Cattle Show was the most successful Clayton Park, Ky., second, E. A. Boyd and Curt Bruce placed first, third and fourth. The Milk Cattle Show proved to be one of the hardest of the judge to decide on. Everett Kogley placed first, Ray Vencil, second, and Charles Blair, third.

The most interesting Beef Cattle Ring was composed of heifers under 27 months. Bo Day placed first in this ring, R. B. Rentro, Paris, Ky., second, E. A. Boyd and Son, Dover, Ky., third and fourth.

Littons Win Live-A-Home

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Litton, Morehead, Kentucky, Route 1, won the Live-A-Home exhibit at the Rowan County Harvest Festival last Thursday, October 14. Mr. and Mrs. Litton had a total of 138 items in their exhibit. They had so many different items that the judge thought he was looking at two different exhibits. For a number of years the Littons have produced and canned 75 per cent of their food at home. They have cooperated with the Agricultural Extension Service and other farm organizations in trying new methods.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumon Edridge, who live near Sharkey, won second prize with 119 different items. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis had about 70 items in their championship exhibit in 1942.

There were seven exhibits in the Live-A-Home and Farm Product Show and all were good. There were more entries of field crops, canned goods, and garden produce than in 1942 and Mr. H. C. Hagg, Supervisor of the Harvest Festival, stated that they were of much better quality than last year. There was a continuous stream of people visiting the exhibit swimming pool to see the many fine products on display and see the Educational Exhibits sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service, Farm Security, AAA and others.

Drive for War Fund Gets Start

At a meeting of the U. S. O. Citizens Committee at the club rooms on Monday night, presided over by Dr. J. D. Falls, plans were nearly completed for the Rowan County 1943 War Fund Drive. Mr. John M. Palmer, chairman of the campaign, outlined his organization; the community was divided into various groups and neighborhoods, with a sub-committee responsible for each; and plans for solicitation were thoroughly discussed.

As previously reported in these columns, the county quota is as follows:

United Service Organization	$2,313.46
Hons	800.00
Boy Scouts	620.00
Girl Scouts	100.00
Expenses not to exceed	100.00
Total	$3,833.46

The chairman explained that expenses are not expected to exceed or even approach the limit. The receipt books for the drive, and that in fact nobody has yet charged a single cent for anything connected with the drive. The receipt books for the use of the canvassers have been printed free of charge by the Rowan County News, eliminating one considerable item of reasonable expense and thus in effect making (Continued on Page Three)

Revival At Church of God Draws Crowds

Record crowds are attending the revival meetings now in progress at the Church of God in Morehead. A capacity crowd heard Rev. Riggle's lecture and saw the pictures shown last night. Rev. Riggle, the evangelist, is a very powerful preacher who has traveled extensively both in the Americas and in many foreign countries. You can not afford to miss the opportunity of hearing a man of such wide experiences. The meetings will continue through October 31.

Next Monday night Rev. Riggle will lecture on his travels in the Holy Land and will show pictures made by himself of all the interesting places there. He is sure to see them.

Pres. Vaughan To Attend Meeting

President W. H. Vaughan, Morehead State Teachers college, will be acting president of the Kentucky Association of Colleges and Secondary schools which meets at Lexington October 28-29. The meeting will be held at the University of Kentucky. This is the first full meeting of the association since the beginning of the war.

White Elephant Sale To Be Held Saturday

Saturday, October 23, is the date set for the fifth annual White Elephant Sale, sponsored by the A. A. N. W., and the various clubs of the city.

The success of the sale is made possible by the large quantities of food, clothing and household articles given by various people of the county, as well as the people of the county attending the sale and buying the various articles donated.

You will be able to buy jams, jellies, preserves, canned fruits, vegetables, nuts, potatoes, sweet potatoes, in fact most anything you can think of. Bring your ration books, as some canned goods require them.

Forest Fires, Two Rowan, Draw Fines

On Monday, October 11, the record of no forest fires on the East River District since last May was badly shattered by the occurrence of three fires, two of which were in Rowan county.

One of these fires was started near the McKenzie school and another near the home of George Christy on Ramsey Creek. Chester Christy and Billie McKenzie were named as suspects and the case was continued by Judge Parker until the first Saturday in November.

Mr. Frayley was fined $10 in County court last Saturday. The fire on Lambert Branch was extinguished by prompt action of several of the local Boy Scouts who are organized as a branch of Civilian Defense known as the Forest Fire Fighters Society. The following local boys took part: Jim Williams, Charles Thompson, Jamie Leach, Robert Parker, Billy Litton, Marvin Mayhall, Don Battison, Billy Robertson, Sonny Allen and Alvin Jr. Martin.

Have Dinner Together In Australia

Some one comes back from Australia and tells about having dinner with other Morehead boys that is good news.

That is what Lt. Ralph Mussman, former M. S. T. C. football star, told Mr. and Mrs. O. Carr, on October 6. Lt. Mussman, Lt. Walter Carr and Lt. Clemmons, another star player of the Hill-Billy Band, all former Boy Scouts, recently returned to Australia. Lt. Mussman is a bombardier and Lt. Carr is in the Air Corps.

According to Mr. Mussman, Lt. Borgs has just received his promotion to second lieutenant. The first lieutenant, Walter has been in charge of flight operations in New Guinea but returned to Australia for treatment of an injury he received in an operation in April. He hopes to be able to fly again soon. Walter gets the Rowan County News every week.

Rowan Co. News Sent To Service Men Overseas

Postal regulations do not permit the sending of newspapers to service men overseas unless ordered by the men themselves. However, for thirty days, these regulations were lifted and parcels or friends were permitted to send periodicals for Christmas gifts.

Many people of Rowan county took advantage of this opportunity and sent The Rowan County News to their sons or other relatives.

On Friday, the editor of The News wrote a personal note and Christmas Card to each of these future subscribers and told them he was sending The News to them.

Water Situation Relieved

The water situation remains serious although not quite as bad as reported last week.

W. H. Eike, waterworks superintendent, explained that the volume of water being pumped from an abandoned clay mine via Trinity and Triplet Creeks was found to be sufficient to meet the city's needs without deepening the channel further. He said the force pumps were moving the water at the rate of 50,000 gallons an hour.

The flood is at the scene of a mine formerly operated by the Harrison Walker Company of Olive Hill and is nine miles from the point to which the supply is being pumped. The water travels down Christy Creek for a distance of seven miles before emptying into Triplet Creek.

Drouth conditions continue despite the general rains of last week. Total rainfall was said to be less than an inch.

War Fund Drive Given Start At Beef Show

Thursday, October 14, the Rowan County War-Fund Campaign got off to a good start when the opportunity to contribute to the National War Fund was presented to those attending the Harvest Festival at the Stock Yards in Morehead, Kentucky. Dr. J. D. Falls, chairman of the Rowan County War Fund Campaign, assisted by the Navy Hill-Billy Band, college girls, and a group of Boy Scouts, made the appeal for donations to this important cause. Harvest Festival visitors who contributed proudly were the War Fund Tags, or received stickers to be displayed in their car or home windows. The Navy Hill-Billy Band, all former Boy Scouts, enthusiastically played the crowd's favorite tunes. Members of this band give so generously of their services that they are being called the "Bacon, Burgundy, and Battle" band. The Boy Scouts, under the direction of Scout Master Dr. L. F. Faring, worked faithfully and intelligently at many tasks to make this opening day of Rowan County's War Fund Campaign a success.

Food Classes Will Start in Rural Schools

The Food Production War Training classes will soon be organized and started in Rowan County. Courses will be taught this year include: repair of farm machinery, egg production, vegetable production, and possibly pork production. The courses are to be conducted almost the same as in 1942-43. Some of the changes are that all legally out-of-school people 16 years and older are eligible to enroll and the number of courses held will be reduced.

The Food Production War Training Program will be financed by funds appropriated to the United States Office of Education. The courses are being allotted to State Boards of educational agriculture. The local Board of Education will be reimbursed 100% for all legitimate expenses in operating the courses. The two farm shops in the county will open on the following dates: Sharkey with Woodford Black and J. C. Eldridge as instructors will open on Saturday, October 29 and will continue for eight weeks. The shop at Elliottville will open Monday, October 25. The class will meet from 7 to 10 each following Monday and Wednesday nights for a series of eight weeks. Mr. A. J. Williams will instruct the class. All farmers in or near these communities should take advantage of these classes to build or repair all their farm machinery before storing it for the winter.

Courses in Egg Production are being organized in the following communities: Clark School, Haldeman School, and Clearfield. There will be other classes in Egg Production or (Continued on Page Three)

F. F. A. NEWS

All roads lead to the Morehead Stockyards last Thursday, October 14, as hundreds of interested farm people gathered for the Cattle show and Harvest Festival. Among them was the Rowan County Future Farmers of America who helped to establish other booths as well as our own. Our booth consisted of farm accessories built in our shop, our program of work printed on placards, and the F. F. A. paraphernalia.

The Livestock Show provided much interest for the boys as it enabled them to see some of the best produce in the state. To sum it up the boys enjoyed the whole day and they and their parents carried away some of the prizes on their exhibits.

On Thursday night we met at the Morehead High School Gymnasium for the purpose of initiating new members to the Greenhand Degree. For various reasons only three boys were initiated. They were Harold Caudill, Clyde Day and Ray Lambert. The chapter warmly commends these boys for their fine sportsmanship.

Not to be outdone by the numerical handicap the boys divided into teams after the initiation exercises and played a lively basketball game. Every boy present enjoyed this part as it acted as a consolation to the boys who were initiated.

On Monday, October 18, at our daily class meeting chairmen were elected to sponsor the various divisions in our program of work. Other boys were put on committees with these chairmen so that every boy will have a part in our chapter activities.

Thus the stage is set for an active year with the Rowan County F. F. A.

Chapter Reporter.

Here is another:

Dear Folks:
The buying of war bonds is one thing the service does not focus upon the men and there is really no need of trying to do it for they know the value of them in materials and not as an investment to cash in later in life.

There was a time when it looked as if they were going to start a drive for their purchase but it feel through here in a jiffy because the men took no interest in that type of buying and besides the men had been buying heavily since induction without fanfare. Next to strikes, the big bond selling shows in the states gets the dandruff up in a hurry among soldiers and sailors. They know the value of bonds and it should not take a Hollywood campaign to sell them on the idea for when they get the things they have needed for so many months, they know that the bonds had been selling and what they are doing for us.

The only campaign we know is the actual war itself and then coming back home. I hope it will not take the appearance of a movie star or a long winded speech by some politician to sell you bonds for I know you have some money invested and need no such show of emotionalism. The only glamour about this war comes from the glided drives that do not spill the blood but it should never have to appear in Rowan county for Rowan has given blood and many more will fall from home before it is over. You folks, know who are gone and what bonds will do to get them back and there is no need for his splashy drives that make us sicker every week. We need straight from the shoulder help without fanfare of parties or parading of uniforms. The place of action and all of the badges and colorful drives back home may some feel good but it would be very hard to get boys here to appear on any of the programs for something more invested and need no such show of emotionalism. and then think of the possible list from this war, they would buy more bonds than they could afford. That struck me as a great idea and he went on to say that if he should not get back he did not wish to have his name in the courthouse yard but hoped that some person would start a living memorial by doing for the living in the name of those that were lost. The man who said this was a boy that had little chance of schooling back home and a hard time to get enough to eat. If men who are fighting for homefolks can't think about these, then the lardens at home are light and the buying of bonds should be a privilege.

Delinquents To Be Re-Classified By Service Boards

Colonel Frank D. Rash, State Director for Selective Service for the Commonwealth of Kentucky, in a statement made today said that Selective Service regulations relative to delinquents have recently been amended by National Headquarters of the Selective Service System.

The changes in regulations created by the new amendments go into effect November 1, 1943, and in compliance therewith, all local boards will classify or reclassify delinquents, 18 through 44 years of age, in IA, IAO or IVE as the case may be and all delinquents 18 through 37 years of age ordered to report for induction or for work of national importance as the circumstances of the individual cases justify. Prosecution will be commenced immediately upon the failure of any of said delinquents to answer the summons contained in their order to report for induction, as well as against all delinquents who have been previously ordered to report for induction and have failed to do so.

In further commenting on the above procedure, Colonel Rash stated that Kentucky State Headquarters will put forth every effort to comply with and to put into effect and operation all of the new regulations and amendments thereto pertaining to the processing of cases of delinquents and the Courts, and Officers of the County and the facilities of all law enforcing agencies available to the use of the Selective Service System will be utilized in this effort to locate and induct all delinquents who have so far succeeded in escaping service in the armed forces or being inducted for work of National importance.

Residents of Kentucky or elsewhere knowing the whereabouts of any delinquent registrant or having information that may be helpful in apprehending any of such delinquents can contribute valuable assistance to the war effort by furnishing such information to the Louisville office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation or Kentucky State Headquarters for Selective Service, Louisville, Ky.

From where I sit...
by Joe Marsh

Vic Burton was home on furlough last week. And you ought to see the fuss the town made over him. Seemed like almost everybody wanted to give a party, or stage something special in the way of celebration. Of course, Vic acted grateful. But he told me later, all he really wanted was to sit down with a few old friends—to relax in home surroundings, and talk about old times again.

I guess that's how a lot of soldiers feel. They want to enjoy the old familiar things—old friends, quiet talk, and a moderate wholesome glass of beer. And from where I sit, I don't see why anyone would want to take those things away from them. Do you?

Morehead Hi Service Club

Dear Miss Crosthwaite:

I received your nice letter. I was glad to hear from you? How have you been since I left school. I bet the teachers said that there is one pest off your mind. By the way how has school been with you? I guess you are sorry because you have to start back so soon, but school must go on. I guess all of the boys that I went to school with are in the service by now. I got a letter from Jimmy Lane's mother and she said that Jimmy didn't pass for the service. But as I have said and will say again they can't come into the service.

By the way you said something about watermelons. You know I'd like to be there on the farm eating watermelons with you, but that isn't possible right now. Yes, it still looks like Morehead isn't going to get out of the murder stage, but I'd like to be back there just the same. Well it is getting late so I guess I will close until the next time. You write when you have time and before long we won't have to talk through letters. I always like face to face, but that isn't possible at the present time. Well I will close now. Tell mother and father hello for me and all of the teachers. Answer when you have time.

The Lesson Of Columbus

By Ruth Taylor

"Behind him lay the gray Azores, Behind, the Gates of Hercules; Before him not the ghost of shores;

Before him only shoreless seas."

So begins Josquin Miller's great poem on Columbus—a poem for all those who are facing a time of danger. Columbus had only a belief by which to sail. He set out into an unknown ocean, which the fears of more timid men had talk through letters. I always and half-tinted perils. His ships were small, his crew mutinous, his seconds in command envious of this "foreigner" should be placed over them.

All he had was an idea—a plan which was new, and which wise men swore could never be carried out. But he did it. He set his course straight ahead, and stuck to it. The monsters did not appear—but unforeseen hardships did. The ships were becalmed for days; in the doldrums—that patch of ocean where the wind seldom blows. The provisions and water ran low, and the ocean was wider than his wildest calculations. - But still he went on.

What he faced, we face today. We face the difficulties of curtailment of what we deem necessities. We will need the energies of men to pull us through the inaction of the Doldrums. We will have to meet with and handle mutinous subversive forces and envious, self-seeking leaders. But where Columbus had the idea of a new road to the Indies, we have an ideal of a new world, where democracy will have an opportunity to progress, and where all men will be free. If we steer straight ahead, along the course we know to be right, with our faith in the sanctity of the individual and in theirborn right of all men to be free and equal as our guiding star, we will reach our goal. But we must persevere—or take its original meaning—we must follow through.

The good mate said: "Now must I brave Admiral speak; what shall I say?"

For lo! the very stars are gone, Brave Admiral speak; what shall I say?"

Why say: "Sail on! Sail on! And on!"

Then pale and worn, he paced his deck,

And peered through darkness. Ah, that night

Of all dark nights! And then a speck—

A light! A light! At last a light!

It grew, a starlit flag unfurled; It grew to be Time's ourst of dawn.

He gained a world, he gave that world

Its grandest lesson: "On! Sail on!"

It's HIGH TIME to Change in Kentucky!

For 12 years now, state administration has been in the hands of a gang!

In spite of changes in outward leadership, the gang has remained unchanged. Its policy, from first to last, has been to keep itself in power.

And so we have seen the waste of money and the abuse of trust. We have seen sleepers on the payroll and leeches on the public purse. We have heard of deals and bargains and conspiracies against the general interest. We have read of political assessments against state employees and illegal contributions to campaign funds. We have seen the public service degraded and standards of honor cast aside. We have borne a heavier and heavier burden of taxation.

By these means, the machine has fattened and grown strong, until now we can free ourselves from it only by united and resolute action.

YOU can help save Kentucky

The Republican party, by nominating nine independent and able citizens pledged to the elimination of political gangsterism, offers the opportunity for freedom and good government. By supporting them, we strike a blow for liberty and take sides against dishonor.

Vote Republican!

The Trunk of the Tree

FIRST there was just wilderness. Then some men came and cleared away the trees and the underbrush. Pretty soon they started to build a factory—way out to nowhere and gone.

The reason was simple—the land was cheap. Also, they knew they could depend on the railroad's laying a spur line over which they could bring in people and raw materials and ship out to market their finished product.

It wasn't long before a little cluster of houses sprang up for the workers. Roads appeared. An enterprising merchant arrived and opened a general store.

Soon a doctor came and a dentist. A garage went up. Then a drug store, a barber shop, a movie house.

And so the town grew. Nobody planned it that way. American initiative made it that way.

The town grew as opportunity grew. It grew like a tree—slowly, steadily, surely. And the trunk of the tree—the trunk through which the lifespawn flowed—was the railroad.

Every man who made his living in that town made it from goods that came in by the railroad, or that went out over its bright rails to markets beyond.

The men who built that town in the wilderness believe with all their hearts in free enterprise. But some of them may not appreciate the extent to which their continued economic freedom depends on freedom of the railroads.

The sirens of regimentation may lull us with the theory that it is all very well for private businesses to remain free, but that public carriers should be owned by the government.

But what would this mean in practical terms to every business man in the community we have described? It would mean that his dealings with the railroads would now be on a political instead of a business basis.

And would railroad service be improved? With bureaucrats in charge, and no more competition between lines? You can read the answer in any country in the world where railroads are government-controlled.

Before you listen to those who would "regiment" our railroads, consider whether our business structure could long remain half slave and half free.

And whether, if the axe is laid at the trunk, the whole tree would not suffer.

Can You Picture KENTUCKY without Highways?

A strange place it would be—this State of ours—if our splendid 9,417 mile network of improved highways suddenly ceased to exist.

A great many communities would be isolated. Others would find it infinitely more difficult to carry on even the most ordinary daily activities—with no trucks on the move, no cars or buses taking workers to war plants and farms, soldiers to camp and home on furlough, business travelers to nearby communities, children to school.

We Kentuckians are apt to take for granted the convenience of our excellent roads—but these highways didn't just grow. Building and maintaining them is a tremendous job and for achieving this successfully we can thank past and present administrations and particularly the Kentucky State Highway Department and Kentucky State Highway Commission.

That isn't the whole story, however. Transforming these lifeless ribbons of concrete and macadam into live, active arteries of public transportation has been the accomplishment of the Kentucky Public Service Commission. They've labored hard and long to give our State a transportation system that compares favorably with any other in the country.

All of us who live and work and pay taxes in Kentucky can take pride in our share in this highway system.

As fellow citizens, the Greyhound Lines have made a very large contribution in the form of license, fuel and operating taxes—but we feel that our greatest service is in putting the highways to work for the benefit of all who must travel, making near neighbors and good neighbors of all the communities we serve throughout the State.
