

Louisville Commercial: There comes to us from Mt. Sterling a fiery letter in defence of Zachary Taylor Young, the unscrupulous county attorney of Rowan, in which it is sought to place all the blame for the troubles in that quarter upon the Martin party. Our correspondent does not help his cause by charging that the hundred State troops at Morehead and the attorney general "stand square upon the Martin side." It seems to us that a hundred intelligent persons, with no local prejudices, on becoming acquainted with the facts in the Rowan case, would most probably be found upon the deserving side. It is not to Young's credit, then, that so many people are convinced of his duplicity.
