

KLEY IS A TRAIL SPEAKER

Dr. Doran Was Known As Mr. Commencement

The unofficial title of "Mr. Commencement Speaker of Kentucky" was earned this spring by President Adron Doran, who delivered 23 class addresses during a jam-packed six-week period.

Dr. Doran, who was accompanied by Mrs. Doran on almost all his trips, traveled over 5,000 miles and spoke to about 1,500 graduating seniors. His speaking schedule, sandwiched in between regular administrative duties, once even called for two appearances in the same day. Most audiences heard an address entitled "Education for a New Age," which was widely acclaimed by the press.

Graduating classes from three colleges, David Lipscomb (Nashville, Tenn.), Freed-Hardeman (Henderson, Tenn.) and Kalamazoo Junior, were included in the 23 addresses by Dr. Doran. High schools which were Russell College (Jamestown), Meade Memorial (Williamsport), Sandy Hook, Knox Central (Bourville), Napier (Hazard), Powell County (Stanford), Olive Hill, Crum (Crum, W. Va.), Camargo, Morganfield, Ovingville, Sturgis, Lynch, Paintsville, Colerain Township (Cincinnati, O.), Denning (Mt. Olivet), Hazard, Vanceburg, Carrollton and Newport.

Enrollment Increases 20 Per Cent

Summer school registration at Morehead State College reached 847 at 10 o'clock on June 12, this year.

Total registration for summer school last year, including work shops, was 735. This summer the total enrollment is much higher. The grand finale in the form of figures showed a total of 850 people in this year's summer school, and three more workshops for credit are to come yet. The total enrollment for last year's eight-weeks summer term was 590; this year it is 691. Last year's five-weeks term enrollment was 93; this year the figure jumped to 131 or a 20-per cent increase in students regularly enrolled for both terms. This year's conservation workshop totaled 19 students and the music workshop's total enrollment was 9, nonduplicates only.

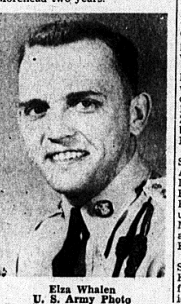

"We are somewhat elated about the increase," Dr. Doran said. "It is the finest evidence I know of that Morehead College is on the right track and is rendering more service to more people of Kentucky."

Men's Garden Club Slates Flower Show

The date set for the next Morehead Men's Garden Club show is November 10th. The show will be principally dried flower arrangements. Entries may also be in the field of table decorations and living plants. There is no charge for entries; anyone may submit an entry. This year the Morehead Men's Garden Club would like to promote more student interest than has been shown previously. The only student who won an award last year was Kay Lockhart, a Home Economics major. No location has been set for the show. Now is the time to gather flowers to be dried. Any questions about the process of drying should be directed either to Dr. Oswley or Mr. Haggan.

Elza Whalen Was "Soldier Of The Week"

Pfc. Elza Whalen, 24, son of Mrs. Addie K. Whalen, 420 Buckner Street, Mayville, Ky., was recently named Soldier of the Week for the 2nd Quartermaster Company at Fort Lewis, Wash. An education specialist in the company, Pfc. Whalen was selected in competition on a basis of his neatness, knowledge of military subjects and efficient performance of assigned duties. A graduate of Morehead State College, he entered the Army in December 1953 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. Mrs. Whalen, formerly Eunice Shoemaker, was in the service since June, 1954. Eunice attended Morehead two years.

Reviewer Found M. P. Production "Simply A Success"

By Dr. James McConkey

The audience gave a more consistent verdict than did the jury in the Morehead Players' production last week of Ayn Rand's murder trial drama, "The Night of January 16th." Although the three different juries—selected from the audience—each of the nights of the play's run—gave verdicts of both "guilty" and "not guilty" to Karen Andre, on trial for the murder of her employer, the verdict of the audiences did not change. The play was simply a success, and a good means—as the title suggests—of forgetting summer heat.

And it was certainly a success for Phillip Wicker, who won his first court case at the Wednesday night performance—even though he won't enter law school for another two months. Wicker, Morehead sophomore who plans to study law at Tulane University in the fall, played the role of the prosecuting attorney. Both Wicker and Walter VanHoose, the defense attorney, gave extremely convincing performances, as is testified by the conflicting opinions of the juries during the play's run.

The production, quite apart from the novelty of Miss Rand's plot and her use of dramatic gimmicks, was unusual in several respects. It was the first three-act Morehead production in this reviewer's memory to be directed by a student. The director, James Earl Davis, a graduating senior, executed his duties with professional skill, and displayed both imagination and insight in the choice of his actors.

Particularly enjoyable was the use of actors of various ages and dramatic experience. For many of the actors, it was their first college production; some of them had never been on any stage before. Yet each speaking role was clearly visualized by both director and actor, and the interpretation always apparent to the audience as a result.

In addition to Wicker and VanHoose, major roles were played by Carolyn Byrd Brooks, the student manager of the College Cafeteria; Leslie Pence, a John Graham Whitfield, the father of Mrs. Faulkner; and Donald Holloway, as Larry Rogan, a gangster. Miss Brooks, who had the difficult assignment of appearing both guilty and not guilty, was particularly effective.

Although it is difficult to choose among the adequate performances turned in by the supporting actors, it was particularly taken by the more-than-convincing role of the night club dancer, acted by Nellie Wright. As for the performance of Dr. John Long, associate professor of English who played the court clerk, I can only say that what I perceived was intriguing, and that I hope to see more of his work next season. He is worth watching.

Ross Cooley Gets Honor In Army

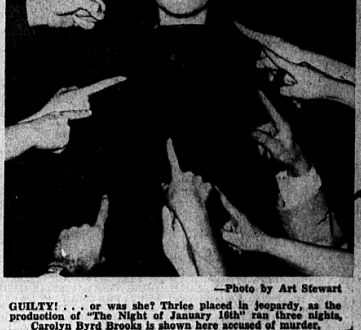

Cpl. Ross H. Cooley of Mt. Sterling, Ky., was congratulated and received a check from Lt. Col. Hugh M. Latimer, post executive officer at Camp Kokura, Japan, after placing second in the Soldier of the Conth contest at Camp Kokura. Corporal Cooley, whose wife, Myrtle, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Cooley, live in Mt. Sterling, was selected for his soldierly appearance, knowledge of duties and military courtesy. An administrative specialist, he entered the Army in November 1953 and arrived overseas in April of last year. He was graduated from Morehead State College.

Mr. Oakley received his bachelor's degree and the master's degree from Western State College, Bowling Green, Ky. His wife, Margaret, also obtained her degree from Western. They have three children, two daughters and a son. The older daughter is married while the younger was a freshman at Western State College during the past year. Sporting Class

You know, I don't believe there is anything more satisfying and relaxing than a good swim. In the summer, when you wake up in the morning feeling like death warmed over twice, your eyes are closed and your face reflecting your condition of complete and utter misery, the only enjoyable part of your class is sitting there thinking how cool and wet the water will be this afternoon when you go in at the general swimming period each day from 9:30 to 5:00. Wednesday nights, 7:30 to 9:00.

The water is cool and wet but apparently very few people on campus realize it. Either they are afraid of water or they have some very pronounced masochistic tendencies and seem to prefer lying up in their rooms sweating and suffering on the top bunk next to a hot tin roof at 12:00 noon, or a reasonable facsimile thereof.

Swimming is a good way to relax, get rid of anger, excess energy, fat, and any number of other things. Morehead College has a beautiful, well-equipped pool. Why don't YOU make use of it?

Three Candidates Heard In Chapel Program Thursday

The three candidates for Superintendent of Public Instruction who were presented in the convocation program in the chapel on Thursday morning were: Mr. John Robinson, Superintendent of schools at Danville, Kentucky; Dr. Robert Martin, State Department of Education, Frankfort, Kentucky; and Mr. Verne Horne, Superintendent of Schools in Johnson County, Kentucky.

The three candidates, one Republican and two vying for the Democratic nomination, were presented by Dr. Adron Doran, M. S. C. President, in a non-partisan manner. The Convocation Committee invited the assistants for the office of chief school executive in order to allow the many teachers present at summer school an opportunity to evaluate the candidates and their platforms.

Yale University's famed studies of alcoholism has produced a controversy over whether or not beer is an intoxicating beverage. Dr. Leon J. Greenberg, Yale Professor of physiology, said beer isn't—and it ought to be reclassified to the non-intoxicating drinks.

This brought emphatic objection from other scientists. They wanted to know if the man who is "high" or "light" isn't also drunk. They certainly make people "high" and "light," they said.

Dr. Greenberg's scientific demonstration of his theory was solid, however. It went like this: For people to show consistently the "abnormal behavior" which goes with intoxication, the alcohol content of their blood must be 0.15 per cent or higher.

"Courting Spot" Is Commemorated By MNS Club Members

A campus "courting spot" of more than half a century ago was commemorated on the modern campus of Morehead State College this week.

The famous spot is the site of an old pump which once furnished water for the entire plant of the normal school. Once located outside the long-since-replaced girls' dormitory, the pump served as a convenient meeting place for boys and girls who came for an evening drink of water and lingered for a while.

Deaton Second in National Track Meet In Texas

Carl Deaton is rapidly taking his place as one of the greatest distance runners that the Commonwealth of Kentucky has ever produced. He clinched the 1935 season by placing second in the 2 mile at the N.A.A.U. annual meet held in Abilene, Texas on June 4. The N.A.A.U. numbers in excess of 800 colleges, most of the smaller institutions of higher education in the United States being affiliated with it.

Carl's time was 9:33.3 against the winner's (Clayton Scott of Nebraska State) mark of 9:28.4. Carl attributed his defeat to three factors—the Texas heat, the unevenness of the running in bigtime meets, and his own nervousness and inexperience in the matter of bigtime meets. He expressed the view that given another chance at Scott, who had won the same event one year before, he would have defeated him.

Deaton's best takes on added stature when three other points are considered. This time was better than anything he had ever run by the best distance runner in the Southeastern Conference during the past season. It means in effect that he is now the king of the South's two milers. Then two weeks after the N. A. A. U. meet, the N. C. A. A., the greatest collegiate meet in America, was held at Los Angeles. There the two mile winner did 9:04.5, or only 28.8 seconds better than Carl's time. When it is realized that Carl has just completed his sophomore year and has had only one year of time race under his belt, then one can only speculate about the limits of his potential. A coach awaits the Breathitt County speedster if he decides to train seriously on the next two years.

Carl's defeat in the N. A. A. U. was the first which he has suffered on the track in his career. In the 1935 track season he scored a total of 113 1/2 points, the greatest number ever rung up in a season by a Morehead track man. He holds the College and Stadium records in the half mile, and 2 mile. In the recent O. V. C. meet he won all three of these events, the only time that has been accomplished in the history of the Conference.

In the process of doing this he set marks for the half and the mile. His total of 15 points was the most that any one runner has ever scored in this annual meet. In addition, Carl is the O. V. C. champion in the 1000 yard race. The Morehead and Berea course records in this sport.

Champion Eagles Amazingly Good Upon Comparison

The salient features of Morehead's victory in the recent OVC track meet at Bowling Green, Ky., are by now quite well known to all followers of the Gold and Blue. A close inspection of the records of this annual meet, however, discloses that the feats of the small Eagle squad were more meritorious than were at first believed.

The Eagle track win was the first posted by a Kentucky college that is now in the OVC. Morehead's point total, 64, was likewise the greatest number ever scored by any Kentucky team in the annals of the OVC. The old scoring mark, 57 1/2, was set by Eastern in 1934. The U. of Louisville did, however, win the initial meet in 1949 with 71 points, but that institution dropped from the OVC the next year. Morehead's 71 first places were also the most ever taken by any of the present Kentucky teams in the Conference. Murray set the old mark, 8, in 1923. (From Poly Tech had 9 firsts in '33 while Louisville took 9 in 1949.)

The feat of winning the Conference crown with the total of only ten men has never been done in the annals of the OVC. TPI used this same number in winning the title in 1934, exclusive of the mile relay, whose composition is not known. It is possible, of course, that men were in this event that did not score in individual events, thus possibly running TPI's number higher.

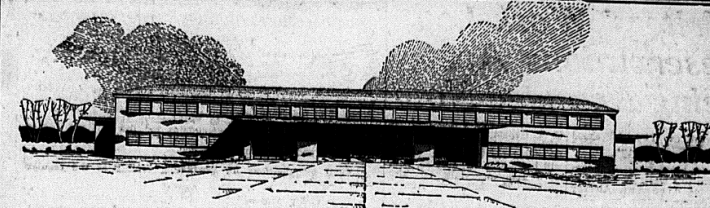

Eagles Run!

Morehead won all the individual running events (100, 220, 440, 880, mile, 2 mile), the only school now in the OVC to have done so. (Ex-member Louisville also accomplished this feat back in 1949.) This accomplishment made the Gold and Blue the greatest running team in the history of the Conference, only 11 1/2 of the 64 1/2 point total being scored in field events. Morehead secured no points whatsoever in the weight events, the first time that a Conference winner has turned this feat. The Eagles were scoreless in three events, and only once in the duration of the OVC has a team been able to win with such a handicap. (TPI won in 1934 although goose-legged in four events.) With one exception no previous winner had been so exclusively a first and second place team, only 9 1/2 points coming in the route of 3rd, 4th, and 5th places. (TPI had only 8 1/2 points by this method in '34.)

Morehead's 1-2-3 sweep of the half mile was only the second time that such an accomplishment had been done in any event in the OVC championships. No team now in the OVC had ever done it although an ex-member, Louisville, had performed this feat in the same event, oddly enough, back in 1949. Morehead could probably have notched a 1-2-3-4 win in this event, for to Zen Wheeler, victor in the quarter and a good half miler, did not run here because of the rule limiting a school to three entries per event.

Individually Good

Morehead's marks were not all of the team variety; several were of an individual nature. Carl Deaton was, of course, the big noise here. His record of 2:01.4 and 4:31.8 in the half and the mile not only gave Morehead its first individual OVC track mark, but this was only the fourth occasion in Conference history that one athlete has set two standards at the annual meet. Construction Of Gym Starts In Early Fall

Building plans on two Morehead State College structures were advanced a step further toward fulfillment this week by announcements from Frankfort.

(1) bids will be opened Aug. 4 on the construction of a school's long-planned gymnasium; and

(2) a Louisville architecture firm has been hired to draw plans and prepare specifications on the college's student union building.

W. C. Judy, executive director of the Property and Buildings Commission announced Friday that plans for the gymnasium have been completed and the state is asking bids on its construction.

To cost $468,000, the building will be of brick on concrete foundation. It will contain 11,000 sq. ft. and will be located on US 60, east of Jayne Memorial stadium.

It is not expected that the building will be completed in time for use during the 1955-56 basketball season. The late summer start on construction which is planned.

Morehead basketball teams now use a gymnasium which has a seating capacity of little more than 1,000 and which has proved inadequate to accommodate the increasing number of fans in this area.

With the completion of the 5,000 seat arena, it is believed that the college will attract the 16th Regional basketball tournament as a more or less permanent place, since sites for this event are selected principally on the basis of seating capacity.

The Louisville firm of Joseph and Joseph have been told the state to prepare plans for the Student Union building, which would be located on the lot directly behind the courthouse.

It will cost an estimated $650,000, will house recreational facilities and will afford a meeting place for campus organizations, among other functions.

Only qualifications for enrollment are original manuscripts and an interest in writing and a manuscript. Students may enroll for either or both weeks and qualified persons may obtain college credit.

Staff members this year are: Henriette Arnow, author of best-selling novels The Dollmaker and Hunter's Horn, and winner of this year's Friends of American Writers' annual $1,000 award; Carl Hartman, critic, instructor in creative writing at Cornell University, and an editor of three literary quarterly; Leon and Press, radio and television script writer and program director of the University of Kentucky Broadcasting Service; W. D. Snodgrass, poet and instructor in modern literature at the State University of Iowa; James Still, Kentucky short-story writer, poet and novelist; and Hollis Summers, novelist, poet, short-story writer and member of the U. K. Department of English.

The evening programs, all scheduled for 7:30 p. m. (EST), will begin Monday, July 25, with an introductory talk by McConkey. The following evening there will be a showing of the German film classic, "The Blue Angel". On July 27, Snodgrass will read some of his own poems with special attention to creative techniques and problems.

Hartman's lecture July 28 will include a discussion of the importance of "little" magazines to the beginning writer.

The first week of the Workshop will conclude with a piano duet recital on July 29 by Pave Miles, Morehead, and Helen A. Grein, Morehead, both private teachers of piano.

Mrs. Arnow will give a talk on fiction-writing Monday, Aug. 1, and Henry Hornaby, city and executive editor of the Lexington Leader, will be guest speaker Tuesday, Aug. 2. Press will present a radio adaptation of George Orwell's "1984" on Aug. 4.

Further information about the Workshop may be obtained by writing the director.

Classroom Teachers' Workshop Underway Staffed By Experts

A new idea in education was started at Morehead State College this summer when a three-week workshop for classroom teachers convened.

The workshop, jointly sponsored by the college and the Department of Teacher Education of the Kentucky Education Association, will be offered as a credit course at the graduate or postgraduate level, and it is expected that teams of teachers from a number of Kentucky school districts will be enrolled.

Director of the Workshop is Miss Beulah Fontaine, a classroom teacher, the Jefferson County school system and chairman of the Kentucky Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. She will be assisted by more than 25 speakers and consultants.

General theme of the Workshop, according to Morehead President Adron Dorn, will be "The Role of the Competent Teacher." The course will attempt to define the responsibilities of the teacher as director of learning, mediator of the culture, counselor and guidance worker, member of the profession, member of the school community and liaison between the school and community.

Speakers and consultants who will meet with the Workshop during the three-week period will include Mrs. Edna Lindie, president of CTA; Elizabeth Dennis, president-elect of CTA; Mrs. Dorcas Willis, member of the CTA Board of Directors; Margaret Clayton, Jefferson County school supervisor; Dr. Lyman Ringer, Dean of the College of Adult and Extension Education of the University of Kentucky; Dr. Hugh McShane, of the Morehead State College Department of Education; Roger Wilson, dean of students at Morehead; Arlene Westwick, Northwest regional director of the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education Association; and Mrs. Willie Ray, Kentucky director of NEA.

Included in the tentative program schedule are several symposia. The cultural heritage of Eastern Kentucky will be discussed by Joe Taylor, director of the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board; and Dr. James McConkey and Dr. Henry Carey of the Morehead faculty. The teacher's role in the formulation and enforcement of standards for the profession will be discussed by Louise Combs, director of Teacher Education and Certification at the State Department of Education; Warren

C. Lippin, dean of Morehead State College; and Monroe Wickert, chairman of the State Teacher Commission and Professional Standards.

The organization of education in Kentucky will be discussed by a panel of specialists including Marvin Dodson, executive secretary of KEA; Lillian Lehman, director of the Kentucky School Journal; Dr. N. B. McKilliam, director of research and information of KEA; Dr. Adron Dorn, president of Morehead State College and of EKEA; Verne Horne, KEA board member; Barney Saunders, KEA Planning Board member; and Lucy Pennington and Robert Heltzer, CTA Board members.

Other consultants will include a number of prominent Eastern Kentucky educational, civic and industrial leaders, and representatives of PTA, civic and lay organizations.

Claudine Diwald of Brussels, Belgium, was an interesting guest of Miss Bollin's class in Home Economics on Thursday, July 7. She also visited Mr. Ringer's geography class. Miss Diwald is a European exchange student, who has been studying in the U. S. since last September, and has been a student in one of the high schools in Massachusetts.

Miss Diwald was with a group of 35 international students who arrived by Greyhound bus in Grayson, Ky. Wednesday afternoon for a 36-hour visit. She and Arlyn Kachey, from Turkey, were guests at the home of Mrs. Leona Smith of Grayson, who is a student in the Home Economics class. The purpose of the detailed visits of the foreign students is now being conducted throughout the United States in an effort to help "show America" to the numerous students from foreign countries who have come to this nation in recent years.

This particular group was made up of boys and girls, ages 17-18. While here, Miss Diwald said she was very much impressed with the friendliness of the people throughout the United States and the Home Economics class thoroughly enjoyed their visit with her. As she visited with the class many comparisons of food and customs were made but the one thing that amazed her was the speed with which the Americans prepared a meal. She said her mother usually took two hours for cooking a meal and during that time the aromas filled the house and made them so hungry that everything tasted delicious.

Tom Martin's planter urging at Fun Night for "just one more couple for this set" and "We need one more fella for the Shoddish" brought good results. Although the weather was hot, humid and just plain uncomfortable, the crowd seemed to enjoy participating in and watching the goin's on.

In addition to dances (square and otherwise) and games, there was a fine floor show. Zane R. Patten Johnson, and John Breeding, some of our local WJMR talent, sang; Sue Oh played a piano solo; and Guy Green tapped "country style." How's that for variety?

I think everybody will agree that the Community Recreation class under the direction of Miss Aveni did a bang-up job.

Pianists Heard In Recital

Two of Morehead's most accomplished young musicians were heard in a piano recital Friday evening (July 15) in Morehead. Amy Caudill and Janice Moore, piano students of Mrs. Pave Miles, played their senior piano program at 7:30 p. m. in Morehead State College's Burton Auditorium.

Miss Caudill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caudill of Morehead and Miss Moore is the daughter of Mrs. Ruby Moore of Middletown, O. and Rev. B. W. Moore of Morehead. Both girls graduated this spring from Breckinridge Training School and moved to enter Morehead State College in September.

Both Miss Caudill and Miss Moore have won superior ratings at the State High School Music Festival and they also received superior ratings and national honors in the national piano playing auditions this spring.

While a student at Breckinridge, Miss Caudill was a member of the band, chorus and Minstrel Club, and also played in the college orchestra for four years. Miss Moore, who transferred to Breckinridge from Middletown High School, belonged to the Breck band, Minstrel Club, and Breck Orchestra.

The recital program was presented last Friday evening in Mayville at the studio of Helen A. Caudill, private piano teacher in Mayville and Morehead. The program was:

Trampoline Added To Phys. Ed. Dept.

One of the newest pieces of equipment purchased by the Morehead State College Physical Education Department is a trampoline which arrived two weeks ago.

Anyone may use it under the supervision of a member of the physical education staff.

It will be used in the Stunts and Gymnastics class to be offered by Coach Jamerson, this fall. Persons wishing to make use of the trampoline for other uses must make arrangements with the Physical Education Department.

The cost of the trampoline was about $460.

Resource Use Course Successful

Conservation practices in Eastern Kentucky received special attention at Morehead State College's first workshop in Resource Use and Conservation which met on the campus June 15 through July 1.

Sixty persons, mostly teachers from counties in the Morehead area, were enrolled in the course, and indications are that if their enthusiasm carries over to their students, a program of education in conservation will be well under way all over Eastern Kentucky this fall.

The Workshop was a cooperative project of the college and a number of state and federal agencies, and more than a score of specialists in various fields of conservation assisted in the program. Fifteen students were enrolled under scholarships offered by the Boards of Supervisors of 13 Soil Conservation Districts in the Eastern Kentucky area.

Workshop activities included seven major field trips to study conservation problem and practice situations in the area. Geological and mineral resources were studied, for example, in the Carter Caves region, and wildlife use preservation practices were observed in a wildlife preserve around the college's 26-acre lake. Also studied were soil conditions and land use planning, forest use and forestry planning and water resources.

Instructors in the course included Morehead State College faculty members in the departments of agriculture, biology, education and geography and geology; personnel of the college's Training School, and representatives of governmental agencies. These were: U. S. Forest Service, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, Kentucky Division of Forestry, Kentucky Division of Soil and Water Resources, Kentucky Division of Mines and Minerals, and Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Commission.
