AMERICANS ALL Forrest Wells Prepares For Duty On LST Barge

Forrest E. Wells, F. I.-c, whose wife and sons reside at Morehead, Ky., Route 2, is preparing for duty with the amphibious forces aboard an LST-Landing Ship, Tank—one of the biggest ships in the Navy's invasion fleet.

Forrest E. Wells has been assigned to the crew of an LST at the Amphibious Training Base, Camp Bradford, Va., where he is going through the strenuous training required of beach-landing tank carriers.

Heavier than a modern destroyer, the 300-foot LST lands assault troops and equipment directly onto enemy beachheads, under the protective bombardment of heavy warships and Navy planes. Despite its size and weight, the landing vessel is designed to navigate through the roughest seas, pulling its troops and tanks ashore through huge bow doors.

Elwood Dillon In Serious Condition In New York

Cleve Dillon, Morehead, has notified that his son, Elwood, first class petty officer, in the United States Navy, is in a serious condition in a Naval hospital at New York, following the fourth operation for a spinal injury suffered while in active combat in the South Pacific.

Three previous operations failed to effectively cure the condition caused by the wounds and the fourth was performed last week. Elwood, a cook in the Navy, was granted a leave in the spring and spent several days here. Since returning to duty he has been in an Alabama hospital being transferred to New York two weeks ago for the operation.

Boundary Feud Ends In Double Shooting Scrape

Gibson, Shumate Face Court Charge

Frank Gibson, 60, and Sherman Shumate, 53, both Rowan County farmers, face charges of shooting and wounding with intent to kill when Rowan County Circuit Court convenes at its next term, as the culmination of a boundary fence dispute of many years standing which flared into violence.

Gibson was recently released from a Lexington hospital after almost another wounding from gunshot and other wounds allegedly inflicted by Shumate. Now, Shumate is in a serious condition from gun shot wounds allegedly inflicted by Gibson.

Here is the story as related by county officials—some years ago Gibson and Shumate, neighbors, had a violent dispute over the construction of a fence between their boundaries. The case was in court and apparently settled.

It is alleged that in March Shumate attacked Gibson, firing several shots and hitting the head and body with the butt of a gun. It is charged that the blow on Gibson's skull was so violent that it broke the butt of the gun loose from the barrel.

After being near death for a time Gibson recovered and was released from the hospital a few weeks ago.

Last week Gibson was shot from ambush, according to Sheriff Bill Carter. The Sheriff used bloodhounds in tracing the alleged ambusher and they followed tracks to Gibson.

Gibson was arrested and released Monday after securing a $1,000 bond.

Mayor's Proclamation On Water Shortage

Whereas, the citizens of the city of Morehead are faced with a grave water shortage, caused by the prolonged drought, and

Whereas, the present supply of water is so low that unless there is heavy rainfall within the next few days it will be necessary to strictly ration the small available supply to consumers,

Vacation Bible School Closes Reach Record Enrollment; 208 Attend Tuesday's Sessions

One line reached far up the alley and the other nearly into the street—that was the way the children lined up for enrollment at the Bible School at the Baptist Church. One small student, noting the number of boys and girls dismounting from the county buses, made the fitting description, "They just kept comin' and comin' and comin'."

Rev. Euell H. Kasse, superintendent of the Bible School said, "The enrollment was far beyond our most optimistic expectations," and compared the 190 enrolled for the whole two weeks of the school last year with 176 enrolled on the first day of the term this year. A total of 208 had enrolled Tuesday.

The Baptist Church and the Public School building and playground are being used to hold the children for the interesting and helpful program of singing, worship, memory work, Bible teaching, handicrafts and play. All Morehead parents are invited to send their children and the children of people who are here on temporary business, such as the soldiers and pipe line workers, are also welcome. The hours are from 8:30 to 11:00.

City Faces Rationing Of Water Supply

Water Ceases Spilling Over Dam

Pointing out that Morehead is faced with a severe water shortage, Mayor Watt Prichard today issued a proclamation requesting citizens "to employ every reasonable precaution to use as little water as is absolutely necessary."

Unless there is a heavy rainfall within the next few days strict rationing of water will be mandatory, Mayor Prichard declared.

The city receives its water from Triplett Creek. Morehead State College operates the water plant and sells the city its supply.

Water ceased spilling over a dam below the dam bench above where it could be picked up by the water works pumps.

This is the second straight year that Morehead has faced a water shortage. Last year was necessary to ration the water before the situation was alleviated by water from old clay mines on Christy Creek.

Dr. William H. Vaughan, President of Morehead College, discussed the situation. He and Mayor Prichard discussed the matter at length yesterday.

It has been pointed out that the supply can be made to last for perhaps 20 to 30 days if all citizens cooperate in conserving it. Watering lawns, washing of cars, etc., should cease, the Mayor stated.

Bond Drive Is Extended Through Rest Of Month

Although Rowan County has exceeded its bond quota by more than $50,000, it fell a little short of reaching the mark set for sale of series "E" bonds.

The county, however, contributed its share in helping put Kentucky over as the number 1 state in proportionately exceeding its quotas in the United States.

The $10,000 War Loan drive has been extended through the balance of July. Dr. William H. Vaughan, Chairman of the local drive, expressed confidence that the "E" bond quota would be exceeded by then.

CIVILIAN GOODS: Back Production

With War Mobilization Director James P. Byrnes intervening, Donald Nelson's plans for a gradual reconversion of industry to civilian production through use of idle plant facilities and surplus materials and manpower were made effective over the strong opposition of the military chiefs.

As the military chiefs contended that Nelson's reconversion plan would affect war production, Senator Harry Truman (Mo.) of the Senate's war investigating committee, asserted that army and navy representatives wanted to create a manpower surplus.

Nelson's plan for reconversion also has been strongly backed by certain interests which demand no resumption of civilian production until war work peters out and all companies are in a position to start manufacturing.

SCORES POLISH INTELLIGENCE SERVICE

Stalin was quite critical about the Polish intelligence service inside Poland and the reports of alleged conditions it had made to Premier Mikolajczyk. All this was done because the Polish intelligence service was deceived the Polish agent in London.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON, D. C. ORLEMANSKI-LANGE TALKS WITH STALIN

Two of the most important diplomatic events in Washington since the receipt of the White House recently, not from any trained diplomat, but from two private American citizens—Father Orlemanski of Springfield, Mass., and Prof. Oscar Lange, Polish-American leader and a teacher at the University of Chicago, both of whom had interviews with Stalin, although less widely publicized than Father Orlemanski's interview, Professor Lange had a long separate talk with Maxim L. Stalin and, perhaps because he was not circumscribed by church superiors, his report, on the results of his interview, the more penetrating and helpful.

New conclusion drawn from the Orlemanski-Lange reports is that Polish-Russian relations are most troublesome problems of the war, are on the eve of a wholesome improvement, probably beginning about now.

It was shortly after the receipt of the Lange-Orlemanski reports that Premier Mikolajczyk in Washington, Poland, was interviewed by the press and by other officials who exceeded expectations.

Polish-Russian relations can be settled amicably, one of the Polish spokesmen said. Peace will be removed. Poland, for a hundred years particularly governed by Russia, has a deep-seated aversion to the Soviet, while the Russians, having borne the main brunt of the European war, are not disposed to force them as they are entitled to areas feverishly wrested away from them after the last war.

Polish boundaries in their separate interviews with Stalin, the two Polish-Americans, Father Orlemanski and Professor Lange, heard the reassuring words from the strong man of Russia that his government wants a "strong, independent, united Poland which will be strong both internally and externally, but which will be favorably disposed to the Soviet Union."

Stalin went even further and said that he was ready to help create a new Poland. "I am ready to build an army for Poland," he said.

"Poland should claim East Prussia," Stalin said, "and should also claim Upper Silesia, the German territory, up to the Oder river, including Stettin."

RUTH WYETH SPEARS

This bag was planned as a beautiful gift for someone who was finding days in bed difficult enough without having books, magazines, writing materials and spectacle cases scattered about and forever getting lost. If you like to take an assortment of reading matter to bed, sick or well, you will enjoy a bag like this. Its hanger neck may be sewed to box springs and there you are with everything at hand.

The bag shown here was made of a remnant of heavy cotton upholstery material in tones of green with a touch of red in the pattern. The red was repeated in the satsum lining. The patch gives all the dimensions and shows how the lining and the outside part were made. A coat hanger was cut down to measure 12 inches from end to end and was placed between the lining and the outside; these being stitched together around the top, as illustrated.

Ack-Ack Crews Do a Good Job Covering Yank Landings Crews Sleepless, Fight On Night After Night Clearing Air of Axis

By Ernie Pyle

NORMANDY.—One of the most vital responsibilities during these opening weeks of our war on the Continent of Europe has been the protection of our unloading beaches and ports.

For over and through them must pass, without interruption, and in great masses, our buildup of men and material in sufficient masses to roll the Germans clear back out of France.

Nothing must be allowed to interfere with that unloading. Everything we can lay hands on is thrown into the guarding of those beaches and ports. Allied ground troops police them from the land side.

Our two navies protect them from sea attacks by day. Our great air armagery makes daytime air attacks rare and costly.

It is only at night that the Germans have a chance. They are pecking away at us with night bombers, but their main success in this so far has been keeping us awake and making us dig our foxholes deeper.

Here on the beachhead the falling dark becomes a real nuisance. In the few times I've known that to happen in this area, it has been during the last few weeks, periods of exploded shells have been a nuisance. The ack-ack pecking away at us with night bombers, but their main success in this so far has been keeping us awake and making us dig our foxholes deeper.

When the planes are really close and the guns are pounding out a mania of sound, you put on your steel helmet in bed and sometimes you drop off to sleep with it on and wake up with it on in the morning and feel very foolish.

American anti-aircraft gunners have been playing their largest part in the Battle of Normandy right on D-Day and shortly after H-Hour. Ordinarily you would expect the anti-aircraft coming ashore with the infantry, but a little bit of everything came ashore on that memorable day—from riflemen to tanks, from combat engineers to chaplains—and everybody had a hand in it.

The ack-ack was given a place in the very early weeks because the general in command felt that the Germans would try to get the strength they had onto the beaches that day and he wanted his men there to report it.

It turned out, the Germans didn't use their planes at all and the ack-ack wasn't needed to protect the landings from air attack. So, like many other units, they turned themselves into infantry or artillery and helped with the battle of the beaches.

When I started reading up on material for this ack-ack column, I ran onto the story of one crew of ack-ackers who had knocked out a German plane on D-Day. The crew consisted of one unit half of its men and gun.

When I started reading up on material for this ack-ack column, I ran onto the story of one crew of ack-ackers who had knocked out a German plane on D-Day. The crew consisted of one unit half of its men and gun.

So I hunted up this crew to see how they did it. They had been moved several miles inland. I found them at the edge of a small open field far out in the country.

They had been dug into the big ground. Two men sat constantly in their bucket seats behind the gun, waiting watch on the sky even in the daytime. The other men had their pup tents under the bushes, or just loafed around and brewed an occasional cup of coffee.

The commander of this gun is Sgt. Hyman Haas of Brooklyn. Sergeant Haas is an enthusiastic and capable young man who was practically beside himself with delight when I showed up at their remote position. He had had this return back in New York but hadn't supposed our trails would ever cross in an army this big. When I told him that he had been in the front about his crew he beamed and said:

"Oh boy! Wait till Flatbush avenue hears about this!"

They came ashore behind the first wave of infantry. A narrow valley leading away from the beachhead was blocked by the German 88, which stopped everything in front of it. So Driver Bill Hendrix from Sharpsville, Pa., turned their half-track around and drove the front end back into the water so the gun would be pointing in the right direction.

Then the boys poured 23 rounds into the pillbox. Some of their shells hit the small gun silts and went inside. At that point the firing, what Germans were left came out with their hands up.

The boys were very proud of their achievement, but was kind of amused at their modesty. One of the girls said:

"The lieutenant is Wallace Gibbs of Charlotte, N. C. The other members of the crew are Corp. John Jourdain of New Orleans; Private Frank Barlioumou of Urey, Pa.; Private Joseph Sharps of Cleveland, S. C.; Pfc. Frank of Brooklyn; Corp. Austin Laurent Jr. of New Orleans; and Private Raymond D. B. of Colesville, Md."

It is indeed a spectacle to watch the anti-aircraft fire when the Germans actually get over the beachhead. All the machine guns on the ships lying off the beaches cut loose with their red tracer fire. Their bullets are in all directions and fuse into a sky-filling pattern. The lines of search beams and searchlights are like streams of red water from hoses. The whole thing becomes a gigantic, animated fountain of fire in the black sky above the beach. It is the split-second golden flashes of big-gun shells as they explode high up toward the stragglers. The noise is terrific. Sometimes

'Ma Petite Cherie'—Is Now a Jeep in Normandy

It is the custom throughout our army, as you doubtless know, for soldiers to paint names on their vehicles. They have names on airplanes, tanks, jeeps, trucks, and practically everything that moves.

Well, the boys have always started painting French names on their vehicles. I saw a jeep named "Blonnet," which means "blond," and a motorcycle named "Char de Mort," which means "chariot of death."

Lynn Chambers' Point-Saving Menu: Chicken Salad with Cucumber and Parsley, French Fried Eggplant, Rye Bread and Butter, Pecan Custard Pie, Beverage.

many favorites this winter: Carrot-Orange Marmalade. (Makes about 9 glasses) 6 oranges, 4 lemons, 2 cups sugar, 5 cups prepared carrots, 5 cups sugar.

Remove peel from the oranges and 2 of the lemons and chop. Soak in water overnight and drain, saving water.

Chop oranges into small pieces, dice carrots and put through a food chopper. Mix the pulp, chopped oranges and carrot, and cook covered, until tender with as little water as possible.

Add sugar and water in which the peels were soaked and cook uncovered until thick and clear. Add juice of the lemons, cook 5 minutes longer. Pour into hot, sterilized glasses or jars.

Peach-Cantaloupe Preserve. Conserve is very much like jam, but it usually has raisins or nuts or both in it.

1 pint prepared peaches, 1 pint prepared cantaloupe, Juice and grated rind of 2 lemons, 3 cups sugar, 1/2 cup English walnuts.

Wash and peel peaches and dice. Remove seeds from cantaloupe, and set an all-time record for golf-meet attendance with a thundering herd of 67,000 spectators.

1943 Winners: Last year's All-American tournaments drew entrants from 71 states and set an all-time record for golf-meet attendance with a thundering herd of 67,000 spectators.

The last step in jelly and jam making is very easy one. Four paragraphs for the hot fruit mixture as soon as it is ladled into glasses and skinned.

Jelly Combinations: Juice Used Sugar Needed Currant, 2 cups 4 cups Red Raspberry, 2 cups 4 cups

Apple, 2 cups 4 cups Pineapple, 2 cups 3 cups

For those who wish to make jellies out of fruit juices canned this summer, there is a simple procedure to follow.

Follow directions for preparing fruit or berry juice as in jelly-making recipes. Do not add fruit or slimmer unless recipe directs it.

Remove jars and finish sealing, if necessary. Cool as rapidly as possible but avoid a draft.

To Make the Jelly: When you desire to make the jelly, use your favorite recipe or that with the commercial packet.

Salads are refreshing as lunch-dishes or supper main dishes. You'll like vitamin C filled oranges sliced on lettuce with one of the following salads in the middle:

Thickened tuna or egg salad, vegetable cheese mixed with silvered, seedless grapes; or, cooked prunes stuffed with peanut butter.

THE coming All-American golf tournament at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago promises to be one of the greatest sports spectacles of the year.

The world's top-flight golfers will shoot for a tournament purse amounting to $42,387.50 in war bonds and stamps.

Stated for August 21-27, the annual classic—Open, Amateur and Women's Open—will be played in accord with United States Golf association rules.

The top prize for amateurs of 16 holes will be $10,000 in war stamps. May would be more than pleased to increase that letter figure for the senior purse, but the winners that be of the association found upon such a procedure. So May decided to accept the edict.

The winner of the All-American Open will be (somehow gloriously) acclaimed world champion golfer of Chicago, who will receive $2,000 in war bonds as first prize in the All-American Open plus $6,000.50 in war bonds.

Other prizes in the Open will range downward from $5,000 in war bonds for second place to $1,000 for tenth place and $500 for twentieth place.

Prizes in the Women's Open will include awards of $500, $300, $200 and $100 in war bonds and many smaller prizes in war stamps.

USO Stages Mock Wedding

At the USO party on Saturday, July 15 in honor of the graduating Tenth Division, a formal wedding, which had been announced as a special feature, turned out to be a sensation. Early in the evening the Community Sing on the terraces of the College Library was led by Miss Ruth Boggs, college senior from Maysville, accompanied by Mrs. Curt Bruce. The wedding atmosphere was established with customary dignity through piano music by Mrs. M. E. Gorge and vocal solos by Mrs. C. L. Cooper. As the bridal procession began emerging from the Library doors the solemnity of the occasion broke down completely. Costumes prepared by the participants with the assistance of Mrs. John Palmer and Mrs. John Will Holbrook, and facial make-up by Mr. Tom Young, made the wedding procession quite a spectacle.

In order of appearance the procession was as follows: Groom's Mother - Mr. J. R. Wendel. Groom's Father - Mr. Glenn Lane. Bride's Mother - C. H. Follis Sk A 2-c. Bride's Sister - C. E. Berry Em 2-c.

Preacher - Lt. E. M. Callendo. Groom - Dr. J. D. Falls. Best Man - A. A. Negro Sl-c. Ushers - Chief L. F. Austin, T. W. Spaeth MM 1-c, E. A. Coleman M 2-c, C. C. Sarge, Sk 1-c. Bridesmaids - Dr. W. C. Wine-land, Mr. John Francis, Mr. G. C. Banks, Mr. M. E. George. Maid of Honor - Dr. F. A. Dudley. Ring Bearer - Lt. M. W. Rowan. Flower Girl - Chief J. W. Leitch. Flower Boy - Mr. John Palmer. Bride's Father - J. D. Boulden Em 2-c. Bride - Dr. E. L. Shannon. Train Bearers - T. A. Douglass Sk 1-c, E. V. Klieber M 1-c.

Mrs. E. L. Shannon and Mrs. W. C. Wine-land, the flower committee, furnished everything from the bridesmaid's wrist bouquets and the baskets of roses with which the path was strewn to the bride's lovely cabbage bouquet.

During and after the hilarious ceremony read by Lt. Emil ("Reverend") Callendo, flash light photographs were taken by Mr. Charles Morris and Mr. J. G. Black Jr.

Turning from the altar, the bridal party moved to the upper terrace where Mrs. M. C. Crosley and Mrs. Ed Williams awaited the mat the bride's table. With a big butcher knife the six-foot "bride" made the first ceremonial cut in a large wedding cake, which was then served out by Mrs. W. C. Wine-land and passed by the Junior Hostesses. Tokens concealed in the cake were used to award long distance telephone calls to the following service men: J. P. Murphy, Philadelphia, Pa.; Floyd L. Smith, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Virgil Daniel, Perrington, Michigan; and Raymond O'Bryan, Herkimer, N. Y. The last part of the evening's entertainment was social dancing on the terraces.

The program for the entire evening was arranged under the supervision of Miss Mildred Morris, USO Social Chairman, and Mrs. J. D. Falls, Director. The local USO, like other stations throughout the nation and a big butcher knife through the gifts of the American people to the National War Fund. The purpose of the USO is to furnish wholesome recreation for people in uniform. Although the number of Navy personnel in Morehead is now gradually decreasing, the full service of the local USO Center will be maintained until the Morehead Naval Training School is formally disbanded.

Fear Fires in Cumberland

"Lack of rain has made the Cumberland National Forest tinder dry," said Henry Sipe, Acting Supervisor of Winchester, Ky. today. He said fires had been gradually increasing in number for the last few weeks. Fires were reported in McCreary County on each of the last three days. Chief causes of recent fires have been smokers, campers, and folks smoking bees out of trees. Some fires have also occurred on lumbering operations. Sipe called on all citizens to be unusually careful with fires. Smoking should be done only while standing still in the woods where a spot can be cleared of leaves for the ashes to be tramped into the ground. Campfires should be watered out.

War, Drouth Result In Many Shortages Here

Sugar, Ice Among Scarcest Items

The war and the drouth combined this week to bring a number of shortages to Morehead.

The most serious is the potential water shortage with rationing likely within the next two weeks.

Morehead stores have been without sugar for almost two weeks as local wholesale houses exhausted their supplies. Transportation bottle-necks were blamed for the sugar shortage, but Morehead wholesalers are expecting shipments this week.

The Morehead Ice and Coal Company reported that only a part of the demand for ice can be met. Customers are purchasing ice as fast as the company can place it on sale, thereby almost eliminating truck deliveries.

Morehead also has a shortage of all brands of cigarettes, although shipments are expected this week. For more than a week few business houses have been out of the leading brands.

HE PLAYS THE FIELD OF SPORTS

... round the clock and round the calendar, Ruby Reports in timely sequence to thrill Sport Page enthusiasts

EARL RUBY... Sports Editor of The Courier-Journal, plays to a full gallery of sporting males. It's a great life, Earl agrees, though a bit strenuous at times. No arm-chair philosopher, he actively covers the Sports front. Busier than a bird dog on opening day of quail season, Earl takes to the field and points up significant features of baseball, high school and intercollegiate basket and football, fishing, racing and hunting...

Editor of America's most complete Sports Section outside the three major metropolitan centers, Ruby says it's people who make sports interesting... however, he likes to give readers an occasional flashback to the origin of main sporting events.

A native son, Earl began doing sport reporting in 1921, after school hours at Du Pont Manual High, continuing through years at University of Louisville and Jefferson School of Law. Then Ruby took a flyer as Sports Editor of The Ashland Independent before returning here as full-time sports writer. His natural interest, experience, and the law of averages, eventually led to the "big chair" of sports. Popular features of "Ruby's Report" are "Kentuckianities," always chockful of names, and "Questions and Answers," which, measured by the mail bag, pulls the most box-office. Only a fraction of his letters break into print... the rest are answered personally by the Sports Editor himself.

Suddenly the rider described Breezy's body. He looked at her carefully around and particularly up-her, then dismounted and led his horse over to the body...

The rustler's horse jumped at the sound of the shot but did not run and Pedro noticed that on the saddle there was a rifle, a pistol and a butt of a rifle sticking out...

Women of our day have unprecedented liberty of action and almost limitless opportunity to show their ability to meet responsibility and accomplish great things...

To those who seem surprised at their response to nation's need, the church could well testify that women have always served well in those things which count most for God and country...

But all too often conditions in the world are not normal and woman, like man, is thrown out of the customary orbit of existence...

Many of the distinguished national and spiritual leaders who were active in particular during the war have accomplished their high and noble destinies...

III. A Woman Can Fight (vs. 13-16)

True it is that it was Barak who led his army, but he went out at the word of Deborah. Hers was the responsibility for strategy...

Then, too, one ought to say a word of sad and earnest admonition to those women who have not used their great freedom in our day as a license to live wicked and ungodly lives...

Christian women have the golden opportunity of setting a fine pattern of useful living now. Let them make the most of it, for the glory of God.
