Normandy—British troops close on German snipers in bitter fighting inside battered stronghold of Caen.

EUROPE: Spotlight Switches

The spotlight of fighting in Normandy continued swinging back and forth between the Americans on the west and the British on the east, with first one, and then the other, exerting the strongest pressure against the German lines in the general drive into the interior.

Reach 'Gothic Line'

Picking their way cautiously through extensive mine fields, and pushing ahead under the heavy shelling of the enemy, Allied troops drove up before the Germans' vaulted "Gothic line" in northern Italy, one of their last defensive systems guarding the rich industrial and agricultural country beyond.

FOOD: Storage Peaks

As of July 1, the U. S. larder was well stocked, with supplies of meats, dairy products, fruits and vegetables at high levels and appreciably above those of the same date last year.

BUSINESS: War's Toll

No less than 1 1/2 million business enterprises in the U. S. have been affected by war conditions, the U. S. department of commerce reported, with 1,073,000 closing their doors and another 441,000 reorganizing or transferring ownership.

DISEASE

Infected and improperly processed meats sold through Black Markets have caused an increase in food poisoning in the United States. About 5 per cent of those affected die. The disease is transmitted from animals to humans, either through direct contact or through meat or dairy products.

TELEPHONES: Three more groups have just been added by the Office of War Utilities to the priority list for telephone service. These are:

CIVILIAN GOODS: Allow Manufacture

Manufacturers with available facilities and manpower will be able to enter into the production of approximately 124 scarce civilian articles August 15 under the limited reconversion program drawn up by the War Production board.

Under the plan, whereby manufacturers would be denied output of any goods if they refused to turn out any of the listed materials for which they were equipped, articles to be produced include cooking utensils of glass, aluminum, enamel, and stainless steel, knives and fork sets, spray guns, lamp bases, and machinery and supplies and plumbing fixtures and sanitary members.

Although the plans do not call for the production of heavy goods like refrigerators, washing machines, etc., permission has been granted for manufacture of quantities of bicycles, sewing machines, shotguns and vacuum cleaners.

Auto Production

Even as the WPB's limited reconversion program was about to go into effect, the national committee of manufacturers frowned upon plans for preparation for a resumption of production of civilian vehicles.

People in the News

Recent visitor of the Fifth U. S. air force in the Southwest Pacific was Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., who studied the workings of twin engine fighters and bombers and participated in the planning of new designs.

While flying wing to a squadron commander known for his gun work, Lindbergh's plane was shot down, 200 more gallons in his tank than he did when their formation landed.

WORLD FUND: Stability Is Goal

Aiming to preserve peace by stabilizing the international economic conditions of the various countries, the World Fund for Peace, an organization with an $8,800,000,000 fund for providing currency to different states to settle trade balances and participate in foreign commerce, without being forced to exchange their own money below its normal value when it was in demand.

PEARL HARBOR: New Investigations

Because of the important military nature of much of the evidence to be presented, the navy announced that the hearings of its special board of inquiry into the Pearl Harbor disaster on Dec. 1941, would be closed to the public.

TELEPHONES: Three more groups have just been added by the Office of War Utilities to the priority list for telephone service. These are:

SMALL OVER RECONVERSION

One of the most legislative marks awaiting the senate when it returns, is reconversion. It has hardly got started on the tremendous task of putting American industry back to peacetime production.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building

In a few weeks now, international cooperation will probably be the subject of heated political debate. The opponents of this benevolent concept will have exhausted their arguments against it, probably end up with the usual statement that "cooperation between nations might be right, in theory but it won't work."

WNU Service, Union Trust Building

While this controversy is going on, the present committee of scientific gentlemen, who won't lose their jobs if the administration changes here in Washington, and who prefer themselves so much about votes as about posts, will be calmly reading the reports of an international organization which has already proved to the satisfaction of the Inter-American Conference on Agriculture meeting in Mexico City that when they are made they will record definite, practical progress.

PIGEONS AND PICTURES

Anxious to insure the speediest possible mailing of pictures of the fighting in France, one American public relations officer prepared special carrier pigeons for the occasion. These were to be sent to London from the front by carrier pigeon. A test was made on July 26, 1944, and the pigeon sent out one day. Nineteen of them have never since been heard from.

HITLER'S HEALTH

Although intelligence officers aren't saying much about it, Adolf Hitler's health has been attracting considerable attention in Germany lately. Fact is, the Allies have several ways of checking on Hitler's physical condition. Captured documents and still pictures have been closely compared with previous films for clues. Likewise, recordings of his speeches and speeches are compared with earlier talks.

Mexican Fruit Fly

Another large project is directed against the life, liberty and evil pursuits of the Mexican fruit fly. That insect, flourishing in western Mexico, has not disturbed us as yet but preventive measures are being worked out and the Mexicans have learned to sterilize their own fruit so that it can safely enter the United States.

A-Mericans-All

(Continued from Page One) plain I've learned a lot and certainly am a most lucky boy to be writing you a letter now. This combat isn't what it is cracked up to be. I have so much to tell you, but I just don't know how to write it and besides you would probably think I was just beating my gums. Enough for this damn day of Saipan.

I received a couple more letters from you today. It sure is nice to hear from you especially out here in the field. Those pictures sure were cute of Vicki and Harold. Did I mention about losing all of my pictures and personal belongings? Well, anyway, I lost all of my pictures, watch, and everything I had them on me. That was about six or seven weeks ago. But all I care to get back home with is old Bob's hide.

I'll write at every opportunity, am feeling fine and getting fat on the field rations. From now until then. Love to all,

BOB.

Sgt. Arlie Ward Member Of Famous Army Division

With the Ninth Division in France—Doughboys of the Ninth Infantry Division, fighting on the Cherbourg Peninsula, have been awarded the newly-created Combat Infantryman Badge by Major General Manton S. Eddy, Division Commander.

This Division, with its now famous red, white and blue rascals shoulder flash, was originally organized in July, 1918, but did not see overseas service in World War I. It made up for this deficiency, however, in World War II, landing in North Africa and fighting its way through Maktassyah and was the first infantry unit to enter Bizerte.

Later the Ninth fought in Sicily as part of Lieutenant General George S. Patton's Seventh Army. Elements landed at Palermo on August 2, 1943, and fought the center of the island, helping the First Division capture Trina, and later to defeat German positions at Randazzo.

Among the members of the division was received the Combat Infantryman Badge are the following: Sgt. Arlie G. Ward, Route 1, Morehead, and Cpl. John L. Horton, of Sandy Hook, are members of this famous division.

The awards were made in England shortly before operations on the Continent began. The Ninth Division, which landed on the beaches with early elements of the invasion, was one of the first to enter Cherbourg.

Cannery Aids In Getting Food To Servicemen

Last year several families sent food to Rowan County fighting men overseas that was canned in the tin cans at the Community cannery. The food was sent to localities where the diet is not like the food at home. As a result letters were written back asking for more.

Mrs. W. H. Rice, Supervisor of the local cannery, lists the following suggestions for foods that might be enjoyed by our fighting men overseas. This food might be sent now and in Christmas boxes later.

Meats: Fried Chicken, Beef Steak, Beef Roast, Hamburger, Sausage, Quail (when hunting season opens) and fish.

Fruits and Vegetables: Pork and Beans, Corn on cob, Succatah, Minicemat, Peaches, Miscellaneous.

- 1. Use the fruit-enameled cans for baking or steaming fruit cakes. These may be sealed and mailed. Each can will hold about two pounds of fruit.
2. Pack cookies and candies in tin and seal.
3. Pack coffee in tin.
4. Put Preserves, Marmalades, Jams, Jellies and Butters in the fruit-enameled cans.
Families desiring to use the Cannery facilities for this purpose may do so any day the Cannery is operating.

of Game and Fish, today pointed out that no person shall take fish by the use of a trot line, hand line, set line or throw line with hooks attached to the line, or to leaders in such a manner that the hooks may be brought closer than thirty-six (36) inches apart, or by use of more than one such line in such a way as to bring the hooks attached to one line closer than thirty-six (36) inches to the hooks attached to the other line.

He pointed out that this act of law was set up to prevent the snagging of fish by putting hooks close together on a line and then putting lines close together across the stream or body of water to be fished.

The new law also states that no person shall use, in taking fish, any line treated with a substance designed to attract animal or plant life, or insect life. Prior to the enactment of this law during the past spring, some fishermen treated trot lines with a substance which attracted aquatic life to said lines and the aquatic life in turn attracted various species of fish and these, in feeding on the aquatic life, became entangled in the hooks, placed close together, on the trot lines.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

About 153 million tons of agricultural products were moved from farms to market by motor vehicles in 1942, and even a greater amount is expected to be transported by highway this year. Shippers of this volume call for the use of a tremendous number of tires.

Only a small amount of rubber may reach us from the Amazon Valley, as the motor efforts are being made to get it out of the jungle, as is indicated by the report that Brazil agencies have moved 20,000 workers to the rubber-producing country.

A Salute To The FARMERS!

They Fight For Victory Too!

There's no 40-hour week in effect on farms in this area. From daylight until dark, our farmers toil hard to produce more food for our own Nation and for our fighting Allies.

Teaming up with farmers in their 1944 Food-for-Victory drive, this Bank provides any financing needed to increase production, to purchase livestock, to buy available machinery, to make repairs or improvements.

Without "red tape" or delay, farmers can borrow here for present or future operations. They also are invited to use this Bank as a safe depository for funds on hand. Come in anytime. You are always welcome.
