

MSU Campus Community:

To allow for flexibility for our campus community during the impending snow and forecasted cold temperatures from wind chill this Friday/Saturday, MSU will operate on Weather Plan B (virtual learning) for Friday, January 19.

We are sending this message ahead of time so that all students who may wish to return home for the weekend ahead of the forecasted weather tonight may do so.

Additionally, instructors planning for virtual learning on Friday will have time to communicate any plans with students.

Operations For Friday, January 19, 2024:

- Weather Plan B: MSU is closed, and all in-person classes will not meet. However, alternative instruction (virtual) learning may continue at each instructor's discretion. MSU's main campus and all regional locations are closed.
- Off-campus student practicums and internships for Friday and through the weekend are also at the discretion of MSU supervisors and in conjunction with the sponsoring organizations.
- All online courses will meet as regularly planned.
- Regional campus locations will report their operations based on the weather in that area, with alerts going to students as soon as it is known.
- Student workers should contact their MSU supervisors for plans.
- MSU Vice Presidents will contact essential employees to assist on campus and provide services for students who are remaining on campus.
- All residence halls will remain open.
- The basketball games are scheduled for tonight, Thursday, Jan. 18. will continue as planned unless further communication is warranted.
- Should it be needed, any student may utilize ADUC and the Recreation & Wellness Center as warming locations.
