Eagles Lose 4th OVC Game As Western Romps 26-6

Mickey Riggs, a reserve senior halfback from Portsmouth, Va., made a believer of a homecoming crowd of 4,500 at Bowling Green Saturday afternoon.

As a result of a pre-game conversation with Denes, Riggs started the game and scored the Hilltoppers' first three touchdowns in a 26-6 Ohio Valley Conference victory over the Morehead Eagles.

Riggs had just one good game in him. Just before the team took the field, Denes called Riggs aside and said: "You have been telling me you had a good ball game in your system, if you ever played it today's the day. You're starting!"

A man of his word, Riggs tallied the first three touchdowns on runs of 13, 48 and 25 yards. The final Hilltoppers' touchdown came on a 23-yard pass from halfback Shifty Griffith to end Jerry Brantley. Brantley kicked the point after all four touchdowns in his system, if you ever played it today's the day. You're starting!"

Morehead scored its lone marker in the waning minutes on a 20-yard pass from Buddy Bell to Leroy Jackson that capped a 63-yard march.

Riggs, who gained 150 yards in just four carries, got Western rolling after the Hilltoppers had its first two offensive series stopped by a fumble and pass interception.

Fullback Delane Simpson started the three-play, 65-yard march with a 40-yard scamper from his own 35 to the Morehead 25. Riggs then made two thrusts for the score. On the first try he picked up 12 to the 13 and on the next play carried 14 across. Brantley kicked the point to put Western ahead 7-0.

The Hilltoppers started their second 12 march with 8:28 left in the second quarter. It was an 80-yard, six play drive. Quarterback Denny Wedge started it with a seven-yard toss to Joe Cunningham. Ken Barrett bulled for seven to the 34 and a first down.

Then Simpson and Riggs took over. Simpson sandwiched two six-yard efforts around a nine-yard punt by Riggs to set the stage for Riggs' 48-yard touchdown gallop.

After a scoreless third quarter, Western shoved across two touchdowns in the fourth before Morehead a score.

The first Hilltoppers tally came on a 70-yard drive that needed only six plays. Riggs ripped off the last 25 yards after Rod Bagby's 21-yard gallop kept the drive alive.

Minutes later the Hilltoppers scored again on the Griffith to Brantley 29-yard heave that climaxed a 53-yard drive.

It was Western's turn. OVC win in four starts and leaves the Hilltoppers with a 4-3 over-all record. The team had Morehead with a 0-4 slate in the league and 4-4 for the season. The Eagles haven't won a conference game since the 1931 season.

Western had a big edge in statistics. The Hilltoppers picked up 19 first downs to 12 for the Eagles; ground out 322 yards on the ground to 60 for Morehead. Each team completed five passes, although Morehead tried 18 to just eight for the Oilltoppers.

Western lost three fumbles and had one pass interception. Morehead didn't lose a fumble and had one pass intercepted.

INTRAMURALS

As of yet a program of intramural sports has not been organized on campus. A little more light has been thrown on the subject, however. It seems the coaches are involved in their particular sports and time seems to be the monkey wrench in the machinery.

We suggest that if this be the case, possibly a senior student or one qualified to do the job could take charge until the coaches can take over. We feel that this program is of utmost importance to the student body and should not be neglected.

FLU BUG

The flu bug apparently took a terrific toll on the Eagles as they were downed by Western 26-6. The postponement of the Nov. 2 game and a two week layoff from practice and training due to effects on the squad as a whole.

"We played our worst game of the season Saturday," stated Coach Paul Adams. "The two-week layoff with only three days of practice hurt us more than I had expected."

The age old struggle for the "ole hawt ride" will be held in Jayne Stadium Saturday with the Eagles pitting their powers against the rugged Eastern squad. By trouncing Western 26-6, Eastern appears to have the upper hand in this annual struggle of the rival schools. The Eagles should be out in full power with every one recuperated from the flu.

GOING TOO FAR?

While speaking about the rivalries, we feel something should be said of the campus paintings that seem to be in season this time of year. We feel that minor acts of school spirit are fine and should be encouraged on any campus.

But the act of distorting and damaging property and buildings is not an act of school spirit but a misdemeanor that sheds a bad light on the whole school. We feel both schools have gone beyond the point of reasonability and are on even terms as of now. Let's let it stop at this point and if they return to our campus we can share them all.

Rah-Rah Boys May Be Officially Recognized Here

By Bob Brewer

Stemming out of Morehead's basketball prowess two years ago there came together a group of fraternal-minded boys who banded together to go on pilgrimages to strange areas. Their purposes was to follow this team on their treks to foreign soil and lend moral support against the evils of big city spectators in order that they might bring home the Han's horn.

Friday night and Saturday classes did not dampen their spirits in regard to backing the potential NCAA champs, but probably acted as an incentive or positive influence.

It was from one of these pilgrimages that caused the springing forth of the name, Rah Rah Boys. On the occasion, the boys were returning from a victorious pilgrimage taken to the hinterland of Tennessee. Rambling down the highway on four rejects and a flat spare, they fell by the wayside in Scovark, at the Tabard. This delay en route prompted a remark from the first of the boys, "This is history as a memorial to his creative originality and to his goitly appreciated humor."

The delay at the Tabard, to celebrate the victory, caused the boys to miss Mr. Pinel's Monday morning principles of Economics class.

Mr. Pinel came into the class room and showed over his bright and studious group, noticing a large vacant area. Seeing this Sincere effort was put forth toward the constructing of the W.R.A. float. The theme of the float was "Too Young", the meaning that the children riding on the float were trying to convey the idea that Middle Tennessee was immature.

Trailing along behind the main drag was Don Caudill in his small scale thunderbird.

Seated in the car was Valerie Caudill, who represented our Homecoming queen. Although we did not place this year we immensely enjoyed the float.

Danforth Foundation Mrs. Vittetow Offers Scholarships Has Worked Many Hours

By George Stevens

Probably the woman with the most patients on campus is Mrs. Frank Vittetow, Morehead's registered nurse. With the current flu epidemic, Mrs. Vittetow's infirmary has become the most popular spot on campus. The infirmary has been jammed with flu ridden students for the past two weeks.

Playing the part of Morehead's nurse to Florence Nunkingale, Mrs. Vittetow has worked tirelessly caring for students affected by the flu which she terms a flu epidemic.

She has been aided in her struggle to squash the epidemic by a crew of eight nurses and students.

Mrs. Zell Walter, registered nurse and Mrs. Pauline Hainey, graduate nurse, have assisted Mrs. Vittetow in caring for over 400 patients in the past two weeks.

The flu reached its peak with a flow of 116 patients entering the infirmary for treatment in one day last week.

Mrs. Vittetow received her nursing training in Miami, Fla. She graduated as a registered nurse from the Jackson Memorial School of Nursing in 1948. Jackson Memorial is associated with the famous John Hopkins Institute and is considered one of the top nursing schools in the country. Mrs. Vittetow studied psychiatry at John Hopkins.

Nothing but words of praise can be said for her tremendous effort to stamp out the wide spread flu. She has been on duty for 12 to 14 hours daily treating and examining the stream of students and caring for the patients in the infirmary in Miami, Fla.

"Stay in bed and don't get exposed is the best advice I can give people after they have been treated for the flu," stated Mrs. Vittetow.

Beaux Arts News

The Beaux Arts Club is planning a cultural trip to Cincinnati in the near future to visit several interesting places. In order to earn money to meet the expenses for this trip, the Art Club is making ceramic pins, earrings, cuff links and ash trays to sell for Christmas.

The pins, earrings, cuff links, and ash trays are made in any color, size, shape, or design. The pins, cuff links, and earrings are $1.00. The ash trays sell for the fifty cents and up.

Some of the points of interest the Art Club will visit will be an art gallery, Coney Island, a Broadway play, Rockwood Pottery, Bituminous Gardens and a picnic in Eden Park, on the bluffs overlooking the Ohio River.

If anyone desires to order any pins, earrings, cuff links, or ash trays, get in contact with Bob Brewer, Joyce Salisbury, Margery Gilbert, or Mrs. Claypool in the Art Club. Get the orders in early for Christmas.

All Danforth Fellows will participate in the annual Danforth Foundation Conference on Teaching, to be held at Camp Minnawac in Michigan next September.

The qualifications of the candidates as listed in the announcement from the Foundation are: men of outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, integrity and character, including serious inquiry within the Christian tradition.

All applications, including the recommendations, must be completed by Jan. 31, 1958. Any student wishing further information should get in touch with our Liaison Officer.

President Adron Doran has named Dr. Palmer Hall as the Liaison Officer to nominate the Danforth Foundation two or not to exceed three candidates for these 1958 fellowships. These appointments are fundamentally "a relationship of encouragement" throughout the years of graduate study, carrying a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions as they may be needed. The maximum annual grant for Fellow is $1,400 plus tuition and fees charged to all graduate students for married Fellows, $2,400 plus tuition and fees charged to all graduate students with an additional stipend of $350 for children. Students with or without financial need are invited to apply.

A Danforth Fellow is allowed to carry other scholarship appointments, such as Rhodes, Fulbright, Woodrow Wilson, Marshall, etc., concurrently with his Danforth Fellowship, and applicants for these appointments are cordially invited to apply at the same time for a Danforth Fellowship. If a man receives the Danforth Appointment, together with a Rhodes Scholarship, Fulbright Scholarship, or Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, he becomes a Danforth Fellow without stipend, until these other relationships are completed.

All Danforth Fellows will participate in the annual Danforth Foundation Conference on Teaching, to be held at Camp Minnawac in Michigan next September.

What's new? Been to the grill lately? Have you heard that new one? Which new one? Yes, seems as though every time one goes into the grill a completely new sound emerges from the jukebox. There are so many new disks being played these days that it's hard to know who's singing what or what's playing now.

The jukebox never rests. It plays constantly from 8:00 in the morning to 9:30 every single night. It's a wonder that it doesn't just blow a fuse and stop working. What is it that keeps it constant on the go? Of course the platters.

It appears that the big favorite right now is "Wake Up Little Suede" by the Everly Brothers, on the Cadence label. This record, incidentally, has sold more than a million copies in little less than two weeks, making it the fastest disc to break a million in the label's history. The very record now holds some kind of a record in the disc business, since their first two hits, "Teen-Aged Breakin'" and "Let's Twist Again," have also sold more than a million copies.

Dr. Heaslip Experiments With Radiation Project

By June Flanery
As atomic fallout increases, what is going to happen to plants and animals? Although few people know it, this problem is being worked on at the present at Morehead State College.

The United States Government has given Dr. Margaret B. Heaslip a grant to do research on this question, and also it supplies funds to buy any needed equipment or to pay any assistants whom she may hire. When the equipment is no longer useful to Dr. Heaslip, it becomes the property of the college.

Dr. Heaslip and her two assistants, Danny Owsley and Julius Malinowski, collect various seeds from the woods and take them to Oakridge, Tennessee, to be irradiated to see if they can withstand fallout. Following the test, the seeds are returned to a special laboratory set up by Dr. Heaslip in the attic of the Science Building.

Not only the project, but the laboratory itself proves quite interesting. The attic, previously used for a storage room, was being of no constructive value to the college, and now it has the resemblance of a green house. Shelves bearing many species of seedlings line the walls, and they are kept a close distance to bright lights suspended directly above them. The lab also contains a soil bin, two refrigeration units, and two hydrothermographs for testing the relative humidity of the air.

If you have ever gathered seeds in the fall and planted them in the spring with no results, Dr. Heaslip offers an explanation. She says that most seeds require a dormant period and if they are kept in doors all winter, they cannot possibly germinate in the spring.

Therefore, the seeds in the laboratory are kept in mild refrigeration for the length of time required for their dormancy. Some seeds need little or no dormant periods at all.

The refrigerators are kept at a temperature right above the freezing point which is the average temperature they should normally endure.

How much radiation can various seedlings withstand before they die? To acquire an answer to this question, Dr. Heaslip submits different species of plants to radiation and then plants a sample of each, both indoors and out. The garden is located in a College activities have always been highlighted by dances. Morehead has already been the scene of two social functions this year.

When attending the dances on Morehead campus we notice that all the students display their finest set of manners. They are considerate and courteous to each other and thus make an enjoyable evening.

At such functions everyone is dressed accordingly. The boys usually have little trouble deciding what to wear for they always look good in a suit or sport jacket and tie. The girls, however, must know whether the dance is informal, semi-formal, or formal, before they can choose their outfit for the evening.

Many students, who attend the college dances, do not enjoy dancing but would rather sit back and watch. As the dancers either "float" or "stumble" by we watch them and in our mind notice the various categories into which they can be classified.

We decided there are five classes our dancers can be put: the Pythons, the Ghosts, the Pedestrians, the Grasshoppers, and the Dancers.

First we have the Python. They are the ones who wind their arms about each other and when the dance is over walk off the floor breathless and looking as though they had a backache or a stiff neck.

Next comes the Ghosts. They are creatures who are scared to death of each other. Most of the time they have faces so pale that we wonder if they're alive. They stand so far away from each other that we wonder if they are really dancing together or alone.

Next in line come the Pedestrians. Dancers of this type usually walk from one end of the floor to the other, whereupon they then turn around and start all over. This little game goes on all night finally cuts in and breaks it up.

Now we come to the Grasshopper. They are the ones who think that when the band is playing a slow number it's playing "Tiger Rag". Before they are halfway around the floor they are noticed by the other dancers, become slightly embarrassed and leave the floor.

Finally we bow to the Dancers. They are not experts at the art of dancing but know just what to do.

They don't sway from side to side and jump up and down. They at least listen to the music and take a step when they are supposed to do so. The right kind of steps that go along with the beat of the music. We can be sure that these two dancers will enjoy their evening of dancing.

Next time you attend a dance see if you notice any of these types. Of course the dance will have to be at another school. We classify all of these MSC students as "Dancers."

To go along with our story about the various types of dancers, we decided to add a short story we heard some time ago.

They met Steve. There they were, all lined up against the wall as the witness walked in. None of them had any money to buy a drink. It was a pity, but they stood there, looking on, smiling, seeming brave while inside they all knew it was useless; they were scared.

How could they even appear calm, were the thoughts of the on-lookers? Weren't they worried? Yet, they stood there, not one dared to move or say anything, knowing that if he did she would no longer be a member of the group. Who would be the first one to receive the question, was the thought going through their own minds while their hearts pounded madly.

At last the dreadful silence was stopped at a brave young fellow walked up to one of the girls and asked, "May I have this dance?"

As they slid across the dance floor all was at peace, for the rest of the fellows were following the example of the one brave boy who asked a girl to dance.

Fashions—The fashions featured in this issue pertain to sport clothes and a strong influence of casualness. Blue dyed pants, a white crew neck over a red turtle-neck sweater, with red flares and purse start off our fashion parade.

Another fashion on parade is the smart, tailored blazer in a variety of eye-catching colors. This can be worn with casual skirts, slacks of the popular berud shorts with gay colored knee socks.

Symbols of the new college look in sweaters is the pull over type, long enough to have pockets in the front. Smart looking for any casual occasion.

The latest fashion trend for the girls is a leotard. Preferably in bright colors it is to be worn with Bermuda skirts of the regular length skirts.

Shoes for that casual look, to go along with the clothes, are colorful flats, ballet slippers, and always popular saddles, and the hawkeye shoe found in a variety of casual styles.

Grill Slowly Becomes A Sightseer's Dream

By Phyllis June Flanery

A cigarette butt, strewn floor, tables laden with text books, cigarette ashes, and coke cups, a red-hot Presley record, and chairs scattered everywhere—these are the sights that greet a sightseer by various individuals anywhere from four to seven feet in height are the most natural and expected objects found in the grill at most any time of the day.

The average student entering the grill at this time or when it is closed. At this time the waitresses have a few minutes to tidy the place, but the whole routine soon starts again.

Wow! Yes, but both faculty and students seem to forget their worries in this friendly, smoke-filled atmosphere.

After a five to ten minute wait, he purchases a small coke, winds his way through chairs and tables, dodges jitter-buggers, and searches for a few of his old cronies to chat with.

This isn't a hard task, because most of them are piled in the same booth. The problem, however, is to get a word in edgewise.

After sitting through 30 minutes of wild, loud music and a continuous babbling of voices, he eats his last chunk of ice and grinds his cigarette under his heel and decides that he must get in approximately five to ten minutes of studying before an important test. He then uses the same procedure leaving as he did upon entering.

Thursday—9:45—chapel. About the only time the grill is evacuated is at this time or when it is closed. At this time the waitresses have a few minutes to tidy the place, but the whole routine soon starts again.

Wow! Yes, but both faculty and students seem to forget their worries in this friendly, smoke-filled atmosphere.

ACTIVE TB

The Public Health Service and the National Tuberculosis Association have released a statement that there is an estimated total of 250,000 active tuberculosis cases in this country, despite a drop of nearly 30 per cent in the last five years. Almost 40 per cent of the total are "unknown" to medical and health authorities.

WE ARE PROUD . . .

That our plant is located near Morehead State College . . . A fine, progressive institution serving the young men and women of Eastern Kentucky.
