

Final Leaf Average To Be $93.44

The burley auctions in Kentucky have all but ended with only a few scattering sales remaining to dispose of a small amount of leaf.

The state-wide average at the close of sales is $93.44 per pound weight, and this average will probably be unchanged by the small "clean-up" auctions.

The area picture - The Morehead warehouses closed last Wednesday. For the season, Morehead disposed of 11,191,982 pounds for $1,392,278.35.

The Morehead market was one of the few to show a poundage increase over last year. Sales at Maysville totaled 22,701,912 pounds. The average there was $93.02 and total money $2,116,737.13.

St. Sterling sold 13,444,314 pounds for $1,216,133.50 at an average of $93.80. Volume was down all over the state by 15 to 20 percent because of poor growing conditions.

The awaited and anticipated news among warehousemen and growers is the almost 20 percent increase in poundage allotments for this year. Veteran warehousemen are predicting an increase of at least five percent, and the more optimistic 15 percent.

The Federal-State market news service announced today it would cease gathering auction sale reports as almost all of the crop has been disposed of. The "Burley Sales in Kentucky" tabulation, printed in each issue of this newspaper since auctions started, will not appear after this edition.

Over Million Dollars...

Dave Caudill Estate Finally Resolved

The million dollar estate accumulated by the late Dave C. Caudill, Morehead banker, businessman and farmer, was finally resolved this week.

Mr. Caudill died July 6, 1961. His wife had predeceased him in death. The estate was inherited by his only child, Mrs. Maxine Meadows.

A year after Mr. Caudill died, his daughter, Maxine, passed away suddenly after suffering a stroke at her 2nd Street home. The estate, with the exception of the 2nd Street residence and one personal property, was inherited by her husband, H.M. 'Satch' Meadows.

After acquiring the properties, Mr. (Satch) Meadows sold off the following over a period of about eight years - large farm on Cranston road; Rowan Motor Sales land and buildings; East Main Street pool room; formerly a skating rink, Methodist Church property; large lot at Main and personage; large one now houses Sundry Store, Montgomery and Ward etc.; Stucky Funeral Home, property across from Standard Oil building on First Street; house and lot on Mill Street; Drive-In

MSU Budget For 2 Years Released

Morehead State University will receive a state appropriation of $10.8 million for the next fiscal year (1974-75), and $11.5 million for fiscal 1975-76, according to the recommendation of Gov. Wendell Ford, made Tuesday to the General Assembly.

This is an increase over this year's $10.1 million state appropriation. The budget, through appropriations to the minimum foundation fund, provides for increases to school teachers for the 1974-75 fiscal year of seven percent and nine percent the following year. Much more had been requested by the Kentucky Education Association and school groups.

One request by Morehead State University - $750,000 for renovation of Allie Young Hall - was not included in the Governor's budget. But, an appendix states that this will be given priority if revenues exceed the budget.

Student House Renovation

Environmental agencies of state government reported that $450,000 is needed to renovate the power plant on Bridge Street. Gov. Ford included this in the budget, the funds to come from federal revenue sharing.

Engineers in the Department of Finance said that $750,000 is needed to repair, and make safe, the Doran Student Center on the MSU campus, and Ford placed this amount in the budget. However, the Commonwealth has a pending law suit against the contractor, and any money received from that civil action will revert to the state. The building is now surrounded with supporting timbers and other safety precautions as part of the expensive exterior veneer has been failing.

The operating and debt service budget for Morehead for fiscal 1974-75 was fixed in the Governor's recommendations at $1,866,400. Of this, $10.8 million will be appropriated by the Legislature, according to Ford's recommendations, and the balance of $7,066,400 from student tuition, cafeteria food sales and all auxiliary enterprises on the campus.

MSU Spends $18 Million

The budget at MSU for fiscal 1975-76 is $18,604,500. The Legislature will provide $11.5 million, the balance of $7,104,500 must come from campus auxiliary services. According to the breakdown of this

The budget is certain to be adopted by the House and Senate without change, according to Frankfort sources. Gov. Ford submitted the budget earlier than had been anticipated. Many thought it would not come before the legislators until mid or late February.

Bicentennial Activities Meeting Planned Here

The organizational meeting of the Rowan County Bicentennial Task Force is scheduled Thursday, Jan. 31, at Morehead State University.

Mrs. Ann Brooks of Frankfort, Kentucky regional director of the 1974 Kentucky Bicentennial Celebration, will be the principal speaker at the 7 p.m. public meeting in the U.N. Room of the Adron Doran University Center.

Mrs. Brooks, who is coordinating the activities of 38 counties, will show 25 minute audio slide presentation outlining Kentucky's 200th birthday celebration. Mrs. Betty Ashurst, editor of The Morehead News, and Keith Kappes, director of public information at MSU, are serving as co-coordinators for Rowan County. Price For Rural Water Increased

The about 900 customers of Rowan Water, Inc. will receive a substantial increase in the price they pay for PH water.

The hike in rates was approved during the week by the Kentucky Public Service Commission, following a January 8 public hearing in Frankfort. Notice of the application to increase the price of water appeared in the Dec. 30, Dec. 31 and Jan. 3 issues of the Morehead News, but no group or individual appeared at the hearing to protest.

Cost to the average consumer of Rowan Water, Inc. will be about 80 percent higher from the present $6.25 minimum for 2,000 gallons per month to $7.50 each 2,000 gallons. Most of the 900 customers fall in this bracket.

Cost for bigger users will be about as proportionately higher, although the usage breakdowns are revised in the new schedule. (A table showing the old rates and the new rates appears at the bottom of this story.)

Buy PH Water From Morehead Rowan Water, Inc. was formed in 1968 as a non-profit cooperative. Construction funds were obtained through a loan guaranteed by the federal government, with profits from the operation to be used toward paying the interest and amortizing the bond issue. Rowan Water secures its purified (PH) supply from the Morehead Municipal Utility Plant Board, owned by the city. The cost to them from a master meter is 38 cents per thousand gallons.

This is the first rate increase the rural system has requested. Rowan Water President Sherman Arnett, who was also the chief promoter and did most of the policy work in securing the rural water system, told the Morehead News: "The increase in rates was an absolute necessity as our records open to the public will show." He added that costs had risen alarmingly and "there are other cost factors not considered when the corporation was first formed."

He added that costs had risen alarmingly and "there are other cost factors not considered when the corporation was first formed."

Probably Effective Feb. 1

Rowan Water has different rates for users of up to a five-eighth inch meter; and the larger consumer with meters of three-quarters an inch and up. Although the rate increases are legally effective Jan. 14, they will not be charged to the 900 customers until new payment book (on order) have been printed. Officials believe the rate hike will become fully effective Feb. 1.

Presides Arnett as President, the officers of Rowan Water, Inc. are: Gene White, Vice President; Henry Cline, Secretary and Treasurer; and a Board of Directors composed of Arnett, White, Cline, James Wells and Ted Collins.

Rowan Water, Inc. has about 62 miles of lines. Among the areas served are - South Fork of Triplett, McClay Road, Clearfield, Farmers, Sharkey, Hill, Moore's Flat, Ky. 32 from Morehead to Fleming County, line, all of Cranston and North Fork of Triplett to mouth of Holley, Ky. 32 from Rodburn to Elliottville, Morgan Fork and part of Dry Creek. Long range plans call for extending the lines into the Haldeman and all other rural sections of Rowan County.

Juveniles, Adult Charged In Laundromat Break-In

Three Morehead juveniles, all 17 years old, and a Morehead adult were arrested and charged with a break-in at 4 a.m. that day at Edwood's Econo Wash at 113 Bradley Avenue when about 870 was stolen from laundry machines. In addition to the juveniles, Danny Everett Norris, 18, of 110 Rain Street, was arrested. He was charged with storehouse breaking and entering and lodged in Rowan County Jail awaiting hearing. Present charges were placed against the youths who were lodged in jail until they appeared before Rowan Judge Ott Caldwell. Following a custodial hearing Monday, the one of the youths was sent to the juvenile detention center at Pikeville. The other two appeared before Judge Caldwell on Tuesday and were released to the custody of their parents. State Police Det. Sgt. Clyde Thomas said entry was gained into the building after a window on the north side was broken. City Police Chief Chester Lewis and Asst. Chief James Peltrey made the initial investigation, along with Det. Thomas. The trial for the three juveniles has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday.

A fourth juvenile is being sought by officers in connection with the break-in.

TOBACCO GROWERS ANNUAL MEETING SCHEDULED JAN. 30

All Rowan County tobacco growers are invited to the annual winter meeting to be held 5:00 p.m. Wednesday at the Farm Bureau Building. Dr. Joe Smiley, Extension Tobacco Specialist, will discuss this year's crop and plans for the 1974 crop. He also will discuss latest research and development in the tobacco industry.

Unfinished Cave Run Helps Curtail Flood

It hadn't been planned that way, but it is evident that Cave Run dam, 10 miles southwest of Morehead, played an important role this month in keeping down high water in the lower Licking river valley.

Martin Pedigo, information officer for the Corps, took time out from a rough day of reporting results of removal of a barge of potentially dangerous material from the lock at Markland Dam to explain Cave Run's role.

"As far as monetary savings, we have not yet determined, but we do have readings which show how much the water level was cut at three points below the dam. The crest at Farmers was 20 feet, when it would have been 28 feet without the dam; at Blue Lick and Catawba, 36.5 feet, when the upper measure would have been 40.5 and the lower 39.5.

Pedigo said the dam was placed in operation last weekend for the first time, "though we had planned to," and runoff from 3 1/2 inches of rainfall stored behind the dam.

Helped Hold Back Water

There was no sizeable pool behind the dam, and Pedigo said it was capable from its empty state of handling five inches without passing seasonal stage. Even with its present and growing pool, it can still handle two more inches of rain-runoff without passing seasonal stage and can take 5 or 6 inches without passing flood pool.

"The dam was in full effect and could have stored more. The flooding downstream, near Farmers, came mostly from local rain, and from the fact that the earth is saturated."

Cave Run, which backs the Licking up from a point on the Rowan Both line just south of U.S. 60, rises all the way in Morgan County to a spot near West Liberty.

Miss Engelhardt Presented Award At State Pageant

Miss Leslie Engelhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas G. Engelhardt, who represented Rowan County in the Kentucky State Junior Miss Pageant last week in Louisville, was selected third place winner in the hairstyling event.

Along with being named winner of the hairstyling contest, she received a travel case of hair care products and a hair dryer. Miss Engelhardt, one of 20 participants in the pageant from throughout the state, spent the week in a Louisville home selecting the state pageant personnel and participated in all of the pageant activities.

She will continue to reign as Rowan County Junior Miss through September. Her senior at University Breckinridge, she was sponsored locally and on the state level by the Morehead-Rowan County Jaycees and the Morehead Jayceettes.

Your Social Security

By Thomas B. Thompson - Ashland District Mgr. For Social Security Information Write: District Social Security Offices, 1816 Carter Avenue - Ashland, Ky. - Phone 325-7656.

A record $785,872,000 was paid out in social security cash benefits to residents of Kentucky in calendar year 1973, according to Thomas B. Thompson, social security district manager in Ashland. This was an increase of $281,772,000 over the total paid out the year before.

Legislation enacted in December provides for an 11 percent increase in monthly benefits effective June 1974, with 7 percent of this amount payable for March 1974 through May 1974.

Of the social security benefits paid to beneficiaries in Kentucky during 1973, $465,225,000 went to retired workers and their dependents and $303,137,000 to the survivors of those who had died. Another $117,510,000 was paid to severely disabled workers under 65 and their dependents.

Nationally, social security social security cash benefit payments in 1973 totaled $51,450 million. This was almost $10 billion higher than in the previous year. An estimated $56.6 billion in social security benefits is expected to be paid out in cash benefits in 1974, Thompson said.

At the end of December, 1973, about 29.8 million men, women, and children were receiving monthly social security benefits, nearly one out of every 7 Americans. The number of persons on the benefit rolls increased by over a million during the course of the year, Thompson said.

Retired workers and their dependents account for about 63 percent of all those receiving payments. The survivors of workers who have died, including children and their widowed mothers, aged or disabled widows and widowers, and aged dependent parents, make up close to one-quarter of all those receiving social security payments. Another 12 percent are disabled workers and their dependents.

Although social security is often mistakenly looked upon as a program for the elderly, Thompson said, almost 24 percent of all beneficiaries are under age 60, and 15 percent are under age 22.

It was started in 1965 and though now filling, work continues. The dam received national attention in the spring of 1971 when Engineers voiced fears a cofferdam of earth might give way, dropping a temporary but heavy spring pool onto residents of the lowlands below the dam.

Costs of constructing the dam is about $45 million. Meanwhile, four existing dams in Eastern Kentucky's Levisa Fork drainage basin were credited with saving $11 million along that stream.

The Huntington division of the Corps said total savings in its district, including West Virginia and Virginia, amounted to $21,343,900, with most of that amount on Levisa Fork. They cited the holding power of North Fork of Pound and Flanagan dams in Virginia, Fishtrap and Dewey in Kentucky for holding back the water.

Additionally, Grayson Lake is credited with holding back Little Sandy River enough to save $1,328,500 downstream.

Saving estimates are based on the height the water would have reached if the dams had not been there.

Rowan Man Shot In Neck

A Rowan County man sustained a bullet wound to the neck in a shooting incident about 9:30 p.m. Saturday at a home in the Sharkey community.

State Police at the Morehead Post said a bullet was removed from the neck of Bob Ellington, about 40, Rt. 1, Morehead.

Police said the incident took place at the home of a neighbor of Ellington's. After being unable to locate anyone when arriving in the area, officers went to St. Claire Medical Center where Ellington was undergoing surgery for removal of the bullet.

Arrested at the hospital was Edison McKinney, 42, Rt. 1, Morehead. He was charged with being drunk in a public place and lodged in Rowan County Jail. McKinney pleaded guilty to the charge Tuesday, paid a $7 fine and was released from jail.

State Police said no one has been charged with shooting since the parties involved advised officers that it was "accidental." According to the investigating officer, Ellington was with a group of friends and neighbors when the shooting occurred. State Police reported "there had been some drinking going on and possibly some arguing."

Suit Against Rowan Education Board Is Set For Trial

Trial has been set Monday, Jan. 29, in the seven-week session of U.S. District Court at Catlettsburg in a case styled Grace Amberg vs. the Rowan County Board of Education and Supt. Clifford Cassidy.

In a suit filed nearly two years ago, Mrs. Amberg charged the superintendent and board of education with failing to relieve her in violation of her first and 14th amendment rights.

An attorney for the school system unsuccessfully moved for dismissal of the case, summary judgment for the defendants.

Mrs. Amberg's attorney argued, however, that the primary contention will be toward first amendment rights guaranteeing freedom of speech. He said the unlearned teacher was not reemployed because she was acting politically against Superintendent Cassidy.

The superintendent's subsequent failure to recommend her for reemployment was a "punishment," he said.

Flight Cancellations Curtails Mail Service

Morehead Postmaster Robert G. Fraley advised the Morehead News today that the cancellation of an estimated 1,100 aircraft flights across the nation since Nov. 15, 1973, has a significant impact on mail transport and delivery.

Postmaster Fraley said, "The local postal service is making every reasonable effort to maintain maximum overnight airmail service from Morehead to selected cities in the United States and by second day to most cities in the 48 contiguous states."

The postmaster said the current service standards for overnight airmail delivery to selected cities have been reviewed and the list of cities and the required time of mailing adjusted in order to achieve overnight delivery.

Fraley said, "It will no longer be possible to reach some cities overnight, due to the cutback in air flights." To assist mailers, the new list of cities showing time required for mailing for overnight delivery has been posted in the Post Office lobby.

The cancellation of flights has resulted from the reduction in allocations of jet fuel and aviation gasoline.

Council Tours Hidden Valley; Gets Opinions Of Residents

Mayor C.B. Cornett and members of City Council spent several hours Saturday on a foot tour of Hidden Valley and Forest Hills subdivisions.

The group listened to the residents express their views on proposed street lighting for the areas, the purpose for which the tour was taken.

It was the consensus of the residents of Hidden Valley that street lights are not desired, according to Councilwoman Eleanor Holloway. She said the people are more interested in getting drainage and sewage problems corrected than in having street lights.

Mrs. Holloway said that only three of the seven proposed street lights in Hidden Valley are wanted. Those are in the vicinity of the John Boyd home, Phil Hardin residence, and near the Greenberry Caudill and Wilburn Hardin residences.

Not all residents of Forest Hills were contacted Saturday, however, they will be within the next few days, according to Mrs. Holloway. Thirteen lights are proposed for that subdivision.

Mayor Cornett reported extensive water damage over the Hidden Valley area, noting that some of the people had property damage such as flooded basements. He said the sewage problem, about which some of the residents have complained, was recognizable. Mayor Cornett said this problem has been brought about by water overflowing through the septic tanks. ## Dr. Marsh Relinquishing Position On Plant Board

Dr. N.C. Marsh advised the Morehead News today that he is resigning from the Morehead Utility Plant Board after being notified by City Attorney Paul Blair that his appointment to the board was not valid.

Dr. Marsh, who was appointed by former Mayor William H. Layne at the December 12 meeting, said he has written a letter of resignation to City Council and Mayor C.B. Cornett. He said the letter has been submitted to Attorney Blair for presentation at the next regular meeting of Council.

At the first regular session of the new City Council, Councilman Marvin Moore questioned the legality of the appointment of Dr. Marsh and requested that the City Attorney determine if the appointment was valid.

Attorney Blair advised Dr. Marsh on Monday that Kentucky Revised Statute, under which the Plant Board was created, does not permit a member to be appointed to the board if he has within the last two years prior to the appointment held any elective public office.

Dr. Marsh was a member of Morehead City Council until his resignation at the December meeting, at which time he was appointed to the Plant Board member for 12 years, the vacancy created when Curt Hutchinson resigned. Dr. Marsh, formerly the City Council's representative on the board, has served a Plant Board member for 12 years.

His resignation leaves two vacancies, since a Council Representative has not yet been appointed.

PARKWAY COMPLETED - The last 25 miles of Kentucky's newest toll road, the Cumberland Parkway, were recently opened. The stretch between Russell Springs and Somerset completes the 88-mile road which extends from I-65 near Bowling Green to Somerset.

Publisher's Pen...

Day-by-day jet-downs, and editorial drizzle of the publisher of this newspaper.

Along with our pretty and competent Editor and her husband we attended the annual meeting of the Kentucky Press Association in Louisville Thursday through Saturday.

In one respect it was old hat for the author of this column... we won first place for the third straight year for being the best dressed man at the convention.

On Friday evening of the big entertainment time we wore our tuxedo pants; a pasted green with black velvet lapel coat; a shirt that matched the coat with fluffy lace all over the front; and appropriate tie. Some of the ladies rubbed the lace on the shirt and we tried to reciprocate.

Really, we wouldn't write about "our again winning" the best dressed award except that the tuxedo coat was given to us at Christmas by the Morehead News staff, and the shirt and tie by an employee. We've found it wise to always keep on the good side of the employees because without them this column... in fact the entire newspaper... would never get printed and distributed.

The tuxedo coat was brilliant and sort of glowing. Almost everybody asked us the color and quick like, as usual, we came up with an answer. We told them it was Carribbean lime. We suppose there's no such color as Carribbean lime, but it sounded good. Besides, the coat was lime, and we can pronounce Carribbean real good like the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

We learned the next day that the Oxmore shopping center, near where the KPA convention was held, was deluged with requests for Carribbean lime.

Scores of early bird prizes were awarded. These are given — drawn from a hat — before each business meeting. Our Editor left her early bird ticket for the first drawing in the hotel room, so with Sir Walter Raleigh grace we wrote her name on ours. And, darn it Editor Betty Ashurst didn't win three prizes. It's amazing the luck that comes to most women.

If we had written our own name on that stub the odds are it would have never been drawn.

We did think in writing the above that the Morehead community would be proud that it is amply represented (dress wise) among the powerful news media of the Commonwealth.

As forecast in this column last issue, the Publisher of the Morehead News was elected President of the Kentucky Press Association.

The vote was unanimous and by acclamation. Don Towles, representative of the Louisville Courier-Journal, said he was "making books" that we would win the presidency.

Actually, the KPA elects only one state-wide officer a year. This is Chairman of the Executive Committee. The following year the Executive Committee Chairman becomes vice-president, and ascends the next year to the presidency.

However, additional nominations can be made from the "back room floor."

That Carribbean lime dinner jacket apparently scared off all our opposition. Prediction: Rather than go through impeachment proceedings President Nixon will use that new law governing the illness of a President, and relinquish the White House. He will still be President in name but without authority.

A long time newspaper friend told us a good Catholic joke which we already heard, and may have printed previously in this column. The story concerns a farmer, who lived in a remote area. His wife sent him to the mail box.

About the time he was taking the mail from the box a Catholic priest, in a robe, had a flat tire and the farmer helped him change tires.

Returning to the house the farmer's wife inquired: "What were you doing down by the mail box talking to that woman?"

"That wasn't a woman. It was a Catholic priest who wears a long robe."

"Why were you taking so long talking to a Catholic priest?" the inquisitive housewife pursued.

"Well, he had a flat tire, and I fixed it for him."

"If he had a flat tire, why didn't he fix it himself?" the farmer's wife continued.

"He had a broken arm."

"How did he break it?" the wife asked.

"He said he broke it when he fell off the commode," the farmer replied.

"What's a commode?" the wife wanted to know.

"Hell, woman quit bothering me. How should I know what a commode is. I'm no Catholic."

Glancing at television programs the other day we noted that the address of Gov. Wendell Ford before the Legislature was scheduled at 7 p.m. The next program listed was "The Magician."

Steamtrain Maury Graham, king of the hoboes, says President Nixon could set a great example for the people if he traveled to Key Biscayne, Fla. by freight instead of jet.

Steamtrain said, "I'm tired of flying. I hate to fly. I'm tired of flying. I'm tired of flying." He said the hoboes are willing to help Nixon in dealing with the energy crisis because they've been conserving fuel by riding the rails for years.

"If President Nixon was to travel to Key Biscayne by freight instead of jet," Steamtrain said, "think what an example he would be to the nation. I'd be willing to go along and show him the ropes."

"For maybe a hundred years, us hoboes have been helping to conserve the nation's precious energy resources," Steamtrain said. "You don't see me or Hood River Blackie or Slow Motion Shorty or Mainline John whizzing about in them gas guzzling executive jets."

Steamtrain estimated he has saved Americans thousands of gallons of gasoline by riding the rails instead of driving and has helped cut down on air pollution. He admitted, however, that "after I have been riding around for a couple of weeks there are those who claim that air is contributing considerably to air pollution."

He noted that the nation could take a few tips on recycling from the hoboes, too, especially in the case of Frying Pan John, "one of the greatest of the hobo chefs who has recycled many a supermarket leftover into delicious multicourse stew."

A go-go dancer "claimed her pasties irritated her skin and a woman tried to collect on her husband's insurance while he was still on his death bed.

The cases were on the year-end list of "weird" claims put out by Aetna Life and Casualty to show that all is not just dull figures in the insurance industry.

The dancer lost her right eye and the manufacturer of a surgical adhesive that pasties irritated her skin when she reformed.

The woman who called to ask how to submit a life insurance claim on her husband was asked, "When did he insure die?"

"He isn't dead yet, but he isn't insured die? In live through the night, so I thought I might save some time by not discarding some 1973 calendars we came across (in the reverse side of where a month was printed) the following formula headed: "To Find Day of Week of Any Date." We tried the formula and it really works. Try it and you may want to clip. This is the formula —

Everybody knows the date and year they were born... but, how many of you are aware of the day of the week you were brought into this world? Discarding some 1973 calendars we came across (in the reverse side of where a month was printed) the following formula headed: "To Find Day of Week of Any Date." We tried the formula and it really works. Try it and you may want to clip. This is the formula —

This formula is correct for any date after September 14, 1752.

SAMPLE: WHAT DAY OF WEEK WAS JANUARY 10th, 1949?

(1) Take the last two digits of the year, subtracting any remainder.

This Publisher, whose eye-sight prevents him from obtaining a driver's license, may soon advertise in our own newspaper for a driver. We looked up some of the advertising regulations and came across the section about "sex discrimination." It looks like that we, classified ad, in compliance with federal law, must read to each sex (male or female) be given equal consideration. We've never before had a girl driver, but it sure sounds interesting and exhilarating. Anyway, local scandals make this seem only a very interesting place in which to reside.

This could be bad news — Recently we wrote that the United States Department of Agriculture would increase barley production quotas 15 percent. Our information came from a knowledgeable and policy source. Today, the same source says that USDA may increase the quotas by only five percent.

Further evidence that the rich get richer and the poorer have babies is that David Rockefeller, chairman of Chase Manhattan Bank, lives in a $75 million lottery run by a club made up of the bank's officers.

Some 10,000 persons registered for prizes at the recent opening of the First Security National Bank and Trust Company's new building in Lexington and the winner of the first prize was a vice president of a competitor, the Bank of the Bluegrass.

"Those guys will do anything to get a competitor out of town," Charles Jet III quipped of his upcoming eight trip to Europe.

Tilmon Rochelle's pay raise from $359 a month to $389 an hour doesn't look so good today. Rochelle is behind bars.

The 36-year-old airplane cleaner for World Airways received a raise of $149, bringing his monthly salary to $389. But Rochelle was mum when the first paycheck to include his raise totaled $1568. And he kept quiet the following weeks when his checks totaled $129 an hour.

A company accountant finally discovered a computer foulup was giving the employe more than the company president and Rochelle, who hope had to disburse cashing the checks, was arrested and charged with grand theft.

"Well, he explained, "I just figured they'd finally realized how much I'm really worth."

These are some of the words defined as "dirty" in the newly published "Intelligent Woman's Guide to Dirty Words." Fifty women contributed to the 50-page dictionary which went on sale last week for $1.50.

The words were compiled by Cheryl Sanders, another of the contributors.

"We made a study of the sexist words people are taught to use and then we defined them and hope to discourage use of the words. They operate against women. The only way to do this is to change the meaning of the words."

"As women we are concerned about words used against women."

Ms. Sanders said an upcoming project may be a dictionary on "dirty" sexist words applied to men.

Such as: old man, sugar daddy and stud — to start with.

A computer device to stop slot machine cheaters by sounding an alarm or stopping the machine will see a trial run in Las Vegas casino.

A 60-day trial for the device at the new MGM Grand Hotel was approved by the State Gaming Commission.

Cheaters big Nevada slot machines of $10 million a year, using everything from gum wrappers to hairpins, the commission was told. But the new device will spot any irregularity in a meter and ring a bell or lock the "one arm bandit," an electronics expert said.

office party or the New Year's Eve carousal: + Don't chug-a-lug. It takes the body about one hour to dispose of the alcohol from the average highball, a can of beer or a glass of wine. No one has ever died of thirst at a cocktail party.

+ Eat something. Food slows down the absorption rate of alcohol into the bloodstream and brain. That's why these dips and carpas were born.

+ Sit down when you drink, preferably on purpose. Alcohol has less effect if a person is sitting down having a relaxed drink with a friend than when he is standing or trying to back the new stenographer into a corner by the file cabinets.

+ Don't be determined to hang one on. The experts point out: "If you think you are going to become drunk, the ease and speed with which you feel intoxicated will indeed be increased."

+ Recognize that whisky is faster. Wine and beer are less quickly absorbed into the system. Diluting whisky with water or vodka with tomato juice helps to slow the process. But mixing alcohol with carbonated beverages speeds it up. In fact, you will next morning when your wife looks at you with the horrid refrain: "You certainly made a fool of yourself last night."

+ Don't. Big on outdrink anyone heavier than you. Big on people can take more alcohol than smaller ones. Besides, they have size, height and reach in case of a fight. All you can do is blind them with your forelock.

An NIH pamphlet gives this definition: "A hangover is the body's reaction to drinking irresponsibly... the associated miseries of nausea, gastritis, anxiety and headache vary by individual cases... a universal characteristic of all hangovers is extreme fatigue."

Ade summed it up more succinctly 71 years ago: "Last night at twelve, I felt immense, but now I feel like thirty cents."

"That was long before the dollar was devalued."

We have read many newspapers, reports, magazine articles, surveys etc and nobody has come up with a reason why daylight time the year around will save fuel.

Reports from nearby Lawrence, Boyd, Carter, Greenup, Lewis and Mason counties indicate the average citizen there thinks Gov. Wendell Ford made a mistake by putting them on fast time (Of Kentucky's 120 counties, 12 are an hour faster).

The question has been asked: "Is Rowan County an eastern standard time, or daylight central time?"

We have the official answer. Rowan County, and the aforementioned 108 Kentucky counties are on central daylight time and they'll be on it the 12 months of the year. In other words, we won't advance our clocks in April.

Customers of Rowan Water, Inc., a non-profit cooperative will get a 47¢ rate each year. The Public Service Commission in Frankfort has granted approval to raise the minimum (2,000 gallons a month) to $7.50.

Each additional 1,000 gallons per month will cost $2 instead of $1. (See story elsewhere in this issue of the Morehead News).

This column has said that everything we breathe or use is taxed, except the air we breathe. The ecologists are proposing, in a round-about fashion, a tax on air.

Consumer comments

This column is written by Ed. W. Hancock, Attorney General of Kentucky. Any reader having questions (or complaints) should write to Mr. Hancock at Frankfort, Ky.

With the new year here, many high school seniors are probably thinking in terms of further education. Beware of technical schools offering grand salaries and fancy jobs.

Recently a young lady wrote a complaint to the Division of Consumer Protection concerning a technical school she had enrolled in and was supposed to be able to resign from at any time. She resigned only to be sent a threatening letter telling her to pay $245 or the school would sue for the balance.

This young lady is only one of thousands of young people each year who get involved in phony technical or vocational schools. These schools' advertisements guarantee jobs and large salaries and promise glamorous careers.

When a fast-talking representative tries to hook you into signing a contract, be sure and get the facts before signing.

Contact prospective employers. Ask whether they hire graduates of the school, how many of the graduates have actually been hired, and if the training made any difference in starting salary?

Ask the school representative how many students graduated during the past six months and get their addresses and telephone numbers. Contact them and see if they were satisfied with the school training.

Don't be misled by fancy ads and big words, your future could be at stake.

For answers or suggestions to aid in consumers' problems, Kentucky residents may call the consumer toll-free hotline at 1-800-372-2960 or write the Consumer Protection Division, 309 Shelby Street, Room 110, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Morehead State Faculty Members Will Give Recital

Baritone Joe W. Figg and soprano Vasilie Venetozzi, assistant professors of music at Morehead State University, are presenting a joint recital Tuesday, Feb. 5, in Baird Recital Hall.

Figg will sing seven numbers from Schumann's "Dichterliebe" and "Five Gambling Songs" by Kentuckian John Jacob Niles. He will be accompanied by his wife, Norah Figg, on the piano.

Mrs. Venetozzi will sing "Four Fragments from The Canterbury Tales" in Old English. Her accompanists will be Violet Severy, harpsichord; Susan Mercer, clarinet; and Kenton Cooper, flute.

She will then sing four songs in Greek by modern Greek composers - Lambelet, Nezeritis and Zoras. Lucretia Stetler will accompany on the piano.

Figg and Mrs. Venetozzi will close the program with a duet from Mozart's "Don Giovanni". The recital is free and open to the public.

Breck Students Conduct Invitational Speech Tourney

University Breckinridge School's Speech and Drama students conducted their annual invitational speech tournament for students from across Kentucky and West Virginia over the weekend.

Harrison County High School from Cynthia won the First Place Sweepstakes Award. This trophy is based upon the quality and quantity of work the school exhibits during the tournament. They scored 347 points as opposed to 226 points accumulated by the Second Place Sweepstakes winner - Bourbon County High School. Each school was entitled to enter 30 students. Each student performed for three different judges three times during the day.

Esque and Bell, students at DuVal High School in Griffithville, W. Va., won first place in Debate. Speaking Awards were presented by the Morehead State University Debate Team for third place to Debbie Bell, DuVal High School, for second place to Maria Stefanis from Henry Clay High, and for Best Speaker to Jonathan Esque, DuVal High School. Second place in debate went to French and Miller from LaRue County High. Guin and Stefanis, from Henry Clay won third place in Debate.

First, second, and third place awards were presented in each of the 14 events. The awards were sponsored by the Morehead businessmen. First place winners were: Impromptu Speaking, Tommy Moore from Bardston High; Discussion, Jeff Nickels from Boyd County High; Duet Acting, Terry Jeti and Melinda Noel from Tates Creek High; Analysis, Phyllis Reynolds from Harrison County; Girl's Extemporaneous Speaking, Margy Layton from Bourbon County; Boy's Extemporaneous, Hugh Woodal from Paris High.

Broadcast Announcing, Steve Whitaker from Harrison County High; Original Oratory, Janet Staton from Tates Creek.

Mrs. Nannie Crawford Succumbs Wednesday, Services Set Friday

Mrs. Nannie Mae Crawford, 69, of 206 Blair Avenue, died Wednesday at St. Claire Medical Center following a short illness. She had suffered a heart ailment.

A native of Farmers and lifelong resident of Rowan County, Mrs. Crawford was born May 27, 1904, the daughter of the late Sosenus and Jean Ramey Grayson. She was preceded in death by two husbands, Butler Ramey and Irvin Crawford. Another husband, Fred Shaneyfelt, survives.

Other survivors are three sons, Martie B. Ramey of South, George C. Ramey of Morehead, and Marvin E. Ramey of St. George, Utah; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Abel of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Beatrice Patrick of St. George; a sister, Mrs. Lena Runion of Kincaid, W. Va.; two step-sons, Richard Crawford of Sandstone, Va., and Eugene Crawford of Pensacola, Fla.; two step-daughters, Mrs. Betty Meyers of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Jacqueline McCoy of Detroit, Mich.; one half-sister, Mrs. Betty Meyers of Rancho Virdies, Calif.; and 25 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at Stucky Funeral Home by Rev. Edward Messer and Bud Rhodes. Burial will be in Cemetery Caret at Farmers. Friends may call at the funeral home.

MOREHEADIAN WILL PARTICIPATE IN UMW OFFICERS TRAINING MEET

Mrs. Joyce Sexton of Morehead will present special music at a training meeting for officers of the local societies of the United Methodist Women of the Maysville District at the Flemingsburg United Methodist Church on Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Graham Abbott, district president, will preside and the devotional will be given by Miss Ann Thompson, district vice-president, from Washington, Ky.

All officers of local societies and other interested persons are invited.

"Little" accidents that didn't happen...

thanks to light

Sometimes light is vital. A minor night time accident - tripping over a toy inside, a forgotten trike outside - can have major consequences. For personal and family safety, have some strategically placed lights where they are essential: hallways and bathroom, garage and carport. Safety lighting need not be overpowering, just ample for the task it's doing.

It's wise to use electricity...use it wisely!

SCOUT OLYMPICS... Approximately 42 boys from Morehead Pack 21 participated in the first annual Cub Scout Olympics held last Saturday morning at Laughlin Health Building on the Morehead State University campus. A group of Scouts is shown above transferring a baton during the relay races. The events were coordinated and directed by Dr. Howard Nesbitt of MSU's Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation. Adult assistance was also received from the Morehead Kiwanis Club and several MSU students. The activities consisted of a 30-yard dash, relay race, standing broad jump, shot put using a softball and discuss throw using a frisbee. Records were kept of the winning scores and will be used for incentive purposes next year.

OSHA Insures Employees Of Safe Working Conditions

By Rick Buebehofer
To most Kentuckians OSHA (pronounced oh-sha) probably means little or nothing. But if you're one of the state's thousand employers or one million employees, then OSHA could be a close as the nearest exposed wire or open flame.

During the special legislative session of July of 1972, the Kentucky General Assembly passed OSHA, an Occupational Safety and Health Act that rivals in strength the well-respected federal version. Designed by Kentucky lawmakers to meet U.S. Department of Labor recommendations, OSHA will insure that employees in the Commonwealth have the safest of working conditions.

Enforcement of OSHA's tough regulations comes under the Kentucky Department of Labor's Compliance Division. Officials in this division are graduates of a federal Compliance Officers Institute and receive further training by the Kentucky Department of Labor.

"The Compliance Division's outlook toward its new responsibilities was summed up when one labor official said, 'We finally have a safety law with some teeth in it and we want Kentuckians to comply with it.'"

Before resorting to OSHA's teeth, great efforts will be made to help Kentucky's businesses and industries comply voluntarily. A new division has been started within the Department of Labor to guide the confused through the labyrinth of OSHA regulations.

Rick Norton, director of the fledgling Education, Training and Consultation Division, explains, "OSHA was a long time in coming and it's going to be good for working conditions in Kentucky. But for some businessmen and employees it's going to be a little hard to understand their particular responsibilities in this program. This is where the experts that staff this division come in. We will not only explain OSHA to those having trouble, but we will show how it affects them personally."

Getting help from Norton's division is as easy as calling a toll-free OSHA hotline number (800-372-2967) or writing to the Education, Training and Consultation Division, Department of Labor, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Among the services offered by this division are group seminars and training sessions that range from three days to four weeks. Or, upon request, division personnel will conduct a survey of business facilities. Audio-visual and written information about the latest occupational safety and health standards and practices is also available.

Norton is quick to point out that his division is not connected with actual enforcement of OSHA. "We're strictly an advisory force," he said. "We are not a wing of the Compliance Division. Whatever information we receive is held in the utmost confidence."

Assuring people of the confidentiality of information is a major problem for the new division says Norton. "Unfortunately, many people are afraid that after they talk to us, or we visit them, the information gathered goes directly to the enforcement people. But nothing could be farther from the truth," he said.

"Only if we learn of an infraction that involves an immediate life and death situation would we notify the compliance officials," he continued. "That, by the way, is the only way we could handle it because our division doesn't have the power to enforce laws. The only direct connection we have with the Compliance Division is that we train their personnel."

CRIME FIGHTING GRANTS - Gov. Ford has announced five grants, totaling $38,249 in federal and local matching funds to improve judicial and police capabilities in Kentucky. The state Crime Commission will pay $28,379 of this amount from federally derived funds and local agencies receiving the grants will pay the remaining $9,870. Grant recipients are Kenton County Fiscal Court, Campbell County Fiscal Court, Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, Jefferson County and the City of Carrollton.

CRIME RATE BELOW AVERAGE - Kentucky State Police recently reported that the average number of violent crimes in the state during the first nine months of 1973 is below the national average. Commissioner Ron Johnson said that violent crimes, as a group, rose only 1.4 per cent as compared to a three per cent national increase. In Kentucky, there was a strong decline in murders (down four per cent) and aggravated assaults (down 7.9 per cent).

SIX PERCENT TAX PENALTY TO BE ADDED FEB. 1

Under Kentucky law I am forced to add a six percent penalty on all county taxes not paid before February 1, 1974.

The taxes are already delinquent.

After February 1 the tax bills will be advertised, with additional penalties and advertising costs.

If you haven't paid your taxes do so now, and save penalties, plus the tax bills being advertised and sold at the courthouse door.

For the State Capital Agree Or Not I Say What I Think By S. C. VanCaron

Reform minded legislators and the public may have lost a battle last week on open meetings, but have won a war.

The predominantly Democratic legislature adopted rules for the 1974 session that permits closed committees, but the debate was centered on amendments that would have forced the Rules Committee to open to the public and the press. The Rules do not say anything about the other 12 standing committees in each branch. The Committee on Committees, made up of the same membership as Rules — the leadership in both branches — also always has been closed.

The one thing many overlooked in the Rules is that the Rules Committee can be opened or closed at the discretion of the membership. This is true of other standing committees, but the others have voted to be open to the press and anyone who wants to appear before them in behalf of or to oppose features of proposed legislation. There is nothing in the Rules that says the other committees must be open to the public.

Two open meetings bills have been introduced, House Bills 100 and 101. House Bill 100 was introduced at the best of the Kentucky Press Association by Rep. Terry McBrayer, D-Greene. The second bill is very similar to one McBrayer introduced in 1972 and he introduced much of the same language this year.

Senator Mike Moloney, D-Lexington, who strongly supported opening the Rules Committee this session, mentioned the open meetings bills as part of his argument, saying, "If we are expected to vote to open meetings of other public bodies, we ought to be consistent and open our own."

Senator, Clyde Middleton, R-Covington, also supported the move to open Rules Committee meetings, arguing, "Instead of flowing through the General Assembly, it seems to me more like a prison warden." He said he predicted all meetings will be open some time in the near future and mentioned a traffic cop to control legislation.

LT. Gov. Julian Carroll also referred to the newspaper supported bills in explaining that even these bills exempt some meetings required by statute.

Senate Majority Leader Tom Garrett, D-Paduach, following the victory battle on closing Rules, said he hadn't heard or read the open meetings bills, but said he hadn't heard any opposition to them. When reminded Gov. Ford told the Kentucky Press Association he would support an open meetings bill this session, Garrett said, "sounds like one will have a good chance of passage."

I haven't heard any opposition to these bills so far this session, and the version this session isn't as penalizing as the version patterned after the Florida law last session. Florida amended their bill last year.

The open meetings bill will need to be amended to exempt the Rules Committees to have a chance of passage. Both branches convincingly demonstrated their opposition of open Rules meetings last week.

Legislators seem to approve of open meetings of other standing committees. Many have said that news coverage of these meetings has given Kentuckians a better understanding of the legislation being considered and one went so far as to say he seriously thinks the open meetings have improved the image of the legislature.

Rowan Countian Hospitalized After Cycle Accident

A 21-year-old Rowan Countian, Jeff Barnett of Rt. 4, Pleasant Valley Subdivision, Morehead, was hospitalized Tuesday afternoon with injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident here at 5-15. Morehead Asst. Police Chief James Peifrey said Barnett apparently lost control of his cycle at the corner of South Wilson and First Street after which it hit the Union Wholesale building on First.

Barnett was taken to St. Claire Medical Center where he was reported in satisfactory, but was later transferred to Veteran's Hospital in Lexington.

Legislators seem to approve of open meetings of other standing committees. Many have said that news coverage of these meetings has given Kentuckians a better understanding of the legislation being considered and one went so far as to say he seriously thinks the open meetings have improved the image of the legislature.

Dr. Linville, 38, Son Of Elliottville Couple, Stricken

Dr. J. Keith Linville, 38, a graduate of Rowan County High School and Morehead State University, died Saturday in a Nashville, Tenn., hospital following an aortic heart attack. He was a medical doctor in Nashville.

Dr. Linville, son of Irene Linville, postmistress at Elliottville, and Casual Linville, was hospitalized with pneumonia during the Christmas holidays but returned to his home prior to New Years. He was re-admitted to the hospital several days before his death.

Prior to going to Nashville, where he was specializing in a medical field, Dr. Linville practiced medicine in Central City.

Surviving, in addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Casual Linville of Elliottville, are his wife, Rita, and a young son, two sisters and four brothers.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Nashville. Burial was in Central City.

Program Of Folk Music Scheduled

"Roberta and Friends," a 30-minute folk music program produced by Morehead State University's Center for Telecommunications, will be shown Jan. 29 on Channel 2 on the MSU and city cable systems.

The program, which begins at 7:30 p.m., features the singing talents of eight MSU students, Roberta Webster, Butler graduate student, hosted the show. Steve Young of MSU's Center for Telecommunications was the producer and director.

Other students featured are David Booth, Jeff Burt, Cheryl Carr, Bob Myers, Roy Pyle, Greg Shaber and Violet Webster.

The program later will be submitted to the Kentucky Educational Television Authority for possible statewide airing.

Grist & Grits

Our cousins in Great Britain are muddling through a bleak winter. Considering the probability that shortages will increase in the U.S. and maybe worsen, maybe we should be closely observing them — and learning how to muddle.

The sun was comet Kohoutek's undoing; it approached the sun too closely and was sizzled. It should be renamed "Icarus."

A Capetown, Africa, woman who had been taking fertility pills recently gave birth to sextuplets. In view of the serious problem of overpopulation, why aren't fertility pills outlawed?

Buying educational toys for children educates parents — they learn it's fun.

Fatsos are temporarily doing more than their part to prevent a possible shortage of bread, but in a few weeks they'll disregard their New Year's resolution to reduce and resume eagerly eating everything in sight.

Another serious thing about shortages is that we actually can't live these days without many things our great grandfathers lived without.

"I felt impelled to keep abreast of the jargon of the day," said old Morehead, "and accordingly announce I have a serious shortage of money."

A newsmagazine carries a long article about the human brain, that part of the anatomy the average person uses as little as possible.

A grammarian asks if "surely" has been dropped from the English language — as if he didn't know. It sure has, and "whom" is being dropped so fast that you'll soon likely see, "To who it may concern."

"A poll shows half the voters don't know who their representative in Congress is. Even though they don't, they doubtless have dark suspicions as to what he is.

"An excellent vocabulary is necessary to achieve success," says an educator. This is only partly true now, as fewer people than ever before listen to what anybody says.

In most cases people don't get fat by eating three meals a day. They do so by frequently nibbling between meals.

The cosmetic people are trying to induce men to use more and more of their products, but so far they haven't had the effrontery to urge men to use lipsticks.

Before nations agree to bury the hatchet with each other, they sharpen it to a keen edge so that it would be in good condition for immediate use if it is dug up.

The reason some people can't possibly be broadminded is that they haven't enough brains to spread.

A doctor says thinking prolongs life. Do you suppose any man would believe that's why women outlive men?

Finding Security In Retirement
One half of the American population looks forward to retirement years the other half dreads it. So observes W. Scam Bowler, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Pioneer West-ern Corporation, a national financial services organization.
"Retirement opens a wide variety of philosophies as well as living styles. To the some 20 million people age 60 and older, and to those who retired earlier, the experience can mean emotional and financial adjustments."
"Some women feel that retirement means just half as much money — but twice as much responsibility. These women find their spouses' presence at home all day intruding as well as troublesome."
"This is one set of retirement oriented problems," Bowler points out.
He points out that there are over seven and a half million families headed by a person 65 or older, and that one and a half million have incomes below $4,127.
"Herein lies most of the trouble which stems from retirement. It is a pure and simple case of not having enough money."
"Added to this is daily coping with new and awesome social and economic conditions. Any wonder that many retired persons and their wives report themselves as mentally and physically exhausted. Retirement just isn't the golden period life they had dreamed it would be," Bowler notes.
"That's why it is so important to plan ahead to insure security in retirement early in life."

Quick & Easy Hand Knit Look
There's good news for those who can't knit or crochet or don't like the time. Now you can give sweaters, jackets or dresses a hand-knit look by sewing with sweater knits.
For stretchability, use polyester or polyester-cotton thread on sweater knits. Sew seams with straight or zigzag stitch or any stitch which will sew seam and overcast in one operation.
Sweater knits are already bulky, so try to avoid adding extra bulk when you sew. Stitch seam allowances together. Trim off excess seam allowance. If too bulky. Some horizontal seams may need help to prevent stretching. Use stitch seam tape into the seams.
And act in the sleeves before you sew underarm seams. Don't bother to ease stitch. Just pin in place, matching dots and notches. Sew with the bodice-side up, stretching the seam so the bodice just fits the sleeve cap, but don't stretch the sleeve. Then sew side and underarm seams.
On sweater hems, use the machine's blind hem stitch. Or you might want to finish the neck, wrist and waistline edges with ribbing.

Rowan Stage Band Participating In MSU Jazz Clinic

Rowan County High School's Stage Band, directed by James Gallaher, is participating Thursday and Friday in a jazz clinic at Morehead State University.

The RCHS group is among eight high school jazz bands scheduled to perform today (Thursday). MSU's Jazz Ensemble also will perform. The famed Cannonball Adderley Quintet will present a concert tonight at 10 in Wetherby Gymnasium as part of the MSU Concert and Lecture Series. Tickets are available at the door.

Performances by seven more high school groups and the Jazz Ensemble are slated tomorrow. Clinic time with the members of the Adderley Quintet is set for tomorrow afternoon. An awards and honors concert begins at 4 p.m. in Baird Recital Hall.

Members of the quintet are Julian (Cannonball) Adderley, saxophone; Nat Adderley, trumpet; Walter Booker, bass; Roy McGurdy, drums; and Hal Galper, electric piano.

Health ... for all

Babies and toddlers try to get their hands on everything in sight. And what gets into their hands often goes into their mouths or even up the nose. From there, an object can get lodged in their lungs. And that means trouble.

A pea or peanut or marble can be small enough to go up the nose and almost anything can get into the mouth and be "swallowed the wrong way." Instead of going down the throat and into the stomach, the object can get down the windpipe and into the air passages of the lungs. A breathing passage can be damaged permanently unless the object is removed quickly.

A foreign body can cause trouble, but so can other situations. The blocking of an air passage can happen as an aftermath of a pneumonia that complicated measles, whooping cough, or influenza. If a baby or young child has TB, a similar blocking can occur.

Blocking an air passage, combined with an infection, can cause a disease called bronchiectasis. The combination damages the structures that sweep out dirt and germs from the lungs — the cilia. Cilia sweep in an upward motion that forces particles toward the mouth, where they are swallowed and then sent back to the stomach. When the cilia are weakened, mucus and particles build up in the air passages, and a cough results. The cough is an attempt to dislodge the build-up.

Adults, too, can have bronchiectasis and may even feel well despite their "graveyard cough." A convulsive cough, thick mucus with pus, and spitting up blood are signs of serious trouble.

For more information about all kinds of lung diseases, contact your Kentucky Lung Association. And as you live and breathe, give more to Christmas Seals. They fight lung diseases.

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I read your article every week and I am hoping you can help me and my husband. We really love to cook, but we are real busy and we are not really interested in spending a lot of time in the kitchen. I just had to demand some free time this week. We think you are right to demand some free time, and if he doesn't understand, we cannot believe that he would not understand. I love you (especially if he's giving you a bad reputation). We have my freedom because I feel that we need it, but I don't think we love each other. I love you (especially if he's giving you a bad reputation). Solid Waste: The Third Pollutant

By Sue Anne Salmons
A present-day consumer is more likely to find a glass milk bottle in an antique store than in a grocer's dairy case. Unless a person profits from selling antique milk bottles, money is lost by businesses and consumers using no-return containers. So why are they used?

Because of "the convenience of not taking the trouble to return milk bottles to the dairy," asserts James Claycomb, milk marketing and anti-monopoly commission director. "Actually, the savings gained by returning milk bottles is about 46 cents per gallon, jug," he said.

Of course, the immediate savings of 46 cents is just part of the extra cost to consumers for convenience. The cumulative pocketbook squeeze is felt when it's time to pay for disposal of each consumer's annual output of 600 pounds of refuse packaging material.

This cost is discussed in a report, "Solid Waste: The Third Pollutant," prepared by Greg Freedman of the Legislative Research Commission (LRC).

Ignored Pollutant

"Much effort has been directed to combat air and water pollution while the third pollutant, solid waste, has all too frequently been ignored," LRC Director Jackson White writes. An important solution to the solid waste problem is prevention or curtailment of wastes, the report stated.

Public education must make citizens aware of the annual load of urban waste dumped on the environment, including 30 million tons of paper, 4 million tons of plastics, 28 billion metal cans and 26 billion bottles and jars a year, according to the report.

Federal action should be taken to lessen the burden on the environment, the report added.

Urge Re-Use Of Materials

"Perhaps the best way to prevent the accumulation of solid waste is to re-use materials normally discarded," the report noted, giving examples: remolded metal cans, recycled newspaper, ground-up glass as a road building material and old tires made into filters for sewage treatment plants.

White explained that residents of 44 of Kentucky's 120 counties dispose of their solid waste at illegal and unsanitary open dumps due to the absence of collection and disposal service.

The study notes the weakness of Kentucky laws dealing with solid waste disposal. For instance, it is against the law to dump solid waste without a permit from the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection but the law can only be enforced if a person is caught in the act of dumping.

The 776 illegal roadside dumps throughout the state provides breeding grounds for rats, flies, and other rodents and insects which carry more than 20 human diseases. To solve this problem a new law should make it unlawful to operate or maintain a non-permitted site, the study stated.

Landfill A Solution

The report termed the sanitary landfill "the only true form of solid waste disposal." These operate in 76 Kentucky counties.

The sanitary landfill, however, must be maintained properly to keep it from polluting the water supply or becoming a dump.

The waste must be dumped at the landfill or at a station where it can be transferred to the landfill in a controlled manner. There it is spread and compacted in thin layers, covered daily with a layer of soil and compacted in place.

Funds to construct and maintain the landfills can come from taxes, loans service charges or by utilizing private service contracts, the report stated.

The report asserts that the funds would be well invested since infrequent collection and disposal of solid waste can result in the spread of potentially fatal diseases such as encephalitis and rabies. Unregulated solid waste disposal practices can also result in toxic hazards.

The auto disposal law should be streamlined to eliminate the red tape involved in contacting the owner of a junked car before the vehicle is compacted by a car crushing company, the study stated.

Vermont's state highway department contracts with private companies to dispose of old cars as soon as a community has collected at least 200 automobiles, the report noted.

DEATH PENALTY INTRODUCED - A bill calling for the re-instatement of the death penalty for intentional murder has been introduced in the House. The bill would make murder a capital offense when the killing occurs during the commission of a first degree arson, rape, robbery, or burglary. Also, the death penalty could be applied for killing a prison employee performing his duties, slayings involving a destructive device, mass slayings, and kidnaping unless the defendant voluntarily releases the victim unharmed before trial. HB 187 has 67 co-sponsors.

A GOOD DAY STARTS WITH A GOOD BREAKFAST

Good nutrition is an all-day matter involving all foods eaten throughout the day - for breakfast, lunch, dinner and snacks. But a good day - nutritionally speaking - starts with a good breakfast. According to many nutritionists, breakfast should supply about one-fourth of the day's calories, vitamins, protein and minerals. A breakfast of juice, cereal and milk, bread and spread and a glass of milk meets these nutritional requirements for most people.

Citizens Will Be Honored At Jaycees Awards Banquet

The highlight of the Jaycees week observances by the Morehead-Rowan County Jaycees will be the Mid-Year Awards Banquet tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 o'clock at the Mountaineer House.

The banquet will serve to give due recognition to business and professional people who have worked with the Jaycees in community action projects, noted Jaycees President Jess Thompson.

Jim Sparrow, Louisville, State Jaycees President, will be the featured speaker at the banquet.

Thompson said the club conducts over 100 internal and external projects each year and have invested over $50,000 developing a fairground and recreation park.

Mayor C.B. Cornett and Rowan County Judge Ott Caldwell have proclaimed the week as Morehead-Rowan County Jaycees Week. Judge Caldwell, in his proclamation,

Vikings Edge Nicholas County For 10th Victory

Rowan County High's Vikings won their tenth game of the season last Friday night, defeating Nicholas County 46-42 at Carlisle. The victory was hard-earned one as the hot-and-cold Vikings played precise basketball for three quarters, building a 13 point advantage, 40-27, then nearly blew it in the fourth stanza.

Thompson again led the Rowan County scoring with 15 points.

Rapidly improving sophomore forward Chuck Gilley, making his only second varsity start, had 12 points, 8 rebounds, and 4 assists. Hodges finished with 10 points. Doug Fryman paced Nicholas County with 15 points.

Earlier in the week the Vikings showed similar fourth-quarter tendencies but were not able to hold on to a three-point lead and fell to West Carter 64-50 at Olive Hill on Tuesday. Trailing 33-19 at the half and fired up by Coach Collins' locker-room lecture, the Vikings outscored the Comets 22-8 in the third period and led 41-40 going into the fourth quarter. RCHS scored first for a 43-40 lead, but the Comets exploded and out-pointed the Vikings 24-7 from that point (including 10 of 14 free throws) to run away with the win, only their second of the year. Daryl Thompson scored 16 points for the Vikings while Dennis Perry and Chuck Gilley added 10 apiece. Rod Vanlandingham scored 19 and Tim Barker had 17 for the Comets of Bert Greene.

The Vikings host powerful Boyd County Friday night. Rowan County defeated the Lions 62-56 on December 14 for third-place honors in the Russell Invitational Tournament East Carter's Raiders come to town next Tuesday seeking to avenge a 44-36 EKU Tournament loss to the Vikings earlier in the season. Both games will be played at the RCHS gym starting at 8 p.m. Junior varsity games tip off at 6:30.

The 1974 Brunswick World Open will feature bowling champions from around the world. Participants will come from Canada, Mexico, and Japan as well as countries in Latin America and Europe.

University Wins Two OVC Games

With their first two Ohio Valley Conference basketball victories under their belts, Morehead State's Eagles visit East Tennessee this Saturday.

Reserve guard James Washington, forward Leonard Coulter and guard Eugene Lyons shared the hero roles Saturday and Monday as the Eagles defeated Middle Tennessee and Western Kentucky. The victories evened MSU's OVC record at 2-2 and raised the overall mark to 7-6.

Lyons scored 19 points and Washington sparked a second-half rally Saturday night as Morehead State won, 82-77, to stop Middle's 10-game winning streak. Coulter added 16 points and 12 rebounds and freshman center Ted Hundley had 11 points and 11 rebounds.

The game was tied 10 times before the Eagles took the lead for good when Lyons hit a layup with 4:30 remaining. The 6-5 senior scored seven points in the final six minutes.

Washington, a 6-1 junior from Frankfort, came off the bench Monday night to hit six long-range jump shots in the second half as the Eagles dropped western, 93-74.

Coulter, collecting 13 of 23 field goal attempts, scored 18 points in each half and grabbed 12 rebounds. Wallen scored 12 points and handed eight assists and Hundley had 10 rebounds and nine points.

Substitute center George Williams, a 6-8 junior, was a defensive standout, blocking six shots to raise his season total to 66.

The first half was close with the Eagles holding a 44-38 halftime margin. The Hilltoppers led briefly in the second half before the Eagles rallied behind Washington and Coulter.

MSU hit on 38 of 78 field goal tries for a percentage of 48.7 while Western Kentucky hit only 29 of 79 for 36.7 percent. The Eagles committed only 12 floor mistakes to Western's 24.

Morehead State returns home Monday to host Tennessee Tech. MSU's women's basketball team hosts Kentucky in the 5:30 p.m. preliminary.

Optimist Tri-Star Winners Compete In Regional Event

Winners of the Rowan County Optimist Club's Tri-Star Basketball Contest on Jan. 12 represented Morehead in the Optimist Club Regional Competition last Saturday morning. Both events were held at the Wetherby Gymnasium on the Morehead State University campus.

Dwayne Moore won the eight-year-old Regional Contest and will participate in the Kentucky-West Virginia Zone competition Saturday at Bowling Green.

More than 35 boys, ages 8 to 13, participated in the Morehead Optimist Club Tri-Star event, with the winners proceeding to the regional competition.

The MSU Undergraduate Recreation Club aided in conducting the local and regional contests.

HOT HAND... Morehead State University guard James Washington fires a long jump shot in MSU's 92-74 win over Western Kentucky Monday. Washington, a 6-1 junior from Frankfort, electrified the crowd with his outside shooting, hitting six straight from beyond 20 feet. The Eagles meet East Tennessee Saturday in Johnson City, Tenn. They return home Monday night to play Tennessee Tech.

CHEERS FOR EAGLES... Patty Allen, University Breckinridge varsity cheerleader, demonstrates cheering techniques that earned her Cheerleader of the Week honors at her school. Patty, an 18-year-old senior, member of the Beta Club, and president of FHA. She is the daughter of Merle Fair Allen, former Breckinridge and Morehead State cheerleader and John "Sonny" Allen a former All-American basketball player at Morehead State. In high school Allen led the Eagles to the KHSAA State Basketball Championship.

Wrestling Team Remains Unbeaten

Morehead State University's wrestling team captured nine of 10 weight classes last weekend to take a 40-3 victory over Hanover College.

Three Eagles pinned their opponents. They were Tim Deesch in the 126-pound class, Bob Shaver at 167 and heavyweight Gerry Anthony.

James Wilson won the 118-pound class by forfeit and decisions were captured by Bill Clayton at 134, Mickey Rzymek at 142, Stuart Hunter at 158, Don Sundberg at 177 and Ray Brewer at 190.

It was the third win of the season for MSU's unbeaten grapplers.

MSU Swimmers Set Records In Victory Over Tech

A sign hanging near the swimming pool at Morehead State University reads "Records are meant to be broken" and the MSU swim team did it five times last weekend in a 72-36 decision over West Virginia Tech.

The new school marks were set by Ken Watkins in the 200-yard freestyle, Bill Love in required diving, captain Jack Ablen in the 200-yard backstroke. Steve Dunn in the 500-yard freestyle and Brent Lange in the 200-yard breaststroke.

Other Eagle winners were Steve Dunn in 1,000-yard freestyle, Dave Gladura in the 60-yard and 100-yard freestyles, Lee Smith in the 240-yard individual medley, Dick Gilbert in the 200-yard butterfly, Love in optional diving, Ablen, Lange, Jim Geiman, and Gladura in the 200-yard medley relay and the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Dunn, Terry Sefton, Mike Miller and Rick Fuller.

The Eagles carry a 2-1 record into Friday's 5 p.m. home meet with Marshall. Morris Harvey visits Saturday at 2 p.m.

Evolved on Grass

Anyone who has heard a Kentuckian extol the virtues of the blue variety is aware of the importance of grass to a horse, but according to findings of Professor D. M. S. Watson, a nutritionist at the University College, grass is the essential nutrient for the evolution of the horse as we know him today.

It seems that prior to the time grass began to blanket certain places, an estimated 30,000,000 years ago, according to Professor Watson, the early horse made his meals from the low hanging vegetation and the brushy edges of forests. When they ventured out on the plains to graze, they not only developed special teeth for cropping and grinding their new food, but they also developed the need for speed to avoid predatory animals.

A horse's diet today is a great deal more varied. In addition to carefully selected hay, alfalfa and sweet clover they get oats and, depending on circumstances, hot meals of bran, salt, carrots and perhaps a handful of linseed meal. They also get vitamins and pellet feed. One Kentucky farm has its own secret formula for pellet feeding and won't trust it to a commercial manufacturer but has it made by an order of monks. Where possible, however, a horse is given an opportunity to graze on natural grass.

Art Exhibit Of Sistine Will Be Displayed At University

The Sistine Ceiling Seen for the First Time in an exhibit of 74 color reproductions of the Vatican's ceiling opens Jan. 27 at Morehead State University. The exhibition was organized by the New York Cultural Center in association with Fairleigh Dickinson University and Capital Cities Broadcasting Corp. The show circulates under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts. A formal opening is scheduled Sunday, Jan. 27, at 1 p.m. in MSU's Claypool-Young Gallery. The MSU Chamber Singers, conducted by James Ross Beane, will perform Orlando di Lasso's "Missa Puisse Jul Perdue..." at 3 p.m. The show runs through Feb. 24. Large photographs in the exhibit were made from color transparencies taken during the filming of the television program, "The Secret of Michelangelo: Every Man's Dream." The photos range from one-half to three-quarter scale of the original. Lying on his back atop scaffolding 64 feet high, Michelangelo began the four-year project in 1509. The world famous fresco covers the entire ceiling of Sistine Chapel in the Vatican - nearly 5,000 square feet. The show includes a plan of the ceiling and five panels showing views of the filming in process.

Thought For Food

Crack Egg Puffs
For cream puffs: Bring 1 cup water and 1/4 cup butter to a rolling boil, a seasoning of salt, 1/2 cup all-purpose flour and 1/4 teaspoon salt, stirring vigorously over low heat until mixture forms a ball. Remove from heat. Beat in 4 eggs all at once, continuing to stir until smooth. Beat in 1/2 cup Parmesan cheese. Drop dough by tablespoonfuls onto lightly oiled baking sheets. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven 15 to 20 minutes, or until lightly golden brown. Pierce with sharp tip of a knife and return to oven 5 minutes to dry out insides of cream puffs. Cool on wire racks, cut off tops. For filling: Combine all ingredients thoroughly: 6 hard-cooked, finely chopped eggs, 1 can (7 1/2 oz.) crabmeat, drained and finely chopped, 1 cup finely chopped celery, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Fill cream puffs using approximately 2 tablespoons filling per puff; replace tops. Chill before serving. Makes approximately 24 dozen.

The growing popularity of self-service operations has now grown to the fruits and vegetables business. That is, find a farm that encourages do-it-yourselfers when a crop is ready for harvest, go out and pick it yourself and pay the wholesale price. Sounds easy, but there are some ground rules that should be followed. Even though the wholesale price you'll pay is about two-thirds what you might expect to pay in a food store, you should consider your time and effort and the cost of transportation. Besides this, there is usually additional time involved after you get home to clean and prepare your harvest. If you're game, though, the pick-it-yourself method can go a long way in reducing your food bills. Look for ads in your local paper or check with such government offices as the Agriculture Extension Service. Also, feel free to ask the farmer for his advice. You are both interested in picking good mature items. You can generally take as much time as you want. When you're through, the farmer will simply weigh or measure your pick, tell you what you owe, and you're on your way. Think about it, it could help bring your family food budget back into line. ### THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Remember Me In Your Will"

Over and over again, Widow Green's housekeeper urged her to "remember me in your will." Sure enough, when the widow died, the bulk of her estate was left to her housekeeper.

In short order, disgruntled relatives took the matter to court.

"This is a clear case of undue influence," they charged. "This woman simply-pestered the old lady into writing her will that way."

However, the court found the will would stand. The court felt that mere pestering, while it might be considered unsmooth, could not be considered undue influence in the legal sense.

All sorts of pressures may affect the provisions of a person's will without being unlawful. In another case, the pressure was romantic. When a businessman died, his children complained in court that she had used feminine wiles to overcome his resistance.

But again, the court upheld the will.

"It is undeniably true," said the judge, "that the female sex does have the power in many instances to exercise a dominating influence over the male sex. However, there is a difference between due and undue influence. Undue influence must be such that the party had no free will but stood (in bondage) because of such influence."

Of course it may be difficult to tell after the person has died, just how powerful the pressure were. Therefore, the law looks for certain telltale circumstances.

For example, undue influence was found plausible by one court because the person was in a weakened mental condition when he signed the will.

Another court decided that the owner of a rest home had exerted undue influence on a dying patient, largely because the terms of the will seemed "unnatural." The court found it suspicious that the deceased always a devoted father, would have suddenly disinherited his children in favor of a comparative stranger.

Through Bicentennial . . .

History Comes To Life In Mason

By Helen Price Bly

Bicentennial balls scheduled throughout Kentucky this year will usually ask that guests come in period costume. Along with a change in dress can come a change in personality.

A guest at the recent January ball, or another to take place this year, in Mason County could have come as Patrick Henry, for the Virginia governor granted five acres of land to Simon Kenton in 1785.

Both Daniel Boone and Kenton were Mason County trailblazers. Boone, Henry Lee, Arthur Fox, Jacob Boone, Thomas Brooks and George Mefford were trustees in Limestone because Maysville in 1787.

Other early personalities which could be taken on by Mason County celebrants are John Filson, historian; Zachary Taylor, recruiting agent; Ulysses Grant, who attended school in Washington (Ky.); or visitors General LaFayette, Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, and George Rogers Clark.

A rather stern looking guest in a black frock coat and with a paddle in his hand might be John Winn, first schoolteacher, or if he is carrying a Bible instead of a stock he might be the Rev. William Wood, who established Limestone Baptist Church in 1785, or the Rev. Benjamin Ogden, a Methodist who was ministered in the home of Thomas and Sarah Stevenson in 1786.

The ladies might choose to dress as the wife of one of the early scouts, riveners or rangers, for among the 41 persons making up Kenton's party who landed at Limestone Nov. 1, 1785, were Mrs. Mark Kenton, Mr. and Mrs. William Kenton, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Laws, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Perry, Mr. and Mrs. James Whitehouse and Mr. and Mrs. John McGraw.

Should a partygoer in Mason County in 1974 be wearing a Victorian gown and carrying a notebook and pencil she might be pretending that she is the writer Harriet Beecher Stowe.

The author witnessed a slave sale on the courthouse lawn on a visit to the county in

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Faith
Some of us take religion and faith for granted. We attend church regularly. We show our best side to the world. ... something goes wrong. When trouble comes, we may despair much too easily, failing to call upon faith, and sending out a sinner's cry for help.

But if we have faith, if our belief is strong, we will not give up so easily. We will believe that help will come if we help ourselves. For God has willed a life of happiness and eternal salvation for every man. The pathway to a good life, to salvation, was clearly marked in the life of Christ upon earth. Even this life was not free from temptation, not without trouble and turmoil, to the point of death. We shall not be called upon to face death for the faith we profess, but we shall have moments when our faith needs to be strong, and needs to be proclaimed. When that moment comes, we shall stand firm, knowing that we are the children of God.
