Homer Mauck Killed By Posee After Resisting Arrest

Homer Mauck, 20, died in a Grayson hospital late Tuesday, scarcely more than an hour after he fought a gun battle with posse headed by Sheriff William Buck and including 10 State highway patrolmen.

Mauck, third of three men sought in the slaying of two brothers and the wounding of a third, was cornered in a wooded area near Bent's Run, about 10 miles east of Grayson.

Sheriff Buck said Mauck had refused to surrender and was wounded several times when he exchanged fire with members of the posse. Others in the sheriff's party were Deputies Walter Alaman, Ben Burton and Jerry Lawson.

Three officers were wounded slightly. Buck said. Buck received a bullet wound in the left leg and arm and State Highway Patrolman Thomas Boggs received a flesh wound in his side.

James and Charles Cox were shot fatally and Major Cox was wounded last Sunday by three men who suddenly opened fire in what Alaman said was a case of "unprovoked, cold-blooded murder."

The shooting occurred on Tuesday, not far from where Homer Mauck was captured today.

Pit. Lawrence Mauck, 22, and Homer Thornsbury, 23, were taken into custody Monday by Deputy Alaman and a highway patrolman, but not before Alaman had been wounded slightly in a brief skirmish.

Alaman said that Homer Mauck, a brother of Lawrence, had been discharged from the Army, while Lawrence was home on furlough when the Cox slayings took place.

Earlier, the deputy related that James and Major Cox were on horseback talking with Charles, who was on foot, when they were fired upon suddenly.

Set at $5,000, Lawrence Mauck and Thornsbury have been charged with murder, shooting and wounding, armed robbery and confederating and banding. Sheriff, Buck said.

The two removed to the Boyd County Jail at Catlettsburg after examining trials for armed robbery and confederating and banding counts. They waived examining trial and were held to stand on bond fixed at $5,000 each.

Buck said that they would be taken to Elliott County for examining trials on the murder and shooting and wounding charges since the Cox shootings had occurred in that county.

Housewives Buy 2 Beves As Fast As Weighed; Potatoes, Eggs, Now Short

Add to Morehead's many short-ages—potatoes and eggs.

The principal local supplier of potatoes for Morehead said that when he went to Cincinnati to get a carload, which had been shipped from there, he found the car labeled for Fort Knox, Kentucky. Army authorities have taken them to relieve a shortage there.

Morehead growers say there may be some potatoes, but they will be small until the crop of local new potatoes comes on the market. Many farmers have not even planted because of the rainy weather, while those who have planted potatoes report the yield will probably be small.

Some eggs are coming on the local market, but they are being bought up almost as fast as they are put in the stores.

The meat shortage remains acute and today there is not a pound of either pork or beef in a Morehead store.

Two stores had one beef each Saturday, but they were sold out to waiting lines of customers as fast as the meat could be weighed.

Morehead stores and meat markets issued an appeal that customers not ask for extra large cuts, or as some did, five or six steaks. "That's plain greediness, and shows no respect or consideration for the other fellow," one merchant put it. He said that he would get a little more.

Merchants said they would accept no phone orders Saturday.

Further east on the street, Drew Evans is now building a fire-proof and up-to-date building for the Sius Bargain Store, formerly housed in one of the older buildings.

Work will also begin at once on the construction of a fire-proof structure across the railroad by Otto Carr and Clayton Lancaster, who will manufacture concrete building blocks and concrete bricks.

3 Nazi Columns Surrender To Moreheadian In Jeep

WITH THE 25TH INFANTRY REGIMENT - When German forces collapsed before the Eighth's Division's drive north of the Elbe river, it was difficult for some of the men to realize the fight was really gone out of the Nazis.

Private First Class Roy R. Ferguson of Morehead, Kentucky, liaison jeep driver for the 3rd Battalion, was driving along a road just south of Schwerin when he saw coming toward him a column of Nazi armor and foot troops. Acting according to his reflexes, he slapped on the brakes, threw the vehicle into reverse, and started to rush back to a crowd of men and jeeps.

But to his consternation, he observed two more German columns coming from different directions behind him, and converging on the road junction.

Ferguson decided to turn the jeep around and make a dash for it—his last desperate chance. But the plan failed, for the road was too narrow to make the turn, and Ferguson ended up in the ditch, immobilized.

That looked like the jig was up. A German officer came up to him, looked over the situation, and shouted out some orders. In no time a German truck had pulled him back onto the road. Then the officer handed Ferguson his pistol, and informed him that he was the captor of three German columns. When Ferguson ran into the Germans, they were fleeing from the looking for an American to surrender to.

News Ceases Sending Paper To Europe

Because there has been so many troop movements in Europe since the end of the War there, and a large part of the Army is being moved back to the United States, the Rowan County News has omitted this week sending the paper to nearly 150 men in the service, whose postoffice address is in care of the Postmaster, New York City.

If your son is still in Europe with little likelihood of soon getting back to the States, and he is a subscriber to The News, please contact this paper by mail or otherwise so that his name has been removed.

It is the desire of the publishers to get the paper to every subscriber, especially the men in the service, and these names were removed only after it became almost certain that they would get the paper.

Local Red Cross Packages Find Way To Manila

MANILA (Released) - Secretary of Health and Public Welfare in the Philippine cabinet, paid tribute to American Red Cross chapters and volunteer workers of Morehead, Kentucky. During the distribution of an initial shipment of clothing in the Philippines the label of the local chapter was noted, Major Valdes said.

"We shall forever be grateful to the American women who made the clothing that now covers the bodies of thousands of Filipino women and children."

Through the refuge and relocation centers established by the United States Army, Philippines Civil Affairs Units, Red Cross civilian war relief field representatives are assisting the Army in the distribution of clothing, shoes, caps and alps, girls' play suits and dresses. All packings have been given the destitute civilians of the islands.

Nyles I. Christensen, Director of Operations for the Red Cross in the Pacific region, reported that 60 tons of clothing have already been distributed in and around Manila. He adds that 584,711 pounds of clothing and 315,800 hospital bed sheets, women's dresses and alps, girls' play suits and dresses, all packings have been given the destitute civilians of the islands.

Both recipients and Red Cross workers here have been delighted by the good material, fine workmanship and design that have gone into these garments.

The college delegation pointed out, and members of the council agreed, that enough mistakes had already been made and enough more would be made if the supply question, that the best advice should be secured.

President Vaughan said that it would take $200,000 to run a 12-inch pipeline to Luckine River and that the college could not foot the bill for the $200,000 amount, but such an expenditure would be prohibitive on the part of the city and that not a bond issue could be raised for the amount.

Although the water system is now in the "discussion stage," the council and college officials agreed that they would not proceed until something would have to be done about it.

Red Cross Packages Kept Hardin From Being Starved

Declaring that if it hadn't been for the Red Cross packages "I would have starved," Phileman Hardin of East Main Street, who was a prisoner of War in Germany for more than a year walked into the Morehead Red Cross office and gave an additional $5 donation.

He previously had written his wife from the prison camp to give all she could, and she had made a $10 contribution.

Water Supply For Morehead Is Discussed

College, Council Feel It To Be Grave Post-War Problem

Pointing out that experience has taught that Morehead's water supply is adequate for only 60 days during a drought, a delegation from the Morehead State Teachers College appeared before the Morehead City Council, in regular session Tuesday evening, to advise with them in a study being made of the best possible remedy.

The college delegation, which included representatives, which included President William H. Vaughan, Comptroller I. A. Nooe, Jr., and Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds W. H. Rice, and the members of the council that Morehead's water supply is a matter of grave concern.

Among the points brought out at the meeting were that unless the situation was corrected:

(1) Morehead has little hope of attracting new industry because of an inadequate water supply during many "summer dry spells."

(2) That there would be no possibility of getting a water supply plant (on which some civic groups are working) or any similar project.

(3) The college enrollment will be many times as great after the war as it is now, requiring more water.

(4) There will be several hundred new homes built in the community as soon as materials are available, thereby taxing the supply.

(5) It would be practical for the city to furnish water to subdivisions lying outside the city limits by getting a water supply plant (U. S. 60 if there was ample water) and a sewage of septic tank system could be installed.

President Vaughan said that the college had employed the best available experts to study the local situation. As soon as their report is ready, he will submit it to the Council and to the people of the community, he set out.

The college had previously requested the city council a lengthy report, compiled on the advice of many experts, setting out the status of Morehead's water supply. Included in this report, which appears elsewhere in this issue of The News, were the following:

(1) The college is selling water to the city for less money than they can produce.

(2) There is no possibility of going underground for water.

(3) The Triplett Creek dam is inadequate to supply the city with water for Morehead if there is a 60-day drought, such as occurred in 1943 and previously.

(4) It is necessary to run a pipe-line to Luckine River before a sufficient supply can be obtained.

The college delegation pointed out, and members of the council agreed, that enough mistakes had already been made and enough more would be made if the supply question, that the best advice should be secured.

President Vaughan said that it would take $200,000 to run a 12-inch pipeline to Luckine River and that the college could not foot the bill for the $200,000 amount, but such an expenditure would be prohibitive on the part of the city and that not a bond issue could be raised for the amount.

We've always said that our good neighbors in adjoining counties can't get a head of us, but we must hand it to Dr. J. W. Wallace for his prize-winning essay in the Tom Wallace Forestry Award last year.

Now that another contest is open this year, with additional prize money, it's up to the farmers in Rowan County to submit their entries. The contest will be simpler this year because it consists of a concise questionnaire and the prizes will be awarded to farmers who have carried through a complete forestry program...

We know there are many farmers in Rowan County who are carrying through a complete forestry program. We urge them to obtain the entry blanks and submit their questionnaire.

COOPERATION EVIDENT

With all the rain that has fallen in Rowan County, a water shortage is the furthest thought from the minds of local citizens. But, this complacency does not hold good for the Morehead State Teachers College and the Morehead City Council.

Morehead's water system was the topic of prime discussion at the council meeting Tuesday evening, as President Vaughan, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds W. H. Rice and Comptroller Ike Nooe presented its status in detail. A full account of their report is carried elsewhere in this paper.

A study of the findings of the National Geological Society and other experts is alarming. But, as Mayor Watt Prichard aptly puts it, now is the time to "start thinking about it."

The Morehead water system is a cooperative venture between the college and the city. What strikes us about the matter, however, is that the City Council and the College are showing a keen interest in it. Both want the true facts. Both want to work this thing out together.

Maybe it's these Spring Days that makes a fellow want to philosophize about the weather.

FAIR WEATHER PATRIOTS And duty, think the State Director, is being done just that.

Reflecting upon the weather, the good Colonel points out that "weather and weather conditions were controlled in an air-conditioned factory, but the poor farmer has to take whatever Mother Nature decides to give him, even if it means laying off farm work for a few days at a time."

Which brings him around to duty... And duty, think the State Director, is being done just that.

A fellow in an aircraft factory, Col. Keelin feels, who manages to squeeze out enough extra "exertion" to sit on a ration board or go to a Blood Depot to give blood plasma is doing his duty.

But he thinks that a farmer who squeezes out enough extra "exertion" on wet and rainy days to go fishing—just isn't.

When deferred farm workers have a spare day or two when conditions make farm work impossible, it is vitally important that they work in their own woods or nearby pulp operations rather than do less essential war jobs." We agree with the colonel's viewpoint. Wet and rainy days given over to cutting peeled top quality pulpwood, this Spring ought to make fishing all the better next Spring when maybe our boys will be back to fish with us.

Germany deserves no leniency. The freedom loving people have determined to destroy root and branch that evil thing, Nazism, and along with it its fundamental teaching that only force counts, a teaching that has corrupted the younger generation and made necessary the complicated problem of their re-education.

EDUCATION IN POSTWAR GERMANY

Germany's cultural and educational traditions especially the old German tradition of Lern and Lehrfreiheit were destroyed when the Nazis assumed control. The allied leaders have sworn to destroy every vestige of Nazi control and to replace Nazi administrators with others of known and evidenced anti-Nazi attitude. This applies to professors in the universities and teachers in the schools.

Not all the German teachers and professors incarcerated in German prisons and concentration camps have died. In every city, town and village the German undercity has its list of pro-Nazis, including teachers, to be dismissed from office. Not all those who retained their posts were favorable to Nazi principles. It is from those elements that leaders for the new education should be theirs and known to be theirs by the German people.

The Nazi terror must be extirpated and the government set up in Germany after its extinction must also destroy the Junkerdom which has been the most continuous source of German militarism. That too, will take time. But only then will there be hope that the German people may graduate from the kindergarten state of political development and undertake a true government of themselves.

IT HAPPENED IN MOREHEAD

(FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN)

Learning that a beef dealer at Farmers (on the Bith County or legal side of the River) was to bring in a truckload last week, Moreheadians jammed the bridge and U. S. 60 for a considerable distance awaiting the arrival of the amber liquid. When the truck did arrive, the dealer sold all the beer in 15 minutes, and disposed of all of it straight from the truck without putting it in his storage room.

Now, the dealer refuses to tell when another truckload is coming in.

A Friendly Suit

A forward-thinking member of the Morehead City Council suggests that some individual or civic-minded group file a friendly suit in the county to determine whether the city may legally use money from the water and gas funds for the maintenance of a garbage disposal system.

He says the council wants the garbage system, and realizes its need, but under the statutes of Kentucky is unable to raise the surplus money from these funds and does not have enough money in the general fund.

Coaching School

Under the direction of Ellis Johnson the Morehead College Coaching School is one of the most successful that have been here for many years. In view of the War, the enrollment is substantial and the type of instruction far above that heretofore offered.

Johnson is still in the Navy but there is every possibility that he will be granted a leave to attend the fall term. Johnson doubts that the school will have a football team this year, but expects the blue and white team to play the gridiron sport in 1946 (Eastern, Western, and maybe Murray) will have teams this year.

A Novel Scheme

R. Kelley Richards, down at Bishop's Drug Store, pulled a perfectly legitimate but new one city trick. He is a member of the Blue Cross and has a list of names that he has assigned numbers to the 13 horses in this year's horse race. He is the most likely to win the numbers he thought the public would be most unlikely to pick.

we have told him what we want and the TRUE reasons for wanting it. This concealing the object of an act underlies all living in areas of business, politics, diplomacy, romance, or even in personal magnetism—one never tells ALL he knows about anything. It ranges from falsification to exaggeration and bragging. Language is used more for concealment than revelation.

For the most part personal relations staffs in business, politics, government, are selling the people what the organization's purposes are NOT. As individuals we have a public relations department by which we maintain a "front," by making known what we want or thought of. We call it duplicity.

Secretiveness in man makes him unpredictable — gives him the fascination of a perpetual puzzle. It must not be forgotten, moreover, that the unpredictable gives him unity, separates him off from his fellows, and accounts for his force as a functioning unit of society. If your fellows could predict you completely, they would prefer your bringing anything to pass.

Then, take secrecy away from a man and you abolish lying, thieving, adultery, cheating, and all of what you would call sin. The same is now advocated for world news, economic and political. Tom Wallace Prize Awards Total $400

Three cash prizes totaling $400, which includes an additional $100 prize this year, will be given winners of the Tom Wallace Prize in Forestry and Southern Industries. The award is being presented by the Licking Valley R.E.A. and announced yesterday by Mark Ethridge, publisher of The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, and general manager of Radio Station, WHAS, sponsors of the contest.

WEST LIBERTY R.E.A. GETS ADDITIONAL FUNDS

The Licking Valley Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation at West Liberty has been allocated an additional $50,000 of federal funds by the Rural Electric Administration for immediate use in constructing lines to prospective members in its four-county district. Fred Rose, manager, was informed this week by R.E.A. Added to previous allocations, the $50,000 makes nearly $250,000 now available to the Licking Valley R.E.A. for building new lines in Morgan, Wolfe, Magoffin and Breathitt Counties, Rose said. The Licking Valley R.E.A. already has 600 new members signed up and awaiting electric service in three counties—Morgan, Wolfe and Magoffin Counties, Rose said.

Co. Farmers Plant Sudan

A number of Rowan County farmers are planning to sow Sudan grass this month in order to increase their hay and pasture crop. Sudan grass produces more hay and pasture per acre in a short time than any other grass. If cut early Sudan grass produces a good quality hay that is easy to cure and yields around 10 tons per acre. If seeded on medium ground it should produce both a hay crop and some pasture. Most farmers sow about twenty-five (25) or thirty (30) pounds per acre broadcast when seeding Sudan grass alone. Some men seed it with soy beans at the rate of ten (10) pounds per acre. Three (3) local stores have ordered seed and farmers who plan to seed Sudan grass this summer should buy their seed at once.

Forestry Service or local soil conservation districts.

Herbert Moore Asks Re-election As Representative

TO THE VOTERS OF ROWAN AND BATH COUNTIES: In announcing my candidacy for reelection to the office of State Representative from Rowan and Bath Counties, I wish to stand upon my record in the State Legislature in the 1944 regular session and the special session. I earnestly endeavored to become thoroughly acquainted with the merits of every bill that was presented to the legislature and took especial interest in all legislation that would affect Rowan and Bath Counties and, in particular, the Morehead State Teachers College. I invite your inspection of my record, which will show that I was regular and punctual in attendance and that my vote was cast for every measure calculated to improve our section and our state as a whole. I am proud to say that I will be able to assist in legislation designed to further the welfare of our school children and the teaching profession as a whole.

My record will show that I did not allow political consideration or affiliation to restrain me from voting for the best interests of our people and I pledge to you that if I am renominated and elected that I will be my continued policy. Upon this basis I ask your support. Sincerely, HERBERT V. MOORE.

New Provision For Slaughterers Given By OPA

OPA regional offices have been notified of forthcoming emergency measure that will permit non-federally inspected commercial slaughterers to continue limited operations, even though they may have already slaughtered their original quotas for May, 1945. OPA announced this week.

The emergency action will permit Class 2 slaughterers to transfer up to 20 percent of their June quotas for each species of livestock for slaughter during May. June quotas must then be reduced accordingly.

"The transfer provision is purely an emergency measure and will not be repeated in later periods. The action is being taken now only because some slaughterers say they were not properly advised of the program early this month," OPA said. Slaughterers who elect to take advantage of the emergency measure announced today will notify their district OPA office (where interim quota bases are registered) by June 1, 1945, and state, by species: (a) current interim quota base; (b) current interim quota base; (c) amount transferred to first interim quota base, and (d) whether quota bases for the two periods were used in 1944 as bases for subsidy claims.

Meat Shortage May Hit Poultry Production Here

During the last few weeks the poultry situation has changed rapidly. The beef and pork shortage has caused many people to turn to poultry for meat. Poultry and eggs are hard to find on local markets and the situation will probably be worse before it improves.

In many localities throughout the state farmers are raising all of their young pullets and their old hens. If this continues there will not be enough early pullets to produce eggs for the August, September, and October markets.

Farmers are asked to market only the roosters and cull hens. Young healthy pullets should be kept in layers. Pullets should be well fed in the summer months so they will go into the fall laying season with plenty of flesh. Poultry men are asked to increase broiler production by brooding an extra bunch of chicks this fall. Several hatcheries have already made plans to hatch early chicks. Willie Caudill, Shrook farmer and poultry man, is brooding two (2) groups of chickens this spring. He is selling all the roosters and keeping the pullets for layers. Mr. Caudill plans to brood another bunch of baby chicks this fall for the broiler market.

Automobile Stamps Go On Sale At Local Postoffice

Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., Commissioner of Internal Revenue, announced today that the new $5.00 Automobile Use Tax stamps will be placed on sale in all post offices and offices of collectors of internal revenue on Saturday, June 4, 1945. The law requires the owner of every motor vehicle which is used upon the highways to buy this stamp and to display it on the vehicle beginning July 1, 1945.

The law provides both cash and full penalties for failure to pay this tax. To protect themselves against unnecessary penalties, owners of motor vehicles not to be misled by false rumors alleging that this tax has been repealed.

The stamps will be sold over the counter at all post offices and offices of internal revenue collectors. In addition, collectors of internal revenue will fill mail orders when accompanied by cash, money orders or certified checks. Personal checks cannot be accepted for the purchase of revenue stamps.

The law requires that the stamp be prominently displayed on the motor vehicle on and after July 1, 1945. Where possible the stamp should be placed on the windshield as recommended by the proper officials of each state. Motorists will find that the stamps usually stick better if they dampen the windshield instead of advised motorists to keep a separate stamp. They should avoid rate record of the serial number repeating dampening of the which appears on each stamp. Motorists who desire to Motorists also are asked to write to so may reinforce the stamp on the back of the stamp the with adhesive tape or similar aids, make, serial, model, serial number, To protect themselves against ber and state license number of loss or theft, Commissioner Nunan the vehicle.

"AT YOUR SERVICE"

INFORMATION ON G-I MATTERS

Below are Questions and Answers on G-I Matters furnishing such information many desire.

Question: What is the safest method by which a serviceman overseas may transmit his excess money to his relatives in the United States?

Answer: By the use of the Personal Transfer Account Plan. The serviceman consults his personal officer who makes the arrangements. Only the instructions are sent to the United States and the check is issued to San Francisco or New York.

Question: A World War I veteran used his initial and first name only on his marriage certificate. In the event of his death, will this license, plus the veteran's discharge papers, provide sufficient evidence to enable his wife to obtain a pension or death compensation?

Answer: Two or more affidavits, signed by persons who knew the veterans, testifying that the person named in the marriage license is the identical person, signified on the discharge papers, should be submitted when a claim for pension or death compensation is filed with the Veteran's Administration by the veteran's widow.

Question: My husband, in the army, buys a $10 bond monthly. The first bond was issued in both our names. Now the bonds are made payable in his name only, showing that the bond may be cashed by me only in the event of his death. Has the change been made by the soldier himself?

Answer: Yes. The soldier is the only one who can effect such a change.

Question: On what date and for what purpose was the rank of 5-star general created? Who are the 5-star generals?

Answer: There are four 5-star generals: George C. Marshall, chief of staff; Douglas MacArthur, commander in the Southwest Pacific; Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander in western Europe; and H. H. Arnold, commander of the army air forces. Legislation authorizing this advancement was approved by the president on December 15, 1944, and the purpose was to create a rank equal to the topmost in the armies of the United States' war allies, as well as honoring the war leaders.

Question: What must a veteran do to qualify for a loan under the GI Bill of Rights? Where may I obtain a copy of the GI Bill of Rights?

Answer: To be eligible for the benefits of the GI Bill a veteran must have had active service in this war between September 16, 1940, and the termination of the present war, have a discharge under other than dishonorable conditions, have at least ninety days active service, or discharged for a service-incurred disability, if less than 90 days. Any bank will be able to advise you on the procedure to follow in applying for the loan guaranty.

Question: I am an honorably discharged veteran of World War II and I wish some information on the provisions of the readjustment allowance section of the GI Bill of Rights. I have been advised that for each week in the service I can draw a certain amount of unemployment compensation. How do I go about this?

Answer: To be eligible for unemployment compensation you must be registered with the USES and must be able to work and available for such work in addition to these other eligibility requirements: have had active service between September 16, 1940, and the termination of the present war, have a discharge under conditions other than dishonorable, and have had active service of at least 90 days (some part of which must have been on or after September 16, 1940), or discharged for a service-incurred disability, if less than 90 days. The Veterans' Officers at the USES office will give you further details.

Question: I am a serviceman's second wife. He has his insurance made out to his children by his first wife. In case of death, could I get part of the insurance? Could I get a pension? Who would be entitled to use the death gratuity?

Answer: You could not get any part of the insurance unless the insured changed the beneficiary, or the children die before the payments have been completed. You would be eligible for a death-compensation for life or until you remarry. You would be eligible for the six-months' death gratuity.

Question: What draft classification is assigned a man who received a medical inaptitude discharge from the Marine Corps? What are the length of service qualifications for educational benefits under the GI Bill of Rights?

Answer: As of November, 1944, all men who were discharged or released from the service under honorable conditions are classified as I-C, and cannot be reinducted within that category. However, the classification can be changed if the Director of Selective Service determines that the circumstances in the case warrant a reclassification. A veteran must have had at least 90 days active service, or if he had less than 90 days service he must have been discharged for a service-incurred disability, in order to be eligible for the educational and/or other benefits of the GI Bill of Rights.

Question: My wife and I have a son in the navy and are drawing an allotment from him and the government for $68. I am 64 years of age and physically unfit for heavy work. Would the government stop our allowance if I get a job for light work?

Answer: Family allowance to parents is payable only when they are dependent upon the serviceman for chief or a substantial portion of his support. If your income would change your status as a dependent, the government would either discontinue or modify the allowance awarded to you.

Question: For what is the Bronze Star medal awarded?

Answer: The Bronze Star Medal may be awarded to any person who, while serving in the armed forces of the United States after December 7, 1941, distinguishes himself by heroic or meritorious achievement or service not involving participation in aerial flight in connection with military or naval operations against an enemy of the United States.

Question: My son, in service overseas, has reported missing since June 25, 1944. I am still receiving the monthly allotment, but would like to know if the serviceman's salary is continuing and if the deductions for war bonds and national service life insurance are still being made.

Answer: The serviceman's monthly pay is accumulating and is being credited to his account by the government. All deductions are being made, and salary and deductions will come for at least 12 months; or until the serviceman is officially reported as dead. If he is listed as a prisoner-of-war, or if it can reasonably be presumed that he is still living after the 12 months period has expired, his pay and deductions will still continue.

Question: Can any serviceman make a Class E allotment from his pay and send it home?

Answer: Class E voluntary allotment can be made by any member of the armed forces, in any amount, to any dependent, an insurance company, fiduciary, a savings and loan association, or to a bank for the allottee's or a dependent's credit.

Question: After serving in the armed forces for 16 months, I was discharged to re-enter necessary war work and placed in the ERC. Now I have received my final discharge stating I am no longer in the ERC. I am 40 years old. May I leave the war industry in which I am employed?

Answer: You may leave your war work as WMC controls were removed from veterans last November. However, war workers are desperately needed, and will be needed until the successful conclusion of the war. New legislation may also invalidate the WMC November order.

Question: Could you tell me how much of a pension a colonel in the veterinary department of the army receives? He was retired before this war.

Answer: Seventy-five percent of his pay at the time of retirement.

THE VETERANS RESPONSIBILITY

(From the Office of the United States Employment Service.)
The returning serviceman can help himself to a smoother transition from military to civilian life if he does not expect perfection from his family and associates.
No person, organization or institution ever remains unchanged. Time alone will account for many changes that will make family and friends appear different. If the veteran had been at home these changes would have been so gradual that his awareness of them would hold no surprise.
The men who spent months away from home, many of them overseas had a mental picture of home. Gradually as time away from home increased he forgot all the unpleasant features and dwelled upon those that made a comforting memory. The pleasant ideas of home and good points of family and friends were magnified. His life before a military service represented his personal reason for fighting the war. His personal aim was to end the war as quickly as possible and return to his home which grew to be a veritable heaven on earth. He mentally endowed his family and friends with a halo. It is not surprising then that many veterans become disillusioned and sometimes bitter.

The veteran will be happier if he realizes that the people at home are human beings who are capable of superhuman sacrifices and superlative achievement and at the same time are capable of gross mistakes and inhumane acts.

To those men who return and find people and things "different," try this approach to adjustment:
Accept the family and friends as they are. Don't try to make them fit your dream of human perfection. Reestablish relationships on what you NOW have in common.
Contact the United States Employment Service, 348 Main Street, Morehead, Kentucky, for employment, referral to training and aid in common.

"Yessir, Jim's got a great system"

A GREAT SYSTEM for Jim, that is. But a little unfair to the other swimmers.

Swimming a race or running a business is pretty easy when you don't have to pull your own weight!

Take government-owned electric power-systems, for example. They pay little or no taxes. When they need money, they can call on the U. S. Treasury and get it at little or no interest. If they have losses, why worry? You, as a taxpayer, will take care of that.

Business-managed power-systems do not have these special privileges. They pay their full share of taxes, pay fair interest on any loans, pull their own weight.

Fortunately for you and your tax bill, over 80% of all electric power in this country is produced by tax-paying, self-supporting electric companies owned and operated by millions of Americans.

And how well are these companies doing their job?

Electricity is still available at low pre-war prices. There is enough to meet even the gigantic demands of war. And there will be plenty to help give you greater comfort and convenience in the electric living of the post-war world.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU?

Government ownership of any business is a threat to every American in business.

Whether you run a shop, garage or factory, government ownership means you have a rival across the street who enjoys special privileges at your expense.

He has little or no need to pay, cannot borrow money of little or no cost, can keep on operating at a loss—and YOU are called upon to help make up that loss!
