

Entire MSC Student Body Invades Library To Emphasize Study

Morehead State College gained nationwide acclaim Thursday, May 17, when the entire student body left Butson Auditorium after the regular convocation program and marched in one mass body to Johnson Camden Library.

Newspapers throughout the nation picked up the news from the wings of the Associated Press which proclaimed "the springtime college madness of stuffing telephone booths and sports cars with human bodies has gone academic at Morehead State College."

The account continued, "100 thinking students at the picturesque Kentucky college literally studied themselves into the school's library following Thursday's convocation program."

Student Council President Doug Hayes was quoted thus, "Why waste time stuffing telephone booths and sports cars, when we can uster in the Springtime season on an academic note?" He added, "And you never know. Many of these students might just find the library so inviting that they'll spend a lot more time here in the future."

The Associated Press added, "Dr. Adron Duran, Morehead State College president, said as he watched the students entering the library mass, it is always encouraging to find the college student making the library the center of campus activities."

Pictures of the mass (like the ones on this page) were attached to the article which appeared in weeklies as well as dailies throughout the nation.

Anthony Allo, a 1954 graduate of Morehead State College, has added another feather to his already full cap this spring as his Caldwell County (Ky.) High School and has been named the nation's best at the annual Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C.

Allo, in his first year at the Princeton school, went to the Western section of Kentucky this year in the first year of a four-year high school where he won many top honors in taking that band from a small group of 12 to a group of 85-piece unit which marched in President Eisenhower's last inauguration.

Harry Bolser, Louisville Courier-Journal writer, describes the Caldwell County band's return to the Henderson district band contest as a quiet one compared with the triumphal return in 1957.

Music Week Plans Praised

The music department is to be commended for the highly successful and pleasant music week recently sponsored by their groups. As can be expected from the department at all times, the members of their various groups and organizations presented an unusually fine series of programs.

Especially enjoyable was the beginning concert which was presented by the band on the lawn in front of Field's Hall. The day was perfect and we were all in good luck that the music that waited on the breeze was indeed one of the more delightful experiences of spring.

Arriving on out through the week the chorus presented a program and so on throughout the week until every field of the music department was well... and we do mean well represented.

So we say "hats off" to the music department for again presenting an excellent series of programs for music week.

No Reason To Kill An Eagle

An American eagle was recently found wounded and bleeding on the battlefield. The eagle was a magnificent specimen, measuring nearly five feet from wingtip to wingtip, even though American eagles often grow larger than this.

It is difficult to understand the motive of anyone who would shoot a bird as rare as the American eagle. For those who don't know, this bird is becoming very rare, and there are not many of them left in any section of the country.

Nature—as every sportsman knows—has provided for a balance in the wildlife population. So that certain birds and animals, in pursuing their normal instincts, perform a needed function in the scheme of things. The eagle has his place, although being a big bird, and a trophy, so to speak, they are often shot indiscriminately for no valid whatever.

Eagles also play a role in the scheme of things, and many of them do more good than harm. The experts insist that the hawks which soar, apart from those who constantly watch their wings—do do more good than harm and should not be killed. The experts say this hawk unquestionably does the farmer more good than harm.

One will not find any arguments on the question of killing eagles. But on the question of American eagles, there is little argument. There is certainly little excuse or reason for killing the few remaining American eagles which we occasionally glimpse. Even today most of us have to go to a zoo, or an aviary, to see the American eagle.

Unless there is a really good reason—and with good reason we write the sportsman of this area to refrain from killing these magnificent birds, which are now almost extinct, and which younger generations may never see in their wild state.

Dreaded Yankees Are Slipping

It is a rare day when an editor can comment that the New York Yankees, one of the Major League baseball teams, is mired in the second division. Moreover, there are those who are beginning to wonder whether the Yankees will be able to gain the top this year—as they have so often in past years.

The New York Yankees, in sports, constitute a winning combination, and the record of the Yankees over the years is one which has created consternation among other club owners and fans of other clubs in the American League.

The Yankees have put together a truly remarkable winning record, and there is no denying the fact that there is a tradition and a habit among the Yankees, of winning, which gives them an advantage and has in the past—acted to "produce something akin to awe among members of other teams."

It is not too early to say that the Yankees will win this year. They are world champions until a new world champion team is crowned this Fall, or they repeat.

But it is not too early to say that the slump of the Yankees, and the strong showing of several other teams, such as Cleveland, has given rise to renewed hopes that the American League may again become competitive. This is true, and there is a hope that it is good to see a better balanced League, and it will be a good thing for baseball and that League.

There always seems to be a hot race in the National League, but in the American League in recent years the Yankees have monopolized the honors. They are due credit for it, and it is not a "fluke," but nevertheless, it is good to see a better balanced League, and it is good to see a "greater element of doubt restored in the League's element of doubt restored in the League."

Many people try to compensate for a slow brain with a fast tongue. And, more's the pity, quite a few of them succeed.

Campus Sing Was Successful Activity

Last week one of the most successful activities ever held on M.S.C.'s campus was conducted by the members of the science department and the Beta Chi Gamma. This activity was the all-campus sing held to raise funds for the University of West Virginia. The idea was that we feel it is thought of this idea and say that we feel it is indeed an excellent one and should be continued.

We feel that the students for the most part did their best to present good clean fun and bring the type of entertainment to this campus that characterized the man in whose memory the song fest was being held. Not only did the students do an excellent job, but several instructors joined in on the fun and frolic to provide more than a normal supply of enjoyment.

Generally speaking we can say that this was truly one of the finest activities held on campus this year and that more fun was wrapped up in the evening than any other single event this year!

Sports Experience Another Problem

Regionally televised football and basketball games were banned by the Atlantic Coast Conference recently. The A.C.C. will allow member institutions to telecast some of their games, if other member schools are not disadvantageously affected, but as far as the televising of its games, between A.C.C. schools, that is out.

The reason for this action, it is reported, is worry on the part of the A.C.C. about attendance at the televised games. Also, television of some of the major games worked against a larger attendance at some of the minor games—where the games were played on the same day.

Thus football, like baseball before it, is experiencing television problems. It will be interesting to see the outcome of the current maneuvering. However, it should be obvious to everyone that television is here to stay, and that somehow, and in some way, college football games will eventually be televised.

That does not mean all major games will be televised, but some in practically all of the conferences will eventually be televised.

While this will affect attendance, there is actually more financial gain in television than there is in limiting television in many cases. And if the areas where major games are being telecast are blacked-out for a hundred miles, or more, the effect on attendance at some of the other games would be minor, and would probably not outweigh the benefits of, greatly increased television revenue.

Graduates Face A Changed World

The 1959 crop of graduates of this county's schools will soon have finished their educational training, but they must realize, as they face this perplexed world, that the future holds a problem for them that cannot be solved entirely by the fact that they hold a diploma.

We see no reason for pessimism on the part of the graduates, but nothing is to be gained by ignoring the stern facts that confront modern civilization. To learn those facts, to understand their causes, and to intelligently meet them is to score a life success, regardless of the tricks that fate may have in store.

This newspaper congratulates the young people who have earned the diplomas they will receive. Due recognition of their successful study is well merited. After all, the young students have met and mastered difficulties that, at their age, are equal to any that they will meet later on.

Roughing It Has Drawbacks

There are many Americans who like to get off the "beaten path" and travel into strange, undeveloped areas and live the life of primitive man.

This is an interesting vagary of the modern mind, but, after a few days of "roughing it," the average American is likely to get sick at the comforts of civilization. So far as recorded history reveals, there is no instance of a considerable migration of people from highly developed areas into regions that are wild, semi-barbaric and undeveloped.

Next to the Bible, "Dr. Zhivago" is currently the most talked about and least read book.

Radio is a wonderful thing. It enables us to have the "thrills" of the world piled into our homes, cars, offices and many public places every hour on the hour.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:
You are a master of linguistics. How could you read so much into Mr. Lowe's letter after you said it was incoherent? I think you were kidding because the very words used to describe his letter are more applicable to your reply. No doubt you intended for it to be funny and expected the readers to convulse with laughter. The funniest part of it was that many had anticipated your reaction.

I wonder if it is common journalistic practice to print letters concerning replies that only agree with the editor. The two you published were SICK! SICK! SICK! One, while not disagreeing with the editor, did not do him any good for speaking. The other was from a spineless turncoat who became an apologist for hypocrisy. I find it difficult to believe that you have survived over half the century and are still able to read the signs, who are guilty of verbosity.

I further maintain that the accusations he made are true and that it is you, Mr. Lowe's letter, who are the signers, who are guilty of verbosity.

Dear Editor:
I read Mr. Lowe's letter fully understood it.

Dear Editor:
In regard to the article concerning, or should I say, concerning Mr. Lowe's appeal to the board for a revival of honesty on the campus, I feel it not only as a student, but as a responsible citizen, not only myself, but many, many other students having identical views upon conditions of dishonesty as well as dishonest that are a common occurrence at Morehead State College.

No, I did not sign Mr. Lowe's letter. I read it with what I thought, an open mind and came to the conclusion that his ideals were superb.

If you, dear editor, cannot see, with your small quantity of foresight the outstanding qualities of Mr. Lowe's appeal, I suggest that you "poison pen," your small minded, one-sided, corrupt views, and seek elsewhere to write immature gossip columns.

Dear Editor:
I read Mr. Lowe's letter and signed it. I also understood what the letter said.

Dear Editor:
It was disheartening to read the type of editorial that the Trail Blazer staff published in the May 5 edition of the Trail Blazer. The Trail Blazer has accused Mr. Lowe in his "letter to the Editor," dated April 21, of being "verbose, incoherent and void of taste, intelligence and argument." It seems to me that the Trail Blazer has left itself open to libel and contempt which is against good newspaper principles.

I think it necessary to answer that editorial as one of the supposedly thinking students. The editorial staff needs to have pointed out the fallacies, remarks. There may have been unintentional, but someone less brainwashed than I might consider these as "flimsy, adolescent, falsehoods and half-truths" intended to put Mr. Lowe and those of us who signed the letter in a bad light.

The Trail Blazer staff asks Mr. Lowe, if he does not remark the March 23 meeting of the Student Council which he attended.

The editorial staff must be a very stupid group. The March 23 meeting of the Student Council was a called meeting concerning the lettered to meet every two weeks. The staff also forgot that the time between Feb. 17 and March 23 was a little more than two weeks and according to their constitution the Student Council is supposed to meet every two weeks.

I question the basis of your statement that cheating is not as bad at Morehead as at other institutions named. Are you an expert on Brooklyn College, Pennsylvania College, and West Point? You accuse Mr. Lowe of being "incoherent" in our society? I find it difficult to believe that you do not know what Mr. Lowe is talking about by asking, "De we" (understand), and yet in two other paragraphs of your editorial you set yourself up as an expert on the quantity of stealing and cheating practiced on this campus. If you are this close to the problem, you understand Mr. Lowe's reference.

Your dear editorial staff has claimed that cheating and stealing are only a "minor problem" on our campus. Do they feel that murder and robbery are a minor problem in our society? I feel that any problem that breaks one of the Ten Commandments is serious enough to be considered a major problem that must be dealt with.

Since the Trail Blazer has done an article on their editorial of April 21, and since the Trail Blazer feels that they don't see eye to eye with Mr. Lowe's letter, I call upon you, Student Body, to try to help the Trail Blazer see that cheating and stealing are a major problem. Let it be known that we as students do not want this type of problem to prevail on campus.

Mr. Litton, once said, "The pen is mightier than the sword."

Yours truly,
Allen Patterson
President, Newman Club

Dear Editor:
This is to express my deep personal appreciation of the wonderful work that you and your editorial one did his part in the "All-Campus Sing" for the benefit of the Dr. Francis Marion Taylor Memorial Scholarship Fund.

"Due" would have enjoyed every minute of it.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs. Fenton T. West

LIVE LIFE

Live life
Be not afraid
To wrest your daily portion
Of love, truth and beauty
From the secret store
Guarded miserly
From the timid.
Flee conformity
Climb the heights
Reach the mountain wind
Find the secluded Shangri-La.
Care abandoned
Hearts beating
In wild anticipation
Be daring
Grasp a cup of life
Drink defiance!

I CLIMBED A HILL

Today I climbed a hill
And from its greenwood crest
Gazed into an emerald valley
Lying sleepily, seeking rest.

For just a little time
I knew rest was tranquility
Warm restlessness abounded
My spirit dared be free.

I lingered there
For a time and a time
Of love, truth and beauty
But reality returned
Actualities confirmed
When apart from these
Freedom became Fantasy.

RECAPITULATION

Does man's inevitable destiny decree
That mortals haven't even forward
As impatient virgins waters
To weed the enveloping sea?
Is there to be no time for lingering
In the dusky-darkest of eventide
As she a whisper of wind
Of past sorrows and longings
Or perhaps of dreams
Hoped-for, but unfulfilled?
Is destiny's promise a panacea
That transcends
Strength flowing from
A man in possession
A look that needs no explaining?
If on this premise faith is built
And man is possessed
Not by wisdom, but resignation.

Departure

By Donald Couch

Grief has overcome their souls,
Their minds, their worldly structure.
They are masses of self-pity
Living with a ruptured heart.
Strange—they continue onward,
Endlessly struggling to live.
They are tortured and belated,
Decayed, useless and ancient.
Stretched portions of space.
A flight from your slanting befalls
My grasp, which must wing away.
Bacchus my tutor, Diana yours.
Remember the gleaming fire.
In the billows of pure smoke,
Invisible, it will become
Remember not my red.

Sink your venomous fangs
Deep into my heart's blood.
Inject a paralyzing fluid
And halt my aggressions.
You have nurtured me,
Watched me grow,
Taught me attitudes,
Cannibal my wounds.

Corruption was the nutrient
I grew at an astounding rate.
Evil attitudes did I learn—
My wounds were bled with dirt.

STUDENT OR ADMINISTRATOR? Anyone who can submit the correct name of this lady to The Trail Blazer before next edition will win a prize. All administrators who had a bicycle entered in the recent Campus Club race are not eligible to enter the contest.

In almost every office on campus there are name plates of administrators and their official title. In one active office there is a name plate of a Vice President. It says: VICE PRESIDENT (in charge of vice, naturally).

"Tree Nursery Is A Family Project In Raymond Hornback's Front Yard" is a headline that appeared in The Courier-Journal recently. The younger Harry Hornback, director of Public Relations at Morehead, lives in Louisville. The article consists of four columns and includes a photo which pictures the elder Raymond stooping in front of the trees in the nursery. The front yard includes thousands of trees!

Allie Young Hall seems to have been the favorite "stomping" grounds for many freshmen lately. The young lunking fresh got so roudy that some say an elder habbitant of the hall seriously debated whether or not to take them on. Allie Young was again in the news recently. Two peeping toms were discovered and apprehended by police officers—they are now serving their terms in the jail of that hall.

Jane Carver, a senior from the Buckeye State, is making class attendance much more pleasant for P. E. students.

It seems that this many-time beauty contest is the only girl in the history of the school to enter in an all-male teaching course.

QUICK QUOTES

The letter to the editor last issue brought many comments from the student body. A particular item of controversy is the statement of mass cheating. One student replied to this by saying: "My opinion cheaters are too lazy to work, and too nervous to steal."

Harry Weber, a junior from Louisville and high individual scorer in the second game of the championship bowling match last week, has this to say about the league: "This year's league was quite exciting and the competition was rigid. I think this makes for an excellent league and I certainly advocate for all to join next year who are interested in the sport."

Next year's editor-to-be of the Raceroute, Roger Meade, commended this year's staff and added, "In my opinion next year's staff will be composed of a cross section of the student body who will be representative of the entire college. I think our publication will be the book of books."

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

Class and club elections have been held for next year. A new club has been chartered for the girls of Allie Young Hall which they believe will receive the public that has been common to the all-male group, the Campus Club. The girls version—"The Campused Clubbers"—have not as yet chosen their leader officially.

The Eagle Eye

by GEORGE STEVENS
Trail Blazer Sports Editor

The intramural bowling league champions for this season of play are the Round Pins under the tutelage of captain Jim Brooks. The Round Pins, an excellent coalition of bowlers, did not surprise many hard wood fans when their championship was made official after a strong Scotties team downed the Campus Club 2-1.

Bowlers Billy Day and Hobie Van Hoose are two of the top pin scatters on the Round Pin championship team. Day, a junior at Morehead, has consistently averaged in the high 100's and has been a continuous threat to Round Pin opponents. Along with Day's fine bowling ability, he is considered a good competitor with a lot of team spirit.

Hobie Van Hoose is a newcomer to the M.S.C. bowling circuit who has caused quite a few eyebrows to be lifted, surprising many with his bowling accuracy. Van Hoose, a sophomore, started finding the pocket towards the middle of the season and pounded the Brunswick Red Crown right down to the final. Hobie will be a man to watch in the up-coming tourney next fall.

Larry Addington is another Round Pin starter who has contributed greatly to his team's success this season. Addington has maintained an average in the high 100's and has consistently held up his end of the load this year.

Freshman Tom Whitaker surged out to a fine start this season and has been a regular Round Pin starter ever since. Whitaker is a student of the game and is continually trying to improve his game. With three years of competition remaining, Whitaker should prove to be one of the top men in the league.

Captain Jim Brooks has been the man at the helm for the Round Pins and is known to his competitors in the league as a consistent bowler. Jim has averaged in the 150's and bowls his same game regardless of the importance of the match.

We of The Trail Blazer sports staff would like to extend our hearty congratulations to the Round Pins for their fine finish in the Intramural Bowling League.

SCOTTIES DEBUT CAMPUS CLUB 3-1
A group of enthusiastic bowlers mounted the allies in the Student House and swept away all chances of the Campus Club gaining a top slot in the M.S.C. bowling circuit. The Scotties, engineered by Captain Tom Scott, ravaged the CC's for the first two games of the match with the handicap having no bearing on the match.

The last game of the evening was captured by a come back staged by the Campus Clubbers.

Two of the top pin scatters of the day were bowlers Charles Banks and Tony Cavallo. Cavallo was the top performer of the day as he turned in a fine 200 game for his efforts. Banks rolled a score to the 200 mark.

The Scotties will square off with the Campus Club in a match to be held this evening to determine the second place team. The Scotties are currently listed 3-1.

Scotties Cop Championship In Campus Bowling League

By Harry Mayhew

The Scotties took two games out of their match with the Campus Club May 12 in the Doran Student House to edge the Campus Club from winning or tying for first place honors in the campus bowling league.

The Campus Club, who has previously won the college league four consecutive years, in winning the third game prevented the Scotties from winning a tie for first place.

By the split match, the idle Round Pins backed into first place and won the title by only one game. The winning league team consists of Captain Jim Brooks, Tom Whitaker, Robert VanHousen, Larry Addington, and Bill Day.

Second place honors will be decided today in a playoff match between the Campus Club and Scotties. The losing team will be assured third place in the league.

A $100 prize will go to the first place team, $50 to the second, and $25 to the third place squad.

The important Campus Club Scottie match was watched by a packed crowd around the bowling lane.

The first game Charlie Jones led the Campus Club with a score of 170, the high for the game, and Tom Scott paced the Scotties with his 164.

There was not more than 30 pins difference in the entire game and it was even most of the way. The final count was 781 for the Scotties and 734 for the Campus Club.

In the second game a see saw battle was launched which remained until the sixth frame.

Approximately 50 persons attended the recent spring banquet of BSU that is held annually. Speaking for the occasion was Mr. C. R. Daly, editor of the Western Recorder. Highlighting the evening's activities was a mock wedding presented by several members of the B.S.U.

To date, about $205 has been raised toward our Summer Missions goal which is $250. Anyone who can work in their spare time or who wants to contribute to the fund should contact Marcia Hall at the B.S.U. Center on Fourth Street. Also, anyone who hasn't turned in their missions cup should do so immediately.

Mhead Science Instructors Attend Meet

Morehead State College was represented on May 9, 10, at the Kentucky Academy of Science by Dr. Headup, Miss Cheatham and Dr. Owsley of the college department.

During the sessions on Friday panel discussions were held on the subject "Protections Related To Science". On Saturday, three field trips were conducted. The first, directed by Dr. Mary Wharton of Georgetown College, concerned the flora of the region.

The second trip was to the Wolf Creek Dam and was directed by Dr. Peter Panzera of Murray State College. The final field trip of the day was to the woods on a bird study and was directed by Dr. Lancaster of Western Kentucky State College.

But the meeting was adjourned after reports of the meetings and field trips were held.

Morehead Harriers End Season Unbeaten; Down Eastern 73-58

By George Stevens

The Morehead Harriers wound up their 1959 season going undefeated after trouncing the Eastern Maroons 73-58 in a meet held at Richmond.

Two Eagle distance runners have yet to taste of defeat this year. Jim Whiteley has not been surpassed in the mile and the one-half mile and Gary Miller has claimed the number one slot in the two-mile run. Whiteley has registered a 4:37 mile and a 2:03.7 half mile while Miller's best time in the 2-mile run has been 10:54.

Other Morehead outstanding performers have rounded out this season's squad. In the weights division, sophomore Jim Baldrige has made a fine showing in the discus. Baldrige, a newcomer to the track squad, posts a 140' 6" as his best toss this season.

Dominating the broad jump division, Norman Stark has ranked among the top point getters for the Eagles this year. Stark claims as his best performance a 22' 25 1/2" jump. Stark will have another year of eligibility.

Freshmen Jim Scobee and Marshall Banks led the Eagle speedsters in the dash division. In the 100 yard dash, Scobee and Banks have strided the course in 10 flat. Banks, a freshman from Ashland, clipped Leonard Lyles' stadium record for the 220 with a fine sprint of 23.9.

Sophomore Jim "Minner" McGee is the top 440 man for Morehead this year. McGee streaked the 440 yard course to post a 51.8 as his best this year. In the field events division, Bob Kremer and Norman Stark are the Eagles' ace pole vaulters finishing the season at the 127 foot mark.

William A. Saulsberry, 1958 graduate of Morehead State College, is employed as a teacher in the Brown City Community School, Brown City, Michigan.

Saulsberry has been teaching biology and mathematics there for the past two years.

A native of Olive Hill, Ky., he received his M. S. degree in Audio-Visual Aids from Indiana University in 1957.
